The importance of Berlin to the Western allie cannot be judged purely on material grounds. We, and England, could administer our part of Germany from within our zone. It is possible that we could have been better off if we had never established headquarters in Berlin at all. It is certainly clear that we should have initially insisted on a supply corridor of our own, rather than trusting to generalized verbal agreements with Stalin. But all that is water over the dam, and the unfortunate fact is that American prestige is inextricably tied in with the Berlin controversy. It is now a question of what the Chinese call "face."

On top of that, there is a vital question of moral obligation involved. Should Russia take over Berlin, thousands of prominent anti-nazi and anti-communist Germans who have sided courageously with the Western world might be liquidated. At best, they would suffer severe privations. And that would certainly weaken the democratic spirit in the other European nations which are on our side.

So Berlin has become a symbol — a testing ground of the strength of two opposed theories of life and government. And that is why we have held firm, and are running the greatest risks in an attempt to hold our ground, and to induce Russia to live up to what we consider clear agreements made during and immediately after the war.

It is all a gamble on both sides. We are gambling that the Russians do not want war and will decide to cooperate. Our diplomatic notes, though couched in strong terms, have been designed to give Russia a chance to pull back without sacrificing her own prestige. The Russians are also gambling that the United States will not let matters reach the point where war is the only solution, and will either withdraw from Berlin, or, more likely, will agree to a new conference on the disposition of Germany on Soviet terms.

The high American authorities, both in Berlin and Washington, have acted with calmness and restraint. General Clay has given no ground, but neither has he rattled the saber. Secretary Marshall has said again and again that U. S. policy is based on avoiding "the tragedy of war" with Russia. However, there is always the danger of some "incident" that will stir up great popular anger, lead to a further succession of incidents, and so make the chance of open hostilities imminent.

In that connection, there is one school of people who seem to feel that eventual war with Russia is inevitable, and that we should start it now while we have the A-bomb, and the Communists, presumably, have not. Anyone who believes in this theory of so-called "preventive war" would do well to read an article in the July Harper's by Hanson W. Baldwin. Mr. Baldwin is military editor of the New York Times, and has written many books and innumerable learned pieces on military affairs. According to him, the major Russian industrial targets are beyond the range of present-day bombers, unless we go to the extreme of one way suicide mission which would certainly be alien to the American mentality. On top of that, the Russians are known to be heavy producers of modern fighters. And even if we were to overcome these obstacles, he goes on, we could not destroy the Russian army. It would spread throughout Europe. It has been developed to live off the land to a remarkable extent, thus largely eliminating the need for vulnerable supply trains. We could only achieve ultimate victory, he thinks, by an actual invasion of Europe.

What would be the cost of this? In Mr. Baldwin's opinion, the money cost would be so great as to imperil our economic system and force repudiation of the national debt. In manpower, the casualties would be tremedous and we have no reason to expect that our own civilian population would be safe from Russian attack with plane and missile. However, the [illegible] Europe we are trying to save would be lost. In Mr. Baldwin's words, "the ideals and cultures of Western [illegible] would be forever destroyed [illegible] none before [illegible] ruthlessness was accompanied [illegible] future war could, therefore, defeat our own purpose: we could conquer [illegible] and yet lose the [illegible] ideologies to the [illegible]

Even if we were [illegible] sum, we might use, and to a [illegible] all the rest of the world, [illegible] modern war has brought destruction on a scale far greater [illegible] its predecessors [illegible] authority [illegible] that [illegible] War III would be any exception to this general [illegible]

Mr. Baldwin [illegible] we must [illegible] face the danger [illegible] all that we can [illegible] war. As he put [illegible] 'time of trouble' [illegible] not ease our way [illegible] That, generally speaking, [illegible] attitude of most [illegible] in the West [illegible]

For Desserts Supreme—Home-Canned Peaches

The homemaker who has home-canned peaches on her shelves need never apologize when she serves dessert, for home-canned peaches served right out of the jar are fit for a king! And, if there is time, peach upside down cake, peaches served on angel food cake wedges and topped with whipped cream, peach ice cream, a whole galaxy of mouth-watering desserts, can be made from this delicious, home-canned fruit.

Sound, firm, tree-ripened peaches are best for canning. Grade them for size, color and condition, then wash and peel. Simply scalding in boiling water one minute and dipping one-half minute in cold water will cause some varieties to skin easily. Paring with a knife is usually the best way to peel peaches. They may then be cut in halves and the stones discarded. If you like, scrape the cavities of freestone fruit to remove the pink or red fibers. As peaches are halved, drop them in a weak solution of vinegar and salt water (one tablespoon salt to a gallon of cold water) to prevent discoloring. Rinse before canning.

Peaches may be canned by the cold pack or hot pack methods, but hot packing and processing in a water bath canner is considered superior. The Ball Blue Book gives the following instructions.

COLD PACK METHOD

Pack peaches into hot Ball Jars, layers overlapping, cavity side down. Cover with boiling sirup made with one or two parts sugar to one of water. Process from 20 to 35 minutes in hot-water bath. Use the longer period for extra large or very firm fruit.

HOT PACK METHODS

1. Make a sirup of one or two parts sugar to one of water. Add peaches, a few at a time, and simmer until hot through (10 to 20 minutes). Pack into hot Ball Jars, layers overlapping, cavity side down. Cover with sirup in which peaches were cooked. Process 10 to 20 minutes in hot-water bath. Can leftover sirup for pudding or ice cream sauce.

2. Add from one to 1½ cups sugar and one cup boiling water to one gallon prepared peaches. Cook gently until peaches are hot through and sugar dissolved (10 to 20 minutes). Pack and process as instructed above. If there isn't enough liquid to cover peaches in jar, add boiling water after peaches are packed. Use longest processing period for large, firm fruit.

BALANCING BUDGETS

In many respects a balanced diet can be likened to a balanced budget, says the Columbus Milk Council. Just as an unbalanced budget leads to financial difficulties, an unbalanced diet leads to lessened health and well being.

But the analogy is not perfect, as few are. In balancing diets, the nutritional "needs" are relatively fixed and [illegible] our power to control [illegible] than adjusting family needs to a fixed money income. Budget "expenditures" range from [illegible] trients, found in the protective foods, e.g., milk, dairy products, eggs, vegetables and fruits, [illegible] the luxury of good health [illegible] money is to our advantage, yet the storage of nutrients, [illegible] Vitamin A, is relatively small, and excess saving of calories is stored as unwanted fat.

Therefore, to "balance" our diets, the income of essential nutrients should be planned to meet our requirements by following the simple practice of including foods from the seven basic food groups each day. Good nutrition can be good eating as well.

As Pegler See It

By Westbrook Pegler
Released by WNU Features.

AFTER 16 years of drouth and famine and itch, 16 years of hiding in caves and living on roots and berries, the Republicans at last swaggered forth openly at Philadelphia looking for Democrats and especially for New Dealers to push off the sidewalks. They nominated Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, of New York, for a second whirl at the presidency and, by contrast with the morose temper of the prophets and the faithful in four other Republican campaigns, not a soul in the house could doubt that this was their year to howl.

If the Democrats in Washington had any sense left in their ghastly confusion, they must have been piling in heaps all the damning tax returns, the expense accounts and vouchers, the confidential chits of the treasury, justice, defense and state departments and putting in applications for turns at the incinerators, maceraters and fathomless dumps at sea.

Governor Dewey has said nothing about vengeance, but he is a Biblical man with a stinging memory of the ridicule and sneers shot at him through the blow-guns of Franklin D. Roosevelt, Ickes, Morgenthau, Eleanor the Great and many another during the long ordeal. ANYWAY, HE IS A STICKLER FOR FIDELITY IN OFFICE AND A FAMOUS PROSECUTOR.

All this while, and growing more reckless by the day as it got away with more and more outrageous floutings of civic decency and even of the criminal statutes, the Roosevelt administration conducted itself as though its only successors would be its own friends bent on similar felonies or worse.

Winston Churchill and the London publisher, Lord Beaverbrook, were among the foreign crew, who, under Roosevelt's vain and cynical assurance, ignored the leading politician of the American opposition, treating him as though he never could be more than a heckler.

The income tax returns of the Roosevelt family will be secrets no longer unless the treasury should destroy them or has done so in the past.

Exit of Hoover John Edgar Hoover, faithful though he has been in his legal duties, will be invited to seek higher honors elsewhere and the files of the F. B. I. will pass into new hands. He was a New Deal cop and his friends and haunts were political. Before it is all over, Harold Ickes may be asked to pay for his vacation travel aboard the coast guard's vessels and adjusted compensation in the government for his rental of the interior department's luxurious private love-bower for the old curmudgeon.

The most spectacular flight of repudiated parasites in the sordid and often larcenous story of predatory politics in the American republic is about to start.

Now the cry of the bleeding heart is "TO THE HILLS, MEN, THE DAM HAS BUST!"

It would be arbitrary to say that the Americans are at their untidiest in the moods of grim civic exaltation at these quadrennial bouts. But no other feast, from the speedway race to the Kentucky derby, puts them in a mind to walk, sit and wallow in the butts of dead cheroots and hot dog rolls, get stuck to slatted chairs and to shuffle about looking like station-house bums with blue-mold, with so little complaint.

Speech Is Poignant One of the most poignant events, spiritual as well as political, since the Mountbank seduced the rabble with his defiance of fear itself, on March 4, 1933, was the speech of Herbert Hoover.

This was not a harangue but a sermon, beautiful and sadly reproachful, not because the people had repudiated him but because they had been bribed and beguiled to loose their grip on liberty. It probably was Herbert Hoover's farewell address.

The other hour of dignity and grace, saving the convention from a dead level of loud vulgarity, was the program of James Melton, the singer, on opening night.

Most of the delegates on such a mission pass unrecognized into the oblivion whence they came. It falls to a few, however, to answer to their names for the networks when delegations are polled. When this happens all but the dullest of them seize the chance to send their names reverberating down the ages and through the vastness of space by crying out quaint, witty or magnificent sprigs of cress to garnish the plain statements of their votes

A lady from North Dakota, asked how the delegation voted, 'tore the flesh' from the bones of thousands present with an awful bellow that here was the honor and the privilege to cast 11 votes for Stassen.

Tenant: "Why raise my rent when my room is all the way up in the miserable attic?"

Landlord: "You use more stairs than anybody else."

The Screw Deal Seance

While listening to the passel of flapdoodle that was dished out by the alien-minded spouters at the Screw Deal convention, I was reminded of the lines of Alexander Pope: "Words are like leaves, and, where they most abound much fruit of sense is rarely found" This conclave of desperate payroll parasites, assorted nuts and miscellaneous crackpots saying things they didn't mean and meaning things they didn't say, and all talking at once, sounded like a lot of static from the Great Beyond.

Despite the reported demise of the sainted Roosevelt, so much cheap sentimentality was indulged in by the various speakers repeatedly eulogizing the late Dictator, I got the impression that little Harry wasn't President at all but just a hillbilly medium pinch-hitting for a political spook, receiving his signals from an ouija board and a gang of table-tippers in tune with the spirit world.

When bewitching Helen Gahagan Hesseltine, alias Douglas, turned on her frequency modulation and began singing the praises of the dead Roosevelt, I fully expected to hear some crystal-gazing mystic nominate him for a FIFTH TERM.

It took the Paducah Palooka Keynoter more than an hour to tell the convention that his party had an inside track with the Almighty and to "most highly recommend" the White House piano player, his cohorts, and himself, as worthy eaters of the taxpayers' groceries.

Now that the seance is over and the "liquid spirits" have died down, I really doubt that any sober Democrat, whose thinking equipment is on straight, will vote for these two incompetent hillbillies. Let's not forget that this is the same chawbacon Klaghorn who became front page stuff when a reporter, in the summer of 1938, exposed the fact that the lifelong charity broker and gentleman parasite, Slippery Slim Hopkins, was spending around $400 million WPA money in "Old Kaintuck" to buy Dear Alben a return ticket to the Senate.

His second grab of the headlines was early in 1944 when he pulled a phony break with the fourth-term Precedent Breaker to save his hide with the voters back home. He pretended to be highly incensed when FDR, in his pique because Congress refused to wreck every taxpayer in the country, insulted the Congress and the American people in his veto message.

Remember? Dear Alben pretended to resign his porfolio as majority leader of the Senate, with the understanding that the Democratic majority would refuse to accept it. That was precisely what happened, although the situation was messed up by formal acceptance and "unanimous re-election" to something he was supposed to have resigned the day before. All this crap was intended to make the former stooge appear as a real HEman, a leader with a mind of his own. However, compared to the Pendergast protege, old chawbacon is a piker.

Let's not forget that Harry Truman is the same political pecker who actually bragged about being a member of one of the most infamous gangs of political crooks the United States has ever known. He said for publication 'I am a Jackson County organization Democrat and proud of it. That is the way I got to be County Judge, a Senator, and a candidate for Vice President." VICE President is right. Well, let's take a look at the record of the fate that befall President (pro tem) Truman's Kansas City buddies:

TOM PENDERGAST, Supreme Boss, who wielded more power than many crowned heads; Sent to Penitentiary.

JOHNNY LAZZIA, controlled and organized crime, bootleg liquor joints, gambling dens, bawdy hounses and opium dives: Sent to Penitentiary.

H. R. McELROY, City Manager of Kansas City, Missouri: Indicted for embezzlement of $365,000: Died before going to trial.

MATHEW S. MURRAY, WPA administrator for Missouri: sent to Penitentiary.

R. EMMET O'MALLEY, State Superintendent of Insurance: — Sent to Penitentiary.

WALTER W. GRAVES, Prosecuting Attorney of Jackson county, Missouri. Disbarred by the Supreme Court of Missouri for malfeasance in office, indicted for the same offense; died before going to trial

OTTO HIGGINS, Chief of Police of Kansas City, Missouri: Sent to Penitentiary.

CHARLES V. (Charlie the Wop) CARROLLO, in charge of gambling and northside district leader. Sent to Penitentiary.

MRS. FRANCES S. RYAN, boss of the 12th Ward: sent to Penitentiary.

ANGELO DONNICI, "Mayor of Ninth Street": Sent to Penitentiary.

CHARLES GARGOTTA, notorious gangster and politician, sent to Penitentiary.

What can be expected of an administration headed by a man who was the stuffed-shirt front for a lot of criminals with whom he voluntarily joined hands and through whose influence and money he brasenly admits became a Senator and then an accidental President of the United States. If he and his unscroupulous cohorts decide another war is necessary to bring about his re-election, then we may expect war.

But to cap the climax President Pro-tem Truman pardon this bunch of vote stealers and part of them are now or were recently under indictment for the 1946 Congrssional Elections in Missouri.

Miss Betty Pestel Becomes Bride Of Hermann Luermann

Miss Betty Jane Pestal, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Pestel, St. 708 E. Kossuth St., became the bride of Herman H. Luermann, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Luermann, 4846 E. Whittier St., June 26.

The Rev. G. S. Schultz officiated at the 2:30 o'clock ceremony at Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church. The church was decorated with white gladioli and tall candles flanked with ribbons lighting the center aisle.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white taffeta and a short marquisette veil edged with lace. A coiffure of white gardenias held her fitted bodice extended into a bouffant skirt which was caught up in front by a rosette to reveal a ruffled edged hoop. Her fingertip veil of illusion was held in place by a queen tiara of seed pearls and rhinestones. She carried a bouquet of white roses centered with an orchid.

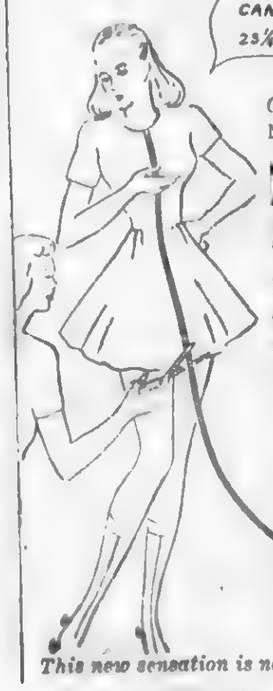
Fred Dierker served as best man.

Mr. Luermann, associated with the Ohio Farm Bureau, is a graduate of South High School and attended Capital University.

Mrs. Luermann, associated with the Buckeye Union Casualty Co., is a graduate of South High School.



Gray Ladies Are Needed

No single one of the Volunteer Services of the Red Cross is more intangible and yet more deeply appreciated than the work of the Gray Ladies, originally known as the "Hospital and Recreation Service", the women who performed countless small kindnesses for the wounded in military hospitals were always called "gray ladies" by the patients who knew them by the gray uniforms. Recently the Red Cross bowed to the custom and made it their official name.

The Gray ladies of the Franklin County Chapter were organized only toward the close of World War II, but already their unique contghution to the community's hospitals and clinics has brought fervent requests for more. The Gray Lady Unit 3, now at Lockbourne Air Force Base, is one of the few of its kind in the country, and the work of the Gray Ladies at the Columbus State Hospital has won praise from staff and patients alike.

Gray Ladies also serve at the Franklin County Tuberculosis Hospital, the Cancer Clinic and the cerebral Palsey Center and both the Franklin County Home and the Bureau of Juvenile Research have urgently requested them. Wherever they go, Gray Ladies bring the breath of home to those they help by reading for them, teaching knitting and sewing, always adjusting the recreation they provide to the hospital or home in which they serve.

To fill the needs of these agencies, and also to provide Gray Ladies to help in the new Red Cross Regional Blood Center, the present number of Gray ladies will have to be doubled, according to Mrs. Rodger D. Farnsworth their chairman. The Red Cross is anxious to have applicants for the course of training to start September 20, and appointments for interviews may be made by calling Ma. 7421. Anyone, regardless of professional training, can be a Gray Lady; the primary requirements are only an understanding heart and a sincere desire to help in bringing cheer to the hearts of those who miss the atmosphere of home. Age limits, 21 to 55 years.

Two Year Old Needs Blood

Little Nancy Love, two-year-old niece of Mrs. Susan McIntyre, 1225 Parsons Ave. is in University Hospital, suffering from leuke-mia.

Nancy has had several blood transfusions and will probably have to have more of them: any type blood will do.

Any of you good South Siders who would care to give some of your blood to this little girl can do so by calling Walnut 3121 for appointment.

Blood donations may be made Monday through Thursday 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. and Friday, Saturday 8 a.m. to 5 p.m

Do not eat for four hours before appearing at the University Hospital

Southway Unit No. 144 American Legion Aux.

Dues of Auxiliary members become payable on October 20th for 1949. They are making every effort to have the entire membership in good standing for the new year as soon as possible after this date. Early payment of dues by old members is highly desirable in order to free the energies of the unit for the securing of new members and other auxiliary activities. If you are not contacted by one of the membership committee, send your dues to Mrs. Oscar Wohlfarth, 242 Lansing St., membership chairman.

Parsons Service Needs Improving

Have you ridden those shiney new Parsons Avenue busses? They are quick, and for time get you down town in about one third less time than the street cars did.

Now, if the Columbus Southern Electric Co. will just give us an extra bus or two it will be fine.

Miss Lewis of the Booster staff waited twenty minutes on a bus Monday night. The Parsons transportation has always been poor but certainly we can expect improvement.

The people of the South Side are not a separate village, but part of Columbus, and should get at least eight minute service.

One particular benefit Parsons Ave. people have received, with the advent of bus service is that you can now drive your auto up Parsons Ave. and not take all day to do it.

You can now drive Parsons Ave. and don't have to go to another street.

Cub Den Formed

Seven young gentlemen, aged nine and ten, have formed Cub Scout Den 1, Pack 84, and are busy learning the sort of things that will make them good Boy Scouts when they reach the age of twelve. Tying knots, developing hobbies and feats of skill, are but a few of the "achievements" they must pass to attain higher rankings. "Know your neighborhood" proved to be an interesting achievement, giving the boys a chance to hike all over the South Side and to get acquainted with new people.

Another recent event was a picnic at the "Y" park. This was really a special event because the boys received Bobcat pins, while moving pictures were taken of the entire day's doings. The man behind the camera was Ted Day, father of one of the Denners.

The Den is fortunate in having an able Den Chief, (Boy Scout who assists in teaching the Cubs.) in the person of Alfred Conn. The Denners themselves are: Arthur Abrahamson, Larry Brown, Edward Day, Donald Dicke, Leroy Hayes, Robert Saum, and Joel Williams. Cubmaster and Den Mother are Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Dicke.

Any mother interested in seeing her son (or sons) in this worthwhile organization, may contact Mr. Hess at the Scout headquarters and learn of the possibilities of forming Dens of their own. At the present time Den 1, Pack 84, is the only Cub representation in this section of the South Side, (one pack in the East end has 200 members alone.) so there's much room for expansion. For those interested, Mr. Hess may be reached at Ad 9119.

A Book Dated 1844

Newspaper offices, sometimes can be very interesting.

On occasions now and then old newspapers, book, and historical data are brought into our office.

Last Thursday, George Bumgarner, 356 Zimpfer St., brought us in an old book printed in German dated 1844.

Most of the German we took in school, we have forgotten, so we called in the Rev. L. C. Heuer to find out just what the title of the book is. He proceeded to translate for us.

The book was "The Garden of Paradise", by John Arndt, a very famous Lutheran Minister of that day, who was superintendent of the Province of Luenoburg, Germany.

Some of the topics in the book are Christian Virtues, Prayers for all Occasions, Morning and Evening Devotions, and Explanations of the Ten Commandments.

The book was printed at Reutlinger, Germany.

We are turning the book over to the Ohio State Archeological and Historical Museum with the permission of Mr. Bumgarner

Keller Orders Sales Stopped

In our last week's issue, we had an article in regard to the sale of jewelry, [illegible] by one credit [illegible] firm.

We regretted [illegible] how many [illegible] of the credit [illegible] from were robbed, [illegible] property.

Of course there are many [illegible] jewelry received because [illegible] carried approximately $10 [illegible] cash to cash the checks of city employees in front of [illegible] Cleaning Department.

In our article of last week we brought out the fact that a member of the City Service Department was involved and [illegible] believed that the [illegible] that department. Elmer Keller was unaware of what was going on.

Service Director Keller called us Thursday, and said that he was unaware of [illegible] and had immediately ordered the discountenance of the practice of selling jewelry, or any other article on city property.

Let us congratulate Mr. Keller on his decision as this kind of a condition should not exist.

While this was being done R. Pierre Barthalow was [illegible] City Auditors office to examine the collections for the [illegible] jewelry firm with city employees on city time at the tax payers expense.

Mr. Keller, being a good public servant, recognizes these conditions as wrong, and [illegible] put his house in order but Barthalow continues to use his office for the benefit of the credit jewelry firm.

Mr. Barthalow has [illegible] to ignore the Booster's questions of these conditions or do one thing to rectify this condition.

Barthalow has never communicated with your editor, nor has he denied any of the facts set up in the Booster to anyone to our knowledge.

We are again asking Barthalow does the city auditor's office get paid for this bookkeeping service for this one credit jewelry firm or is the money paid to the city treasury some one or [illegible] Barthalow's office or to whom?

The people of our community have a right, of you as a public servant, for an answer to these question. Mr. Barthalow You continued [illegible] casts grave doubts in their minds not [illegible] too favorable of you.

"Why does the editor call himself we?"

Tentative Hunting Regulations Adopted

The Ohio Conservation and Natural Resources Commission last week adopted tentative regulations, subject to official action at the September meeting, for the 1948 hunting season in Ohio, naming November 15 to 25 as the open season on pheasant and November 15 to December 15 for rabbit. All dates inclusive.

The 1948 season represents three more pheasant hunting days and five more rabbit hunting days than last year.

Daily bag and possession limits were unchanged from last year's rules, that is, two cock birds a day and a possession limit of two for pheasants and a daily take of four rabbits with a possession limit of four.

Daily hunting hours for both rabbit and pheasant will be the same as last year, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Commission Chairman Allen E. Rupp, Cambridge and John E. Hailiday, Gallipolis, differed with the other commission members on the early closing hour for rabbits but lost out in the vote since the rest of the Commission felt that different closing hours for pheasant and rabbit hunting would cause too much confusion to the general public, and also that it would not be conducive to the conservation of the pheasant population.

Rules for grouse shooting will be the same as for pheasants. Trapping regulations will be the same as last year.

The Commission previously had officially confirmed September 15 to 30 as the season on squirrel for the entire state. The daily bag limit will be four and the possession limit also four.

Normally hunting regulations are announced earlier in the year but the Commission felt that it should have as much time as possible to determine the game population in the field following the nesting season before setting the regulations.

There will be no open season on Hungarian Partridge and skunk for the entire state in 1948.

An open deer season for a portion of the state was approved at the July meeting but the matter of setting dates and regulations was deferred until the September 10 meeting.

A preliminary deer survey appears to indicate that the deer population in the northern and northwestern counties of the state has increased considerably over last year. Final surveys are now under way to determine what regulations should prevail for the 1948 season.

Other Commission action last week included the appropriation of $3485 for the purchase of three small tracts of land at Punderson Lake in Geauga County to complete the land acquisition for the purchase by the Division of Conservation of the 97-acre lake. The Commission approved an appropriation of $38,000 for the 1949 tree and shrub distribution program but designated $20,000 of the amount for the distribution of multiflora rose. Although the tree and shrub units purchased into the program will primarily be used on the Division's wildlife development areas now under lease, surplus units will be offered to farmers subject to applications for such units late this fall.

The Commission also appropriated about $18,000 from fishing license funds to acquire landin Clark County for the construction of a headwater lake of about 105 acres just west of Springfield.

Commission Cuts Daily Waterfowl Hunting Hours

The Ohio Conservation and Resources Commission, meeting in Columbus last week, officially cut one-half hour from the daily waterfowl hunting hours included in the rules and regulations on migratory waterfowl prescribed for Ohio by the U. S. Department of the Interior.

The Federal authorities prescribed one-half hour before sunrise as the daily starting hour after the frist day but the Ohio officials claimed that shooting waterfowl during the dark period between dawn and sunrise is an unwise wildlife conservation regulation especially for states with skimpy waterfowl populations and therefore set the Ohio daily hunting hours after the opening day as from sunrise to one hour before sunset.

The Commission accepted all other features of the rules and regulations including the 30 consecutive day season from October 29 to and including November 27, the 12 o'clock noon starting time for the first day and the bag and possession limits.

Each year the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service following biological investigations and consultations with State game administrators recommends to the Department of the Interior the rules and regulations for the various flyways used by migrating waterfowl. The regulations are designed, to meet the varying conditions in the different flyways, and must conform with certain treaties relating to birds migrating between the United States, Canada and Mexico. State officials are permitted to reduce regulations and shorten seasons for their particular state but may not increase such regulations or seasons.

Ohio is included in the Mississippi flyway.

Every Store Window

In mid-July the Soviet government reduced the prices of some types of goods sold in its state-owned stores. And that proves an interesting commentary on living standards under a system in which the state controls everything, and has no competition.

The average Russian industrial worker earns 500 rubles a month. A bicycle, under the new price, will cost him 1,120 rubles—more than his entire income for two months' labor. A midget-sized automobile will cost 9,000 rubles. As a New York Times account sums it up, "The average Soviet industrial worker, . . .must work two and a third hours to earn enough rubles to buy a bottle of beer, more than a month to buy a radio set and nearly eight weeks to buy a sewing machine."

There is an example of communist abundance. By contrast, the American worker, even in these days of inflation, buys each day foods and goods which would seem the wildest luxury in Russia.

What makes that possible? First of all, every American producer must hold costs to the minimum if he is to survive the competition. Secondly, the same thing is true of the stores where we buy our goods. Whether we patronize an independent or a chain, another store down the block or in the next town is aggressively competing for our business, and is trying to offer better quality, a lower price, a wider selection, or some other inducement. In a nation where the government owns the factories and the stores, no inducement is necessary.

Every store window in America, as a matter of fact, is an argument for the free enterprise system of doing things.

Freedom Train At Stadium

The brilliantly decorated Freedom Train, when it arrives here, Sunday, Sept. 5, will exhibit its precious cargo in one of the most dramatic and advantageous display points it has ever had in its long nation-wide tour. Mr. Paul R. Gingher of the Train Committee has announced that the train will be shown on the C & O overpass over the Olentangy River Road opposite the Ohio Stadium.

This will allow thousands of Columbusites, who would otherwise miss the train, to view it exterior simply by driving up and down the River Road. This will also be possible after the hours of darkness. The Columbus Depot has provided an extensive set of floodlights which will be used to illuminate the train and its surroundings.

The attorney-general's office has directed that the Freedom Train, and the historical documents it carries, be guarded and handled generally with the same deference accorded the President of the United States.

Railroad switches will be placed in the proper position and spiked there. The train will be washed daily with a special mild soap that will not harm the bright paint it is decorated with.

Every day the train will be provided with $2,000 pounds of ice for its ice activated air conditioning system. The purpose of this system is to provide the correct temperature and humidity necessary to protect the aged parchments the historical documents within the train are printed on.

An auxilary power car will be placed behind the Freedom Train with a gasoline powered generator. This will be used to keep the trains batteries up. Water will be piped in from 600 feet away.

The technical services provided for the train will be supervised and later guarded by railroad policemen. The Pennsylvania and C & O railroads are cooperating in handling the train while it is in Columbus.

The train will be open to visitors from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. on Sept. 5 and 6. This two day stay will be one of the longest in the train's itinerary

By GRANTLAND RICE

A FEW decades ago I asked Christy Mathewson to name the best pitcher he ever faced. "That's easy," Matty answered. "His name is Charles Kid Nichols of Boston. Nichols isn't a good pitcher. He is a great one."

I recalled this talk when the mail brought a letter from Ty Cobb at Menlo Park, Calif.

"I think everyone has overlooked one of the greatest pitchers of all time," Cobb writes. "His name is Kid Nichols. Here are just a few of his records from 1890 to 1906:

"1. Won three consecutive games on three consecutive days, all pitched in different cities.

"2. Won 30 or more games for 10 consecutive years. He won 300 and lost 208.

"3. Won 25 or more games for eight consecutive seasons.

"4. Best three consecutive years of pitching percentage.

"5. Only pitcher of note to average 34 wins per year at present distances."

Cobb also extends his admiration to Eddie Plank and Ed Walsh. "I'd take Ed Walsh as my first choice of all pitchers for a five-year period," he told me once. "He literally pitched his arm off in 1908 when he worked in 66 games, winning 40 and saving 12 others. Imagine being responsible for 52 victories?"

"It's hard to outrank Eddie Plank," Cobb said in his recent letter. "Plank worked in 620 games, won 324 and lost 190. He was a fine pitcher—smart and always packed with control. He wasn't as fast as Grove, but he was a tough man to beat."

One can be reminded again of the great pitchers Connie Mack brought along from Waddell, Bender and Plank to Coombs, Grove, Earnshaw, Rommel and others — not overlooking Pennock and Bullet Joe Bush.

What manager ever dug up such left-handers as Eddie Plank, Lefty Grove, Herb Pennock and Rube Waddell, four of the greatest pitchers the venerated pastime has ever seen on display?

And today, the eminent Mr. McGillicuddy, aged 85, believes he has another staff just about as good as he had in those far off years.

Mack's Ups and Downs

No one in baseball has ever known as many ups and downs, as many booms and dips, as many ascents and descents, as Connie Mack has known since he came to the American league in 1901.

Connie finished fourth his first year and then promptly won his first pennant in 1902, his second start. He won again in 1905, and two years later began breaking up or dismantling his winning squad for the first time.

He kept Bender and Plank, but got rid of Harry Davis, Lave and Monte Cross, plus a few others. In place of these he picked up Eddie Collins from Columbia, Stuffy McInnis from New England, Jack Barry from Holy Cross and "Home Run" Baker from a Maryland hamlet.

Connie finished second in 1909, missing the flag by a brief eyelash. By 1910 he had his greatest team—a team good enough to win the pennant four times from 1910 through 1914. The Red Sox with Smokey Joe Wood burning up the league won in 1912.

The debacle of 1914, when the Braves won in four straight, sent Connie back to work dispersing another flock of star athletes.

String of Losses

Connie had broken up another club. It took him a long time to get back. He finished last in 1915, 1916, 1917, 1918, 1919, 1920 and 1921. At that time he appeared to have an endless lease on the cellar.

Connie began to surge back in 1925, when he finished second. He was then 63 years old. But it was not until 1929 that he overhauled the Yankees and ruled the uplands for three years through 1932.

It was around 1933 that Mack began dismantling another club. He unloaded a freight car full of athletes on Tom Yawkey, the list including Robert Moses Grove and most of his stars.

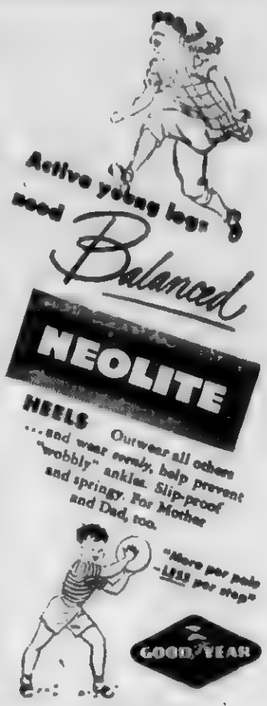
This didn't help the Red Sox any, but it wrecked the Athletics. They finished last again eight more years through 1945 when their case looked to be hopeless.

Connie has finished last 15 or 16 times and next to last on many more occasions. He also finished first nine times.

He came up with a pretty fair ball club last season in his 84th year. At least they finished fifth. Then came the big surprise this season as the Mackmen, carried along by superior pitching and some timely hitting, moved out in front.

Where will the Athletics finish? October is a long hike off. But so far the Athletics have looked better than either the Yankees or Red Sox who were picked earlier to handle all the pace setting.

Basic Cause Of Inflation



The President's message to the special session of Congress dwelt at length on rising prices and the high cost of living. But it did not touch on one of the basic reasons for inflation — the high cost of government.

Since 1939, according to government figures, the cost of living has risen 73 per cent. But in the same period the cost of the Federal government has risen 337 percent —from less than $9,000,000,000 in 1939 to nearly $40,000,000,000 for the fiscal year of 1948. To put it another way, the cost of government, Federal, state and local, has increased at a rate nearly 4½ times as fast as the cost of living, and taxes now constitute the nation's bill for food.

This underlines the folly of trying to find a scapegoat for high prices. They aren't the fault of manufacturers or retailers or any other group. Industry, taking it as a whole, has raised prices reluctantly and only when no other course was possible, because high prices ultimately reduce sales. Our whole government fiscal policy is of a kind that makes more and more inflation inevitable.

It is a gross deception to argue that the cure for higher prices lies in controls and roll-backs to the level of 1946 or some other year. Nothing would do more to discourage production, and to give this country a taste of what a police state is like. No one, whether he be a manufacturer or a storekeeper, can do business at a loss. And nothing in the proposed controls could reduce by a single penny the cost of operating an enterprise.

We must attack inflation by dealing with the causes, not the symptoms. Economical government, combined with a tax policy that offers incentives to production, is the first step.

Your Home

By Frances Ainsworth

One of the clubs to which I belong held a special meeting recently on "The Art of Home Decorating", and Mrs. Hays, our chairman, told us that this program was made possible by one of the country's large paint companies. Many companies are now supplying material such as this on subjects of interest to all homemakers.

This particular program gave us the entire story on paint for home decoration, presented in four sections. The first dealt with the history of color and paint, and we were fascinated to learn about the earliest paints — where they came from and so on. The next section covered modern paint and its application. Did you know that paint not only protects our homes and makes them more attractive, but actually makes them safer by pointing out spots of danger?

The third section was extremely interesting . . . describing various types of paints and where they should be used. Not only where, but exactly how to use them; something every homemaker should know. The fourth section was on "The Science of Color Dynamics" . . . how to use color to best advantage for beauty and for the psychological reaction of the members of your household.

Each talk was presented with the help of special full-color cards, a movie, and booklets for every member, which were all furnished by the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company.

The program was very interesting and certainly constructive. Now that we know that companies will help us plan our club meetings, we're going to have several more along the same line.

Military Expenditures

Three alternatives confront humanity: world dictatorship, atomic war, or the moral re-armament of men and nations at a speed and scale adequate to retrieve history in time.

Which alternative it will be depends on the word "Ideology".

Ideology is a word new to most Americans. It is a long word and in many cases not yet understood. Yet in this ideological age, when nations are mobilized behind these systems of ideas for which men live and are prepared to die, democracy can only survive by finding an inspired ideology of her own.

Speaking in Los Angeles recently Peter Howard, noted British author and columnist, pointed out, "The democracies ideologically are at the bow and arrow stage in the era of the atom bomb."

In terms of dollars, the truth of this can be clearly demonstrated. The Marshall Plan costs us $16,523,000 every day. Military preparedness costs us $28,812,000 a day. In ideological preparedness the nation is spending barely a thin trickle. Moral Re-Armament, called by Paul G. Hoffman, ECA Administrator, "The ideological counterpart of the Marshall Plan," cost in the entire year of 1947 less than one modern super-bomber.

Yet, consider what ideological preparedness is worth to the democracies. In Caux, Switzerland, recently at the MRA World Assembly, a union leader from the vital Ruhr district of Germany said, "If you carry out in the Ruhr area the ideas you have got here, Communism, in which I have believed for so long will disappear overnight."

Wherever Moral Re-Armament goes in, the isms go out. Dr. Chen Li-Fu, Vice President of the Chinese Parliament, speaking at Caux, termed MRA a "superior ideology" and said "This force can sweep away all lesser ideologies."

If then ideological preparedness is democracy's number one priority, the citizens of democracy must also find the way to give it a top priority on their list of financial responsibilities. It is not too late until the chance is gone.

Such preparedness can save the democracies the expenditure of hundreds of billions of dollars.

It can save the immeasurable catastrophe and the incalculable cost of the first two alternatives posed above.

It can make possible the renaissance of mankind.

If ideological preparedness goes into the red, the blood of a world civilization will be on our heads.

What is the cost of an ideology?
What is the cost of none?

A REALLY "FANCY" SPREAD!

A conserve which brings summertime delicacies to winter tables is Cantaloupe-Peach Conserve, easy to make but really a "fancy" spread with its blanched almonds and grated orange rinds to lend piquant flavors. This recipe from the famous Ball Blue Book of home canning tells you how to make the conserve.

4 cups diced cantaloupe
4 cups diced peaches
6 cups sugar
½ cup blanched almonds
4 tablespoons lemon juice
½ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon grated orange rind

Cook the cantaloupe and peaches together 20 minutes. Add sugar and lemon juice. Boil rapidly until thick. Add almonds, nutmeg, salt and grated orange rind. Boil three minutes, then pour, boiling hot, into hot Ball Jars. Seal.

Bread-and-Butter Pickles Big Favorites with Everyone

Crisp Bread-and-Butter Chips are just as easy as some sweet pickles to put up, and for these delicious pickles are everybody's favorite. Most homemakers say they can never put up enough to last through the winter but they always try! So get a big supply of cucumbers and use this tested recipe from the Ball Blue Book to make Bread-and-Butter Chips that "last forever."

3 quarts sliced cucumbers
3 onions, sliced
5½ cups vinegar
3 cups brown sugar
1 red hot pepper
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon ginger
2 tablespoons mustard seed
1 teaspoon turmeric
½ tablespoon celery seed
1 piece horseradish

Soak cucumbers and onions (separately) 5 to 10 hours in brine made by dissolving one-half cup of salt in one-half gallon cool water. Drain well. Add onion, 2½ cups vinegar, and 2½ cups water to the cucumbers. Simmer about 15 minutes. Do not cook until soft. Drain. Discard liquid in which scalded. Make syrup by boiling the sugar and spices with three cups vinegar and one cup water for three minutes. Pack well-drained cucumbers and onions in hot Ball Jars. Cover with boiling syrup and seal.

News In The World Of Religion

The National Lutheran Council, serving many of the Lutheran bodies in the United States, has a newly-established "Department for the Christian Approach to the Jewish People." The executive of the body is the Rev. Harold Floreen, of Chicago, Ill. A graduate of Augustana College and of the Lutheran Theological Seminary at Rock Island, Ill., Pastor Floreen has recently been serving with the Zion Society for Israel in Chicago. His task will be to interpret Christianity to the Jewish people.

Koreans have their own sense of humor, and they have a new joke about the communists in the north, said to constitute only ten per cent of the people, according to Missionary Charles K. Sauer, recently returned from Korea to Delaware, Ohio. "Why are the north Koreans like radishes?" they ask. And the answer: "Because they are red outside and white inside."

Among the 42 nations represented at the Assembly of the World Council of Churches, which opened in Amsterdam, Holland, August 22, are six countries "within the Russian sphere of influence", it is reported by Dr. Samuel M. Cavert, of New York, chairman of the international arrangements committee. There are church representatives present from Yugoslavia, Hungary, Finland, Poland, Czechoslovakia, and Roumania. Dr. Cavert thinks it probable that the Russian Othordox Church will also send delegates from Moscow. The Papal State is represented by unofficial observers appointed by Pope Pius. This church gathering "will be without precedent in modern history", says Dr. Cavert. It will consider and adopt statements on the relation of churches to each other, on evangelism, missionary work, international affairs, economic and social problems, and on other fundamental causes of conflict and differences of opinion and action throughout the world. These "resolutions" will be based on studies that have been going on all over the world during the past two years.

The Rev. Hyungki J. Lew, the most famous Christian scholar in Korea, recently awarded the degree of Doctor of Letters by Ohio Wesleyan University, has added to his long list of writings and translations a new parallel edition Korean-English New Testament. It uses the Revised Standard English Version and Dr. Lew's own revised Korean version. Recently he completed the translation of the Abingdom Bible Commentary into Korean, and is working on a Bible dictionary in that language.

"The largest gathering of bishops in the history of the Anglican communion" met during five weeks of July and August in the famed Lambeth Palace, England, the historic home of the archbishops of Canterbury. Three hundred thirty archbishops and bishops, representing many races and cultures and all the continents, were in attendance. Sixty-seven of the bishops were from the United States. This was the first meeting of the Conference in eighteen years, and the eighth since 1867. Without any fanfare and with a minimum of publicity, the bishops considered questions dealing with the unity of the church, its traditions, form of worship, ideals, and organization.

No "legislation" was enacted, the Lambeth Conference being purely consultative and advisory, but in the years ahead many of the matters considered here will come before legal church bodies on all continents in the form of suggestions from their own bishops. At the conference were Chinese, Japanese, West Indian, Maoris, and Ceylonese bishops. The Protestant Episcopal Church, of which Bishop Henry Knox Sherrill is the presiding head, is the American member of the Anglican church family. The Archbishop of Canterbury, titular head of the communion, presided over the Conference.

Refugees from both civil war and from floods, in many of the provinces of China, continue to need food and clothing and shelter, and this is being provided in some measure through Church World Service from gifts of American church people, it is reported by Allan Rosch, of the American Advisory Committee in Shanghai. He writes: "There is urgent need in Kiangsu, Anhwei and Honan provinces for medical supplies to prevent an outbreak of epidemic among the refugees. There are over 100,000 refugees in Kaifeng alone. I visited one of the refugee villages where 16,000 people are living in temporary homes — a straw mat roof over a hole in the ground. There are estimated 200,000 refugees at Cheng Chow and conditions are appaling and need urgent. Large numbers are living in all manner of temporary shelters on the outskirts of the city and on the streets. They are living in holes in the ground, eating weeds. Many have smallpox. They need clothing. In one of the villages we visited, hundreds knelt in the mud, in the rain, pleading for help."

Homemade Sandwich Buns

Just plain good food is the keynote of a quick menu of well-done hamburgers on enriched sandwich buns, served with plenty of garden fresh salad.

A serve-yourself meal which features hamburgers and relishes is certain to draw many comments of "what fun this is!" Sandwich buns from the bakeshop or made at home give the 'burgers that wonderful special flavor. When made at home, the buns are easily shaped from a plain yeast dough by rolling into small balls and flattening to the desired shape.

With the picnic season in full swing, it is a good idea to bake enough buns at one time to take care of sandwich needs for several days. Careful storage preserves their fresh quality. Incidentally, the buns taste wonderful when toasted over an open fire.

On other occasions you may wish to let the nearby friendly baker save you time and energy. The enriched sandwich buns he supplies also provide the important B-vitamins and iron of these home-made buns.

Sandwich Buns

2 packages yeast, compressed or dry
½ cup lukewarm water
1 cup milk
¼ cup sugar
2 teaspoons salt
¼ cup shortening
2 eggs
4½ cups sifted enriched flour (about)

Soften yeast in lukewarm water. Scald milk. Add sugar, salt and shortening. Cool to lukewarm. Add eggs. Beat until blended. Add softened yeast. Mix well. Add remaining flour to make a soft dough. Turn out on lightly floured board and knead until smooth and satiny. Place in lightly greased bowl. Grease surface. Cover. Let rise until doubled (about one and one-half hours). Punch down. Shape into number of buns desired by rolling into small balls and flattening to form sandwich buns. Place on greased baking sheets. Let rise until doubled (about one hour.) Form remaining dough into smooth ball. Grease surface lightly. Cover and put into refrigerator. When wanted, remove dough from refrigerator and punch down. Mold at once, or if preferred, let dough stand in warm room for an hour before molding. Let rise until doubled. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) about 18 minutes.

Yield: two dozen four and one-half inch buns.

ONE night back around 1935, on my way home from the broadcasting studio, I dropped in a New York night club to hear a new girl vocalist singing with Chick Webb's band. She had been with the band only one week, and she was as nervous as a high school senior making a speech on graduation night. If you want to hear for yourself just how much that shy, awkward girl has developed into a poised, finished singer, listen to Ella Fitzgerald's new Decca record of "My Happiness." Yes, it was Ella I heard that night.

The same tune has been waxed by John Laurens for Mercury — and there's an interesting story connected with the record. Because of the Petrillo ban, the orchestral background was recorded in Europe and the master flown here, where Laurens's voice was "dubbed" in. Pretty slick, huh?

Speaking of records made abroad, something really different is a tune called "Jazz Pizzicato," recorded by Ambrose on a London label. Ambrose, who has been playing in England's swankiest hotels for years, comes up with a very listenable combination of swing and strings backed by unusual rhythm ideas . . . Another fine arrangement can be heard in Gordon Jenkins' disc of "Dark Eyes" (Decca).

Peggy Lee, the "Manana" girl, has another Capitol hit in "Caramba! It's The Samba (The One Dance I Can't Do)", which features that wonderful pseudo-Mexican dialect of hers . . . Sammy Kaye's latest Victor offerings are "Pecos Bill" and "Fool That I Am," the first an entertaining cowboy novelty tune and the second a slow, sentimental ballad that is proving very popular with Sammy's radio audience on the Chesterfield Supper Club.

Decca has reissued Judy Garland's memorable record of "(Dear Mr. Gable) You Made Me Love You" . . . Frank Sinatra does his usual impeccable job on "All of Me" (Columbia) . . . Others you'll like are: "Moonlight On a White Picket Fence," Bing Crosby (Decca): "It's You or No One," Margaret Whiting (Capitol); "The New Look," Freddie Martin (Victor) and "If I Were You," Jimmy Dorsey (Decca).

Of all the above records, my "ABC" selection is:

A—Peggy Lee's "Caramba!"
B—Sammy Kaye's "Fool That I Am."
C—Freddie Martin's "The New Look."

Sammy Kaye, Chesterfield Supper Club star, records cowboy novelty tune.

They're only one man's opinion, of course. You probably have your own favorites among the newest discs. If so, drop me a line and maybe you can convince me your selection is better than mine (remember I said "maybe").

Good listening to you . . . and you . . . and especially to you.

Miss Peters has the role of a seemingly-sweet young stepmother, who creates havoc among her family, in this tense new melodrama, in which she co-stars with Alexander Knox. Phyllis Thaxter and Peggy Ann Garner head the topflight supporting cast of "Sign of the Ram", which will be shown at the Southland with "Northwest Trail", as second feature.

IDEAL THEATER

The Ideal presents Sunday and Monday "The Noose Hangs High" with Abbott and Costello. A comedy in which these two well known actors pack a bombshell of laughs in a merry mess of mischief that could only happen to them. They're on the lam from a gangster who would like to know what they did with $50,000 of his and so would they. They're wizzards at washing windows and experts of wringing laughs. Bud Abbott and Costello are babes in arms at coping with a trigger-happy mobster who thinks they swiped their money. Also "Heart of Virginia" with Janet Martin and Robert Lowery. Also a "Cartoon".

Recreation Departm't To Present Pageant

The City Recreation Department Playgrounds will participate in the dramatic pageant "The Perfect Place" to be presented at Central High School, Wednesday, August 25, at 8:00 p.m. "The Perfect Place" written, directed and produced by Mrs. Margaret Blickle of Ohio State University, will climax the 1948 playground season.

The play will consist of twelve scenes each being produced and enacted by combinations of the 51 playgrounds operated by the City Recreation Department.

The costumes for the various characters are being made by the children on the grounds. Almost from the beginning of the playground season in June, this has formed a large part of the craft program on these grounds. Not only has this activity appealed to the children who are actually participating in the program — but the other youngsters on these grounds have also taken an avid interest in the costume making and the collection of the properties to be used in the production. The various dances which appear in almost every scene of the play are left largely to the ingenuity of the supervisors of the playgrounds.

In the play, Tiny, played by Carol Eberhart of Brevoort playground is a little girl who finds herself alone in the world with no place to live. Accompanied by her two friends the Cat, played by Judy Melvin, and the Dog, played by Barbara Music, the trio visits many lands-none to their liking. Finally they come to the U. S. A. — and Ohio where they meet Chris Columbus and take part in the personality contest which climaxes the show.

The Southside will be well represented in the play "The Perfect Place" with four grounds taking an active part in the production. Scene IV "Mother Gooseland" has been assigned exclusively to Schiller Park playground. In this scene, a group of Mother Goose rhymes, chosen by the children at the park, will be featured in solos, choral groups and dancing. This is a very colorful and attractive part of the production.

Among some of the most beautiful scenes of the play, "The Perfect Place," are the clever "School for Fish" in scene IX and the balloon fairies in Scene XII "In Fairyland". The masks for the fish have been made by the children of Karnes playground who are responsible for parts in both of these scenes. The making of these masks is an unusual craft activity and this is the first time that mask-making has been taught on the playgrounds.

Fulton school playgrounds has been turned into "elfland" while the youngsters there prepare for their parts in the Elf dance which introduces Tiny into Fairyland. Twelve children from this playground are taking the parts of the elves.

And in perfect keeping with the current favorite the Woody Wood-pecker song — Livingston Playground is contributing the Woodpeckers for scene I "In Birdland" in the play "The Perfect Place". The woodpeckers have large and fancy paper sack heads! This playground is also contributing two comical bears for Scene VII "Animal Land." These trained bears are acted by Ike Mason and Ronald Barry both of Livingston Playground.

So don't miss this gala show "The Perfect Place" to be given at Central High School Wednesday ,August 25, at 8:00 p.m. Bring your youngsters and their neighborhood friends to this show which is absolutely free.

A patient was talking to his doctor: "There's nothing wrong with me except that my appendix itches."

"Good," replied the doctor, "we'll take it right out."

"Why?" the patient gasped.

Pegler Sees It

By Westbrook Pegler

Released by WNU Features

As I perceived at the time, the trial of a section of the Taft-Hartley law before Judge Ben Moore, in Washington, was suspicious business. Justice Frankfurter later remarked that he saw evidence of an inside job. The defendants were the C.I.O. and its psalm-singing president, Philip Murray, the Gethsemane kid. THE C.I.O. AND MURRAY ARE LATCH-KEY PALS OF PRESIDENT TRUMAN.

Frankfurter, in effect, accused the department of justice of slipping its own client a mickey finn. Actually we know, and so does Frankfurter and so did Moore, that the D. of J. was politically opposed to this law. It is a Republican law. The C.I.O. and Murray are not only Democrats but big contributors. By the decision of Moore, who is also an avowed Democrat, his party, Mr. Truman's party and the party of the defendants would gain or lose a slush fund of millions.

Judge Moore's party hopefully looked to him to ratify the use of that money with which it could corrupt the ballot in the 1948 Presidential election. In an opinion supporting the casuistical clap-trap in the defendant's own political pamphlets, Moore justified their hopes. Old Ben Moore came through.

I put it straight to Moore to say whether he ever was or never was a partner in a Charleston, W. Va., law firm which represents John L. Lewis and the United Mine Workers. I asked him to say also who plucked him out of Charleston to sit in Washington and who assigned him to this case.

Gets No Answer

Moore wouldn't answer and, although my questions obviously had no bearing on the Taft-Hartley case, he threw in a slantwise mention of contempt. Well, any citizen had a right to ask those questions and the bluff just made me more suspicious. However, if it was contempt he should have done his stuff.

NOW LET HIM CITE FRANKFURTER FOR CONTEMPT.

We may get a more thorough statement of Frankfurter's suspicions and objections to the conduct of the D. of J. when the opinions of the supreme court are written.

I now have discovered an opinion of the fourth circuit court of appeals—unanimous, too — which lays Moore out with the most violent flogging of a federal judge by a higher court that I have ever read.

A baby boy, 12 months old, wandered onto the railroad tracks and a yard engine cut off his hands. The first jury disagreed. The second gave the baby $100,000. The verdict was reversed on errors, but the court of appeals said also that the judgment was excessive. In the third trial, before Judge Moore, the jury gave the baby $160,000. He refused to set it aside as excessive, but the court of appeals said it certainly was and figured that the boy could have an income of $4,800 a year for life and still leave an estate of $160,000.

Recognizing the painful nature of the case, the court of appeals still condemned Moore for inciting the jury's sympathy and for "an argumentative presentation which must have prejudiced the defendant's case."

Moore Is Partial

One juror even made an affidavit that they all wrote down a big figure, added them up and divided by 12 to get $160,000.

But it was for his treatment of the locomotive fireman and his partiality to the plaintiff that the court of appeals gave Moore the worst of his bawling out.

The fireman was corroborating the engineer. The engineer said he did not take his eyes off the tracks to wave to three little boys about 200 feet from where the baby was. Incidentally, two of the little boys were brothers of the baby. They said the engineer waved.

THE THIRD KID SAID HE DIDN'T.

The fireman said "Not to my knowledge" was the engineer waving.

Moore said: "The question was, 'do you know that he wasn't?'"

A.—"No sir; I didn't see him waving at anyone."

Moore—"That isn't the question. Do you know he wasn't waving?"

A.—"I didn't see him."

Moore—"Answer, do you know he wasn't waving?"

A.—"No, he wasn't."

Moore—"That isn't the question. Do you know he wasn't waving?"

A.—"Well, sir—"

Moore — (interrupting) "You know whether you do or not. Do you know that he wasn't waving at somebody?"

A.—"I didn't see him waving, no sir."

Economic Highlights

Happenings that affect the dinner pails, dividend checks and tax bills of every individual, national and international problems inseparable from local welfare.

The political battles will be bitter this year, with no quarter given. A Republican party which has been on the outside for 16 years is as unified as it has ever been in its history. Mr. Truman, despite the obvious aura of pessimism that pervades his party, seems honestly convinced that he can win, and is obviously determined to seize upon every opportunity that might put the opposition in an unfavorable light. Some analysts think that his stock has risen substantially since his Western tour, a fact which may also be of service to the Republicans, by cutting down the spirit of overconfidence which has made many feel that the election is in the bag.

From certain points of view, the Progressive Party convention was the most interesting—and certainly it was the most remarkable. It was apparently designed to combine the best features of a crusade and a carnival. When vice presidential candidate Taylor and his family crooned before the microphones, something new in the way of precedents must have been established. And, while the Republican and Democratic platforms certainly went out on a long limb in an attempt to offer as much as possible to everyone, the Progressives put them in the shade. Their platform assures world peace, promies socialization of basic industry even as it endorses "progressive" capitalism, pledges the immediate elimination of any and all injustices to minority groups, and so forth. It was the longest and wordiest of the three platforms and by far the most inclusive. It was, however, pretty vague as to just how its objectives are to be reached, and at what cost to taxpayers.

It would be folly to deny the fact that Mr. Wallace has many sincere and impassioned supporters. Other people are amused, and still others are revolted. It is perfectly possible that the ticket will receive between 5,000,000 and 10,000,000 votes this fall. In any case, Mr. Wallace will make an aggressive and highly vocal campaign, and he will capture a great deal of newspaper space both here and abroad.

The problem is this: The Progressive Party is unquestionably backed to the hilt by the American communists and their fellow travelers. Correspondent after correspondent, including some of the least hysterical and most respected observers of world affairs, have said that, Norman Thomas, the socialist leader who, incidentally, did an exceptionally interesting job in reporting all three conventions for a press service—has charged categorically that the Communists have obtained control of the party's policy committees, and Mr. Thomas can hardly be described as a reactionary who sees a red around every corner. However, Mr. Thomas is a classical socialist who believes fervently in civil liberties and democratic processes, and he hates the Communists and all their works. He, like Dorothy Thompson and others, thinks Mr. Walace may do great harm to American prestige by his policy of appeasing Russia.

Mr. Wallace had a simple answer to the Berlin crisis — he would withdraw at what the Kremlin wants and withdraw from the city. He said nothing about what this might do to the morale of the small states which have aligned themselves with the West —and nothing about what might happen to legions of Germans who have cooperated with us in the administration of our interests in Germany.

Equally important, to say those who fear the Progressives may undermine our present bi-partisan foreign policy, is the fact that the party's platform did not say a single, solitary word in opposition to Soviet aggression. Even a very mildly worded plank, which would have put a little of the blame for current world troubles on Russia, was defeated. By contrast, this country was blamed for practically everything that is going on. If the Progressives are to be believed, we are wild imperialists, while the Russians, it seems, are reasonabl men whose only wish is a just peace.

This attitude, naturally, is being given a terrific play in the Russian press. The Kremlin's objective is to make Europe believe that neither the Republicans nor the Democrats represent true American feeling when it comes to foreign affairs, and that Mr. Wallace's stand has overwhelming public backing. President Truman and Governor Dewey are tarred with the same brush, and Mr. Wallace is always presented as a hero.

It remains to be seen how much capital the Russian leaders can make of that, and how much damage, if any, the Progressive Party will do to American standing. But it is a topic of very real importance today.

On the major party side, nothing new has been added. Mr. Truman's speech to the special session of Congress followed his past statements. It has long been obvious that price control will be his biggest domestic issue, and the speech laid heaviest emphasis on that. The Republican, as was to be expected, threw the blame for inflation back into the White House lap. The wohle matter will be hammered around in an infinity of detail when the candidates and their seconds take to the country with their appeals for votes.

You con't keep a good man down nor hold a bad man up.

The People Must Be Forced To Be Free

Was Rousseau right when he said: "The people must be forced to be free? The Red Menace is hardly greater than the one created by those who fail to register and vote; the government can't run itself anymore than your automobile so, when Americans fail to run their government, are they in a position to denounce the Reds for offering to step in and run it for them?

Only 31 Republicans out of 82 in my Precinct registered to vote in the recent primary, so had no more voice in the government than a Chinaman in Shanghai; yet they are the ones most afraid that he Reds may resort to "vote tapping" in their attack on our political and economic system. If the issue were solely policitcal, we would need deal only with the Red Dragon but communism is a menace mainly because our Rip Van Winkle voters, in their failure to exercise their prerogative of suffrage, have also gone underground.

The government is supposed to be the people but the government ceases to function when the voters cease to function. People who fail to register or vote on the ballot, or when they say they believe in the basic values of free enterprise. Their failure to vote puts them on a level with those who scoff at representative government. Even tho suffrage has been cheapened because it has been so promiscuously bestowed, those who fear the dollar bill will be debased don't seem concerned when the ballot is debased. These derelicts seem to prefer tranquility in a state of serfdom to freedom which somtimes seems to tax our endurance.

Citizens who fail to exercise their God-given right of suffrage do not fit in democracy because democracy is suitable only for people who are suitable for democracy. The inability or WILL to govern ourselves invites government by others. Has meekness reached a point where confusionists can preach treason without remonstrance on our part? The Show Up has come. The Show Down will follow the SLOW DOWN in the voting booth which raises this question:

"Are YOU adapted to function in a representative democracy?"

If you think you are why not register or transfer while you can do so easily. The whole transaction will take from two to five minutes.

But the longer you put it off the longer it will take, for when the last day, October 5, arrives you may have to take two hours to register or transfer.

The Board of Elections is located at the north east corner of E. Rich and S. High Streets second floor.

Covered bridges like this one that spans Big Darby Creek on State Route 104, near Fox, were built for permanency as well as beauty and utility. The sturdiness of these structures is the secret to why Ohio now has more covered bridges than any other State.

American Heritage

by Mrs. H. H. Herron

America, mother of forty-eight states, endowed by the best of earth

Stretching from the broad Atlantic to the blue Pacific's shore,

Rivers like silver ribbons run through her land.

Lofty mountains and beautiful valleys, starlit forests,

Summer winds that creep from flower to flower,

The sun, the moon, the stars, the lakes, the hills and plains.

Soft, fleecy clouds and shining crystal dew, vagrant, fragile flowers,

Winters snow and summers rain, meandering paths and broad highways.

Villages nestling in her country side, lazy, sleepy, friendly little towns,

Children's voices sweet and clear, laughing, playing, unafraid.

Twilight and the sound of church bells, large cities humming with industry.

This is America, a happy land.

The threshold of her land is worn by the feet of people of all nations seeking refuge,

Within her walls are love and peace and gracious living.

There is strength for the weak, a haven for the poor and needy, a refuge from storm,

She extends the hand of friendship.

Here in little homes, on little streets, we live, we learn, we love.

We hope, aspire, resolve and pray. We are content, our life is free.

This is America, a happy land.

Then suddenly the earth is rocked by war.

Our way of life is threatened, forgotten are our plans and dreams for self.

America calls.

We organize for our rendezvous with fate.

Our sons and daughters hasten to answer the call of their country,

Children become men and women overnight.

Our cities and the lazy little towns, hum with activity.

The quiet countrysides and majestic mountains listen to new sounds

Training planes and the boom of guns. Our children become our shield.

They fight on paths around the world and sail the seven seas.

They sweep the oceans floor and fly the starlit path of sky

Through sun or fog, through night or storm, they keep our flag upon its mast.

Heroic deeds, time will record.

Faint echoes from the past are heard, Pilgrim Fathers, Washington at Valley Forge,

Lincoln at Gettysburg, Remember the Maine and Flanders Field—where poppies grow.

Pearl Harbor, Bataan, Africa, Anzio, Normandy, MacArthur's promise to Wainright on Corregidor,

Our Flag on Mt. Suribachi.

America's immortal commanders, Washington, Harrison, Scott, Grant, Shafter, Pershing,

Eisenhower and the brave youth who gave their last full measure of devotion.

To keep our country free. We took the torch they held.

Our pledge we gave—"To keep the faith." This we shall do.

They cannot rest, they cannot sleep, till victory is won.

When this is done and strong men stand beside the weak, with cheerful smile and helping hand.

Men who will keep our country's laws, guard its honor and its cause

Not for fame, glory, place or power but for freedom and our flag

Who with steadfast courage and unyielding faith, in the reality of a more ordered world,

Will strive more mightily in peace than in war.

When old and young alike, rededicate themselves to devoted service

The Declaration of Independence, Religious Freedom, the Constitution, the Bill of Rights

our Flag.

And in keeping peace on earth and good will among all people

We will prove ourselves worthy heirs of our American Heritage.

Truman Message Thoroughly Explained

Former Congressman Sam B. Pettengill (Dem) of Indiana, who represented the South Bend district for several terms, is one of the strongest critics of the New Deal in his weekly radio address each Sunday along with his press releases.

Recently, this able Democrat paraphrased the message of President Truman to Congress in special session, by "translating" the Truman message into plain talk without platitudes and this is the translation in part.

"Mr. Speaker, Gentlemen of the Congress: Here is a translation of my recent message:

We need more schools. As the Federal government owes $250,- billions, and the 48 states altogether owe only $1 for every $100 of Federal debt, it is plain that the Federal government must aid the 48 states to build schools. The states are too poor to build schools.

The Federal government has no source of revenue which is not within the boundaries of the 48 states. Therefore, the Federal government must tax money out of the states and then send some of it back into the states so that the states can carry on. It is important to revitalize our state governments.

Prices of food are too high. I, therefore, recommend that the Federal government put floors under agricultural prices—some 225 percent of pre-war — to prevent prices from falling. In that way, we can surely relieve the high cost of living.

As the number of strikes is at an all-time low, it is plain that the Taft-Hartley Law has failed. We should repeal that iniquitous act so that we may have industrial peace. The next time John L. Lewis cuts the nation's coal supply to zero, I will need no law to deal with him. I will just talk things over with John.

If, however, the railroad men go out on strike, I shall recommend that they be drafted into the army and subjected to martial law. My previous recommendation on this subject went unheeded by the worst Congress, or the second-worst Congress in history.

We are short of housing, especially for young ex-GI's. I, therefore, recommend that our laws be changed to admit 400,000 additional immigrants who will need housing. That will greatly alleviate the housing shortage, which is one of our most pressing problems."

Red Cross Breakfast Survey

A breakfast survey conducted by the Red Cross Nutrition Service last Spring in one county school showed interesting results.

Only 12 percent of the parents in that school got "A" on breakfast planning. Sixty percent got "Fair" and nineteen percent "Poor". The remainder were flunked flat as their children had no breakfast at all.

Would you get good marks or your "Report Card" for breakfasts you are giving your family this week and it is time to give serious thought again to meal planning for the health and welfare of your school.

The boys and girls of our land need good food. Unless they eat three well-planned meals a day, their food needs won't be met. Now that school is starting we must be sure that they go to bed early and get up that few minutes earlier so that they have time to eat a good breakfast. Let us add orange or grapefruit, but not stop with milk or toast or bread. Plan to have eggs four times a week. If not at breakfast, we may use them at some other meal.

Breakfast should furnish ¼ to ⅓ of the day's food. Remember that we should have every day a green or yellow vegetable, citrus fruit or tomato, potato and two other servings of vegetable or fruit. We need one quart of milk for each child and a part for each adult. Add to this a serving of meat, poultry or fish and a serving of some grain cereal plus enriched bread and butter or fortified margarine. Someone should decide at least four days per week.

It is very hard to eat a good breakfast when mother is almost impossible for a child to get up late. Then they eat a good breakfast for school grade for parents and arrangements of meal planning will mean great marks on our report cards.

News In The World Of Religion

All three major religious groups in the United States will hold special religious services, with emphasis on the dignity and rights of labor, in synagogues and churches on Saturday and Sunday, September 4 and 5. In some of the religious centers, labor unions and other groups will attend services in a body. The Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America has a special Labor Day message which will be read from many Protestant pulpits.

One of the two national winners of a Parshad National Youth Week College scholarship award, just announced by the United Christian Youth Movement, was a young woman; and four of the six regional winners of similar awards were young women. The awards were based on statements of life purpose, of school interests, of church activities, of community activities, and an essay on "Youth in the Community — Our Christian Responsibility." The national winner is Imogene E. Young of Joplin, Mo. The regional winners are: Lois J. Anderson of Chicago; Kathryn L. Bradshaw of Seattle, Wash.; Mollie A. Bonsey of Wallace, N. C.; Mary E. Edwards, Tulsa, Okla. All receive college scholarships. The young men winners are national, Lewis S. Mudge, Jr., Bryn Mawr, Pa.; regional, Theodore L. Trost, Jr., Rochester, N. Y., and James E. Potter, Jr., Peetz, Colo.

The resources of the American Protestant churches' relief program in China, administered largely by Church World Service, has been severely strained by the increasing number of refugees in the new battle areas of northern and central China, according to Dr. Leslie B. Moss, director of the Service. He reports that thousands of refugees — "among them a great number of ministers and other Christian workers and their families" — are affected; and that the agency has temporarily dropped its plans to give funds for theological libraries destroyed by the earlier war, and its assistance in training church workers and in rehabilitation programs, while needy adults and undernourished children are provided medical supplies, powdered milk, vitamins, clothing and blankets. Dr. Moss has appealed to church people to increase their contributions for overseas relief due to this new contingency.

One new Methodist church building a day during the next decade will have to be erected if the denomination is to keep pace with its rapidly changing membership, says Dr. Earl R. Brown, of New York, executive of the Board of Missions and Church Extension of the Methodist Church. The denomination has 8,400,000 members in 42,000 churches. Many of these new buildings, he says, are required by minority groups in home missionary areas. The home missions leader gives importance also to the need for leadership training for young Americans of Indian tribes and of Chinese, Filipino, Japanese and Korean ancestry. Referring to the church's opportunity to serve the Mexicans to enlarge the facilities for training ministers for the field as rapidly as possible. New York alone has a sizable city of Spanish-speaking people in Manhattan. San Antonio has the largest group in America. Methodism scarcely has touched this field. We stand in awe contemplating the task and our facilities for meeting it."

Eight of the larger evangelical denominations from America have decided to work unitedly in Japan in cooperation with the Kyoden (the Church of Christ in Japan). These are: the Methodist Church, the Presbyterian Church, U. S. A.; the Congregational - Christian Church; the United Church of Canada; the Evangelical Reformed Church; the Reformed Church of America, the United Christian Missionary Society, and the Evangelical United Brethren. In America these have formed the "Inter-Board Committee for Work in Japan." The counterpart in Japan is the "Council of Cooperation." This is composed of nine representatives of the Kyodan, eight representatives of the Christian Education Association, and eight missionaries. These eight churches have agreed not to organize independent missions again but to carry on their work through this Council of Cooperation. The Northern Baptist Convention is working in the Kyodan and is closely affiliated with the Council of Cooperation though not a regular member. "In the initial stages of the Council there are many problems to be faced, but we believe that we are pioneering in a new united approach to the evangelization of the world," says Dr. John H. Cobb, of Macon, Georgia, one of the missionary members.

Answer To Communism

People are finally waking up to the fact that communism is not merely a political or an economic system, but an ideology. You can't shoot an idea, buy it off, or outmaneuvre it politically. Spy scares, trials and a red rash of hysteria don't deal with it either.

Too few people see it as part of the deadly cancer of materialism which has thrived on democracy's apathy and softness. Men have sold their souls and their nations to communism because they have seen no better way to answer the class hatred of our age. In the greatest democracy in the world that is a strange paradox. Now our statesmen awake to find themselves on the defensive.

John Foster Dulles put his finger on the answer when he said, "The communist problem cannot be solved by trying to crush communism by force. . . . . The solution is for those who have faith to exert themselves more vigorously to translate their faith into works." Few people realize that moral weakness is the soft underbelly of communism.

Dr. Chen Li-fu, Vice President of the Chinese Parliament, summed up his observations after a tour of America and Europe interviewing presidents, prime ministers, and cabinet ministers, "The most effective answer to communism is the moral force of a superior ideology which is the basis of democracy. With this I have seen how communists can be changed. A moral re-armament of the democracies will be their surest way to answer this danger and win over the communists."

The Vice President said that he had seen during his tour the need for a number of changes in his government and himself that "would make democracy in China more effective." He also said he hoped the next session of Parliament beginning September 1 would initiate new steps in that direction.

For a nation that now spends 80% of her national budget fighting an ideology - communism, the armament of a superior moral ideology holds the key to victory.

Fish Fry Enjoyed

The 15th Democratic Ward club members enjoyed a Fish Fry Saturday, August 28, at the No. 6 Shelter House on the Scioto River across Fishinger Bridge, from 3 p.m. to 10 p.m.

Prizes were donated by the candidates and were awarded to the winners by Allen C. Holmes, in a clever humorous way, to the following Mrs. Francis M. Thompson $5; William C. Wiseman, a tray which he turned back to the club, and which was then won by Heinie Butler who also gave it back to the club, William F. Redd was the third winner, he also gave it back to the club and James Henry Farmer finally won it. Norma Lorsack won a beautiful tablecloth; Mrs. Sam Pritchard, pair of candlesticks and holders; Mr. R. Gatrell $5; K. W. Kesler, table lamp; John Steven, electric clock, Beaulah Johnson, casserole dish; J. S. Johnson, bushel of groceries; Phyllis Lucas, a rake dish; Allen C. Wilke, 6 cake plates; Robert B. Bernhard, $5 which he donated to the 15th Ward Democratic Club.

Fifteen members of the First Ward Democratic Club were present at the Fish Fry.

Holy Name "Hour Of Faith"

"Hour of Faith" is the official title adopted for the ceremony at Red Bird Stadium, October 17 to be sponsored by the Diocesan Holy Name Union, it was announced today.

A pageant is to be presented on the field, under the direction of Rev. Fr. Joseph A. Cousins, Dean of Studies of St. Charles College. Seven episodes will depict the seven Sacraments of the Church, under the general title, "Jesus, Treasure of the Faithful."

Participating will be representatives of parish Holy Societies and high school students. Colorful floats will be seen on the field. Extensive plans for musical background are also being arranged.

His excellency, Bishop Michael J. Ready will preside over the event, which has become an annual feature of the program of the Holy Name Society. Last year over 20,000 people attended a similar event, honoring Christ the king.

In the event of rain on the scheduled date, the ceremony will take place the following Sunday, October 24.

Mexico May Go Communistic

While the United States has devoted its attention to the increase in communism across the seas, neglecting its own situation in that respect, Old Mexico's communists have been preparing and now present a dangerous problem. We quote from an article in August number of a Spanish paper published in Mexico City. Felipe S. Buetamante is the author:

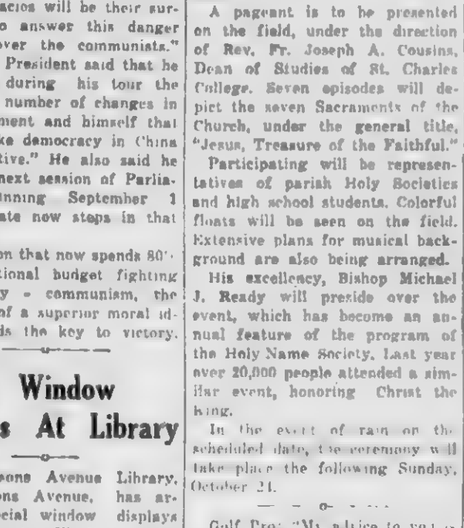
CARDENAS NEXT TO TAKE UP ARMS

80,000 communists, perfectly armed to take possession of the country in the near future. High political powers of the country are trembling these days because of the rumor that General Lazaro Carenas is next to take up arms counting 80,000 communists at his disposal, all armed and ready. It is rumored that Russia is supplying Mexico with arms.

"President Aleman is fully aware of the danger and is preparing his troops to defend Mexico. The arms of the communists entered through Guatamala front as contraband and have been distributed among the communists. The Cardenas movement, no matter what name it operates under, is communist.

"It is likely that in event the communists try to take over Mexico, the United States will send troops to quell the revolution and this Mexico will not like, and the consequence will be that this country will repel the North-Americans and hard feelings result.

"It is certain that one of the main leaders of the communists, Picente Lombardo Toledano, is on Stalin's payroll. The attitude of labor leaders shows that they expect communism to take over soon and the steady flow of strikes coupled with the bold rebellion and unmanageable disposition of both leaders and workers of unions which is observed on all sides indicates that communism already has control of the laboring class. It is also to be noted, and with grave concern that when President Aleman's picture appears in movie theatres it is booed and whistled at, a fact that has never before happened in all Mexico history.



The above should open the eyes of America to her danger from a much nearer source than Moscow proper. Old Mexico's shores join ours for many miles. If communists rise in that country we can be sure we will have trouble with the communists here in America for they will be quick to take advantage of the situation.

Communists in Mexico are being armed and made ready. We can guess what will happen if they are successful in taking that country. Mexicans have been worked on and taught to hate the Gringoes, they are made to believe that we conned them of Texas, New Mexico and Arizona and that they should get that land back. Their poor, old country of ours is in for a frightful time indeed, and all because we forgot that eternal vigilance is the price of liberty, and opened wide our gate to thousands of rats who have worked day and night to undermine us and let Russia take over our country.

The revealing of communistic spy activities in Washington is shocking, but not surprising to most of us who saw what was happening but were powerless to prevent it. Anyone with a grain of sense should know that every communist is a spy for Russia and a danger to America. There is really no such thing as a "Wallace traveler." The question is two sided. One is either a communist or he is not, there can be no in-between.

"Pa, what's a necessary evil?"

"One we like so much we don't care about abolishing it, son."

Miss Stanwyck, the daughter of billionaire B. F. Fulton, falls in love with a young and struggling economist in the picture, filled with drama, humor and delightful romance. Margaret Lindsey, Spring Byington, Keenan Wynn and Richard Hart head the top flight supporting cast. "Blondie's Reward," merry new comedy starring Penny Singleton and Arthur Lake, will be co-featured with "B. F.'s Daughter" for its three-day run at the Southland.

Council Election Annual Picnic

The annual election of officers for the Council of South Side Organizations will be held at the Y-Park, Thursday, September 9, and at the same time the members will enjoy their annual picnic.

The committee Ed Reis, M. L. Hoffman and Robert Liess for the picnic have everything planned for a gay time.

The nominating committee Ed Reis, William Lucks and C. L. Lensenmeyer will present the following men for election for the coming year:

Chairman, A. H. Chrismer; First Vice-Chairman, Hoover Young, Ed Trautman; Second Vice-Chairman, Otto Meier, M. L. Hoffman; Treasurer, Glen Schweinley, Ray Walcutt; Secretary, William Wacker, Ed Brand; Executive Secretary, M. V. Hoover.

No fame I crave; before my eye
A simple goal I keep.
I hope just once before I die,
To get sufficient sleep.

IDEAL THEATER

The Ideal presents Sunday and Monday "Intrigue" with George Raft and June Havoc. A melodrama in which there is adventure and torrid excitement as fear and romance lurk in the shadows of sinister Shanghai, city without a soul, crossroads of the World's intrigue. Twice the thrills and twice the excitement you have ever seen in a film before. Also "Here Comes Trouble" in technicolor with James Sawyer and Bob Tracy. A Cartoon follows these two excellent pictures.

Columbia Theater

The Columbia presents Sunday, Monday and Tuesday "Up In Central Park" with Deanna Durbin and Dick Haymes. Deanna Durbin sings delightfully and gives an unaffected portrayal of an immigrant Irish girl. The picturesque settings and costumes of old New York are very pleasing. Also "Eyes of Texas" with Roy Rogers and Lynne Robert.

RUSSELL THEATRE

The Russell presents Sunday and Monday, "Silver River" with Erroll Flynn and Ann Sheridan. This is a western drama. Never before has the silver screen blazed with such a stirring saga of the rugged west. It's that man Erroll Flynn back again just the way you like him, dashing, romantic, fearless. There's the lure of precious silver in those hills, with Flynn carving out an empire on the new frontier. But it takes a woman Ann Sheridan to teach him that love as well as silver can be treacherous. Also "Who Killed Doc Robbin" in color with Virginia Grey and Don Castle. "News and Cartoon."

Club Alexander

The Club Alexander, this week, has gone to great trouble to bring to its patrons an exceptionally fine floor show. Count Maurice, the Comedy Emcee, is both funny and talented. His impersonations are good and his juggling skill keep the show moving at fast speed.

Estelle and Juleo a Mexican couple who specialize in their Native dances are a sensation where ever they appear. Their costumes are beautiful and lavish. Their dances are spirited and interpretive of their Native Mexico. They are great artists. This is really a fine show. Don Volpea and his orchestra will play for your entertainment and dancing.

Property Owners Meet Friday

The Property Owner's Association of Franklin County, will meet Friday night at the Neil House at 8 p.m. This will be the first meeting of the fall season. All members are asked to attend and the public is invited.

HORN APLENTY — Though Red Skelton may have to wait quite a time to hear that tuba blast a tune unaided, NBC listeners won't have to wait so long to hear Red again. "The Red Skelton Show" will return to the air on Friday, Sept. 3.

ON THE BALL — Here's proof that busy Bob Hope finds time to relax at his favorite sport—golf. The comic is rounding out a summer of comparative leisure before returning with the "Bob Hope Show" to NBC Tuesday, Sept. 14.

IT'S A CIRCUS CAKE

A circus cake adds a "special" note to a child's birthday party

By BETTY NEWTON

Surprises are almost as important as candles on a birthday cake! Why not combine the two and have a merry-go-round cake gay with ribbons and animal crackers? The animals may be arranged in pairs with a slender stick of candy between them and a lace paper dolly for a tent top. Surround the cake with a ring of candles and peppermint sticks for a finishing touch.

With school in session the party may have to be late in the afternoon, and you may choose to serve dinner rather than serving sweets which send the youngsters home without an appetite for their evening meal. From the children's viewpoint, it would not be a party without ice cream, so this is a "must" to serve with the circus cake. Favors such as caps, balloons, or trinkets will make the party one the youngsters will long remember!

Banana Chocolate Cake

½ C. shortening
1 C. sugar
1 C. mashed bananas
2 eggs
2½ C. cake flour
1 tsp. salt
2 tsp. baking powder
¼ C. cocoa
1 C. milk
½ tsp. vanilla
½ tsp. lemon

Cream shortening, add sugar gradually and cream well. Add mashed bananas and blend well. Add unbeaten eggs, one at a time and beat well after each addition. Sift flour, baking powder, cocoa and salt together. Add alternately with milk. Fold in vanilla and lemon. Bake in two greased 8-inch layer tins about 25 minutes at 350 degrees.

Chocolate Fudge Frosting

4 to 6 Tbsp. evaporated milk or thin cream
2 C. confectioner's sugar
¼ C. cocoa
1 tsp. vanilla
2 Tbsp. butter

Scald the milk or cream and add slowly, a small quantity at a time, to the sugar and cocoa, sifted together. Add vanilla and melted butter and beat well. If too thick, add more milk for the proper consistency. If a glossy surface is desired, allow the mixture to stand for 10 minutes before using.

LET'S EXPLORE OHIO

Mother of Presidents

THOMAS ANDREWS HENDRICKS

Grover Cleveland's Vice-President

Birthplace Near Zanesville

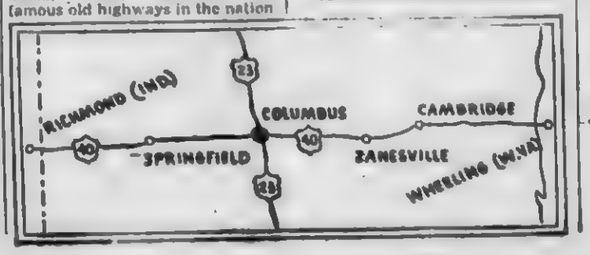
COURTESY-THE STANDARD OIL CO.(OHIO)

First of the three Ohioans to be elected to the Vice Presidency of the United States was Thomas Andrews Hendricks, who won with Grover Cleveland in 1887 and who died less than nine months after the inauguration.

There were two other Ohio Vice Presidents—Charles W. Fairbanks, one of the last of America's log-cabin statesmen, who served with Theodore Roosevelt; and the colorful Charles Gates Dawes, the pipe-smoking running-mate of Calvin Coolidge.

Hendricks was born in 1819 near Zanesville, but most of his life was spent over the state line in Indiana, which he represented later in the Congress.



He is notable for his early support of freedom for the Negro, whose admission as free men into Indiana he helped achieve. An early supporter of Stephen A. Douglas, he led the opposition to the election of Abraham Lincoln on personal grounds, and was a prominent contestant for the Presidential nomination in 1868.

When Horace Greeley, candidate in 1872, died between the time of the popular election and the meeting of the Electoral College, Hendricks was given 42 votes for President.

The first time he ran for Vice President, with Samuel J. Tilden, he lost with him. In 1887, he was the successful candidate with Grover Cleveland.

The Zane-Kenton Monument, a 60-ton boulder to the memory of the two famous pioneers, is at Zanesville, as is the oldest Y-bridge in America.

An Ickes Says It

By Westbrook Pegler

Released by WNU Features

THE anti-Truman Democrats of the southern tier have made Jackson their political capital. A political nucleus has been formed, called the states' rights campaign committee. The chairman of the states' rights campaign committee is Wallace Wright, who speaks with a persuasive magnolia drawl but is nevertheless a Kansan. This magnolia drawl may be infectious or a practical affectation.

O. B. Keeler, the Atlanta journalist, who was Bobby Jones' personal historian throughout his career at golf, comes from Kansas City, Mo., but he can say "Please, ma'm" to telephone girls with that sweetness which is the envy and despair of the Yankee and, in the movies, usually is associated with contemptible but enviable cads and bounders. Keeler, poor devil, is neither a cad nor a bounder. HE IS JUST ANOTHER OF US INK-STAINED WRETCHES.

Wright's business is advertising and public relations. He runs a firm called Dixie Advertisers. Be not top-lofty about that, however. All the big political parties have public relations outfits working for them in and, if possible, out of season. It was Carl Byoir and Associates who put over the big polio campaign for Franklin D. Roosevelt, including the birthday ball hoax which kept the late Henry L. Doherty, a magnate in utilities, out of trouble with the anti-trust division of the department of justice.

Doherty was Byoir's client in public relations. Byoir bethought himself of an old story by James M. Barrie, of someone who had loaned his own birthday to a dateless waif and suggested that it would be sweet for Mr. Big to lend his birthday to the paralyzed children of the U. S.

Bill Is $75,000

Doherty picked up the bill of about $75,000 for the promotion, advertising and so forth, including drinks, and if this makes you wonder whether anything ever will be on the level you ought to go steep yourself in truth and beauty at the movie called "The Roosevelt Story."

Wright is running a propaganda campaign against the Truman civil rights program and he asserts upon his word that no sinister interests are putting up any money for it. Inasmuch as it appears to me to have called for only a few thousand dollars, aside from radio time, I see no reason to doubt him. As to the radio time, of which there has been much devoted to the states' rights movement, I have to say that I think it was cheap time, which is to say church-time or working-time.

Nobody listens to working-time propaganda except bartenders who would be better off dead, anyway, and should have been long ago, and the drivers of those enormous freighters who are twitching with unnause to keep them out of the canyons. They and a few weary wisps blowing hair out of their eyes over washtubs beneath the cottonwoods and wondering if it ever does come true that the handsome stranger drapes the country girl in jewels and furs and introduces her to Justice Murphy in the Stork club.

Now there have been nasty insinuations that those American states which have ocean frontage and on that frontage have oil offshore have joined together in a vicious plot against the United States of America. Mississippi is a state with coastal oil. Louisiana is another. All such states and some with other potential treasures to defend against usurpation by the national government have an interest in the continuing claim of the submarine oil states to the value of, and the right to regulate, such oil deposits.

U. S. A. Is Claimant

But, during the last years of Harold Ickes as secretary of the interior, he claimed all these natural resources for the nation, as a whole, and by the very vehemence of his claim Ickes damned as thieves and traitors those persons, including the attorney generals of sovereign states, who opposed his view. Thus he put in a bad position all who would assert the claims of states to their own submarine oil if it be their own, as it might be.

DOES IT BEGIN TO APPEAR THAT A QUESTION OF STATES' RIGHTS BECOMES VERY PROMINENT HERE?

The governor of Mississippi, Fielding L. Wright, no relation of Wallace Wright, is a states' rights man on this oil proposition. If he weren't, Mississippi never would have elected him governor. The governors of other littoral oil states also are states' rights men, including Governor Warren of California.

Bible Institute Fall Quarter

The Columbus Bible Institute, Inc., an interdenominational training school for Christian workers, is announcing its plans for the fall quarter to start Monday, September 13th.

For several years this school has been answering the call of several hundred men and women for courses in Bible and affiliated subjects, to be offered during the evening hours so that those who cannot afford to leave Columbus to obtain such training, can proceed with their desire to be more efficiently prepared for the Lord's service.

All officers and instructors are consecrated Christians, who are so desirous of providing these many needed opportunities for Columbus and surrounding territory, that all services are given without any pay. These classes are held on Monday and Tuesday evenings, beginning at 6:30 at 743 Dennison Avenue, on the west side of Goodale Park, just opposite White Cross Hospital.

Starting Monday, Sept. 13th and Tuesday, Sept. ,14th the following subjects will be given for a 12-week period; Detailed study of the book of Genesis; Doctrine of man, sin, and salvation; Survey of Missions from Old Testament to the present; Congregational music directing; Beginning study of the Greek language; Teacher training for Children for Christ work; Survey study of the first half of the Old Testament; Theory and fundamentals of building a sermon; Study of inspiration and revelation of the Scriptures ;and Teacher training for beginner and primary Sunday School classes. These subjects form a part of a 1-year course, with certificate, for Sunday School workers and a 3-year course, with diploma, for general Christian Service. No tuition is charged but a registration fee of $3.00 is required for as much work as one desires to take.

A Chapel period is scheduled each evening at 7 30 for worship and inspiration. We are pleased to have visitors in chapel or classes. In these days of confusion among churches and doctrines, we are indeed happy to have anyone, skeptical or sympathetic to sample our work. We held firmly to the Bible in a same and unemotional manner.

If you wish a copy of our 1948-1949 catalog, please call either LA 61181 or WA 1475 for detailed information.

Enthusiasm Runs High At South As Football Fans Await Opening Game

by Louise Taylor

Yes, folks, that good old football season is here once again the season when enthusiasm runs at its highest. Songs, yells, the band on the field, pep meetings, cokes, after game parties, falling leaves, wiener roasts, crisp fall days, heavy bright-colored coats and blankets all add to the thrill of the pigskin in action.

If you have been among the sideline spectators during the past weeks you have been witnessing a real work-out that this South High School team is getting. Those fellows have been out there practicing for the last three weeks and they have been putting all they have into their game. Well, with such enthusiasm among the players we can't sit back and take it easy. No, indeed, it's up to us as Boosters to back our boys every inch of the way.

The call for players brought out 85 fellows, all eager to make a place for themselves on the football roster of South. Nine letter men and nine subs have returned to the gridiron, while twenty-two reserve letter men are now up with the varsity. To freshen your memory here are the boys and the positions they play:

Letter men: Bill Hendricks, Tackle; Leon Walsten, Back; Lloyd Wright, Guard; John Cacciatore, Tackle; Jim Milenkovich, Guard; George Vast, Guard; Dave Levy Back; Dorsey Woodward, Back; John Reinchild, Tackle; Varsity Subs: Harold Groves, Tackle; Paul Silcott, Back; Jack Stoia, Guard; Fred Ingerham, Center; Charles Wimbley, Back; Dick Kershaw, Back; Cliff Lewis, Center; Dick Wallace, Tackle; George Goldberg, End.

Reserve letter men up with varsity: Jack Price, Back; Jim Back, Back; Joe Weiss, Back; Dick Young, End; Garrett Reed, End; Charles Johnson, Guard; Trevor Muse, Tackle; Paul Haymaker, Guard; Gilbert Winebar, Quarterback; Dave O'Connor, End; John Anthony, Tackle; Ed Cherryholmes, Guard; Don Startzer, Fullback; Farrel Jackson, Guard; Clyde Trumbull, Back; Augie Graumlich, Center; Bill Kreme, Center; Jack Springer, End; Dave Bechtal, Guard; Gene Henkel, End; and Gene Dunnick, End.

Nine games, six of them at home, are listed on the 1948 South High School football program. On September 17 we journey to Upper Arlington; Grandview visits us on September 24; on October 1 we're hosts to Central; the eighth to West and on he fifteenth to the Aquinas; North takes over on the twenty-second with ou team as their guests; Linden McKinley invades South on the twenty-ninth, and East is our opponent on our gridiron on November 5. The last game of the season takes us down the river to Marietta on November 11.

Student ticket books will go on sale in home rooms beginning September 13. Price of this activity ticket is $2.50; any student purchasing one of these season tickets will be admitted to all games except the one at Marietta.

Students, Boosters, and friends of South, come out and back this team. They're your boys and they need your support. We'll be looking for you on September 17.

Completing Plans For Dedication

Mr. Cleo Dumaree and members of the South High Boosters Club are rapidly completing plans for the dedication of the new electrical score board which is now installed at the South High School athletic field.

In order to complete the plans, since the board is to be dedicated to the graduates and students of South, who laid down their lives in the recent war, the committee would like to have the names of their parents and their addresses of these South High School heroes.

Anyone knowing these names mail them at once to Cleo Dumaree, principal of South High School, or to the South Side Booster, 1542 Parsons Ave.

Dedication ceremonies will be between halves at the South-Grandview game, at the South High field, the evening of September 24th.

Score Board Now Installed

It's beautiful! That fine new electrical score board which has been installed at the south end of the South High School Athletic Field.

Conceived by the Swan Club, a group of young South Side men, for a memorial to the 97 young men who gave their lives during the recent war.

A separate organization was set up known as the South High Boosters Club for the purpose of promoting better athletics (especially football.)

Officers of the South High Boosters Club are as follows: Ralph DeVany President; Glenn Schwemley, Treasurer; and James Tapen, secretary. These men with the following constitute the Board of Directors. Walter Tompkins, Gene Mock, Mel Dutton and "Cap" Hoover

In order to secure the money for the South High Booster Club memberships were sold, paper drives were held and there was also a raffle.

The dedication will be held later in September, with numerous prominent people attending.

On December 11, 1898, Prof. A. Pflueger and Dr. L. H. Schuh installed Rev. Charles W. Bachman, the first pastor, at 1908 S. High Street.

On October 27, 1899, Emmanuel obtained a new church home which was dedicated at 56 Reeb Avenue.

The church property became debt free on December 27, 1944.

Since Aug. 5, 1919, there have been 19 Emmanuel girls (all confirmed at Emmanuel) who have married Lutheran ministers.

Cooperative Club Dedicates New Park

In a little triangular piece of ground, on the west side of So. Front St. and facing Greenlawn Ave., the Co-Operative Club found an idea, which blossomed into one of the finest examples of a street side park.

Here under the direction of Olmier Ullrey, president of the Co-Operative Club, and Louis F. Viereck, its vice president, they have constructed a fine outdoor cooking place with sufficient tables to handle a small picnic crowd.

The park was presented to the city by the club secretary, Joe Cross and was accepted for the city by Mayor James A. Rhodes.

In his acceptance speech he said that this park was a perfect example of what could be done with a small tract of ground for the public.

Concordia Circle Meets Sunday

Concordia Circle No. 4 of the United Ancient Order of Druids will resume their regular monthly meetings Sunday, September 12, at 8 p.m. at Druid Home, 964 South High St. after a two-month vacation. Mrs. Bernice Dykes will preside at this meeting. Hostesses will be Mrs. Freda Myers, Mrs. Olga Merz and Mrs. Florence Michaels. Entertainment will be arranged by Mrs. Clara Kroneburg, Mrs. Matilda Held and Mrs. Helen Kidwell.

Will Speak For Theosophical Society

Mr. N. Sri Ram of Madras, India, will speak on "The Art of Happy Living", on Tuesday evening, September 14th at the auditorium of the Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts. He is [illegible] the two Theosophical Society in Columbus: Rainbow Group and Columbus Lodge. Former International Vice President of the Theosophical Society, brotherhood [illegible] in some forty countries and now a member of its General Council, the international governing body, Mr. Sri Ram presents an outlook on social problems and national affairs which is truly international. He is visiting the United States after a recently completed lecture tour of Australia, New Zealand, England, Scotland and Northern Europe. Ever an ardent advocate of Home Rule for India, he was closely associated with Dr. Annie Besant, Great Champion of Indian Independence, as early as 1917. As editor of non-party New India, the daily Allahabad Leader and the political weekly Conscience he was of direct assistance in the birth of a free Indian Nation. His theosophical writings reflect a penetrating mind, balanced judgment, deep wisdom and serenity, yet withal, a heart-warming understanding of human nature. Indeed, Mr. Sri Ram's western audiences have declared that hearing him lecture was to experience in fact something of that "deep, philosophic, Spirit of India", long read about in books and now really understood.

South Side Athletes Enter Armed Service

Two prominent young south side athletes have entered armed forces of the United States.

The boys are: Bill Matyac, Jr., of 575 Grant Ave. who is in the regular army at Fort Dix, New Jersey. Bill graduated from South High School in January of 1947. He played 3rd base on the City Merchants softball team, and halfback on the Parsons Merchants football team.

The other boy is Jack Miller of 567 Kossuth St. Jack is in the Army Air Corps at Witchita Falls, Texas He played outfield on the City Merchants softball team and played line on the Parsons Merchants football team.

The City Merchants is a softball team composed of south side boys, and the team competes in the Linden Independent Wednesday Night League. They are tied for first place in this league with all league games completed.

The Parsons Merchants played an independent schedule for the past several years in the lightweight class.

Both Jack Miller and Bill Matyac were valuable members of both the football and softball squads.

Youth Hostel Auto Trip

Two bicycle trips are being planned for central Ohio Youth Hostelers in September, by the Buckeye Trails District Council On September 3, all who are interested are invited to join the group traveling to Camp Yohio, where they will spend the first night of the Labor Day week end. The next day they will go on to Camp Indianola, near Amanda, for two days of swimming and exploring.

No sponsored trips have been scheduled after the week end of 17-19, when a trip is planned to Westerville and Indian Village Camp, but arrangements can be made for additional dates if enough persons are interested. For reservations and further information about any of these trips, call the Buckeye Trails office in the YWCA, AD 9121, on Thursday evenings between 6 and 8, or Miss Ann Gustin, Council vice president, at WA 5809.

Ohio Is Third In Nation In Aid To Cities

While there is a great demand on the part of Ohio cities for "more state aid," it is well to consult a leading authority on just what Ohio is doing for Buckeye cities when compared to the other 47 states in the Union.

The various states supports a national organization in Chicago whose reports taken from national and state statistics, can be relied upon. This is known as the Council of State Governments

This reliable organization in a report says the States are helping support local governments at the rate of more than $200 million a month or over two and one half billions per year.

Council of State Governments reported this week after a study of recent Census Bureau figures, that the states paid $600,000,000 in aid to localities last year. That amounted to nearly a third of the $1,100,000,000 total spent by states during the year.

State aid to local governments rose 24.5 per cent in 1947 while state revenues climbed 17.8 per cent. The aid included both local shares of state-collected taxes and grants to localities for specific purposes.

Wisconsin used 54.2 per cent of its total expenditures in aiding localities. Colorado was second with 52 per cent Ohio third with 41.8 per cent; New York fourth with 42.8 per cent; California fifth with 41.9 per cent, and Indiana sixth with 40 per cent.

In dollars, New York spent the most on local aid. Of total state expenditures, amounting to $307. million last year, New York spent $188 million on local governments. California was second in dollar volume with $220 million; Michigan third with $167 million, Ohio fourth with $161 million. Massachusetts fifth with $118 million, and Pennsylvania sixth with $105 million.

The largest share of local aid was $1,121,000,000 to help support schools. Local public welfare services received $497 million, highways $437 million, and other functions $530 million.

Ohio Officials Commended

The Ohio Conservation and Natural Resources Commission has been commended for its action two weeks ago cutting one-half hour from the daily waterfowl hunting hours, as prescribed by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

In a letter to Conservation Commissioner H. A. Rider, Nash Buckingham, Chairman of the Waterfowl Committee of the Outdoor Writers Association of America, stated: "Our Waterfowl Committee is cheered to note a press dispatch to the effect that your good state's Conservation Commission has exerted its prerogative and changed duck shooting's regulation, this year, from 'half hour before sunrise', back to 'sunrise'. Congratulations, and let's hope that this may lead other commissions to like action."

The Ohio Commission disagreed with the federal authorities' "one-half hour before sunrise" starting-time claiming that such a regulation is not a good waterfowl conservation measure for states which already have poor duck populations during the season. The Commission therefore set the Ohio daily hours as "sunrise to one hour before sunset", except on opening day when shooting begins at 12 o'clock noon.

The Commission accepted the 30 consecutive day season, October 29 to and including November 27 in preference to the split season of 12 days each, giving Ohio duck hunters six and one-half more hunting days than a split season.

The decision of choosing the 30-consecutive-day-season on the part of the Ohio Commision apparently is favored by the general duck-hunting public since no official complaints have been registered against the Commission action. All of the 14 states in the Mississippi Flyway, including Ohio, chose the 30 consecutive day season rather than the split season.

WHAT is the ruling factor in sport? There can be only one answer. It isn't the manager or the coach, who too often picks up entirely too much credit. It is always the material. It is the fighter—the football player—the baseball player. It is the fellow up front on the firing line.

During the recent winter season, football went on a wild rampage in the shift of coaches. There were shifts all over the map—Navy, Michigan, Harvard, Yale, Washington and Kansas.

Then, in the middle of the baseball season, there was another wild upheaval with Durocher going to the Giants, Shotton back to the Dodgers, Dusty Cooke to the Phillies—the earlier rumors that Joe McCarthy was through — reports of a family friction with the Athletics — trouble in St. Louis — trouble in Chicago—too many reports to follow.

LEAHY

What too many people overlook is this: It is the material, not the coach or the manager, that has the final say. Certainly, the manager and coach have roles to play—often important roles. But not even a Frank Leahy or a Frits Crisler was ever as important as the material. No Leahy, a great coach, was ever up to a Lujack, a Connor, a Fischer, or a Czarobski.

Of course, a big part of a manager's job is to get the best material. That is also a big part of the coach's job in football—and this goes for the colleges as well as the pros.

A winning baseball team needs that pitcher or that hitter—more than one of them. A winning college football team needs that passer, ball carrier and blocker.

The coach gets far too much credit for victory and far too much blame for defeat. The same is true of a pennant race. They pile too many olive blossoms on the winner and too many strands of poison ivy on the loser.

Many a big league manager has been made—and many a one wrecked—by the material he had. Don't forget this in the build-up and the knock-over.

Start of Passing

The passing game in college reached its peak last fall. The colleges had Bobby Layne of Texas, Chuck Conerly of Mississippi, Harry Gilmer of Alabama, Johnny Lujack of Notre Dame, Tony Minisi of Penn, Ray Evans of Kansas, Bob Chappius of Michigan and many others.

These have all moved over into the pro group. With Paul Governali, Sammy Baugh, Sid Luckman, Otto Graham, Glenn Dobbs and others at work, the passing game will reach another peak this fall.

Who started the passing game? Here's a contribution from Buck O'Neil, a lusty old-timer:

"Dear Grant:

"I was interested in your column on Merrilat, and at West Point in the decades purpled by time. You spoke of Chicago and Michigan using the forward pass back in 1906, the year that the play was introduced into football.

"Chicago had a pretty fair sort of quarterback that year, fellow named Walter Eckersall. He was 145 pounds of wildcat, and he is the man—I believe—who caught Willie Heston from behind in one game between Chicago and Michigan.

"No matter about that, but Eckie threw passes to Fred Walker, a fine end of the Maroon, and beat the vaunted Minnesota team through the air. Eckersall to Walker was one of the great pass combinations of their day and time.

Ahead of His Time

"Glenn Warner had some great pass experts at Carlisle, and one of the earliest combinations was Mt. Pleasant to Exendine and Gardner. Warner, always ahead of his time in coaching, developed the technique of sending linemen down the field with his ends to block out the halfbacks. The Indians were terrific in the air and, of course, their skill was attributed to some romantic bridge between the Indian and the occult.

"There was nothing mystic about the skill of the Indians, although guys like Exendine and Gardner, and that great lineman of the era, Newnake, who played end and tackle with equal skill and aboriginal ferocity, were really out of this world. The foundation of Carlisle's success was laid on blocking the halfback.

"Navy used the forward pass in 1913, but it was a haphazard thing. Harry Blodgett, a Middie halfback, told me that his orders were to 'fade five yards and throw the ball hard.'"

Specialists Needed

Columbus, Ohio, Sept 9—Engineers, pharmacists, machine operators, nurses, machinist, draftmen, dieticians—these are among the many specialists for whom there has been a constant demand for more than a year.

According to the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation's most recent state-wide job inventory, the demand exists in a number of communities throughout the state. The inventory is issued bi weekly to aid in shifting workers from labor surplus to shortage areas.

Mechanical engineers are offered as much as $500 a month in Akron, up to $6,500 a year in Cincinnati. Information on these and all other openings carried on the inventory may be secured at any one of the Bureau's ninety-one local offices.

There are openings for electrical and other types of engineers in Akron, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Dayton and Toledo. Pharmacists are wanted in Akron, Cincinnati, Cleveland and Hamilton. Weekly salaries for pharmacists range from about $60 to $75 to start.

Nurses, dieticians or both are very much in demand in Chillicothe, Akron, Cincinnati, Dayton and Youngstown. Some of these jobs pay as much as $3000 a year.

Fifty mechanical draftsmen are needed in Barberton alone with Youngstown, Dayton, Hamilton and Lima also putting in their bids or these specialists. Draftsmen's salaries range from $40 to as high as $80 a week depending upon experience and aptitude.

Various types of machinists are at a premium in cities and towns all the way from Cleveland to Cincinnati. Canton, Middletown, St Barys and Warren are but a few of the communities in which machinists are in demand. Machine operators, particularly experienced turret and engine lathe men, are called for in Hamilton, Lorain, Marion, Warren Youngstown and Columbus.

Mention the Booster To Your Merchant

Driving through a dense fog, a motorist followed the tail light ahead of him for a full hour, free from worry. Suddenly, the red beacon ahead stopped and two cars collided.

"Hey, why don't you put out your hand when you're going to stop?" yelled the man behind.

Came the casual reply, "Why should I? I'm in my own garage."

OUR DEMOCRACY——by Mat

OF SAVING COMETH HAVING

-OLD PROVERB

THE FAMILY WHICH MAKES PROVISION FOR ITS FUTURE BY SETTING ASIDE MONEY REGULARLY IN LIFE INSURANCE AND SAVINGS HAS A SENSE OF SECURITY THAT ENABLES IT TO LIVE MORE HAPPILY AND PLAN WITH GREATER CONFIDENCE.

Midwest Has Been The Backbone Of GOP

The GOP will again this year have a "midwest headquarters" in Chicago which is as it should be since the most solid part of the Republican party is in this region where the party of Lincoln was first born.

The midwest manager for the Dewey campaign is A. T. Howard of Nebraska and his duties will be to make this great region aware of the beliefs and virtues of Mr. Dewey. However, Mr. Howard can perform a more useful service by impressing upon candidate Dewey the beliefs and virtues of the middle west, that splendid area which stars with the Alleghanies and ends with the Rockies.

The candidate does not need to be told that his party was born in this region. He knows, too, that when other sections of the country, including his own, were unable to shake off the New Deal the middle west did so. If the Atlantic mountain and Pacific states were as stoutly Republican as is the middle west, the party's majorities in congress would be a great deal stronger than they are, and we aren't thinking in numbers only, but also of vigor and determination.

The middle west has been taken for granted by the Republican party, somewhat as the south until this year was taken for granted by the Democrats. Our Republicanism was assumed and exceedingly, few concessions were made to opinion been that the eastern wing of the in this region. The consequence has party, offering wishy-washy opposition to the socialism of the New Deal and fully in accord with the New Deal, on foreign policy, has become dominant in Republican counsels.

It would be well if the Republican high command were brought to realize that the middle west isn't going to stand for this treatment much longer. It would be well also, if the leaders were made aware of the fact that Republicanism is as strong as it is in this region precisely because the party in our states has been outspoken in its opposition to all that the New Deal stands for in foreign and domestic policy. The relatively poor showing of New York, for example, in the congressional elections of 1946 can be explained in part, perhaps, by differences in the qualities of the populations in the two sections but also and more particularly; we believe, by differences between the Republican party of New York and the Republican party out our way.

"Me too" Republicanism did not pay off at the polls in New York or anywhere else two years ago, and it isn't likely to save a greater appeal today when the asinitity of the bipartisan policy is much more easily documented than it was then.

Mr. Howard can perform a most useful service to his party by bringing these considerations to attention of Mr. Dewey. The candidate needs to know them and act on them if he is to win and if his victory is to be worth anything to the country.

Red Cross Service Furnished

Of all the Red Cross volunteer services, perhaps none reaches into so many homes of the community as the Production and Supply Service. Members of this Service work either at home or at meetings, sewing and knitting all the millions of garments and hospital supplies which are available for distribution wherever the Red Cross goes. Church or lodge groups frequently work together as a unit of the Service, meeting one day a week to work together. Materials are furnished by the Red Cross and are returned when finished.

During the war, supplies went to the Armed Forces, and since then the Service has continued to ship tons of supplies for overseas relief, as well as supplying bed linen, [illegible] dressings for such institutions as the Florence Critter on Home, the Methodist Children's home, and University and St. Francis hospitals. Members of the Service also prepare layettes for the infants of veterans in need of aid, and remodel clothes for children under the care of the Bureau of Juvenile Research. When the new Regional Blood Center open this fall at 30 East Town Street, the Women of the Moose will take charge of supplying surgical dressings, working as a Red Cross Unit.

Mrs. Marshall B. Wilcox, Chairman of the Service, estimates that many new volunteers will be needed for the expanded program of knitting and sewing, and has urged individuals or groups with experience in needlework to volunteer. No training is required, and further information about work to be done can be obtained by calling either Mrs. Wilcox at Univ-9329 or Red Cross Volunteer Services offices, Ma-7421.

Rev. Thelma E. Hostettle

Lecture and Messages Thursday evening 8 o'clock.

Seance meeting.

Is there a transitory period after death? Or do we ever die? Are there angles there? Shall we know each other beyond the tomb? Do the spirits in the Reim of God hold conversation with each other? What sort of Buildings are there? Are the streets made of real gold? Are there millions of other inhabited Worlds? Yes.

Historical Data Is Now Available

COLUMBUS, SEPT. 9—Ohio's Third Party Candidate for Governor of Ohio in 1912 was Arthur Lovett Garford of Elyria. Material pertaining to the political, industrial and civic activities of Garford has been given to the Library of The Ohio State Archaeological and Historical Society by his daughter, Mrs. Katherine G. Thomas.

A scrap book and letters with the record of his campaign for Governor on the Bull Moose ticket, of his candidacy for the United States Senate in 1914 and a record of his many important business activities of a national and international character, are included in the collection.

In addition to being a political power in the state, Garford was an inventor and industrial magnate. He invented the Garford bicycle saddle and eventually the company he organized for its production absorbed all other American concerns in the same field. This is only one of a number of manuacturing companies which he organized.

Garford was also well known for his active participation in the civic affairs of Elyria. He called the first meeting to adopt measures for securing a water supply from Lake Erie, and was the leader of the movement to that end, which after seven years of effort resulted in giving the city one of the best water systems in the country. He was owner and publisher of the Evening Telegram.

This material will be accessible to scholars and recognized research students at the Ohio State Museum, Columbus, headquarters of the Society.

ATTENTION SOUTH SIDERS

Dear Neighbor:

We would like to call to your attention the importance of a campaign, that in the light of the terrific struggle accompanying the national and state campaigns, may be overlooked by the voters in general. We think it of vast importance to the people of Franklin County that they pay close attention to the race for Probate Judge and that they rally strongly behind the candidacy of Cloye P. McClelland for re-election.

The Probate Court is one requiring great experience, deep humanity, extensive learning and judicial dignity. Judge McClelland possesses all of these attributes. His experience on the probate bench has earned recognition throughout the state. His human understanding of problems affecting the mentally ill, adoptions, marriages, estates and other matters that come before this important arm of our courts is a by word among the people. His learning is attested by the fact that he has been invited to write and has written nationally-acclaimed books on Probate Court law. His judicial dignity has gained him the respect of all who come before him.

While he is running for a non-partisan office, the dictates of politics sometimes demand that even a man of his stature be opposed at the polls. Judge McClelland's opponent is one governed by such dictates. We know that the people of Franklin County will want to return Judge McClelland to the position he has so eminently filled and we are asking you as our neighbors, interested in good government and good courts, to get behind his candidacy.

We feel confident that if you study the situation you will not hesitate to help Judge McClelland retain the position to which he has given unstinted and efficient service. As your neighbors we unqualifiedly recommend him for re-election.

Judge McClelland's name will appear on the separate Non-Partisan Judicial Ballot.

Sincerely,

Clark J. Kenney 113 Mitchell St.

News In The World Of Religion

The Rev. Thomas C. Allen, of Richmond, Va., for many years prominent in the advancement of interracial unity and cooperation in the South, has been elected a co-secretary of the Department of Race Relations of the Federal Council of the churches of Christ. He will be associated with Dr. J. Oscar Lee in this work. One of his major responsibilities will be the holding the "interracial clinics" in areas of critical race tension throughout the country. As former director of the Commission on Interracial Cooperation in Virginia, Dr. Allen earned an enviable record in this field. He was educated at Wake Forest College, and at Southern Baptist Theological Seminary; and has been a college teacher and a pastor.

Dr. Carl S. Bell, of Seattle, Wash., for thirty years a missionary and educator in La Paz, Bolivia, where he has been head of the American Institute, has been awarded the Order of the Condor, one of the nation's highest decorations, in appreciation of his service to education. The American Institute was founded by the Methodist Church and carried on by it until 1943 when it was nationalized by Bolivia. Now it is being returned to the Church. The Institute has an enrollment of 1,035 today — three times that of 1940. The students are from Spanish and Indian-Spanish families.

In recognition of outstanding services in agricultural extension work, Dr. T. M. Campbell, of Tuskegee Institute, was recently presented a Superior Service Award by Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson. In making the presentation, Secretary Anderson said: "For your outstanding extension work among colored people, I present you this Superior Service Award. This is not for just doing a good job, but for work over and beyond the call of duty." Many missionaries, trained in "rural ways" have passed through Dr. Campbell's classes, and are now in service in Africa and the Orient, and in needy places throughout the Americas.

Goodwill Industries, founded by the Methodist Church in Boston, Mass., is now in the forty-sixth year of service, and at work in 90 American cities, at the forefront of institutions serving handicapped people. With the increasing need of rehabilitation services both for veterans and civilians, it is estimated that 200 new Goodwill Industries should be established in the cities of America. Formal endorsement of Goodwill Industries has been made by the Federal Office of Vocational Rehabilitation and the Veterans Administration. Dr. Thomas Parran, Surgeon General of the United States Public Health Service, says, "Scarcely the type of service Goodwill offers one worker in a hundred who needs can secure it at present. These agencies must be greatly expanded if they are to meet the full need."

The American Tract Society (21 West 48th Street, New York City), has published some 700,000 copies of a series of "Thinker" booklets for free distribution to college students. These tracts are designed to "present the case for historic Christianity to intellectual persons." They are annotated with references to authorities in the realms of science, philosophy and literature. There are seven titles in the present series, and an eighth, on atheistic communism, is being written.

The Rev. Yi Yun Yung, noted Korean Methodist pastor, was recently elected to the national legislature of Korea by the people of Chong-no District by a sweeping majority. Pastor Yung had seven strong opponents, one woman and six men, and he is a "newcomer" in Seoul. But he received over sixty percent of the total votes cast — more than all the votes for the seven persons combined, having received 20,497 votes out of 36,536 total votes cast. It has been reported that he is considered as "timber" for the vice-presidency. He is a member of the Committee of Trinity drafting the new constitution.

Three years after the close of the war in Europe, there are still in Denmark some 45,000 German refugees to whom Denmark has given asylum in camps, mostly in Jutland. They had fled there in the face of the Russian advance, and at one time numbered 220,000. It is hoped that the remainder can soon be repatriated. Meanwhile both Protestant and Catholic clergymen are ministering to them in camps, there are schools for the younger people; and the government of Denmark is providing food and clothing — at a cost to date of 600,000,000 Danish crowns. The large majority of the refugees are German Lutherans. Some of the ministers visiting the camps have helped train qualified refugees as their assistants.

Exhibit Visited By Record Crowds

According to George Emmett, in charge of the Division of Conservation exhibit at the Ohio State Fair, more people passed through the display tent of the Division's show last week than any previous year.

In addition to the display of live game and fish the feature attraction was the miniature replica of the Licking County Second Frontier Day Soil Conservation Project showing proper land use in conserving and restoring farm land.

Another display which received unusual comment was the miniature headwater lake complete with "toy-sized" shelter houses, picnic tables, bath-houses, boats, well-houses, and miniature evergreens.

The kiddies fishing project again this year proved to be one of the most popular features of the State Fair when more than 4000 youngsters under 18 fished in half-hour shifts. Although stringers were light during the first few days fishing younsters continued thru the week to take home "fish for dinner" each day.

Registrations every day kept the fishing facilities running capacity full.

Th only casualty of the week's fishing was charged to Tuesday's fishings when a little girl slipped and fell in the water but she was whisked away to Red Cross headquarters for a quick change.

Teletype System Takes Guesswork Out of Poor Road and Weather Driving

TELETYPIST IN CLEVELAND SENDS WEATHER REPORT TO OTHER POINTS

In Detroit, New York, Washington, Philadelphia, and Charlotte, N. C. This conference, similar to a long distance telephone call to each of the points mentioned, results in a complete report of driving conditions in each of the reporting areas. These conferences may originate in any other office equipped with a teletypewriter where conditions warrant.

WEATHER REPORT COMES IN OVER TELEPRINTER

Installation of an Airways Weather Teleprinter and also an Ohio Bell Telephone Company teletypewriter in the Cleveland office of the American Automobile Association has proved to be of invaluable aid to the club's members in avoiding bad weather and road conditions.

Now the automobile club's travel bureau can give weather conditions in critical areas as of "right now" at any time of the day.

Early every morning the Airways teleprinter receives current weather information from Fargo, N. D., to the Atlantic Coast and south to Birmingham and Charleston. This, combined with first-hand reports from Greyhound bus drivers, state highway departments, city and county engineers' offices, and the Cleveland Transit System, is compiled into report and map form and by 8:30 in the morning the travel bureau has a good picture of driving conditions throughout the country.

A half hour later an operator sets up a teletypewriter conference circuit with automobile clubs

Dowler - Leach Ceremony Performed

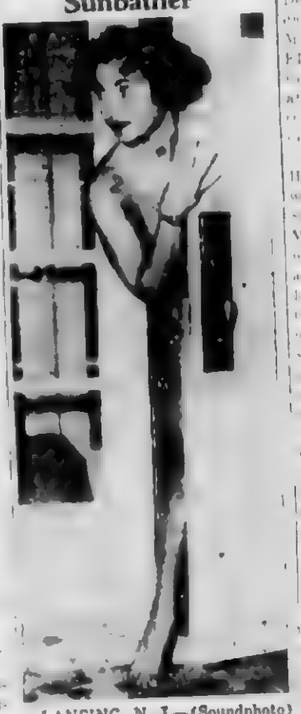
Ray is a graduate of South High School and was very active in all athletics there. He is now employed at the National Glove Co. Hibrida was also a student at South High.

They will reside temporarily at 575 Stewart Ave.

Harry's Red Herring Dragging Company



Early in the Roosevelt New Deal administration it was known that not only Parlor Pinks but rabid Communists were on federal pay roll. Attention was repeatedly called to this RED menace, and to the fact that Franklin Roosevelt was giving support to Communists in appearing before them before the Dies committee.

The recent disclosures by the present investigating committee make it quite clear that there are Communist agents in the Truman administration. Congress has voted more than six and one-half million dollars for the President to ferret out and oust disloyal government employes, but so far little or nothing has been done about it.

Now that the investigators are beginning to strike pay DIRT Truman steps forth and says the hearings are "RED HERRING" and "stink." Well, why should they smell to high heaven when this rotten mess has been well stirred up and brewing for the last 16 years.

However, it looks like Hotax Harry has pulled another fast one, for this is the first time we ever heard of a red herring coming from a third-story window.

Sunbather

LANSING, N. J.—(Soundphoto)—The new look and the old look too, took a holiday for the members of the American Sunbather's convention here. The ladies dressed like Eve and the men like Adam and a good time was had by all. Even the inquisitive eye of the camera failed to shake the aplomb of Miss Penny Holroyd, registrar of the association who is peeking coyly from behind the door.

RUSSELL THEATRE

The Russell Theater presents Sunday and Monday "The Noose Hangs High" with Bud Abbott and Lou Costello. In this picture Abbott and Costello hit a new hilarious high, packing a bombshell of laughs, in a merry mess of mischief that could only happen to them. They're on the lam from a gangster who'd like to know what they did with $50,000 of his money. They have never been funnier than when coping with this trigger-happy mobster who thinks they swiped his cash. Also on the program is "Belle Starr" featuring Gene Tierney and Randolph Scott. News and cartoon.

Columbia Theater

The Columbia Theater presents on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, "Easter Parade," starring Fred Astaire and Judy Garland. This is a beautifully technicolored musical. Irving Berlin's melodies are enriched by modern orchestrations. Judy Garland's singing and dancing are both outstanding. Fred Astaire has never been better. They are practically the whole show. Ann Miller deserves credit for her fine dancing also. The picture is wholly delightful all the way through.

IDEAL THEATER

The Ideal Theater presents Sunday and Monday "Under California Stars," featuring Roy Rogers and his famous horse Trigger. This picture is a typical Western with all the excitement and gunplay expected in a Western thriller. Roy Rogers portrays himself as a motion picture and radio star and a gentleman rancher. It is a trucolor picture and sprinkled with pleasing musical interludes. Light but interesting entertainment for the whole family. The second feature is "Sundown" with Gene Tierney and Bruce Cabot, plus a cartoon.

NEW MANAGEMENT

EL - TROVATO, formerly club Alexander is now under new management and will be closed until further notice in order to make alterations.

Watch for date of opening.

Prison Guard: "Sir, I want to report that ten prisoners have just broken out."

Warden: "Sound the alarm, blow the whistle, issue the machine guns, broadcast a warning. . ."

Easter Parade At Southland

Believe it or not, the gruesome twosome in the above picture are JUDY GARLAND and FRED ASTAIRE, shown doing a hobo comedy number in "Easter Parade", the wonderful new Technicolor hit, opening Sunday at the Southland Theatre. As Hannah Brown and Don Hewes, a famous Broadway dancing team, Judy and Fred will thrill you completely with a series of glorious show scenes in this tune-filled Technicolor treat. Featuring Irving Berlin's incomparable music, and with Peter Lawford and talented Ann Miller heading the topflight supporting cast, "Easter Parade" promises to be entertainment of appeal to the entire family.

The Southland is currently showing the Alan Ladd thriller, "Saigon", on a double bill with "Angel's Alley", starring the "Dead End kids, Leo Gorcey and Huntz Hall.

A clerk was changing his shoes. He had one shoe off and one shoe on when a drunk came to his counter.

"What can I do for you?" asked the clerk.

Drunk: "I wanna package of gum."

The clerk walked away.

Drunk: "If you have to go downstairs for it, don't bother with it."

"I hear you sold your pig."

"Yep. Sold him this morning."

"What did you get for him?"

"Eight Dollars."

"What did it cost you to raise him?"

"Paid three dollars for him, and five more for his feed."

"Didn't make much, did you?"

"Nope, but I had his company all Fall."

LONDON, ENGLAND — (Soundphoto) — Bob Mathias, 17, of Tulare, Calif. clears the bar in the decathlon high jump at 6 feet 1⅛ inches, for a three way tie in this one of the ten events.

After spending a perfectly boring time at a party last week, a co-ed on this campus was asked to sign the guest book. She signed her name and added—"Quoth the Raven."

Quick Cobbler Rates Applause

"Can she bake a cherry pie?" Well, she whips up the best cherry cobbler you ever tasted. With a pancake ready-mix and ingredients you always have on hand, you'll mix a cobbler in just a few minutes. Your family will sing out when you repeat their favorite dessert with either fresh or canned cherries, blueberries, peaches or apples.

Cherry Cobbler

For the fruit base:
- 2 cups cooked cherries
- 2 tablespoons pancake ready-mix
- ⅓ cup sugar
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine

Combine the sugar and ready-mix with the fruit. Add lemon juice. Place in a greased 8-inch square cake pan. Dot with butter or margarine.

Topping:
- 1½ cups ready-mix for pancakes
- ¼ cup sugar
- 1 beaten egg
- ¾ cup milk
- ¼ cup melted shortening

Measure pancake ready-mix into bowl; add sugar, mixing well. Combine beaten egg and milk and add to dry ingredients, stirring until batter is fairly smooth. Fold in melted shortening. Pour batter over the fruit base. Bake in a hot oven (425°F.) 30 minutes.

As Pegler Sees It

By Westbrook Pegler
Released by WNU Features.

THE TOUGH LANGUAGE and the practical gangsterism of the Russians mark a change so dangerous that suppression of thoughts upon the possibility of war would be a repetition of the British mistake at the time of Munich. Governor Dewey recently said "we must not even think of war." He may have been right at the time. NOW WE HAD BETTER THINK ABOUT WAR.

The Russians' attitude and the official conduct of her generals, diplomats and spies have been consistently more and more belligerent ever since the Potsdam conference. We now are reduced to the status of a weak Balkan country in the Russian estimate. Her contempt is shown by the open defiance of our laws and our courts in our own country and the frank threat to punish the United States because our congress has dared to investigate Russian espionage.

PEGLER

They never spoke thus until they were ready to move into the phase of provocation which precedes the breach of diplomatic relations and war.

These relations were an advantage to Russia from 1933 down to the present. Hereafter, the Soviets would be better off and we would be worse off as diplomatic strangers. They could continue their spying, and Communist riots on picket lines could be developed into serious civil war in the city of New York at least.

Insidious in Practice

The recent stunning disclosures about the Communist penetration of some of the most influential offices of the United States government by traitors who have confessed or refused to answer questions that no loyal American would hesitate to answer, again follow the course of Soviet penetration and the debilitation of native governments in the Balkans.

Thousands have seen this done on a smaller scale in unions of the C. I. O. which were controlled by Communists.

We have a law which, in time of declared war, permits us to throw into concentration camps all persons who seem to the military authority to be dangerous for any reason.

The supreme court has upheld this law against attacks on constitutional grounds. Although it applies only in the actual state of war, this law could be amended so as to permit the immurement of most of the known and potential pro-Russian traitors and other anti-American agents who swarm in New York and Hollywood.

The court deliberately flouted intelligence in ruling that this law did not countenance racial selection of such prisoners, as it certainly did, but that dishonesty by the court is advantageous now. No matter what the "race" or "creed" of the traitors and spies locked up, no plea of discrimination can prevail against that solemn judgment. THE ROSTERS OF THE COMMUNIST AND WALLACE PARTIES AND THE AMERICAN LABOR PARTY OF NEW YORK WOULD BE USEFUL DIRECTORIES IN THE SELECTION.

Wallace Aid Revealed

Persons who permit themselves to believe that it isn't so bad as all this are ill informed. The high government official mentioned so skittishly of late as having enabled shipments to Russia of stuff used in the atomic bomb was Henry Wallace.

He once told me that he would do "anything" to keep Russia in the war against Hitler when Hitler was Russia's only enemy and Japan was our principal enemy. Why would it have been necessary for the vice president of the United States to do "anything" to induce Russia to fight Hitler?

Wallace probably had legal authority to do as he did. If not, some shyster in the department of justice or state would create an illusion of law to justify whatever he did.

The F. B. I. reported to President Truman years ago that the wife of one of Wallace's close workers was a courier-spy for Russia during the war and carried packages from spies on the New York waterfront to Russian agents in North Africa. She was employed as a highly confidential agent in an American counter-espionage service. Today she is campaigning openly in American politics for the candidate of the Kremlin.

Mr. Truman had this report on his desk for years along with all the other information which has been gushing out in the recent hearings. He tacitly admits that he had it but defends his suppression of truth on the grounds that a grand jury which heard it refused to indict.

Bertha: "Say, does that Navy doctor you are engaged to have money?"

Sally: "Of course! Do you think I'd get married for my health?"

Happenings That Affect the Dinner Pails, Dividend Checks and Tax Bills of Every Individual National and International Problems Inseparable From Local Welfare.

The American people, by and large, are wary of spy scares. For years, a great deal of fun has been poked at the notion that "Moscow gold" streamed into this country by devious routes to finance Soviet agents and their American aides. Then, during the war, we developed a warm admiration for the Russians' magnificent defense of their homeland, and most of us felt that in the postwar era the great communist power and the great capitalist power would live together on a basis of friendly frankness and mutual resolve to put the world back on its feet.

A good deal of water has gone over the dam since then. And the current Congressional investigation into spying and allied activities—even though many of the accusations may be exaggerated, and some of them may be completely unfounded—indicates that the communist underground in the United States has been far more extensive, and has reached into far more places, than anyone believed. As Life stated it, "Some of the details of the underground were obscured by conflicting testimony, but the general pattern was clear and damning."

The list of those who have been accused of either being communists, fellow travelers, or dupes, is a long one. It includes an assistant to President Roosevelt, an official of standing in the State Department, a man who held an important war position in the Commerce Department, and others whose work gave them a knowledge of highly confidential information. The principal witness—a woman who testified she had acted as a sort of coordinator of information on behalf of a Russian agent with whom she was in love—said she sometimes obtained so much information that it was necessary to photograph it on microfilm to lessen the physical bulk. The Russians in charge of espionage work—and this seems to have involved practically every employe and representative of the Soviet government—didn't miss a single bet if they could help it.

From the record as so far written, it does not appear that anything so crass as bribery with money was used to any great extent. If the evidence is to be believed, even in part, some of the informants were stirred by idealistic considerations—a feeling that Communism was the only road to justice and peace. It will be remembered that during the thirties Stalin officially dissolved the Comintern, whose objective was world revolution, and the Communist Party within this country abruptly changed its tune. It pledged itself to attain its objective through strictly legal means, paid lip service to democratic principles and procedures, denied that it had any connection with the Kremlin, and went all out to appear homespun and respectable. Many people who fell for this have since disavowed any connection with the party and have become aggressively anti-Red. One of these is at present a senior editor of Time, and he has furnished some of the most startling testimony produced at the hearings.

Other people who served the Communist cause may not have known what they were doing—they just talked too much and at the wrong time. Finally, there is a hard core of men and women whose loyalty, regardless of nationality, belongs to the Soviet Union, and who are willing to do practically anything to serve the cause.

Just how much really valuable and secret information did the Soviet agents get? The probability is that they didn't get a great deal. Some of it, indeed, was available to any one who wanted it. And some of it, while classified, was of no particular importance. At the same time, it is possible that out of all the mass of material which was correlated and sent to Russia, there was at least a modicum of information which really belonged in the secret category.

The general feeling seems to be that the government's crackdown on disloyal employes and the communist underground was long overdue—and that responsible officials were unbelievably lethargic in starting the work. As an example, one government employe held important jobs for four years in spite of constant objections by Naval Intelligence. It is significant that this man refused to answer when a committee investigator asked him formally if he was or had ever been a Communist. Many of those called did the same thing, on the constitutional grounds that to answer might incriminate them. It is a matter of record that communists and fellow travelers are always ready to take full advantage of our legal protections for the individual—protections which are totally non-existent in the Soviet Union.

The case of the Russian schoolteachers who don't want to go home for fear of being shot—one of them jumped from the third floor of the Russian consulate in New York in order to escape—has further complicated the matter. It looks as if the Russians distrust their own people, as well as the Americans.

At any rate, the job of ferreting out the communists in the government is really underway at last. Several hundred Federal employes have either been discharged or have resigned after being investigated by the Loyalty Review Board, which has been helped by the FBI. Many more are scheduled for investigation in the future. And it's a safe bet that we aren't through with disclosures which will make big headlines in the newspapers.

Beulah Park News

(From Clarence Young, Beulah Park Jockey Club, Inc., 2997 S. High St., Columbus 15, Ohio.)

Columbus, O.—Just as football coaches have their various systems, so do trainers of thoroughbred horses. The conditioners at Beulah Park are no exception.

Take Al Wellman, trainer of the Detroit Stable, Inc. Seldom, if ever, will you find the name of one of Wellman's horses in black type for having the best workout in the wee hours of the morning.

Wellman explains that he never instructs his exercise boy to ask a horse for its best during a workout. In the main, Wellman's horses are only "breezed" in the workout hours.

Al says:

"They don't pay any purses in the morning so why burn your horse out asking him for his best then? My horses do their running in the afternoon, when it really counts."

Exactly the opposite was the late Harry Weiner. Harry's first act when one of his horses was being led onto the track for a spin was to check with the clocker to learn the fastest workout of the morning for—say—six furlongs.

If he was informed that 1:14 was the best, Weiner then would instruct his rider to better that time if possible in order that his horse's name would appear in the workouts in black type.

South's Great Band To Open Season

With the beat of the drums, the clashing of the cymbals, and the twirling of batons, the South High School Band will parade on to the field under the direction of Gene Shell, drum major, when South journeys to Upper Arlington tomorrow night. Those high stepping majorettes led by Nancy Eversole will make a colorful picture as they prance spiritedly down the field.

Sore feet, arms, lips and bodies have been the results for nearly one hundred students who have been working hard to achieve their goal,-a place in the school band, a coveted position among the drum majorettes, a colorful post with flag swingers, or the celebrated rank of color guard. Rehearsals were well under way before the opening of the school year and at present the band holds practice each morning at eight o'clock in preparation for its busy schedule ahead.

The regular band personnel has been greatly augmented this year by the young musicians coming from Barrett, Roosevelt, and other schools. Cooperation and a keen interest in their activity have been the individual attributes which these new band members have contributed to the organization.

So, Boosters of South, when that inimitable band parades on the field tomorrow night for the opening of the football season, be on hand to show your enthusiastic approval to the entire group and to the untiring and superb director, Randell Near.

Races Are To Continue

Columbus, O., Sept. 15—Beulah Park attracted the top three-year-old and the top two-year-old of the Ohio racing season to Grove City for the 56-day meeting, which continues daily (except Sundays and Sept. 23) through Oct. 16.

J. G. Brown's Red Flag is the champion three-year-old of the Buckeye turf season. He has compiled an amazing record, particularly in view of the fact that he frequently is fo to ... strides with older horses.

In 12 starts, Red Flag has visited the winner's circle four times and has finished out of the money only once. Others in Brown's stable are Count Royal and Lucky Mystery.

Trainer R. W. (Bob) Root has mapped a busy Beulah campaign for the undefeated two-year-old Jim's Tigress, queen of the juveniles at both Ascot Park and Randall. Jim's Tigress is owned by J. B. Botten of Cleveland. Brown, Red Flag's owner, is from Cincinnati.

Are Veterans Forgotten Men?

Veterans in hospitals sometimes wonder if they've been forgotten, now that the shooting's over. The days are long, but they can be made a lot shorter when there's a ball game to watch or a hobby to pursue.

The Red Cross has always helped to soften the lot of the hospitalized veterans, and since this spring has reorganized to make it even easier for civilian volunteers to do their part. The newly-organized Entertainment and Instruction Service has launched an ambitious program to bring sports and recreation of all kinds to the patients of the Chillicothe Veteran's Hospital. Already, softball games and bicycle races have been brought to the patients in exhibitions by amateur teams from Columbus, and an entertainment unit of 50 girls has planned parties and picnics and brought entertainment into the wards for those patients unable to leave their beds.

To meet the needs of the Chillicothe Hospital and those of other hospitals and institutions in the communiy, the Entertainment and Instruction Service is asking the help of any individuals or groups who can either entertain with music, comedy skits at the hospital, or who would like to arrange with the Red Cross to bring a group of veterans from the hospital to Columbus for dinners or athletis events. If you or your group would like to help, you are urged to call the Red Cross or Mrs. Harold C. May, chairman of the Service, at RA. 5296. This is a chance to prove to the men who are still fighting the war that we haven't forgotten.

Delbert Pugh Addresses Lions Club

"Why Beds are scarce and costs high in hospitals," was the subject of an address by Delbert L. Pugh, executive director of the Columbus Hospital Federation, at the regular meeting last Tuesday of the South East Lions Club.

Mayor James A. Rhodes will address the group next Tuesday, on his trip to England and the Olympic Games.

Chrismer Heads Council of South Side Organizations

A. H. Chrismer is the new chairman; Hoover Young and Otto Meier are the Vice-Chairmen; Glenn Schwemley, Treasurer; Wm. Wacker, Secretary and M. V. Hoover, executive Secretary.

The Democratic Party Under Jackson And Now

Democrats love to honor President Andrew Jackson as a patron saint of their party but they have gotten away under the New Deal from the tenets of Jackson as they have from Thomas Jefferson who founded the party largely on the basis of states rights and against centralization of power in the national capital which reached its zenith under FDR.

For decades the most famous restaurant in the Union was Delmonico's in New York City. Every American of intelligence has heard of it in fiction or story. Here is a reprint of its first bill of fare in 1834 (under Jackson) some 114 years ago. Believe it or not, here are some of the prices on that old bill of fare:

Cup of coffee ..... 1 cent
Soup ..... 2 cents
Beef Steak ..... 4 cents
Corn beef and cabbage ..... 4 cents
Ham and Eggs ..... 10 cents

And a regular Dinner for 12c

At that time, Andrew Jackson was President. Federal taxes were almost nothing. Jackson paid off the Government debt in full. The Government owed nothing then. It had a balanced budget. We had not then "monetized the debt," to use the words of Mr. Eccles of the Federal Reserve Board.

In 1834 we were not subsidizing everybody out of everybody else's pocket. The Government was not buying potatoes to keep prices high, and then practically giving them away to feed hogs.

We did not have an army of bureaucrats messing into everything. We had a competitive market where prices reached their natural level under the law of supply and demand. We did not have nationwide monopolies in either business or labor unions. We did not have price controls, or wage controls. We were a free people when the Democratic Party started under President Andrew Jackson.

When we had a small government, we had big dollars that bo't something. Now that we have BIG GOVERNMENT, we have small dollars, that buy little.

I don't know of anything that points out the folly of Socialism and a planned economy, better than a "regular dinner" at Delmonico's in 1834 for less than you tip the waiter today.

Says 482 Join U. S. Payroll Every Day

Washington—An average of 482 new workers were added to the federal payroll each day during July, Senator Byrd (D. Va.) reported today.

This, however, was a drop from the 525 a day average chalked up for the seven months since December.

Byrd, reporting as chairman of the joint committee on reduction of non-essential federal expenditures, said the number of civilian job holders totaled 2,107,244 on July 31.

This was an increase of 14,031 for the month of July and a gain of 111,856 since December 31.

The Postoffice department showed the biggest gain for both periods—10,429 for the month and 43,784 for the year to date.

Historic Gavel To Be Awarded

HISTORIC GAVEL AND PLAQUE — A historic gavel will be awarded to the real estate board of YOUR CITY during its celebration of Constitution Day, on or about September 17, on behalf of the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

This gavel is made from wood grown at Mount Vernon, the home of George Washington, and Monticello, the home of Thomas Jefferson. Around the head is a metal band of steel plating from the U.S.S. Missouri, famed battleship of World War II on which the Japanese surrender agreement was signed September 2, 1945, by General of the Army Douglas MacArthur and Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz.

More than 240 realty boards in 40 states, all members of NAREB, are sponsoring observances of Constitution Day this week. Sons of the American Revolution, veteran's group, and civic organizations are cooperating. Prominent speakers including Congressmen, state and local officials, representatives of veterans' organizations, and NAREB officers, will take part in the programs.

Two of the outstanding speakers will be Adm. Nimitz, commander of the U.S. Naval Forces in the Pacific during the war, and Maj. Gen. William J. (Wild Bill) Donovan, director of Strategic Services at that time. They will award the gavels and speak at the programs arranged by the Berkeley (Calif.) Realty Board and the Real Estate Board of Rochester (N.Y.), respectively.

"Realtors especially have reason to revere this day", Hubart C. Brady, Wichita, president of NAREB, said. "Framers of the Bill of Rights specifically named houses when they established their guarantee of secure possession. This seems to underscore the importance of home and home ownership to the preservation of a society of free men. The principal function of Realtors is to expand the extent of homes for secure possession by families who live in them."

Remedy For The Meat Situation

The meat situation has been the subject of more loose and uninformed talk than practically anything else, ranging from unfounded charges that big profits are the cause of high prices, to political demands for a reimposition of price controls, which would discourage production and channel most of the available meat supply into black markets.

In the light of that a statement recently issued by the American Meat Institute deserves wide reading. "The real remedy for the meat situation," it said, "is the production, as promptly as nature and other conditions will permit, of adequate numbers of meat animals." It then went on to make a series of specific suggestions for achieving this goal.

First, farmers should be encouraged to breed sows for late fall and early winter farrowing. Second, producers should be urged to use the new corn crop to feed spring pigs to reasonably heavy weights. Third, breeding herds should be rebuilt with younger stocks, and older, poorer producing cows should be marketed. Fourth, the slaughter of calves should be reduced. Fifth, producers must be assured of a continued relative strong demand for meat. Sixth, livestock conservation should be pushed.

This is a long range program, and it is based upon the sound principal that the country must have more meat—and that high meat prices are in large part the result of heavy demand in the face of a limited supply. Rationing and other government controls, as any school child can understand, would not increase the supply of meat by a single pound. Whenever the government interferes with the basic laws of economics, scarcity, not abundance, results.

The Welkers also have another daughter, Miss Nelly McCarthy.

There are also three grandchildren.

They were married at Bidwell, Ohio, September 18, 1898, and have been residents of Columbus for 30 years.

South vs Arlington

South High opens the 1948 gridiron season tomorrow night under the lights at Arlington. The Bulldogs, after several bad seasons are about due to growl. So far this year in practice they've looked better than in past seasons and the South High Boosters feel certain that this is the year for the Bulldog to growl.

They're starting the season with completely new uniforms and we're hoping that means a completely new and successful season. Let's go, fella's, lets really growl for a change, the whole South Side' behind you 100%.

Everett A. Walters Opens New Grill

Everett A. (Pappy) Walters is now back in business. Pappy is now located at 1312 South High Street. We visited his new grill and we can safely say that he has one of the finest places on the South Side. Pappy has realized a life long ambition of having everything new and he has just that. Mr. Walters was formerly located at 1203 Parsons. Watch the Booster for his grand opening. Pappy serves the finest in beers, wines and liquors and of course, fine foods.

The Young People's Alliance of the Third Avenue Alliance Church will sponsor the eighth annual Youth Crusade beginning on Sunday, September 19, and continuing through Sunday, September 26th. Services will be held each evening throughout the week with the exception of Saturday, at 7:30 p.m.

Several aggressive and talented young people's workers of the denomination will be in charge of the Crusade. The evangelist for the services will be the Rev. Charles A. Epperson, of High Point, N.C. Rev. Mr. Epperson or several years now has been the pastor of the large and successful Alliance Church in High Point. He is a gifted speaker - especially to youth. Rev. Dale R. Summers, of Indianapolis, Ind., has been engaged as the director of music for the campaign. Rev. Mr. Summers is undoubtedly one of the foremost pianists, composers, and musician in the Central State.

Ohio Squirrel Season On Sept. 15 to 30

The 1948 squirrel hunting season will open Wednesday, September 15 and continue through September 30 for the entire state.

The daily bag limit will be the same as last year, four a day and the possession limit will be four.

According to state-wide reports, squirrel hunting this year is expected to be good but "spotty". Hunters of the bushy-tail will find the squirrel population scattered in the southern and eastern counties because of a 25 to 50 per cent nut crop shortage in 37 counties affected by the 17-year locust damage which infested a large portion of the squirrel hunting territory.

Hunters were urged this week to use every possible hunting-safety precaution, while in the woods. The easily-recognized bright red squirrel hunter's cap is advised for all who do not wish to be mistaken for a squirrel.

Sal: "Plunging neckline, eh?"

Cafeteria To Open At Miller Foundry

A new cafeteria for the convenience of the men working at the Miller foundry will be open starting Tuesday, Sept. 14th. Quick luncheons will be served consisting of soups, sandwiches, pies, ice cream, milk and coffee. This should enable the men to have something warm for their noon day meal, without leaving the building. Miss Elva Cooper owner and operator of the Ayro Restaurant, 1519 Parsons Ave., will operate the new cafeteria.

As you probably know, the Orphanage cares for all babies and unwed mothers left in their charge regardless of race, creed or color. This care calls for financial help and any help you can give us will be deeply appreciated by the Sisters and babies.

If you are sending a donation, please make it payable to Guild No. 23, St. Ann's Orphanage, and mail to Mrs. Leona Schonhardt, at 1352 S. Champion Ave.

You will be made an Associate Member and will receive your membership card after Donation Day.

We would also like to extend an invitation to the open house and tea to be held Thursday, Oct. 7th at the Orphonage from 2 until 6.

This summer I spent three weeks in the Blue Grass Country of Kentucky. There I saw a horse that had won the Kentucky Derby. I also saw how they fed, cared for, and trained horses. The country was hilly and beautiful.

I want to see the Freedom Train. It was white with a red band and a blue one running the length of each car through the center. On each car was a gold eagle. The engine was called the Spirit of '76'.

There were many documents of great value on this train. These are some of them——The Declaration of Independence, Bill of Rights of 1791, Freedom of Press, Emancipation Proclamation, which was the end of slavery.

I waited four and one half hours to get into the train but it was well worth it.

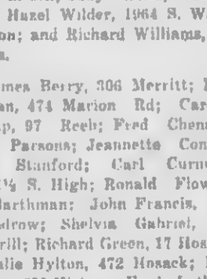
Beauty Enroute

Mary Shipp, the "Kathleen" on NBC's "The Aldrich Family", before leaving for vacation takes time out to give you a few pertinent beauty tips on travel grooming. First, whether your vacation is of long or short duration, select one piece of luggage that will hold your individual cosmetic needs. Whether you travel by plane, train, boat or automobile, pack cosmetics in an easy to carry case so they're readily available throughout the trip. Pack all cosmetic containers securely. Be sure jar tops are fastened tightly. If your carrying case lacks straps to hold jars securely, place breakable containers in shoe bags for protection.

Invariably make-up repair is needed enroute, so you'll look your prettiest greeting old friends or meeting new ones. Keep repair items such as liquid cleanser, fresh make-up and sterile, absorbent Red Cross Cotton Balls at top of carrying case. It's a good idea to have handy nail polish remover and nail polish the same shade as that used for your going away manicure. If you have a chipped nail problem enroute you'll find that cotton balls are as handy for removing nail polish as they are for removing travel grime; just use them with face cleanses.

Her: "Miss, what's that piece of furniture?"



Blonde: "Highboy."

He: "Hi, sister. What's the furniture?"

He: "You have eyes like two beautiful grapes, cheeks like two gorgeous peaches, lips like two luscious cherries."

She: "Stop—you're making me feel like a fruit salad."

Economic Highlights

Happenings that affect the Dinner Pails, Dividend Checks and Tax Bills of Every Individual National and International Problems Inseparable from Local Welfare.

Going by the statistics alone, the American Economy was never in a healthier condition. We have practically achieved the goal of full employment, the national income is still running at a record peacetime level, with few exceptions the demand or goods is extremely strong, industry is showing excellent profits, and labor is carrying home more cash than it ever did before.

Yet there is a strong undercurrent of uncertainty—of fear that this pleasant condition in which almost everyone is at least relatively prosperous may not be here for an indefinite stay. That doesn't mean that the economists expect a recession, a depression or any other economic upset to put in an appearance next winter or spring or at any other given date. Certainly, the prospects for the next two years or so all point to a continuance of good times. But the possibility of a collapse in the not-so-distant future is a subject of grim concern in many minds.

This point of view is not confined to the men who run American enterprise, and the economists who do the long range forecasting. It is evident that some of the top labor leaders have been thinking in similar terms. And there is a good reason for that. The immediate goal of any labor group is usually to get higher wages, job security, and other such concessions. But an intelligent leader must think ahead of this. He must concern himself with the long-time sustained employment, or for wide-factors which may make either for spread unemployment with all the chaos that involves.

Some time ago, William Green suggested that there be a meeting of the top people in industry, agriculture and labor, with a view to ironing out differences and, if possible, reducing prices. Mr. Green's proposal was couched in general terms, and it is unlikely that any such conference will occur at this time. But the act that it was suggested is indicative of the problems of the day. The elements which make up the economy have been pulling at cross purposes. There is wide-read distrust and dislike. The attitude of "I'll get mine and to hell with the rest of you" has been pretty prevalent in domestic affairs. Sooner or later, if anything close to real economic stability is to be attained, this will have to be changed.

No one can deny that it would be a boon to the entire nation if we could maintain high wages, short work weeks and all the rest of it and at the same time reduce prices. But no one has as yet found a formula for doing it. In the great mass industries—the ones which determine the course of the economy—wages have been the largest factor in deciding the price for which goods can be sold. An interesting example is automobiles. In 1929 the average car sold for $800. It now sells for

The Foundation Of European Union

Caux-sur-Montreux, Switzerland
THE FOUNDATION OF EUROPEAN UNION

"In Washington, Mr. Paul Hoffman, the Economic Administrator, said that Moral Re-Armament is the ideological counterpart of the Marshall Plan. Here we see that Moral Re-Armament is the moral foundation of European Union." In these words Signor Umberto, Calosso, Secretary of the Saragat Socialist Party of Italy, expressed the theme of today's session of the Moral Re-Armament European Assembly. Delegates from Germany, Holland, France and Italy gave facts of how this unity was being brought about, and outlined their plans for spreading this Ideology throughout Europe.

INVITE FRENCH TO GERMANY

Pere Marie Joseph, a Carmelite priest from Lille, France, stood on the platform beside Dr. Hoegner, the first post-war Minister-President of Bavaria, and Signor Calosso, as Dr. Hoegner invited the French delegates from Caux to visit Germany. "The centuries of hatred between our two countries must disappear," he said. "We must become friends. We German statesmen who have been to Caux have decided to meet regularly to plan how to bring Moral Re-Armament into all political and social circles in Germany. Members of different parties will form a team and bring understanding and unity to Germany. It is the spirit of hatred between classes and parties which must be replaced by affection and understanding."

AN UNCONDITIONAL NO

"I want to tell Dr. Hoegner that he will have the complete backing of the German Press in his work with the statesmen," said Dr. Rudolph Pechel of Berlin, Editor of the Deutsche Rundschau. "As individuals and as a nation we missed a tremendous opportunity when we failed to say an unconditional 'No' to the temptations held out to us in 1933. Don't let us miss the chance to say 'Yes' to the good opportunity held out to us by Moral Re-Armament. When we look at the world we realize that man has given up the attempt to bring order into the affairs of men and nations. We are playing again with the possibility of war. There is only one way out. We must bring the statesmen of the world to put their negotiations under the guidance of God."

A NEW WISDOM

Mr. Paul Brunheim of Schwelm, Germany, who is Chairman of the Works Committee of his plant, and as a Trade Union delegate represents 13,000 metal workers, said, "As Trade Unionists and workers we have learned that what we have stood for hitherto is not sufficient to remake the world. I have been a Trade Union member for 40 years. As a Socialist I felt it was my job to fight the bosses, and where have these Marxist ideas brought us? They have fulfilled none of our dreams. Moral Re-Armament is a new wisdom and a new way to bring the best to humanity. We have found here how to get the workers and bosses together fighting on the same side."

A PRACTICAL STEP

Professor E. de Vries, Economic Adviser to the Dutch Government, told how the Dutch Cabinet had taken a practical step towards Western unity this summer by sending 200,000 tons of vegetables to Germany without guarantee of payment.

"Did you go to the doctor the other day, John?"
"Yes, I did."
"And did he find out what you had?"
"Very nearly."
"What do you mean, very nearly?"
"Well—I had $3.40 and he charged me $3.00."

As Pegler Sees It

By Westbrook Pegler

IT WAS, in President Truman's own cultured, political expression, "rotten" of him to wave the bloody shirt of religious hatred in charging that the 80th congress had been guilty of religious discrimination in the present displaced persons act.

The 80th congress represented the people of the United States. This law was a further act of self-sacrifice, hospitality and great national compassion. Perhaps it was not truly expressive of the popular will because, for all we know, the people, in a referendum, would close the doors absolutely. I direct attention to the fact that politicians, wailing in fear of minorities holding the balance of power, always have prevented the referral of such questions to the people.

When did you ever vote on help for some warring foreign country or on help to some persecuted foreign minority?

YOU VOTE ON AN ISSUE OF HOT LUNCHES OR A PLAYGROUND.

President Truman may share the error of others who think there is some constitutional provision which compels us to admit without discrimination the members of all religious communions and all races.

On religion our Constitution says only that congress shall make no law "RESPECTING THE ESTABLISHMENT OF RELIGION," whatever that means, or "PROHIBITING THE FREE EXERCISE THEREOF."

Control of Cults The most that the first part of that clause can mean is that congress can't set up any faith as the official religion of the U. S. But if some cult tried to practice cannibalism or mayhem as a religious rite we would interfere quickly with the free exercise thereof. We would refuse absolutely to admit members of any such cult as immigrants and that exclusion would be based on religious grounds alone.

Our exclusion of "Asiatics" for many years was based on religious objections among others. Our white Californians couldn't compete with them, because they could outwork the white man on one-fifth the food.

We had a case of a native American son of Japanese parents during the recent war which has a strange bearing on a large element of very impudent and brash Communists concentrated in the city of New York and scattered in large lumps in other cities of the East.

Fred Korematsu, a Nisei, or native American Jap, was a citizen of absolutely unquestioned loyalty. But we rounded up all the Japs on the west coast and slammed them into concentration camps and Korematsu got his back up and resisted. He was convicted of disobedience to the curfew and deportation orders of General De Witt, who was in command of the area, and the case went to the supreme court.

Somehow, the boys ruled that it was all right to do this to Korematsu and somehow they reasoned that his racial descent had nothing to do with the case.

Crime of Birth Justice Jackson, in a dissent, kicked the majority right in the teeth when he wrote, truthfully, that this citizen's conduct was made a crime only if his parents were of Japanese birth. The majority mumbled stupidly to the effect that he was excluded because we were at war with Japan.

That decision now means that, in view of our trouble with Russia, we can throw into concentration camps all persons who came from Russia and her satellites, and all their sons and daughters.

If they should happen to be preponderantly of any particular race or religious faith that would be immaterial. The court says that such drastic protection is justified if the military authority feels that the occasion demands the segregation of persons coming from a country with which we are at war, and their sons and daughters.

The 15th amendment says the rights of citizens shall not be abridged on account of race or color. But European displaced persons aren't citizens and so they have no rights to be abridged. And we do not find any forbiddance against such abridgment on religious grounds. Only race or color.

We can exclude immigrants for any reason that seems sufficient. AND WHEN THE F.B.I. TELLS US THAT ABOUT ONE-HALF OF OUR COMMUNIST TRAITORS TRACE THEIR ORIGIN TO RUSSIA OR HER SATELLITES, WE HAVE A RIGHT TO CLOSE THE DOOR ABSOLUTELY TO PEOPLE FROM THOSE PLACES.

ECONOMIC HIGHLIGHTS

[illegible] the typical rate [illegible] a week [illegible] a 40-hour week [illegible] Wall Street [illegible] to make possible lower prices for goods. But those instances are scattered—today's tremendous expenses for plant expansion and improvement alone make it necessary for the average industry to maintain a high earning rate if it is to keep in the swim. It is probable that the best hope for achieving an economy in which wages can be [illegible] in relation to prices is through greater productivity per man-hour. That has been accomplished in one of two ways in the past: by technological advances, which mean an improved machines to make the work, or greater application by the worker himself. Increased is simply another way of saying "A full day's work for a full day's pay." It is undoubtedly true that in some cases the unions themselves have forced a scandalous decline in worker productivity. The prime example is the building trades. Policy varies from region to region and even from city to city, but in many places the number of brick or shingles or siding or anything else a worker is permitted to place in a day is ridiculously low.

There is still another phase to the price problem that deserves more notice than it has been given. Deflation can be as bad as inflation. A really sharp drop in prices—back to the 1939 figure, for example—might bring on a depression sooner than anything else. The American government is geared to a high-price and high-wage economy which will bring in sufficient tax revenue to meet its enormous commitments. This will be true regardless of the outcome of the elections next November. In certain lines, such as basic agricultural produce, the government is pledged to price-support and no one can imagine any administration abandoning that. The enormous resources of the government would be marshaled at once if anything resembling a price collapse threatened.

The best hope, therefore, is that inflation can be checked, that some moderate price cuts may occur, and that an equitable working agreement between labor, industry and agriculture can be reached. But it won't happen overnight, and the prospect now is that prices will go up some more, and that new wage demands will result.

Parochial School Poster Contest

Parochial school pupils in all parishes in the Diocese of Columbus, were invited today to participate in a poster contest calling attention to the Hour of Faith, sponsored by the Holy Name Society, to take place in the Red Bird Stadium, Columbus, Oct. 17, under auspices of the Diocesan Holy Name Union.

The invitation to participate in the contest was issued on the opening day of the 1948-49 school year by Rt. Rev. Msgr. Robert F. Coburn, Diocesan Holy Name Director. Two contests will be arranged, one for elementary and the other for high school students. Winners of first, second and third prizes respectively in each contest will receive $10 - $5 - and $2.50 in cash.

Posters submitted by school children should be at least 9 x 12 inches in size. It is required that they carry the words, Hour of Faith, Red Bird Stadium, Columbus, Ohio, October 17. Design and color choice are optional with the artist.

Each school principal has been requested to submit the three best posters from each age group to Holy Name Hdqs., where a committee of judges will evaluate the entries.

Prizes will be provided for winners in both classes, and the winning posters will be reproduced in the Register. The pageant being planned for the Hour of Faith will be based upon the institution by Christ of the 7 sacraments of the Church.

DEDICATION SERVICES FRIDAY NIGHT

Ceremonies To Be Held At Half Time

The long awaited day of dedication tomorrow night will arrive when the new electric controlled scoreboard will be dedicated to the 85 men, alumni, and former students of South High School, who lost their lives in World War II.

The ceremonies are scheduled to take place between halves of the football game between South and Grandview High School.

The idea of the scoreboard was conceived by the Swan club which is largely made of alumni and former athletes of South, who, seeing the need to let all South Side Residents into an organization, immediately formed the South High Booster Club.

Hundreds of Club memberships were sold, paper drives were held, articles were raffled, to raise about $1500. Throughout these fund raising processes merchants and individuals gave hours of their time.

So it is with a degree of satisfaction, that all who participated in the South High Booster Club drive will be there for the dedication ceremonies tomorrow night.

A special block of seats is being set aside for the parents, wives, and families of the men who gave their lives.

This will be a truly inspirational ceremony headed by George E. Roudebush, Supt. of Schools, Judge Rodney W. Ross, and Miles V. "Cap" Hoover, making short addresses.

These ceremonies will be broadcast by Jack Hill over Station WELD, your local FM station.

VFW To Dedicate Flagpole

There will also take place between halves of the South High-Grandview game, a dedication of the new flag pole and flag, which will be dedicated to those veterans of South, who gave their lives in World War II, by the Robert W. Hood Post No. 180, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Commander Edward Cook will be the speaker at this dedication, with all members of Robert Hood Post participating.

This fine group of patriotic men is a South Side Organization who in the future plans to establish a permanent home for their post here in our community.

So. High Football Roster

By Ruth Louise Taylor

It's South High School all the way this week and every week. The enthusiasm for the school, the team and the various activities is incredible. A pep rally on Thursday was convincing proof that the student body is behind everything for which South stands. It was a thrilling spectacle to see and hear that 85 piece band giving forth all it had. On that high school stage were four spirited girls dressed in dark blue skirts and white sweaters and wearing the insignia of South, the giant S. With well planned routines they injected into the student body the fervor which they felt for their Alma Mater as they led the group in the numerous school yells. The responsiveness on the part of the audience could not be surpassed. Quite in contrast was the silence that pervaded the auditorium when the attention of the students was required. Here South scores again with the attribute of courtesy seemingly inherent in each student, but truly a reflection of the fine training provided by our Southside parents.

Coach Trego brought 43 boys to the platform: these fellows comprise the squad from which the starting line-up will be chosen. The line will be composed of six lettermen: the backfield carries only one previous wearer of the insignia. Constant practice in pass defense during the past few weeks has resulted in pronounced improvement in offsetting aerial attacks. With lettermen in reserve for replacements the picture for South is bright for its initial home game of the season.

To make the acquaintance of this team this football roster will give you the information you need, but to see the team in action and to know these boys personally, you must not miss the opportunity provided by the invasion of Grandview on Friday. The team in new uniforms, the field in excellent condition, and the scoreboard of scoreboards which takes its official bow tomorrow night are the best reasons why you can't afford to miss the game.

Accept Applications For Enlistment Of Women In WAC, WAF

Authorization has been received by Headquarters, Ohio Recruiting District, U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force, for acceptance of applications for enlistment in the WAC and WAF from women with and without prior service.

Age limits for applicants without prior service are 18-34, and for those with prior service not to exceed 35 plus the number of years of honorable active service, according to Capt. Thomas J. Madigan, Jr., commanding officer of the U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Station, Old Post Office Bldg., where applications from this area will be received. Capt. Madigan pointed out that for a two-year period, enlisted strength in the WAC will not exceed 7500, and the WAF 4000, and that applicants will be selected to meet the needs of the services.

Recruits accepted for the WAC will receive their basic training at Camp Lee, Va., following which 60 percent of the group will remain at Camp Lee for advanced training, and the remaining 40 percent will be sent to Army Specialist Schools for advanced training in fields for which aptitude is shown. Enlistees with prior service will have a two-weeks refresher course at Camp Lee before assignment.

WAF recruits will receive basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Tex., while accepted applicants with prior service will go to Scott Air Force Base, Ill., before assignment.

"Women proved themselves on the job during the war and in peacetime," Capt. Madigan declared. "They served in administrative positions, as hospital technicians, stenographers, cryptographers, telephone operators, and in many other fields. The utilization of women in jobs for which women are better suited than men will insure more efficient use of all Army and Air Force personnel," he declared.

Six Lessons In Food Nutrition

The Red Cross Nutrition Service is giving another six lesson course "Food and Figgers" designed to help you with the problem of overweight or underweight, how a special diet can fit in with family meals, and how it can be kept within the family food budget.

Are you shortening your life by the wrong choice of food? Eminent doctors and nutritionists tell us that one of the biggest dangers to health is overweight. They tell us too that much as we would like to blame those extra pounds on our glands, the usual cause is just too many calories. Do you know that among men who are 25 per cent overweight, the death rate from all causes is 174 per cent that of normal weight men? Too many pounds means higher risk of such conditions as diabetes, high blood pressure, hardening of the arteries, heart failure and cancer, says Dr. Glen King, director of the Nutrition Foundation.

Can we blame overweight on our glands? According to Dr. Cyrus French of Penn State College, 999 cases of obesity in 1000 are due to too much food or too much laziness. So what are we going to do about it, starve? Not at all. We can still eat but must choose our food wisely. With a decrease in calories, we must be most careful to include foods with plenty of vitamins, minerals and protein to supply our needs. There's no use gaining the "New Look" and a nervous breakdown at the same time. An easy way to be sure of getting one's basic food needs is to include in our meals every day, a pint of milk, six servings of fruit and vegetables, including potatoes, one serving of lean meat and one tablespoon butter or fortified margarine.

You'll probably want more information about planning your slimming diet meals, and especially about the big problem of feeding the rest of the family at the same time How can I keep my grocery bills within reason and still get the foods I should have?

All these questions and many more will be answered by Miss Jeanne Montgomery in the Red Cross "Food and Figger" course which will being Thursday, Sept. 23, 1:30 p.m., at the Ohio Fuel Gas Co., 99 N. Front St., Room 910. Miss Montgomery will demonstrate the preparation of nutritious low-calories foods and will give menus showing how the family diet can be adapted for the person who wants to lose weight. There will be six two-hour lessons, once each week for a six-week period.

To register for the course, or for further information, call Mrs. Derwin W. Ashcraft, Red Cross nutrition director, Red Cross Headquarters, 30 E. Town St., MA 6841.

The York Story

Worral G. Sonenstein

Mr. Artis D. York, 738 Siebert Street, lost his eye sight about four years ago. At that time, was employed as a agent for a well known Insurance Company. When after an unsuccessful Catarract operation was performed, it became apparent to Mr. York he would no longer have his physical vision, he began to make plans for the future.

Setting up an office in his home, Mr. York began to sell Insurance of all kinds. At first, most of his business was transacted with friends and other people who knew him before he lost his sight. As time went on, however, his business expanded, and today, he has Insurance in nearly every section of the State. Mr. York's business has grown in recent months to such perportion that he can no longer handle it at home. And as a consequence, he has opened an office at 1860 Parsons Avenue. He now represents 9 or 10 different Companies and is well known among Insurance men through out the mid west.

All though he is sightless, Mr. York goes out of his way to avoid doing business on the basis of sympathy. "If I can't give value received," says Mr. York, "I'll discontinue my business. Other Insurance men work for a livin and that's what I'm doing. I want no concessions because of my disability.

In addition to selling policies, Mr. York is a consultant and adviser in matters pertaining to Insurance. He is frequently called upon to program Insurance for business establishments, and has gained an excellent reputation in this field.

For the past two years, Mr. York has had a Seeing Eye dog. She is his constant companion and guide. The dog's name is "Beauty". She is a German Shepard and Mr. York obtained her from Seeing Eye Inc. at Morristown, N. J. No doubt many south side residents see Mr. York and Beauty as they go, about their business every day.

While Mr. York's time is quite limited, he does take a day off occasionally to play Golf. He accomplishes this with the help of his wife who is associated with him and his dog. He hopes to compete in the National Golf Tournament for the Sightless next year.

Mr. York is a member of a number of business and social clubs in Columbus and his son, Floyd, is a student at Ohio State University.

"HOT DOG" RELISH

Green and red peppers, abundant now, provide the spice for relishes that homemakers are preparing now.

By BETTY NEWTON

There are so many family favorites among the relishes that you will have no trouble in using up the end-of-summer vegetables. A "hot dog" relish is a "must" in every household.

"Hot Dog" Relish

4 lbs. green tomatoes, minced
½ C. minced green peppers
5 Tbsp. minced onion
1 C. sugar
¼ C. mustard seed
¼ Tbsp. white pepper
⅝ Tbsp. black pepper
⅛ Tbsp. whole cloves
1 C. hot vinegar

Corn Relish

1½ doz. ears corn
1 small cabbage
1 bunch celery
4 onions
2 green peppers
2 qts. vinegar
2 C. sugar
1 C. flour
½ tsp. mustard
½ C. salt
¼ tsp. cayenne pepper
½ tsp. turmeric

Cut corn from cob. Force cabbage through a meat chopper. Separate celery stalks, remove leaves, and chop. Peel onions and cut in thin slices. Wipe peppers and chop. Put vegetables in preserving kettle and pour over ⅓ of the vinegar. Mix sugar, flour, salt, mustard, cayenne, and turmeric and add remaining vinegar. Combine mixtures, bring to boiling point, and let simmer 40 minutes. Fill glass jars and seal.

Economic Highlights

What do the masses of the Russian people—the 200,000,000 individuals who make up Stalin's enormous reservoir of manpower—think of the policies of the Kremlin? Are they as bitterly opposed to the West and all its works as the controlled Soviet press and radio indicate? Do they believe that communism is the hope of the world and that capitalism must be destroyed by one means or another?

These and kindred questions have long occupied the minds of those concerned with the U.S.-U.S.S.R. problem. The difficulties that lie in the way of answering them conclusively are obvious—few Americans have had extensive touch with rank-and-file Russians, and the Kremlin has made it steadily more difficult for the Americans who live in Russia to know the people. One of the most interesting of the answers recently appeared in the Saturday Evening Post, in the form of an article called "In Defense of the Russian People." It was written by Alexander Barmine, who was once a Soviet general and diplomat, but came to this country in disillusionment before the war. During the war, he entered our army as a private and later served with the OSS.

Mr. Barmine's title pretty well explains his thesis. He believes that we make a terrible mistake when we consider the Russian masses and the Russian leaders to be tarred with the same brush. This attitude, he says, "rejects the Russian people as potential allies of the democratic world in its crucial struggle with the Soviet totalitarian empire." These people, he goes on, "are not the authors, but the principal victims, of the Kremlin's irimes."

If Mr. Barmine is correct, the Russian masses have been ruthlessly and efficiently enslaved by their masters. Stalin, according to him, has 14,000,000 of his countrymen in concentration camps. He has a secret police force of 2,000,000 members, with almost unlimited power to imprison and execute, who keep the nation in line. So, he says, "when we judge the conduct of the individual Russian, we must keep in mind the shadow of the secret police behind him."

It is certainly true, as Mr. Barmine points out, that the Russian people have for centuries been engaged in bloody struggles for human rights. The final overthrow of the monarchy was followed by a short-lived democratic state which the organized Bolsheviks in turn destroyed. They then established themselves through a planned reign of terror in which millions died, were incarcerated, or condemned to forced labor.

One of Mr. Barmine's 'most startling statements is that the Allies, during the last war, actually helped to keep the Russian people in chains. His story is that, as the war approached its end, desertions from the Russian army were reaching disastrous proportions from the Kremlin's viewpoint, and that millions of Soviet citizens, prisoners of war and others, were refusing to go home. At Yalta, he says, Stalin successfully persuaded Roosevelt and Churchill to guarantee the return of every Soviet citizen in Europe who had left the U.S.S.R. after 1927 for any reason. This agreement was, apparently kept to the letter. Mr. Barmine thinks that most of those returned were executed and their families sent to concentration camps. He says that many killed themselves rather than face repatriation. He terms the agreement "a most gigantic violation of the sacred principles of political asylum."

What his thesis adds up to, then, is that "the Kremlin regime is a giant with feet of clay. All its arrogance and hysterical name-calling are the result of fear and insecurity." The Russian people, in his view, are held in bitter and unwilling subjugation by the small proportion of the population which constitutes the Communist party, and by the infinitely small percentage which is trusted with real authority by the Politburo. That leads him to his main point, which is: "Current American policy is on the wrong track as long as it refuses to draw a clear line between the totalitarian regime and the Russian people. If this policy of arousing indiscriminate anti-Russian feeling persists, Stalin may well succeed in selling this war to the Russian people as a war of self defense. . . . We can have hundreds of millions of people on the totalitarian side of the Iron Curtain as our allies if we do not take from them the hope of liberation."

The viewpoint expressed by Mr. Barmine is held by many others—even as it is considered wrong and wishful by others still. In any event, it seems certain that the brutalities of the Kremlin, both within its established borders, must have generated enormous hatreds. This would in part account for Russia's growing isolationism—and for the Kremlin's determination that the Russian people shall not be allowed any contact with or knowledge of the "corrupt" democracies. In the long run, the spirit of internal revolt may be a trump card in the grim game that is now in progress between the West and the East.

Political note. Some GOP leaders are more concerned with contests for the Senate than with the presidential race. The reason is that the Democrats need to gain only four seats to control the Senate, and they have some excellent candidates in the running in states where the vote may be extremely close.

News In The World Of Religion

"By the faith we share we are enabled to see in the terrifying interrelatedness of the world's peoples, God's purpose for us," says Bishop Angus Dun of Washington, D. C. "He has made us interdependent, and if we do not accept that willingly as our calling we shall be compelled to accept it unwillingly as our fate. We cannot stand apart as an island of privilege; nor can we stand apart in moral superiority, mistaking the blessings of God's mysterious Providence as the matter of self-achieved virtue."

"The church and the church school are ready to cooperate in every way possible, but unless parents are eager and willing to do their part then much of what the church is attempting (in religious education) will be futile and in vain," the Rev. Archie Buchanan, rector of Grace Episcopal Church, Whitestone, L. I., has written the parents of his church school pupils. "Teachers can be taught to do their task and to do it well. But they cannot do the parents' task. The intimate comradeship between parents and their children gives them a vastly better leverage on the unfolding minds and growing characters of their children than any teacher outside the family can hope to attain. A close cooperation with the church and Sunday School on the part of parents is both possible and imperative. Probably most parents do not know the names of their children's church school teachers, yet they have delivered over to them, with scarcely a passing thought, the most delicate and strategic task in their children's entire education."

Under the auspices of the Committee on Cooperation in Latin America, a number of North American mission boards organized the "United Andean Mission Farm," among the Indians near Pujalke, Ecuador in 1946. It is a center for agricultural improvement, education, health, home betterment, and Christian character training. Oliver Mahee, a Canadian agriculturist is in charge. Irrigation and testing cereal grain and fodder varieties has been the chief activity to date. Comments Dr. Stanley Haycroft, head of the American committee: "The Indian of the High Andes was the original soil conservationist in the Western Hemisphere. Later, deprived of his land, his interest in terracing and soil conservation declined, but the 'staircases' (terraces) of the Andes still stand as a monument of the thorough manner in which the Indians worked before this country was invaded nearly four hundred years ago. The tragic plight of the Ecuadorian Indian appeals to the heart of all who visit this region, and the progress of all efforts toward improving their agriculture and daily life will be followed with interest. Rev. Paul Streich is in charge of religious education and public health services and a comprehensive program of Christian rural development is being worked out."

Dr. John H. Reisner, head of Agricultural Missions, Inc., and former dean of the college of Agriculture and Forestry of the University of Nanking, China, believes that the future well-being of America and of any Oriental people will be determined in the country rather than in the city; and that if Christianity is "rooted on the land" it will live and grow. "The rural church can determine what Christianity will be in any country," says Dr. Reisner. "That is why we must give attention to the condition of the rural church and the condition of the rural people. That means that we must be concerned on all the problems of rural economy, problems of home of children, of sanitation, of poverty, of economics, of diet, of recreation, and especially the problem of the enriching of the spirit of man. The program for the rural community must not be one of social service must not be giving the people something, but it must be a program of rehabilitation and it must be a religious program. It is quite as necessary to provide rural people ideals to live by as it is to provide the material things they live with. The religious significance of agriculture must never be forgotten. The primary fact is that agriculture depends on the creative processes of God."

Books in the dialects of the Belgian Congo for the principal native tribes, and books in French on religious and educational topics for the better-educated groups are a prime need of the Christian missionary forces there, according to the Rev. Ray L. Smalley, Methodist missionary at Springer Institute, Mulungwishi, Congo Belge.

RALLY DAY will be observed at the South Church of Christ, Woodrow and Bruck, at nine o'clock next Sunday morning. Pictures will be taken of the church school classes.

At the close of the ten o'clock worship service there will be a covered dish dinner. Each family will bring one covered dish and a number of sandwiches. All the members of Spanish and Hungarian congregation are invited.

Central Community Church Homecoming

The Central Community Church will hold its annual Homecoming on Tuesday, September 28th at 8 o'clock in the evening.

An entertaining program has been arranged with the Rev. Robert W. O'Dell, minister of the Nelson Memorial Presbyterian Church as the speaker. The program will also feature soloists, Glimpses into the Past of the Church, and refreshments. The Rev. Rudy Thomas will act as Master of Ceremonies for the evening.

Mrs. Max Van Cleve is the General Chairman of the committee in charge of the Homecoming and she is being assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Allen Heintz, Mrs. Robert Neff, Mrs. Fred Shumacher, Mrs. Paul Benedict, Mrs. Francis Winner, Mrs. Mildred Raduege, Miss Clara Adkins and Mrs. Robert Wray.

The various organizations of the church are furnishing and serving the refreshments.

Evangelists To Appear Again

Rev. and Mrs. C. C. Rinebarger of St. Louis, Mo. are coming the second year as guest evangelists at the Parsons Avenue Church of the Nazarene. The special services will begin Tuesday evening, Sept. 28, at 7:30 and will continue each evening through Oct. 10. The Rinebargers have had many years experience both in the pastoral and evangelistic fields. Also for years Rev. Rinebarger was music director and soloist in large summer camp meetings across the land. A special feature of their services now is the singing led by Mr. Rinebarger. Mrs. Rinebarger is a gifted pianist as well of the old hymns and choruses as soloist. Friends will remember them from a year ago when they were at the Parsons Ave. Church in a successful revival meeting. Everyone is cordially invited to attend.

The famous Louis B. Mayer's daughter and son-in-law were in Washington when the President suggested a twenty-five thousand dollar ceiling salary 'for motion picture executives.' His daughter smiled and said, "I wish we were in Hollywood, so we could hear papa holler." The son-in-law said, Why be in Hollywood? Just open the window."

"French is not a 'frill,' but a door to a whole new world of books," says Mr. Smalley. "Books in the native dialect are very scarce. Many tribes have only the New Testament in their tongue. There is a great need to write and translate books into the inter-tribal language, Kishwahili. We need textbooks; and then, too, the teachers need manuals to go with them." A number of missionaries are preparing such texts.

Altar Society Meets Sept. 29th

St. Ladislaus Parish welcomed their pastor, Father Francis T. Riehl, back from his vacation with a very enjoyable reception held in the Parish Hall on Sunday evening, August 29. Father Riehl was given a nice gift by his parishoners and the evening was spent in a social way. Refreshments were served by the committee in charge headed by the officers of the various church organizations.

The new School year has opened with a large increase in school enrollment. There is also a daily Kindergarten class held in St. Stephen's Community House, and St. Ladislaus' new school bus is very much in evidence in the So. Side district.

The regular monthly meeting of St. Ladislaus Altar-Rosary Society will be held Wednesday, Sept. 29 at 7:30 p.m. with Rosary and Benediction in church opening the meeting.

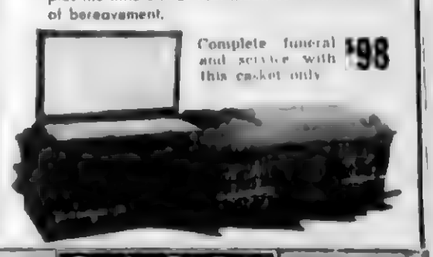
SCHOOL DAYS

Send your children back to school full of pep, energy and good spirits. Well planned meals, long hours of sleep and outdoor recreation, says the Columbus Milk Council, are the tools with which to build good health and will pay dividends to young scholars.



The child who goes to school each morning after a sound sleep and an unhurried breakfast of fruit, cereal or egg, toast and milk is alert and keen, he enjoys school and learns easily. A tired child who over-slept and ate little or no breakfast is too tired to give full attention to his school work. Teachers say, "Success at school is very difficult without good health", for they know a child who does not feel well is restless, and lacks interest, then when illness leads to absences, keeping up with the class places another burden on him.

You, as parents, want the best for your children,—health, happiness, education and success. School years are important growing and learning years when health or illness, achievement or failure, popularity or unhappiness, may set life long patterns. If your child has the pep, energy, and good spirits that come from good health, he is endowed with assets that will always prove valuable to him.

Six Day Deer Season

There will be a six day open season on deer in 12 northeastern Ohio counties December 13 through the 18th.

The season and regulations for 1948 were set tentatively, subject to final approval at the October meeting of the Ohio Conservation and Natural Resources Commission.

Actually the six day season this year will represent double the number of hunting days of last year for gunners since the first two days in 1947 were reserved for bow and arrow hunters and three days for gunners. Because of the small number of deer taken by the archers the Commission agreed to open the entire 1948 season to both archers and gunners.

The authorized weapons will be shotguns using rifled slug or "pumpkin-ball" load and archers using barbless arrows and bows of not less than 40-pound pull. Hunting hours will be 8 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Deer hunters will be required to secure, in addition to the regular Ohio hunting license, a state permit costing $5.00. Hunters will also need written permission of the landowners. Bag limit for the season per hunter will be one deer of either sex.

In addition to a longer season this year the commission added four counties, Mahoning, Stark, Summit and Harrison, to the eight which were open last year, which included Lake, Ocauga, Ashtabula, Trumbull, Portage, Columbiana, Jefferson and Carrol.

The 1947 deer season was termed a success by Division of Conservation officials from the hunter's viewpoint but failed to reduce the concentrated population to any great extent; therefore it is expected that hunters this year will have the finest of deer hunting.

Amerigo Squirrel Have Hunt

A group of the Amerigo Jr's. met Thursday at Y Park for a squirrel hunt.

The group went from there to near Granville where the hunt was held.

The best they could do was to get a well-marked gray fox. It will be mounted and presented to the Y Park.

A couple of chips off the old block were in the mountains hunting. The one, carrying the gun, saw some grouse and carefully took aim.

Fall Hunting Regulations Adopted

The Ohio Conservation and Natural Resources Commission, meeting at Put-in-Bay last week, officially adopted the 1948 small game hunting season and regulations naming November 15 to 25 as the open season on pheasant and November 15 to December 18 for rabbit, as set tentatively by the commission last month. All dates are inclusive.

The daily hunting hours for both rabbits and pheasants will be the same as last year, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. including the opening day.

Daily bag and possession limits are unchanged from last year. For pheasant the bag limit per day will be 2 cock birds and possession limit 2. Four rabbits may be taken in one day with a possession limit of 4.

The Ohio hunting license now on sale throughout the state will cost the same $1.00 plus a writing fee of 25 cents. License fees are set by the Legislature.

TASTY SCHOOL LUNCH

A crunchy sandwich filling, jellied salad, pudding, milk and grapes for a back-to-school lunch.

By BETTY NEWTON

Pack a lunch to-be-carried as carefully as you would one to be eaten at home. Youngsters enjoy variety in a lunch box. Paper cups, aluminum foil and brightly colored wax paper add new interest to each luncheon.

Carrot Peanut Sandwich Filling

½ C. shredded carrots
¼ C. chopped salted peanuts
2 Tbsp. mayonnaise

Combine all ingredients and chill until time to make the sandwiches. Makes 1 large sandwich.

Jellied Tomato Salad

1 pkg. lemon gelatin
1 C. boiling tomatoes
1 C. cold tomatoes
1 tsp. grated onion
½ C. sliced stuffed olives
½ C. diced celery
½ tsp. salt

Dissolve gelatin in boiling tomatoes. Add cold tomatoes and set aside to chill. When jelly-like, fold in vegetables and salt. Turn into a glass cup or jelly glass which may be carried in the lunch. Chill until packing time. Makes 4 to 6 large salads.

Date Crunch Filling

Put ½ C. pitted dates and ¼ C. walnuts through food chopper twice, using fine blade. Add ¼ tsp. salt, and 2 Tbsp. cream. Use to fill 10 full size sandwiches.

IN WHAT competition does the competitor or contestant take the roughest punishment? Is it football or boxing? Steeplechase riding or water polo? Long-distance running, such as the 5,000 meters, the 10,000 meters or the marathon? Rowing, baseball, tennis or basketball?

We put this discussion up to Tommy Armour, the able golfing Scot who, in his day and time, won the U.S. Open, the British Open, the P.G.A. and more minor tournaments than you can mention.

"I get what form of punishment do you mean?" Armour asked. "Physical punishment, mental punishment or nerve punishment? They are all entirely different."

What form of punishment is the hardest to handle," I asked.

"Physical punishment, such as you get in football or boxing, is the softest punishment," Armour said. "The toughest to handle is mental or nerve. Ever have a live nerve in a tooth extracted?"

"I think I can see just what you are leading up to," I said. "I think it is a game called golf."

"For a change you are correct," was the lisp-tinged Scot's answer. "It is golf. Ask Bobby Cruickshank, who before he came over here, was for best lightweight fighter in the British Isles, the best soccer player and one of the best golfers. Not overlooking four years in the Black Watch from 1914 to 1918."

Bobby Has a Reputation

No one can pay a tribute to Cruickshank now pro at the Rockmond Country club that we don't double and redouble, no matter what the game.

"A knockout punch doesn't hurt," Armour said. "You can take a hammering now and then that won't help you, but it is only physical. Soon over. Football is the same. Few football players even feel pain when in play. They don't know they are hurt until later. I'll bet most of them suffer more from nerves—and I don't mean nerve—than from getting hurt physically.

"But football isn't as tough as golf and I think Joe Louis will tell you the same about the fight game. I'll bet Louis has suffered more in a number of golf matches than he ever suffered in the ring. Why? Nerves.

I don't think Louis ever suffered anything from nerves in a fight in his life. But I can promise you that he's taken quite a beating in nervous golf. Louis doesn't mind a pretty fair bet. And he's quite a good golfer. But some of these boys in golf are hard to take."

"The punishment you take in golf on an off day or through a tournament is the worst you get in any game. Did you ever get 'the yips?' The 'yips' are nerves that blow up in your wrists when you are playing chip shots, or putting. The nerves simply explode and you can do nothing about it. You can ask Walter Hagen or Bobby Jones, two great putters.

"I recall a $10,000 tournament I played in. I had a good lead through the first three rounds. Then I got the 'yips.' I three-putted eight greens. I missed seven putts from two to three feet out. I figured each one of these putts cost me $390.

"I would rather have been knocked down six times by Dempsey or Louis. I would rather have been run over by Bronko Nagurski. I took more punishment in the last round that any fighter ever took in a ring.

Nerves Prevent Sleep

"Bobby Jones won 13 national titles. But I'd like to bet no one ever took more nerve punishment. It took him seven years to win his first championship. He couldn't sleep at night or keep food on his stomach on numerous occasions. Jock Hutchison couldn't eat or sleep through an open. Neither could I. I don't think Hagen ever bothered too much about anything."

I recall one occasion in an amateur golf championship [illegible] of the golfers was an all-star college tackle—around 220 pounds. He was a good golfer and he lasted through Wednesday. But he collapsed on Thursday and just missed the hospital. His nervous system blew up. He was in a bad way. He never played in another tournament.

The roughest part of golf is that every mistake you make is your own. No opponent has anything directly to do with it. He can't hit one by you, block you, tackle you or knock you out. He can't do anything to you. You inflict your own punishment.

Golf was first called "an 'umblin' game" by George Low over 30 years ago. It is also an infuriating game at times. When Jerry Travers, a great competitor, won his U.S. Open at Baltusrol in 1915, he was a nervous wreck for over two weeks afterwards. And Travers had just about as fine a set of nerves as I've ever seen.

Philharmonic Ass'n. To Present "Water Follies"

One of the highlights of the famed Water Follies of 1948, aquacade and stage musical revue which will make its premiere appearance in Columbus at the Fair Grounds Coliseum on October 6, will be the world famous Water Ballet, which makes several appearances during the 3½ hour show. The Water Follies will be held five nights, starting October 6, and continuing through October 10, with special matinees on Saturday and Sunday, October 9 and 10, according to the Columbus Philharmonic Association, sponsors of the event.

Included in these spectacular appearances of the Water Ballet will be one to be presented in total darkness, the aquabelles wearing special chemically treated bathing suits, which when the lights are dimmed, light up with a radium, phosphorescent effect.

However, the Water Ballet is only part of the Water Follies, as several lavish stage production numbers with stage ballet routines are also featured. Miss Cecil Lewin, considered one of the nation's novelist and most talented ballerinas presents an unusual ballet routine with a large ballet chorus as a background.

Containing a company of 70 outstanding water and stage performers, the Water Follies is presented in the world's largest portable pools and stage, taking up a space of 155 feet in length and 35 feet in width. The pools contain 80,000 gallons of water.

The entire Water Follies production is staged and produced by Noel Sherman, noted Broadway and Hollywood producer of spectacular musicals. The large orchestra will be conducted by Larry Flint, Water Follies musical director, formerly one of RKO's top musical directors.

Tickets for the Water Follies of 1948, being sponsored by the Columbus Philharmonic Association, will be on sale at Heaton's Music Store, with sales starting Friday, September 24. Mail orders are now being accepted.

RUSSELL THEATRE

The Fuller Brush Man running Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday, is tailored to fit the antics of Red Skelton. Mr. Skelton continues to show off in his best Harold Lloyd-ish Manner.

This is family fun for folks from 6 to 60. The accompanying picture is "God's Country" filmed in color with George Brent & Beverly Roberts. News & Cartoon completes the bill.

VICTOR THEATER

Two beautiful confidence girls, Veronica Lake and Joan Caulfield on the lam after a $25,000 shakedown are reformed by tombstone-carver Barry Fitzgerald to make a laugh-riot of the year. For an evening of complete relaxation, see The Sainted Sisters and the accompaning thriller The High Wall with Robert Taylor and Audrey Totter showing Sunday only.

Walt Disney's "Melody Time" At Southland

Pecos Bill, rip-snorting range rider of American legendry, is just one of the fascinating characters who appear in "Melody Time," Walt Disney's new Technicolor Cartoon Feature, opening Sunday at the Southland Theatre. Seven sequences of Americana are illustrated in cartoon form in the new Disney hit. Cowboy Star Roy Rogers interprets the saga of Pecos Bill, and singer Dennis Day narrates the story of Johnny Appleseed. The Andrews Sisters, organist Ethel Smith, Fred Waring and His Pennsylvanians, and The Dinning Sisters are just a few of the radio and screen stars who contribute their talent to his wonderful musical fantasy. "Melody Time" will be shown thru Tuesday at the Southland with "Eyes of Texas," which also stars Roy Rogers, as second big feature.

Columbia Theater

The Columbia Theater presents Sunday, Monday and Tuesday—"The Street with No Name" starring Mark Stevens and Lloyd Nolan. This is a true story taken from the files of the F.B.I. Where possible, actual scenes and agents are used in the parts they portrayed. This factual film brings pulse-beating excitement and terrific suspense, it rivals "The House on 92nd Street" as an outstanding thriller. Also playing is "Fighting Back," featuring Gene Rogers.

Concert Stage, Ballet, Theatre, Opera have furnished contributions which comprise the six stellar attractions to be presented at Memorial Hall. As sponsors of fine musical programs for the past eighteen years, we are making an outstanding contribution to the cultural growth of Columbus.

Audiences will thrill again to their crystal clear flute-like voices. Their repertoire of costume operas, sacred music and folk songs is rendered with divine freshness. A concert by these boys is a sublime experience.

Dec. 2, brings Poldi Mildner, acclaimed by leading critics on three continents as one of the world's greatest woman pianists.

Trudi Schoop and Her Comic Ballet appear on Jan. 19, in a new repertory of animated cartoons in the flesh with new decor and music and chuckles in every scene.

Feb. 24, Rossini's popular opera, "The Barber of Seville," in English with an all star cast, chorus and orchestra under the direction of Paul Breisach, leading conductor of the Metropolitan Opera, by the Charles Wagner Opera of New York.

The Series closes March 17, with the Four Piano Ensemble, a musical novelty. Individually superb artists, they are expertly orchestrated into a perfect musical blend in special arrangemens of varied music.

Season tickets now on sale at Heaton's Music Store, 50 N. High St.

Meet Public Spirited Walter Furniss

Walter Furniss

Several years ago, if one South side resident had told another South side resident that that Furniss kid would be on the air some day and they'd all be listening to him, the second neighbor would probably have raised an eyebrow and let the subject drop right there! But the first neighbor would have been right . . . because "that Furniss kid" is not only on the air . . . he's BEEN on it over WCOL, WCOL-FM for more than nine years. Before that, he was being heard from WLW as a vocalist and a fine one too. A native of Columbus, Walter Furniss is more than just a voice to whom Columbus and Central Ohio radio dialers listen 7 days a week. He is a good friend and neighbor to many deserving people to whom the "breaks" haven't been first class. Of course, Walter will be the last one to tell you this . . . in fact you have to dig for news of his many charitable activities . . . but the best place to find out about them is from the people concerned. Never in the history of show-business will you find a more enthusiastic and sincere group of press agents . . . all in favor of the same man!

Radio is not new to Walter . . . and over a period of twenty years he's done just about everything around a radio station, except sweep out! (Come to think of it, maybe he's done that too!) A trained singing voice, unusual talent as an actor, writer and commentator, have given Walter a wide range of experience in the world's greatest form of show business. His knowledge of the behind-the-scenes headaches makes him easy to work with and sympathetic toward the problems of the announcing staff and engineering department.

If there is a secret to Walter's success as a newsman, that secret lies in the fact that he has never been too busy to listen to the other guy's story . . . to express interest in the problems of other people . . . and, in short, he has never resigned from the human race! His nightly "Cruise For News" up and down the main stem of the old home town, is evidence enough that he knows and likes people and knows what the listening public wants to hear in the way of news. The format of his nightly broadcast is simple, direct and clean . . . uncluttered by skipping about over the country verbally . . . and devoid of sensationalism. His commentaries are in good taste and are prepared and delivered with the interest of the public uppermost in his mind.

In his spare time . . . and we can't believe there is such a thing . . . Walter likes to do a bit of fishing. He says he doesn't "catch 'em so big" . . . but then the trip usually makes a good story! He has another hobby and that is marketing. It hasn't been determined yet just where the attraction lies in this . . . whether it's the food or the visits with the boys on commission row or just watching the crowds. But whatever it is, you may be sure Walter could describe those market trips so vividly you'd feel you'd just shaken hands with half the crowd and had personally inspected the produce!

Just to keep the records straight, we'd like to let you know (those of you who are new to Columbus) just when you can hear the "Cruise For News." As we told you, Walter's job is one of those seven-days-a-week affairs and Monday, Tuesday and Saturday you may hear him at 10:30 p.m. Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, the time is 11:15 p.m. The two broadcasts on Sunday are aired at 12:30 p.m. and 10:45 p.m. A busy man? Definitely, but with such a full schedule he still manages to find time for worthwhile projects that effect his community and city as a whole. Church and civic organizations receive his unselfish support, time and energy and he feels that the success of such ventures amply repays him for anything he may do.

Walter and Mrs. Furniss reside at 410 Wyandot Avenue . . . when Walter has time to do more than just hang his hat there! The WCOL staff is under the impression sometimes, that Walter resides in the newsroom but such is not the case. You never know where you are going to meet this smartly dressed gentleman and it never ceases to be a bit baffling to his co-workers, as to how he finds the time to be so many places and doing so many things at one time. But we still think we know the answer to this happy, successful career . . . he respects humanity, recognizing the great ones; wanting to assist the weak ones; having at heart always, not self-interest, but the interest of his community.

Editor's Note: Walter Furniss, a graduate of South High was born on the South Side and lived here for many years.

We of the Booster Staff know him for the many favors he has granted this community. Principal favors he has granted us are his broadcasting for the Honor Roll in Schiller Park, his broadcast help in agitating us to secure two dogs for South Side blind men and his most recent help for the South High Boosters Club for the new electric score board to be dedicated Friday.

We of the Booster Staff say that Walter is a great guy, we hope some day to serve him as he has served the South Side and the Booster.

IDEAL THEATER

Reasoner Bros. Upholstering Opens On South Side

The Reasoner Brothers Upholstering Co. which opened recently at it's new location 1394 South 22nd Street has an interesting history behind it.

Ellsworth, Joe and Tom Reasoner, the brothers and partners in the firm, told us they opened their first shop in a garage on Frebis Ave. Through hard work and honest service their little business thrived until they had to hunt for larger quarters. They moved to a High Street location, where they were doing very well until fate walked in and destroyed their place by fire. Now they have opened their new upholstering shop in a modern brick building on the South Side. The Brothers have lived South all their lives, they attended South High School and on completion of High School each boy went into the upholstering busines. Tom told us they learned the business from their father who also made upholstering his life's work. All three of the brothers are veterans of World War II.

They specialize in Upholstering, furniture restyling and refinishing, custom made furniture, antiques, restoring. They carry an excellent selection of lovely materials, all equipment is completely modern, to assure the most satisfactory work.

Be Prepared for Guests with Home-Canned Chicken

Serve a Delicious "Company Meal" in Short Order

With home-canned chicken in reserve, a homemaker who suddenly becomes hostess can conjure up a delicious meal in no time. Who doesn't relish a meal centered about barbecued chicken, chicken a la king, chicken pot pie, chicken gumbo and rice and dozens of other "company" dishes made from chicken? With your own canned chicken you are ready to make them!

One or two-year-old chickens are better than younger ones for canning. Confine 12 to 24 hours before killing, giving water but no feed. Kill six to twelve hours before canning. Avoid bruising. Bleed thoroughly. Pluck, singe, and wash with mild soap. Rinse well.

Cut skin between legs and body; then bend legs until hip joints snap. Slip knife under ends of shoulder blades and cut up to wings. Pull back and breast apart. Remove entrails. Rinse, dry, and chill the fowl. Do not salt. Feet may be used in making broth. Do not can liver and gizzard with other parts of fowl.

To cold pack chicken, separate raw fowl at joints and pack into hot Ball Jars. Add one teaspoon salt to each quart. Add no liquid. Process 100 minutes at 10 pounds pressure.

The hot pack method requires that the fowl be boiled, steamed or baked until from one-third to one-half done. Separate at joints and pack hot into hot Ball Jars. Cover with boiling broth. Salt to taste and process 90 minutes at 10 pounds pressure.

Mother of Presidents

RUTHERFORD B. HAYES

Third Ohioan Elected President

(4)

Set in the trees, gardens and spacious lawns of beautiful 20-acre Spiegel Grove near Fremont, Ohio is the Hayes Memorial Library and Museum, visited annually by tens of thousands of people.

In memory of Rutherford B Hayes, 19th President of the United States, it features the massive, worn desk used by all presidents from Abraham Lincoln to Theodore Roosevelt.

On that desk were signed presidential documents which brought progress and prosperity to the lives of millions of people in this nation. An historic and interesting collection of books, paintings, furniture and clothing, all belonging to the former president and now in the very rooms in which he passed his life both before and after he served as president, is on display.

Fremont itself is in the center of a most interesting part of the state. "Old Betsey," a six-pound brass cannon, stands on the site of Fort Stephenson where 160 riflemen and "Old Betsey" successfully fought 1300 British and Indians in 1813.

COURTESY-THE STANDARD OIL CO. (OHIO)

On Route 6 out of Fremont is the "bottomless" Blue Hole of Castalia. Never changing its temperature, never varying its flow in drought or rainy season, the Blue Hole is one of the world's wonders.

Rutherford B. Hayes was born in Delaware, Ohio, October 4, 1822 and died in Fremont, January 17, 1893. He was graduated from Kenyon College at Gambier, Ohio; served as City Solicitor of Cincinnati; and as a Major General in the Civil War.

In 1867 he was elected Governor of Ohio and served three terms.

In 1876 he was elected president by the margin of one vote of a special Electoral Commission who decided that the votes in Louisiana, South Carolina and Florida had been cast in his favor.

Miss Peggy Baas Wed Recently

Before an altar of white gladioli, palms and candelabra, Miss Peggy Ann Baas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob C. Baas, Sr., 1043 E. Whittier St., became the bride of Sgt. James E. Hykes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Hykes, of Biglerville, Pa.

Dr. Samuel R. Dunham officiated at the August 7 ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white marquisette fashioned with a fitted basque bodice. The sweetheart neckline was edged with marquisette ruffled pleating, the same pleating extending down the skirt and edging the cathedral train. Her finger-tip veil of imported silk illusion fell from a cap of interwoven marquisette set with tiny seed pearls. The bride carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and baby carnations centered with an orchid.

Maid of honor, Miss Phyllias Church, wore a gown of pale yellow taffeta styled with a deep yoke and fitted bodice. The bouffant skirt extended over a hoop and was caught at the bottom with pale yellow rosebuds to reveal rows of venetian lace ruffles. She carried a cascade bouquet of yellow mums and carnations.

Jacob C. Baas, Sr., brother of the bride, was best man.

The bride is a graduate of So. High School and is employed by the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co.

Sgt. Hykes was graduated from Biglerville High School at Biglerville, Pa., and is now serving with the United States Marine Corps at Camp Lejune, N. C.

Barrett Teacher Former Minnesotan

Singing over station KYSM, organizing students to fight prairie fires and vocalising in the St. Olaf Choir are but a few of the interesting experiences Mrs. Earl Welde, 35½ Dana Ave., has memories as she meets her classes in vocal music in Barrett Junior High School this semester.

This is Mrs. Welde's 2nd year in Columbus. Last year she was associated with Columbus West. Previous to coming to Columbus she taught 2 years in the Castalin schools. Her teaching experiences also includes 2 years in Minnesota schools where she taught in Roseau, 12 miles from the Canadian border. Fishing in the Lake of the Woods is a happy memory for the new music instructor. Tramping in the Minnesota schools meant walking through a deep snow in 40 degrees below zero temperatures.

During Mrs. Welde's college days at North Field, Minnesota, she sang with the famous St. Olaf Choir. She also sang in the program "Midday Merry-Go-Round" with the quartet accompaniment to her mezzo sophrano voice over station KYSM in Mankato, Minnesota.

Mr. Welde, her husband, a member of the Army Air Corp, spent 18 months in Italy. He is now a student at Ohio State University.

Thundering Demand

Writing in the American Magazine, the president of one of the nation's oil companies briefly describes the size of the job the people have given the oil industry—and of the industry's success in doing it.

We are burning 50 per cent more oil than before the war. That is because there are 3,700,000 more automobiles, 110 per cent more buses and 46 per cent more trucks. About 1,500,000 more homes have oil heat. Railroads are using more diesel powered locomotives. And farmers have about doubled their use of tractors and other motorized equipment.

"To cope with this thundering demand," he says, "the petroleum industry is rushing to completion an expansion program that will cost at least four billion dollars in two years alone." And the first effects of that program are being felt now. Current oil production is 10 per cent ahead of last year, and it is getting higher week by week. New pipe lines are being laid, and new tankeers are on the way. In every phase of operation, the industry is working on a full speed ahead basis.

As a result, he forecasts that oil supplies will be adequate this winter. But that prediction is necessarily qualified by one condition --that there be no sudden emergency, such as a war, a disaster, or a long crippling strike. Any of these would change the oil outlook drastically and for the worse. If the industry can keep on working normally, the oil we need will flow to every part of the country.

Mound Mayor Names Cabinet

Featured on the program at an assembly held at Mound Junior High School Friday, was the announcement of the Student Government Cabinet by William Hairston, Mayor of the Mound Junior High School City Government. The recently selected cabinet officials are Vice-Mayor, Delores Wright; Secretary, Joan Farmer, Clerk, Frank Shipley; Chief Traffic Officer, Laverne Saunders; Director of School Beautiful, Clay Gillispie; Director of Art, Franz Neutzie; Director of Sales Tax Stamps, Robert Speakman; Directors of Recreation, James French and Rosella Calvert; and Director of Publications, Norma Harris.

What About Profits?

A candidate for United States Senate recently made a campaign speech at a labor picnic. In it, he told his audience of 5,000 people that "profits are responsible for the high cost of living."

It is evident that a great many into public office with vote-getting politicians will attempt to ride appeals such as this. They are the kind of appeals which will attract a following among those who have not had an opportunity to learn the facts. And, for that reason, it is all important that the truth about profits and their influence on prices be given the widest possible distribution.

Industry and business are making profits. They must if they are to keep going. It is profit which pays investors for the use of their money, and which permits the spending of billions for more and better plants and factories and stores which make better jobs. The profit system has been the cause of this country's unequalled standard of living.

The profit earned varies with enterprises. On the cost of most goods, manufacturers retain, after they have paid their bills, six or seven cents on each dollar received. If they earned absolutely nothing the cost of commodities could be reduced very little.

The retailers who distribute the goods also make a profit, and this too varies in defferent fields. The food chains, for instance, usually keep, as profit, about two cents out of each dollar spent by their customers. Other kinds of stores may earn five cents or a little more. In any event, if the retailer earned exactly nothing for serving you, your living budget could be cut by only a penny or two on the dollar.

To argue that profit is the primary cause of high prices is rabble-rousing of the worst kind. Profit is one of the smallest items in industry's ledger—infinitely smaller, for instance, than wages. And without profit the American system of government could not exist.

South High Club Activities

By Mrs. Louise Taylor

The doors of South High School have been open to the young knowledge seekers for a month. In that period class work has progressed and activities are well under way.

The Future Teachers of America have met with their advisor, Miss Grist, and have made plans and elected their officers for the school year.

The Optic staff which is responsible for the publication of the school newspaper has been hard at work on the first issue which will make its appearence on October 8th.

This year, those students on the news staff will publish the school annual. The members of this staff are: Dave Bechtel, Jo Ann Black, Nancy Edgar, Henrietta Grinker-Chestora Hall, Rosalie Leiberman, Ann Padden, Phyllis Raynard, Doris Roe, Charlotte Rogers, Jean Smith, Don Stocklin, Jeanne Weaver, Rita Bergsman, Mary Campan, Evelyn Duckworth, Bob Early, Jack Karch, Audrey Mann, Janet Overmeyer, Carolyn Perry, Bill Ritter, Valentine Spohn, Forrest Wommeldorf, and Charles Young.

The Dramatics Department under the direction of John Sittig has chosen "Stage Door" as its fall play. The play was written by Edna Ferber and George S. Kaufman and will be presented November 18th and 19th in the South High School Auditorium.

Something new was added to the football season at the South Grandview game September 24th. The Student Council undertook another one of their many projects. Football programs were sold by Leanor Evans, Fritzie Mann, Martha Wetzel, Marilyn Albert, Eldora Ball, Jeanne Camuen, Marilyn Dobbins, Jeanne Thompson, Chestora Hall, Marilyn Reed, Bud Stickles, and Jack Karch, all of whom are members of the council. They were easily recognized, wearing blue beanie caps, blue bowties, and gray aprons with large blue S's. This project was reported to have been a success and will be continued at the remaining games.

And so as we close the doors of South High School we are well aware that school is once again in session.

Grandviews Bobcats continued their winning streak last Friday night at the expense of a hard fighting Bulldog eleven. The only score of the game came in the second quarter on a 30 yard pass from Quarterback Guglilmi to Buening who needed only to step across the goal line. This was the only score of the evening and the Bobcats living up to their namesake, fought off a heavier, and for a change, a fighting Bulldog. We can say that South, even tho they lost put up a better battle than we've seen them do in many game and except for one bad lapse of defense the score might well have been 0-0. The Bulldogs showed marked improvement over the week before when Arlington trounced them. If they can continue to show this fighting spirit, they'll give all their opponents in the coming games many a rough evening. We won't attempt to name any one player or players that stood out in Friday's game because we honestly know that every man on the South eleven played their hearts out and really wanted to win this one. We feel sure that the Bulldogs losing streak is on its way out this season. NUFF SAID.

The half time ceremonies were very impressive and we know that every one who was present and those who couldn't be there but listened to it being broadcast over station WELD wish to thank Rev. Kaifer, Honorable Joseph Jones, Supt. G. E. Roudebush, Cap Hoover and Judge Roney Ross for their fine cooperation in making it a program long to be remembered. To the Band under the superb direction of Randall Near, we can't begin to express our gratitude, they put on a fine show and we know that they put in many long hours of practice to do their part in making the evening a success.

South plays Central tomorrow night and this could be the end of the losing streak, so lets all you South Boosters be there and show win-lose or draw. Remember anythese boys that we are behind them one can be Booster when the team is winning, it takes a good one to be there when a team has had a rough time such as South has experienced in the past few years, Lets all pitch in and help BOOST THEM.

Sorry Example

The American people would do well to keep an eye on England's "free" health service which staggered into operation last July. It is the kind of thing that proposals such as the long-pending Wagner - Murray - Dingell bill would fasten on this country.

Instead of being "free," the plan will cost the English taxpayers some $600,000,000 a year in the beginning—a very large sum for a country of her population and economic position—and the cost will increase heavily in the future. Workers and employers will also kick in for a period of time. The benefits paid are determined by a mass of confusing regulations, and will run to only about $5.20 a week for the sick worker. Most important of all, there is a definite insufficiency of doctors to carry out all the provisions of the scheme.

The doctor's position is exceptionally interesting. Most of them are refusing to participate, on the grounds that professional standards make it impossible for them to become civil servants. They have asked the government to definitely guarantee that professional freedom will be protected. But that guarantee has not been given.

So it goes in the Socialist Utopia, where everybody is supposed to be protected against everything, and everybody certainly has less and less freedom of choice. Compulsory medical insurance is just the step which precedes socialized medicine — which, in turn, is one more of the steps leading to the all-powerful state. We can profit by Britain's sorry experiments.

OHIO RESOURCES

Vigorous, intelligent people are Ohio's greatest resource. The United States Census latest estimate, as of July 1, 1947, gives Ohio a population of 7,675,000, an increase of 767,000 or 11.1 per cent over 1940. Ohio's rate of increase is higher than that of the United States as a whole, which is 8.9 per cent.

A later estimate, by a utility company, gives Ohio 7,859,000 as of January 1, 1948. This estimate puts the number of families in the state at 2,220,000, an average of 3.54 persons per family.

Ohio people are skilled workers. In 1940, out of 2¾ million persons in the labor force, a quarter million were in agriculture. Manufacturing employed three times as many - 783,000. Nearly 200,000 were in transportation and utilities, 32,000 in mining, 100,000 in construction, and about 400,000 each in stores and offices.

Since 1940, with increase in Ohio's population, the number employed in agriculture has held its own and is now about 300,000. Farm income has increased. Ohio's farm production for 1947 was more than one billion, two hundred million dollars.

Employment in other kinds of work has increased Ohio now has about 1¼ million workers in manufacturing, an increase of nearly 60 per cent since 1940. Wages have increased much more. Total wage payments in manufacturing for the first quarter of 1947 were almost a billion dollars.

Ohio's 41,263 square miles of land area contain some of the richest and most valuable mineral deposits in the world. The state contains more than 22 million acres of farm land in more than 200,000 farms.

Nearly 4 million acres in Ohio are in our forest resources.

In mineral production, Ohio was 9th in 1946, with products valued at $244,000,000. Taking away the quickly exhaustible production of petroleum and natural gas and considering the other industrial minerals, Ohio ranked 5th with a value of $206,000,000.

Ohio's principal mineral products are. Coal, $401 000,000 in 1946; clay and Clay Products, $40,000,000; Natural Gas, $29,000,000; Limestone, $19,000,000; Cement, $13,-000,000; Lime, $13,000,000; Sand and Gravel, $11,000,000; Petroleum, $8,000,000; Salt, $4,000,000.

The rest of the $244,000,000 is such specialties as grindstones, whetstones, gypsum, peat and building sandstone; and in salt and limestone.

Mineral wealth close by Ohio, as well as inside, the state's borders, is a great industrial asset. The state is fortunate in having the excellent coals of Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Kentucky right at hand. Ohio is exactly in the center of the first five states in mineral production, excluding oil and gas. Water is Ohio's most important mineral resource. An average of .38 per cent of Ohio's rainfall a year makes Ohio well watered. About 80 per cent of Ohio's people enjoy city water.

Ohio is in the center of commerce of the United States. It has been described as the "waist of the hour glass" as practically all trade between east and west passes through it. This east-west trade is crossed by the south-north movement of coal from mines to lakes and the north-south movement of iron ore.

Lake Erie on the north and the Ohio River on the south are parts of the great waterways in the world.

Ohio has nearly 10,000 miles of railroad, conservatively worth a billion dollars.

Highways furnish Ohio with good automobile and bus transportation to every city and village. The Ohio highway inventory shows:

State highways: 18,490; County and township roads, 70,588; Total miles of roads: 89,078.

Research: The Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station at Wooster is a great source of information on farming methods. The Station operates 18 experimental farms in various parts of the state and 24 farms at the Ohio Welfare Institutions, so all types of farming are covered.

Industrial research is one of Ohio's greatest assets. Several years ago a survey showed that the "center of gravity" of membership in learned organizations was near Cincinnati. Government research in aviation in Ohio, Wright Field and Cleveland, leads the world. Ohio State University, University of Cincinnati, Antioch College and others of Ohio's 54 colleges and universities do industrial research. Battelle Institute in Columbus, with more than 1200 employees, is the largest endowed research organization in the world.

Ohio produces about ¼ of its requirements of natural gas, and receives the rest as far away as Texas. Natural gas supply may be interrupted in cold weather -- in that respect Ohio is in as good shape as any other industrial state.

Electric power is available in Ohio for home and industrial purposes. Recent increases in capacity in the generating stations along Lake Erie and the Ohio River will take care of the growing chemical industries making use of Ohio's resources of coal, limestone, dolomite, rock salt and brines.

The Question Of Constitutional Authority

A study of our Constitution covering many years I am convinced that Congress, under that Constitution, holds the power to govern this nation and the oath of office administered to each member of Congress makes this a mandatory duty.

There is no question that complete power to govern and direct all policies of government rests in the hands of Congress and because it is the duly delegated power it is likewise the duty of Congress to assume the direction of all policies, domestic or foreign.

The sole duty of the Chief Executive is to execute the will of Congress. When the Founding Fathers delegated to Congress the power to legislate, limited only by Constitutional reservation of powers to the States, respectively, and to the people, that delegation gave to Congress the power to direct ALL POLICIES OF GOVERNMENT. It likewise placed on Congress the duty of doing just that.

A subtle group has for the past several decades promoted the idea that ours is a government having three independent, co-equal and co-ordinate branches and that none of these shall intrude upon any or either of the other two. There is sinister purpose behind this teaching but there is not one word in the Constitution to sustain it. It has been accepted without proper study because it has been so often repeated.

When the Founding Fathers gave the power to legislate to Congress they then tried to make the power of Congress secure by delegating to it the power to impeach and remove from office anyone in either of the other branches who refused to do the will of Congress to obey its mandates.

When Harry Truman attempts to prevent Congress from obtaining information in regard to subversive agencies operating within the New Deal he should be impeached and removed from office. When members of the Supreme Court wilfully distort laws passed by Congress they should be impeached and removed.

Congress is accountable only to the people themselves and Congressmen who fail to properly represent the people should be defeated and in that way removed from office. Nothing would today bring into our governmental picture the glow of health Americanism like a few impeachments and removals.

The inter-pary, International Red New Deal is the most lawless, godless, band of buccaneers that ever cursed a great nation and they have usurped powers specifically denied to our Federal Union, wantonly trample that great instrument and their oath of office at the same time. It is based upon the code book "Philip Dru, Administrator, written by Edward Mandell House in 1911 and published in 1912 and is a criminal conspiracy to reduce Americans under a military dictatorship.

It was spawned by the very same group that financed the dictatorship of Mussolini, Hitler, Stalin and that offered Major General Smedley D. Butler three million dollars in 1933 to lead an army of ex-service men into Washington and set up a military dictatorship and other attempts have been made since.

The miser who before he sits down to count his money, gets drunk so he'll be sure to see double.

Economic Highlights

It's not a pleasant thing to write, but there are certain definite signs that indicate that this country is losing the "cold war" with the Soviet Union.

That point of view was expressed some time ago by Ray Cromley, writing in the Wall Street Journal. He based it on four primary considerations: First, it looks as if the Russians are playing tough and demanding heavy concessions in the four-power talks on the Berlin situation. Second, Russia ran the important Danube conference just about as she pleased, and protests from Western representatives received shirt shrift. Third, the Russians have been improving their position in the strategic Palestine area. Fourth, the United States is very much on the defensive in Berlin.

Since Mr. Cromley wrote, the French crisis has reached an alarming stage. The utter failure of any French statesman to form a government which can remain in power for any length of time is undermining France's position as one of the key Western powers. And this is precisely the sort of thing which the Russians are most effective in exploiting. They are past masters at cashing in on dissatisfaction and turmoil. The fact that the voting communists are very much in the minority in France is not necessarily important. They are well organized, trained and disciplined, and obviously hope that, eventually, they will be able to seize the reigns of government in France much as they did in Czechoslovakia.

To understand all this, one must understand the Russian mentality and Russian long-term policy. The whole basis of Soviet teaching from Lenin on has been that communism and capitalism cannot exist together indefinitely —that one or the other must triumph completely, by martial or other means. This fundamental idea was soft-pedaled during the war, but it certainly was never forgotten in Soviet upper councils. According to the best reports, it has been the theme of some internal dissension in the Kremlin, between officials who hold to it absolutely and a few moderates who think it may be susceptible to some modification. In any event, it lies at the ideological heart of current Russian activity.

Russia is tremendously concerned with her security problem. Her position is rigorously isolationist that is, she means to build up an industrial and geographical empire which will make it possible to live entirely within herself, without dependence on any other country and, of vital importance, without fear of effective opposition from inside or outside her world. To achieve this, she feels that she must secure control of the industry and natural resources of Europe along with the manpower of Europe.

Why is Russia so determined to force us out of Berlin? There are several answers. First, Berlin is still the heart of Germany, and is a potent symbol. Second, if we should find our position in Berlin untenable and pull out, the psychological effect not only on the Germans but on other European countries could be extremely serious. Third, gaining control of Berlin and the machinery of government is a necessary step to extending control to the main German industrial areas, such as the Ruhr. Fourth, the Russian attitude toward the millions of Germans who have worked with the Western powers since the war is all too clear- and if she ever gets Berlin retaliation on an immense scale can be expected.

As a number of writers have pointed out of late, the Truman doctrine, which is based on the containment of Russia, is not working. The Marshall Plan is obtaining a limited success, but current events are a grave threat to it. This brings up an issue which is likely to come more into the open during the next year or so. That is outright military alliances between the United States and Western European countries France, Italy, the Benelux group, and the rest. If this should come to pass, it would simply be an extension of the idea that we must get tougher and tougher with Russia if she forces us into it. In some high places, both here and in England, it is believed to be the only hope for an extended peace. The thought is still held that, ideological considerations to one side, the Russian leaders are practical enough to come to terms of some kind if they become convinced that the Western powers really mean business, and will see the thing through to the end. This thought is founded, in part, on the belief that Russia is too weak economically to run the risk of an all-out shooting war that would involve the entire world almost from the outset.

The Russians are undoubtedly capitalising on the fact that this is an election year in the U.S., that a president who is not assured of continuance in office beyond next January loses much of his effectiveness, and that the opposition candidate, even though his chance of election is strong, is still an unofficial person without power to act or to create policy. The Russian press is giving a strong play to the Wallace campaign, in an obvious effort to sell the idea that this country is hopelessly divided. All of this is part of the plan to break down European faith in our resolve.

There are some who have reluctantly come to believe that the Soviet-U.S. conflict is much like that between the irresistible force and the immovable object. But that view is not yet too widely held, and an incredible amount of work and energy is being given to preserving the tattered peace of the world.

News In The World Of Religion

BOOSTER -- ------ ---- ------ NEWS IN THE WORLD -- ----

Under the leadership of the World's Evangelical Alliance, the annual Universal Week of Prayer is to be observed throughout the Christian world room Sunday, January 2, through Sunday, January 9, 1949. Pastors are urged to preach special sermons on the two Sundays, the prayer services are urged on the days between. The January 2 sermon topic is "The Deity of Christ"; and on the 9th there will be united communion and preaching on church unity, it is announced by Henry Martyn Gooch, of London, Eng., secretary of the Alliance.

Not all "foreign students" are coming to America to continue their studies. Of the more than 1,000 students in mission-supported Lingnan University, China, this year, ten per cent are from countries other than China. Thirty are from the United States, 35 from Indo-China, 13 from Jamaica, 13 from the Malay Peninsula, 7 from Japan, three from the Philippines, two from Siam, and two from South Africa.

Borneo -- home of the erstwhile wild man and the head-hunters — suffered more from World War bombing than did the Malay Peninsula, according to Dr. Marmaduke Dodsworth, Methodist missionary, who went there with relief supplies from Singapore. The people need especially medicines, he says, including ointments, and atabrine or quinine or malaria. He took with him a score of cases of powdered milk for the Chinese and Dyak school children, five cases of vitamins, and several bales of clothing. "But the people themselves are working hard to restore the condition of the country", says Dr. Dodsworth.

"John Wesley's high conception of the church had better be taken seriously", says Dr. Gordon A. Sisco, noted Canadian minister. "He insisted that there was no such thing as a solitary Christian. He knew also that before you can have an effective evangelism you must have your institution from which to proceed. Though John Wesley sought to save souls, he was fully aware that Christianity is not understandable apart from the community. This matter of community is a present day issue for it testifies to that for which the world is seeking. It explains to some extent why such a pseudo-religion as communism should arise in our day as an aggressive force."

The atomic bomb destroyed all eleven buildings in Hiroshima, and the war 500 in all Japan. Only the concrete walls of the Nagarekawa Church, Hiroshima, were left standing. However, its pastor, the Rev K. Tsutmuto, hero of John Hershey's "Hiroshima", has succeeded at tremendous cost in getting the roof and the floor restored. The Christians of Hiroshima decided that the Quonset which was offered them by Church World Service (American) should be erected for the Manba Church. Its pastor had succeeded in erecting a flimsy barack building. In it Rev. Tsukishita and his wife were conducting a prosperous kindergarten and holding church services A little later he began a night school. Now they are proud to have their new Quonset hut building . . . . This is one of twenty huts given Japan Protestantism. Others are in Kobe, Osaka, Tokyo, and other cities.

7:30 p. m.—Evangelistic Service. Rev. K. C. Fraser. "The Hemmed-in Woman And A Hen"
Thursday, 7:45 Prayer and Bible Study Service.

There is the urgent call from Japan for missionaries in large numbers, missionaries in the rural areas, in industrial areas, among students, in the churches, in social service, and for missionary teachers in church and government schools, report present missionaries in that land. Along with these is the call for short term workers, for prominent American churchmen who will give a Sabbatical year or two for specialists to help adapt the new educational system, for young college graduates who will go for a few years to help young Japan learn to speak English and to mold the coming generation . . . The Methodist Church is making a first response by sending this summer to Japan fifty new missionaries for three years of service each.

Says a recent statement of the Society of Friends (Quakers) in Philadelphia: "The world needs a change in outlook -- from fear to faith based on the kind of love that Jesus taught; from compulsion with its trust in weapons, to cooperation based on the dignity and worth of the human person. We feel constrained by the power of God to voice a warning to all people: there is no safety, no security, no peace in armaments, however deadly they may be made. The trust of mankind must be in the power of the living God. It is no easy way, but there can be peace only in a world order founded upon the spirit and precepts given to all men by the Gospel of Jesus Christ."

Squirrel Hunting Generally Good

Reports reaching the Ohio Division of Conservation headquarters in Columbus from field men over the state indicate that squirrel hunting generally has been good since the September 15 opening day.

Cold wet weather threatened the "stump-sitting" hunters this past week. Nevertheless hunters in many counties reported taking the daily limit of four squirrels on opening day and some have repeated their luck since.

September 30 will be the last squirrel hunting day.

Indian Lake Is Refuge For Waterfowl

Dredging operations, to provide more open water for overnight "lodging" for visiting ducks on their way south, will begin soon on the Indian Lake Waterfowl refuge according to Dr. E. D. Martin, Chief of the Ohio Division of Conservation game management and propagation section.

The 800 acre refuge during the past several years has become so clogged with falling vegetation that circulation of water from the main body of the lake has been cut off almost entirely. The dredging operation is expected to cut about four miles of channels. Open pools will be created by lateral cuts between channels and dynamiting later in the fall.

Duck hunting is prohibited within the refuge defined by signs and a strand of heavy wire.

NAVY AIR TRAINING

The excellence of a military force cannot be judged entirely by the appropriations given it by Congress, or even by the number of men involved. The quality of training, the standards of morale, the character of leadership, the enthusiasm and dedication of purpose of those in positions of responsibility—these are among the factors, tangible and intangible, that make for military efficiency and spirit. In time of peace we must build our military forces with these principles in mind so that, if the need ever comes, we shall have a finely trained base upon which to create a vast, war-strength fighting machine.

The Navy's present air training program is a good example. Now headed by Rear Admiral J. W. Reeves, who made an outstanding record in his previous post as commander of the Naval Air Transport Service, it has the mission of furnishing the fleet with highly trained flight and ground personnel, both active and reserve.

To accomplish that, the Air Training Command has been developed into the largest shore based command in the Navy, with a composition of more than 400 units. Its personnel, in addition to providing instruction, furnishes all of the services required by the air stations—messing, maintenance, recreation, etc. The course is long, arduous—and, above all, complete. Of each 100 students accepted about 60 will win their wings eighteen months later. They go through a series of courses from pre-flight, where they study such fundamentals as engineering, gunnery, essentials of Naval service, and many others, to advanced flight. When the last is satisfactorily completed, they are fit to serve with the Fleet.

The young men who meet the high standards of Navy air training are among the finest, the country produces. They are readying themselves to perform a vital national service, and the Navy's system of training is unrivaled anywhere.

Recognition In Conservation

At the annual Conference of the National Association of Conservation Education and Publicity held at Leesville Lake, Carroll County, Ohio, recently, the National Committee on Policies in Conservation Education, headed by John W. Scott, University of Wyoming, received international recognition when honored as the individual or [illegible] making the most outstanding contribution to conservation education; this is an annual [illegible].

Oliver Hartley, Director of Public Relations for the Ohio Division of Conservation was a member of the Award Committee.

At the meeting recently in which delegates from 21 states took part, Bill Kah, Public Relations Section of the Ohio Division of Conservation, was elected secretary-Treasurer to the National Association of Conservation Education and Publicity for the coming year. Jim Bailey, Educational Supervisor of the Tennessee Department of Conservation was named president, and Dick Gearhart, Assistant Chief of the Division of Education of the Michigan Department of Conservation was elected vice-president.

The 1949 meeting, scheduled for the latter part of September, will be held at Gulfport, Mississippi.

Handicapped Persons Are Placed

Columbus, Ohio, September 30. Frank J. Collopy, administrator of the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation, today urged all unemployed and physically handicapped Ohioans available for work to register with the nearest BUC office if they have not already done so.

Collopy also called upon Ohio's employers to contact the BUC office in their communities if they were interested in hiring a physically handicapped worker.

The administrator made his plea as employer, labor, veteran and government organizations throughout Ohio prepared to launch an all-out campaign for the employment of physically handicapped but otherwise qualified persons, veteran and non-veteran. The drive will reach its peak October 2-9 when communities throughout the state will observe National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week.

Some 10,000 handicapped persons are registered for work with the ninety-one BUC offices throughout Ohio. Of this number, about one-third are veterans. About 25,000 handicapped [illegible] are currently either looking for work or are in the process of being rehabilitated for employment.

Collopy pointed out that there were undoubtedly thousands of handicapped Ohioans who were either qualified to hold jobs or eligible for rehabilitation but who were not taking advantage of the facilities of the BUC, the state Bureau of Vocational Rehabilitation, the Veterans Administration and other organizations carrying through operative programs on behalf of the handicapped.

Though no reliable record is available as to those handicapped Ohioans not in the labor market or in the process of rehabilitation, it is estimated that more than 1,000,000 handicapped Americans, including disabled veterans, could be rehabilitated for gainful employment providing that jobs were available.

WATER FOLLIES OCTOBER 6-12th

The Fitzsimmons Sisters, Jean and Joy, are a part of the Water Follies of 1948, gigantic aquacade and stage musical revue coming to the Fair Grounds Coliseum, October 6 thru October 10. The Fitzsimmons' granddaughters of the late Bob Fitzsimmons, former world's heavyweight boxing champion, hold numerous tandem swimming records. They will form a unit of the famed water ballet, one of the 12 water acts in this 2½ hour production.

The Water Follies, which has a complete company of 70 outstanding, aquatic and stage performers in its cast, will be staged in the world's largest portable pools, and stage which will be placed on the coliseum floor, centrally located, making every seat an ideal one. Two huge pools are used in staging the Water Follies, and their combined capacity consumes more than 80,000 gallons of water.

Staged and produced by Noel Sherman, celebrated Hollywood and Broadway producer, whose fame for gorgeously costumed pageantry is nation-wide, the Water Follies of 1948 includes a complete musical stage revue of 10 glamorous acts. In addition to the Fitzsimmons Sisters and Peter Fick, world's fastest swimmer, the cast of 70 includes such stars as Danny Southern, singing star; the Three Aces, Cuban hand-balancing trio; Jack Marlin, impersonator, and Lenny Laden, master of ceremonies.

The Water Follies of 1948, to be given in five 3:30 p.m. evening performances, plus two 2:30 p.m. matinees on October 9 and 10, will benefit the Columbus Philharmonic Orchestra Association. Tickets, priced at $1.20, $1.80, $2.40, with box seats $1.20 extra, and children $.60 at the Saturday matinee, may be purchased at Heaton's Music Store, 50 N. High St., Columbus. Mail and phone orders will also be accepted there at Ad. 4525.

Give My Regards To Broadway At Russell

Southeast Lions Club To Sponsor Community Projects

William P. Hoermle, President of the South East Lion's Club, announced today that the club will again this year give away a Chevrolet Four Door Fleetline Sedan.

The proceeds from the automobile this year will be known as "The South East Lion's Project."

All net proceeds will be used for the benefits of this community such as dogs for the blind, help for schools, churches, settlement houses, playgrounds, etc.

The South East Lions Club already ear marked from this project $1000 for additional uniforms for the South High School band.

This is a fine movement for too long has the South Side sent their money to other sections of the city when we could well use it in our own community.

The South East Lions Club two years ago gave the playground on Barthman Ave. to that section of the city.

Another project of the South East Lion's Club is "Sight Saving." They have had numerous children and adults eyes examined and equipped them with glasses.

When the South East Lions Club member approaches you with tickets on that new Fleetline Four Door Chevrolet, remember that the entire proceeds go to worthy South Side Projects.

Buy and buy generously.

English Club Meets Oct. 6

"Book Chat" will be the topic of Dr. Leland Jacobs, Ohio State University English professor, when he addresses the Columbus English Club.

Dr. Jacobs will speak at the club's first meeting of the season at 4 p.m. Wednesday, October 6, in the Sessions Room of the Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts.

George Roudebush, superintendent of the Columbus schools, will speak briefly at a tea immediately preceding the business meeting, Adolph Kittel, president of the club announced.

Mr. Kittel, teacher of English at West Junior High School, is the first man ever to head the English Club. Other officers of the organization include: Harriett Kratz, vice president; Esther Haub, treasurer; Ella Richey Wells, secretary; Marion Sherman, senior high school representative; Katherine Roy, junior high school representative; and Louise Piper, elementary school representative.

Music at the meeting will be furnished by the South High School ensemble, under the direction of Randal Near.

'Hour of Charm' To Be Here Oct. 14th

Phil Spitalny's Hour of Charm All-Girl Choral Orchestra, known to millions by virtue of its radio broadcasts and motion picture shorts, will appear in an eye filling, as well as ear pleasing "in person" performance at Memorial Hall, Thursday evening, Oct. 14, under Hast-Amend sponsorship.

This organization of thirty talented and easy to look at girl musicians, organized six years ago by Spitalny, a great believer in the musical genius of women, has earned its tremendous popularity as a result of fine musicianship and programs specializing in "heart appeal", also unusual arrangements and tonal precision. The members are adept at everything from the lighter and more familiar classics to symphonic swing.

Composed of graduates of leading music schools throughout the country, the Hour of Charm All-Girl Orchestra has been accorded special praise by musical appreciation groups, among the recent honors received being the award of merit bestowed by the Women's National Radio Commission.

Tickets on sale at Heaton's Music Store, 50 N. High St., Columbus, Ohio.

Two business men were riding in the subway, sitting side by side, saying nothing but looking very worried. After many minutes one of them heaved a long and deep sigh. The other said, "You're telling me!"

Lady Golden Glow Cake

Here's a marble cake that has the pleasant contrast of a tart orange marmalade filling and a smooth seven-minute icing.

"Golden Glow" is an odd name for a chocolate and white cake. It's so called because its layers are separated by a filling of orange marmalade. Your taste will tell you that the glowing filling is a good flavor foil for the cake and its smooth frosting.

There's no trick to obtaining the marbled effect of the cake. The smooth batter is divided in half just before baking, with melted chocolate folded into one half. Fill the layer cake pans by dropping in alternate spoonfuls of light and dark batter.

A cake like this is an instant success, especially when the pieces are generously cut and seconds are available.

LADY GOLDEN GLOW CAKE

½ cup butter or margarine
2 cups sugar
4 eggs, separated
Grated rind of one orange
3 cups sifted enriched flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1½ cups milk
2 squares chocolate

Cream butter or margarine with sugar until light. Add well beaten egg yolks and the orange rind. Sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Add with milk alternately to creamed mixture. Fold in beaten whites. Mix into smooth batter. Divide the batter equally. To one half, add the melted chocolate and mix well. Drop light and dark batters alternately from spoons into greased layer cake pans. Bake 40 minutes in moderate oven (350 degrees F.). Put layers together with orange marmalade and frost with seven minute icing.
Yield: Two nine-inch layers.

Miss Marilyn Siefert Wed Recently

Miss Marilyn Siefert became the bride of Herbert J. Schilling August 14, the open church, double ring ceremony taking place in St. John the Evangelist Church. The Rev. Father Burkhart celebrated the nuptial high mass.

The service was performed before an altar banked with palms, Oregon ferns and vases of white gladioli and huckleberry leaves.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Seifert, 1400 E. Whittier Street.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of old ivory slipper satin, fashioned in shepherdess tradition with a deep yoke of marquisette bordered at a dropped shoulder line with a flounce of rosepoint lace. A wide garland of seed pearl embroidery outlined the yoke. The voluminous skirt had a three yard train. The bride's full length veil of imported silk illusion was held in place by a tiara of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white roses centered with an orchid.

Maid of honor was Miss Mary Helen Dawn. She wore a gown of rose taffeta with a sheer yoke of gold net outlined with a shirred bertha collar edged with net. The full skirt with a bustle back was worn over a hoop skirt. Mitts and heart-shaped headdress of horsehair braid matched the gold net on her gown. She carried a colonial bouquet.

The bridesmaids, Miss Mary Ellen Luckhaupt, Miss Mary Katherine Gaines, and Miss Shirley Ann Sternecker wore similar gowns. They were dressed in pastels of blue, yellow and green, with a shirred bertha collar outlined in marquisette, with mitts and heart-shaped headdress of horsehair braid with pink roses. They also carried colonial bouquets.

The two junior bridesmaids, Miss Susanne Weldon, and Susanne Schwemley wore gowns and hats and carried bouquets similar to the bridesmaids.

Jean Ann Hickey Is Wed At Corpus Christi

Corpus Christi Church was the setting Saturday morning for the wedding of Miss Jean Ann Hickey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Hickey, 153 Lockbourne Road, and Mr. Robert E. Hagman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Hagman, Sr., 248 South Harding Road. Monsignor John J. Manning officiated at the nuptial Mass at nine-thirty in the morning.

Heavy ivory satin fashioned with a sheer yoke embroidered in seed pearls in a bow knot design was chosen by the bride for her wedding day. The embroidery of the yoke extended into the tight bodice of the dress which also had long fitted sleeves, a full skirt and cathedral train. Bow-knots of pearls delicately marked the satin cap which trimmed her three-tiered veil and she carried stephanotis and white orchids.

Miss Mary Hickey was maid of honor for her sister, wearing a dress of emerald green velvet with wide puffing fashioning the yoke of the deep round neckline and forming cap sleeves. The skirt was straight in the new pulled back effect and was caught up in a double bustle. The other attendants wore similar dresses in stained glass hues with Miss Mary Kathryn Fitzgerald in deep amathyst and the bridegroom's sisters, Miss Beatrice Hagman and Miss Betty Hagman in topaz and bronz respectively. The attendants completed their ensembles with braided halos and shaded chrysanthemums.

Mr. Robert E. Hagman, Sr., was best man for his son, and ushers were Mr. Richard Klunk, Mr. Jack Nester, Dr. Edward McFadden of Newark, Mr. James Kennedy and Mr. Richard Hagman.

The reception followed the ceremony at the home of the bride. The couple will reside at the Lockbourne Road address after October 1.

The bride is a graduate of St. Joseph Academy and the school of home economics at Ohio State University. She is now employed as a Home Service advisor for the Ohio Fuel Gas Co.

Mr. Hagman graduated from St. Charles Borromeo College and is a senior in the college of commerce at Ohio State University. He is also associated with the Ross Willoughby Co.

The bride wore a white suit with a blue satin blouse and blue accessories. She wore an orchid corsage.

The bride is a graduate of Miami High School and attended Florida State University. The bridegroom is graduate of South High School attended Ohio State University and Florida State University. He is connected with Martin Perry Corp.

Have you seen the pupil exhibits in our first floor display case? Why not stop in on your way past Reeb and see some of the best work which our pupils are doing? The following pupils now have articles in the case:

Virgil White, Milo Mitchell, Kerll King, James Coleman, Marion Moore, Roger Stewart, Jerry Reed, Naomi Webb, Harold Barton, Howard Webber, Linda Chamberlain, Sharon Dodson and Margaret Sziarto. Perhaps you have seen too many grasshoppers this year; nevertheless, we urge you to see the giant species which we have developed here at Reeb. If you are interested in horse racing, we are sure that you will want to see the Reeb line-up.

—R—

In providing equipment for our kindergarten, you may be in position to make a contribution for there are several articles in good condition which could be used to a very good advantage. We would be glad to have the following: Dolls (10 inches or more in length), doll clothes for same size, a doll buggy, doll furniture, and toys that move, like cars, trucks and fire engines. Either bring these articles to Mrs. Beyer in room 112 or call school office, GA 1326, and we will be pleased to send for them.

—R—

Our P.T.A. membership contest has started in a very satisfactory manner. We feel that it is not too much to expect from each home to have two adults join for each child. This is one very tangible way that you as parents and guardians have to indicate your interest in the children you send to Reeb Ave. School. We now have 535 pupils at Reeb and each one of these pupils will be encouraged if he or she is given credit for two memberships in his or her room. 50 cents will accomplish more than you realize in bringing your home and your school just a little closer together.

—R—

Are your children armored? A doctor recently described immunization as "giving children a coat of armor in their fight against deadly enemies." Imunization, of course, is the scientific method of protecting individuals against disease. Such protection is available today against a large number of the once-feared killers. But there are many parents who delay, and a few who still resist, providing these gifts of science to their own children. During the first year of life, children should be armed by immunization against smallpox, diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus (lockjaw).

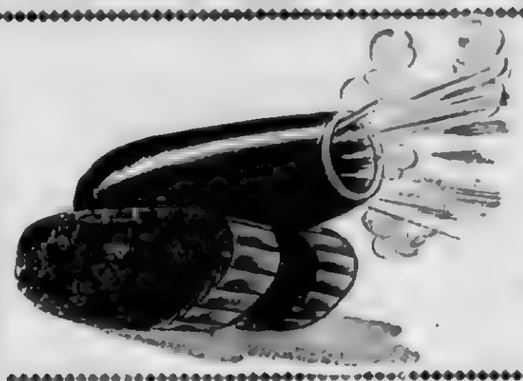
Our Columbus Board of Education is emphasizing the importance of the above information and we at Reeb are trying to co-operate with you paren'ts. Please see your doctor at once about these important things which may be the means of preventing a long sickness or even death. If you have started a child to kindergarten or first grade this school year, we should have a statement on file from your physician. If this has not been taken care of please act immediately.

Did You Know

That in the early days of football, some teams wore short pants, and tied handkerchiefs around their heads. . . . That Frank Isbell, who had only — hit in his first 16 times at bat in the World Series of 1906, finally came thru in the fifth game and hit four doubles, still a Series record . . . That football players wore numbers for the first time in 1913 in the Wisconsin-Chicago game . . . That Marty Cassio of Rahway, New Jersey, has rolled 17 perfect games in bowling. Three other times, he rolled 299 . . .

That in the 1909 World Series between the Pittsburgh Pirates and the Detroit Tigers, the Pirates' freshman pitcher, Babe Adams, defeated the Tigers three times. He allowed only six hits in each game . . . That in 1896, Persimmon, and in 1900, Diamond Jubilee, full brother colts, won the English Derby, in exactly the same time—two minutes and 42 sec. . . . That Willie Heston, the Michigan football star of the early nineties, was never on a defeated team. He scored about 100 touchdowns for his team. . . .

That Walter Johnson, the great Washington Senators' hurler, once made four wild pitches in one inning in 1914 . . . That Gunboat Smith once held the white heavyweight title. This was back in 1914 when Jack Johnson, the great Negro champion, was out of the country . . . During the World Series of 1933 between the Giants and Washington, a game was held up to clear the pigeons out of the park . . .



That in 1888 Yale defeated Princeton in a football game by the score of 10 to 0. The next year the Tigers beat Yale by exactly the same score . . . That when Ed Delahanty of the Phillies hit his four home runs in one game back in '96, his team lost the game to the Chicago Colts by the score of 9-8 . . . During the 1947 season, Ewell Blackwell, the Cincinnati pitching ace, did not lose a game under the lights. His night-time record was eight wins and no losses . That Johnny Frederick of the 1932 Brooklyn Dodgers hit six home runs as a pinch hitter during that season. That's still a major-league record . . . That Rabbit Maranville played in two World Series, one in 1914 and the other in 1928. In each Series he played in four games, was at bat 13 times, got four hits, and had the same batting average, .308. . . .

That three heroes of the 1947 World Series are now in the minor leagues. They are Al Gionfriddo and Harry (Cookie) Lavagetto of the Dodgers, Floyd Bevens of the Yanks . . . That Frank Boucher, who was a great center for the New York Rangers, won the Lady Byng Trophy seven times. It was permanently awarded to him in 1935, and Lady Byng made a new trophy available

John Law, captain and guard, of Knute Rockne's undefeated 1929 Notre Dame team, was recently named head coach of football and baseball at Mt St Mary's College, Emmitsburg, Maryland. John, who coached at Manhattan and Holy Cross, as well as serving as scout for Fordham and the Green Bay Packers, also coached football at Sing Sing in the days when the fabulous Alabama Pitts was in the backfield of the Black Sheep, as the prison team was called. One of his most prized possessions is a gold watch on the back of which is inscribed "Presented to John Law by the inmates of Sing Sing Prison."

On his way to his new post in Maryland, Johnny was stopped by a traffic cop. He was asked his name, and when he answered "John Law," the cop wanted to jug him as a practical joker and a wise guy. Johnny had to produce his driver's license to stay out of the pokey.

To understand God. To ask of the mind is subliminal To test an inner impression of feeling by an honest inquiry about it and only as an inner impression is to function on the subliminal or Master place of intelligence.
The subliminal mind speaks of Word of Truth. These things pertain to the powers of God and to understand God's Truth.

News In The World Of Religion

Seven-hundred-year-old Cologne Cathedral, one of the greatest religious and architectural monuments in all the world, has been reopened for public worship after being closed for several years. Damaged in two world wars, it will still require ten to fifteen years to complete repairs, architects say. During the second war it was damaged by fourteen heavy bombs, a score of shells, and by more than 200 fire bombs. The stained glass windows, removed for safety during the conflict, have been returned; but less than half the building is yet ready for worship.

More than $100,000 of damage and destruction have been caused to properties of the Methodist Church in the United Provinces, North India, by six weeks of floods and torrential rains during August and September, it is reported by Secretary Ralph E. Diffendorfer of the denomination's Board of Missions and Church Extension. The loss includes churches, schools, and homes of Christian workers destroyed, and some larger institutions badly damaged. The flood is in the Ganges valley, and the affected centers include Bareilly, Budaun, Moradabad, Shahjahanpur, and Aurcha in all of which there are Methodist churches and schools. In Bareilly more than 1,000 homes fell when 18 inches of rain descended in 48 hours.

Church World Service — the agency of most of the Protestant churches of the United States in administering church relief in Europe and Asia — has organized a special "Committee on World Friendship Among Children" to provide Christmas parcels for underprivileged children in Europe and China. The packages for Europe may be denominated for use in England, Holland, Finland, Denmark, Norway, Belgium, France, Luxemburg, Italy, Poland, Yugoslavia, Czechoslovakia, Greece, Russia, Germany, or Switzerland. Parents, teachers, and leaders of youth have been asked to instruct the children in what to send and to inspect the packages. Packages should reach the Committee (214 East 21st St., New York City) by Nov. 1, so that they can be shipped and distributed at "World Christmas Festivals" in overseas cities on December 15. Details of the project may be secured from the Committee secretary Mrs. Gerda Scharrer.

Of 440 young Chinese women enrolled in Ginling College, Christian mission-supported institution in Nanking, China, last semester, more than 10% were members of Christian churches. Two students, the daughters of the Indian ambassador to China were Hindus; three were Mohammedans, one was a Buddhist.

A current visitor in the United States is the Rev. Dr. Sidney Malcolm Berry, of London, Eng., secretary of the International Congregational Council with which the Congregational Christian Church in the United States is affiliated. Council helps keep ministers and laymen of the Congregational family in fellowship and arranges for the exchange of ministers among nations. Dr. Berry was recently meeting with leaders of Congregationalism in Holland, Sweden, Denmark and Finland.

Sixty-one new missionaries were recently commissioned by the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A. for foreign service. Twenty-one states were represented in the group. Among the professions represented, in addition to the ministry, were medicine, education, anthropology, electrical engineering and radio programing. Fourteen of the group go to China. Eight are assigned to West Africa, six each to the Philippines and Japan and five each to Siam and India. The others are bound for Venezuela, Chile, Iran, Mesopotamia, Syria, Brazil and Guatemala.

An unusual vacation was spent this summer by fifteen young Methodist college and seminary young men who comprised the "Mexican Work Camp" in Zacapoaxtla, Puebla State, Mexico. This is the heart of the remaining pure Aztec population of central Mexico, and the people are poor though living in a relatively rich agricultural area. The young men, under the leadership of Missionary Wesley Matzigkeit, of Anderson, Ind., conducted three major projects as demonstrations for the surrounding villages: one was a health project and included going from house to house with government nurses and inoculating hundreds of families against the prevalent smallpox, while one medical student made a study of a local intestinal parasite and suggestions for counteracting it; another group worked with a rural school in Xacapexpan in developing school and community vegetable plots, and in building a playground; and the remainder helped build a playground and play equipment for a school in Xalacatan. The project was sponsored by the Board of Missions and the Board of Education of the Methodist Church.

Pageant Of Faith To Be Held

Nearly two thousand persons will participate in the Hour of Faith sponsored by the Holy Name Societies of the Diocese of Columbus in Red Bird Stadium October 17, it was announced today by Rev. Fr. Joseph A. Cousins, pageant director.

The pageant planned by Fr. Cousins will explain, by means of symbols, the Seven Sacraments of the Catholic Church. Visual patterns will be formed by various groups on the field, as a narrator explains the institution and purpose of the sacraments.

The purpose of this demonstration is to remind Catholics of the principles of their religion, while explaining these sacraments to non-Catholics invited to attend. The seven Sacraments to be explained are Baptism, Penance, Confirmation, Holy Eucharist, Extreme Unction, Holy Orders and Matrimony.

In addition to the pageant, an address will be delivered by Lt. Col. William J. Clasby, acting Staff Chaplain of the Air Force Material Command. Fr. Clasby was invited to make the address by Bishop Michael J. Ready of Columbus, who will preside over the ceremony. Exercises will conclude with Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament.

Uniformed organizations of the Diocese will participate in the spectacle, as will seminarian from St. Charles and Pontifica College Josephinum, Worthington. The Josephinum band will furnish music.

The entire ceremony, beginning at 3:00 p.m. will be broadcast over Station WRFD, Worthington.

A poster contest for art students in schools throughout the Diocese is being judged today. Winners will be announced next week. Judges for the contest are Very Rev. Msgr. H. E. Mattingly, Editor of The Columbus Register; Lee H. B. Malone, Director of The Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts, and Sister Mary Eugene, O.P., Art Director of the College of St. Mary of the Springs.

An elaborate souvenir program is being prepared by the Diocesan Holy Name Union, which will contain a detailed explanation of the ceremony, as well as much other interesting information about the Holy Name Society.

Jobs For Handicapped

Columbus, Ohio, Oct. 6 More than 14,000 jobs have been filled with handicapped workers thru the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation since the beginning of the year, A. Glenn Palmer, chairman of the Ohio Committee for National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week, reported today.

However, the objective of NEPH Week, which began Sunday, October 3, and runs thru the 9th, is a long way from being achieved, Palmer said. For that objective is the finding of jobs for all physically handicapped but otherwise qualified persons, veteran and non-veteran.

About 10,000 handicapped workers are currently looking for jobs or are in need of rehabilitation to qualify for such jobs. Additional thousands have neither applied for jobs nor for rehabilitation chiefly because they are not aware of the opportunities available thru agencies such as the Veterans Administration and the state Welfare Department.

The NEPH Week observance is therefore dedicated to an objective above and beyond the actual placement of handicapped workers. It is also concerned with "selling" employers on the value of accepting qualified handicapped as well as with "selling" the handicapped themselves on the opportunities available.

Indicative of the long strides forward which have been taken in educating the public as to the handicapped worker as well as to the benefits accruing from his employment is the fact that the BUC alone has filled about 120,000 jobs with handicapped persons between 1940 and the present. During 1945—the last war year—the agency set a record when it filled almost 25,000 jobs with qualified handicaps.

Regular Meeting St. Elizabeth Auxiliary

The regular monthly meeting of St. Elizabeth's Auxiliary will be held on Wednesday, Oct. 13th at 581 E. High St., at which time there will be nomination and election of officers for the ensuing year.

Fire Prevention Week Instructions

Fire Chief Strikfaden said today, in announcing the fire department's cooperation with the Safety Council of the Columbus Chamber of Commerce, the press, the radio and numerous civic groups in the 1948 Fire Preventon Week program, that "by using simple, common sense precautions a large proportion of fires could be eliminated." He also called attention to the fact that with present-day replacement costs, even in small fires where the fireman are able to confine the flame to one or two rooms, it will cost property owners or tenants, two to three times the amount of money to refurnish and rebuild the burned-out areas as it did six years ago.

The Chief particularly emphasized the following points:

1. Rubbish fires are causing a great deal of damage in our city. If people would remove the rubbish from their cellars attics and closets, fire losses would come down and many alarms would be eliminated.

2. Buildings which are classified as conflagration hazards should be protected by automatic sprinklers. Such installations will pay for themselves out of savings in insurance premiums and, as a result, our conflagration areas will be eliminated.

3. Basement fires are the hardest to fight. Firemen have difficulty fighting their way in and often do not know what the conditions will be when they reach the basement. Since a large percentage of all business fires originate in basements, if these also were protected by automatic sprinklers, our country's nation wide $700,000,000 fire losses would be reduced by at least $200,000,000.

The Chief particularly emphasized the large number of fires which are caused from carelessness in the use of matches and smoking, which indicates that matches should be kept where small children cannot reach them. A liberal supply of ash trays throughout the house would reduce fires, the Chief said, and he particularly emphasized the point that, if you value your life, "do not smoke in bed."

Ohio Is Now Fifth

Columbus, Ohio—It's not that Ohio grew a lot that California grew more.

That is the explanation of the Ohio Development and Publicity Commission for Ohio's passing from fourth to fifth place among the States in population, the Census Bureau announced. Ohio fifth, behind New York, Pennsylvania, California and Illinois in that order.

Ohio's people, the Commission states, constitute her greatest industrial asset. The Commission, at the request of Governor Thomas J. Herbert, made a study of recent industrial developments in the State. The size and distribution of the population are major factors.

Ohio with an estimated population of 7,675,000 as of July 1, 1947, had increased 11.1 per cent over the 1940 figure of 6,907,612. The increase was considerably more than the 8.6 per cent national increase.

But California, which had only 215 fewer people than Ohio in 1940, increased 42.1 per cent, pushing aside not only Ohio, but also third-place Illinois.

When the 1950 Census figures are out, putting Ohio in fifth place, the Buckeye state will officially lose a position she had held for more than a hundred years. Investigations by John O. Marsh, curator of history at the Ohio State Museum, reveal that Ohio has been either third or fourth in population since 1830.

Ohio's first census listing was 1810. She was then 13th among the states with 230,760 inhabitants. Long wagon trains to the Ohio Country quickly built up the new state in the West. By 1820 Ohio had 581,434 population and had jumped to 5th place, behind New York, Virginia, Pennsylvania, and North Carolina, in that order.

Settlers continued to pour into Ohio, and her 937,903 inhabitants in 1830 put her in 4th place, ahead of North Carolina. By 1840 Ohio's population was 1,519,467 and she reached third among the states, behind New York and Pennsylvania. She stayed in third place until the Census of 1890 revealed that though Ohio had grown to 3,672,329, an increase of 14.8 per cent over the 1880 figure, she had been passed by Illinois with its bustling Chicago.

Every census from 1890 on has put Ohio fourth among the states, though in 1940 she beat California by an eyelash.

On evenness in distribution of population over the state Ohio leads, the Development and Publicity Commission asserts. Take away the largest city from each of the five—New York City from New York, Philadelphia from Pennsylvania, Los Angeles from California, Chicago from Illinois, and Cleveland from Ohio and Ohio will be first.

Joe Laurie, Jr. gave this definition on NBC's "Can You Top This?" "A diplomat is a man who can make his wife believe she looks fat in a mink coat."

Dealers Cooperate Fire Prevention

Retail coal merchants and heating firms of Coal Heating Service of Franklin County, Inc., are cooperating in "Fire Prevention Week" by urging coal users to take extra precautions against two of the principal causes of fire—faulty heating equipment and chimneys.

To help eliminate these causes of fire in the home, coal users are being reminded of the importance of having their heating systems cleaned and thoroughly inspected before cold weather arrives.

According to Horton M. Bell, president of the local Coal Heating Service organization, many home owners of Franklin County have already put their heating systems in good shape for the winter ahead, and as a result will get better heating efficiency at lower cost, plus added safety from the hazards of fires.

"Periodic servicing is not as essential to a home heating system as it is to an automobile," said Bell. "Both are machines which are in steady use, except that a heating plant operates even to nine months a year without a let-up.

"If an automobile were driven constantly at 40 miles an hour for the same length of time that a home furnace operates during one heating season, it would cover a distance equivalent to more than eight trips around the earth.

"However, many persons who take very good care of their automobiles are prone to neglect their home heating systems," Bell declared.

"Inspection of home heating systems by a competent heating service man at least once a year would reveal fire hazards in heating equipment, just as inspection by an automobile service mechanic reveals hazards to driving safety."

Fireman's Minstrel Show October 28th

The annual Columbus Firemen's Minstrel Show, for years the midweat's most elaborate throw-back to the days of Al G. Fields, has been scheduled for four days starting Thursday, October 28 at the Hartman Theatre. As in previous years the show will be under the personal supervision of Lt. Virgil Weakley, and is being produced by John Hardgrove.

Stars of the 1948 revue will include the team of Habb & Denton, internationally known comedians, the last of the great minstrel favorites of the past; Gracie Hardgrove, youthful singing and dancing discovery; Fred Washburn, endman comic; Fred Hawks, master of ceremonies; Roger Garrett, conducting a special songfest from his organ console; the vivacious Morgan Sisters; and the beautiful Sherrick "Glamourettes," a line of 24 girls.

Particularly outstanding will be the male chorus of 70, the feminine double octette, and the laugh provoking "Hippo Chorus" of 16 firemen. Music, as arranged and conducted by Adam Gilger, will feature the songs of Ohio's own Dan Emmett, composer of "Dixie." Specialty acts from the ensemble include Art Davis, Eddie Hart and Charlie Wood, endmen comedians; Phillip Johnson, Frank Grashel and Albert Justus, singers; and Durwood Lowe, tapster.

All proceedss from the show, with its cast of 150, will go to the Columbus Firemen's Benevolent Association, to be used for charitable and welfare activities within the city fire department. There will be an evening show on each of the four nights, with matinees on Saturday and Sunday. Tickets may be purchased from any city fireman; all seats for the six performances will be reserved.

Russell Presents "Mr. Blanding's Dream House

"Mr. Blandings Builds His Dream House" is an amusing comedy of the housing shortage. Mr. Blandings dreams of a house in the country with elbow room and ample closets. He finally buys an antique house where he has a hilarious series of mishaps.

Cary Grant make a wonderful Mr. Blandings with Myrna Loy as his beautiful wife. With "The Cockeyed Miracle" as a co-feature plus news and a cartoon it's a delightful evening's entertainment for all.

Last Showing Of Craftsmens Minstrels

The last showing of the Fourth Annual "Craftmens Minstrels" will be held at South High School tonight Thursday Oct. 7, at 8 p.m.

Leo Phillips will direct. The End men are George Leslain, Fritz Roeger, Harold Gall, O. C. (Ott) Gall, Robert Kerr, and Charles Vagnier. Acting as Interlocutor will be Russel Canter Chief announcer at Radio Station WBNS, for the Minstrel half of the show.

The Olio will include Stella Becker's Beckerettes, Keith Miller, accordianist, Poenisch and Larimore, string duet, Don Port's Little German Band, also Herb Germain, Trombone Solo and many others.

Everyone who has had the pleasure of seeing an old time minstrel show will enjoy this revival of a grand tradition. For the ones who have never had this opportunity a grand treat is in store for them.

Racing Program At Powell

Powell Speedway will be the scene of another outstanding motorcycle race meet on Sunday afternoon, Oct. 10, when the Ohioans Motorcycle Club of Columbus stages a three star nine event program.

One of the largest crowds of the year at Powell saw The Ohioans stage a similar meet earlier in the season and Harry Stites, in general charge of the race, states that most of the stars who performed at the time have promised to be back for the Oct. 10 speedfast.

Among them are Billy Huber, the sensational expert from Dayton who won the expert final and set a new track record for motorcycles in doing so.

Billy beat Bobby Hill, the brilliant Columbus rider by a wheel in that thrilling final, and Bobby too will be back in an effort to reverse that verdict.

Both will have competition from such nationally known stars as Willie Stegall of Springfield, Billy Matthews of Hamilton, Ont., Johnny Knapp of Dearborn, Mich., Peg Liscano of Galion, Ohio, Bill Waltermire of Zanesville and Bob Shaw of Columbus.

Bobby Hall of Westerville, Dick Klamfoth of Groveport, Lowell Redinger of Hammond, Ind., Paul Meyers of Cleveland and Harry Grimstead of Butlerville, Ind., head the amateur division, while ranking novices are Bob Worley of Dayton, John Grimstead of Butlerville, Ind., Harry Bellville of Marysville, and Ralph Lannerd of Dayton.

Time trials Sunday are to get under way at noon with the first of the nine events scheduled for 2:30 o'clock.

Columbia Theater

Universal Studios have played their trump card in combining comedy and horror in one picture. When Abbott and Costello meet Frankenstein face to face you can expect only one thing, a picture filled with belly-laughs and spine-tingling excitement.

A Picture with such stars as Abbott and Costello at their funniest and Lon Chaney and Bela Lugosi at their terribliest should bring you an evening of the finest escape entertainment.

The co-feature running with "Abbott and Costello Meets Frankenstein" is "Big Punch" with Wayne Morris.

Wages Are Slightly Higher

Columbus, Ohio, Oct. 6—Ohio's average weekly wage edged slightly higher in July to $52.26—only six cents above the level for the previous month but seven percent over that of a year ago.

This was disclosed today in a report of the Ohio State University Bureau of Business Research issued in cooperation with the U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics and based on data from 5,583 Ohio firms.

The report showed that the average wage for the construction industry continued the highest for all industrial groups. The construction wage climbed to $75.33 in July, a gain of two percent over the June figure of $73.94.

The average wage for all Ohio manufacturing industries meanwhile declined from $57.87 in June to $57.71 in July. Gains for the month were registered only for firms in the stone, clay and glass products, vehicles and miscellaneous manufacturing classifications.

Employment in the state declined fractionally in July and remained one percent above the level for the corresponding month of 1947. Ohio payrolls gained fractionally and were eight per cent over the previous July.

AKRON, $55.86, up one percent.
CANTON, $46.75, down eight percent.
CINCINNATI, $49.55, up one percent
COLUMBUS, $47.98, down one percent
DAYTON, $57.91, down one per cent.
TOLEDO, $56.62, up fractionally.
YOUNGSTOWN, $55.87, up fractionally.

Survivor Of Bataan Is Candidate

Fred C. (Mike) Dunn, Jr., candidate for Franklin County Recorder and member of the Columbus School Board, speaking at a meeting of the 19th Ward Republican Club, Tuesday evening, September 28th at Maple Grove Methodist Church, pledged unselfish service to the citizens of Franklin County, "if elected Recorder," and urged his listeners to fully support "our local and county schools."

A survivor of the Bataan Death March, and for more than three years a prisoner of the Japanese, Dunn is a candidate for his first political office. (The Columbus School Board is both non-political and non-salaried). He is at the present time manager of Dunn, Inc. at 42 Parsons Ave., and since his discharge from the U. S. Army has been active in many civic activities.

Mr. Dunn has lived his entire lifetime, excepting his four years Army service, in Franklin County. He is a product of Columbus schools and has an AB degree from Miami University.

He enlisted in the U. S. Army in 1941, served in the United States four months before assignment to the Philippines. He fought on Bataan, was in the famed "death march," and was interned for three years by the Japanese. Since his return from prison camp he has served on the Columbus School Board and the Franklin County Memorial Hall Commission.

Smearing The Probers

Certain charges have been leveled at Rep. J. Parnell Thomas, chairman of the House Committees on Un-American Activities. The Department of Justice makes a gesture at investigating the charges.

Whether or not these charges have any basis, this newspaper quite naturally cannot say. But one would have to be naive indeed not to know that if Mr. Thomas was not chairman of this committee, which is investigating communists, the charges would never have been heard of.

From the time that this committee was organized and started its investigations, its members and its employes have been subject to the tactics of smear. On one occasion the wife of the late President Roosevelt appeared before it and by her attitude encouraged derisive witnesses. A few Washington columnists have consistently magnified every flaw in the committee's procedure and the executive arm of the government has consistently withheld any cooperation.

The counter-attack on Mr. Thomas, coinciding with the denunciation which President Truman has heaped upon this committee during the course of his campaign, leaves the impression that there is a great deal more to communist infiltration in Washington than had been generally supposed.

There was a time when the communists were politically useful to Mr. Roosevelt and in return for their services, they did get some influential places in the administration.

The presence of many more communists seemed to be accounted for by the muddle-headednesses which wholly misjudged what communists were and what they meant to do; the thought that they were on the whole a group of idealistic people, somehow misunderstood by an ignorant and undiscriminating American public.

But such an explanation begins to totter when each disclosure by the House committee calls forth more desperate efforts to discredit the committee and when the agency which should be prosecuting communists instead considers the prosecution of those trying to catch communists. The impression that there is an attempt to conceal important and embarrassing information is almost inescapable.

Gov. Dewey has promised to make full disclosure of communist activities and we believe he will, but to do so he must have the records which disclose those activities. Apparently, some already have disappeared. It might be helpful if Gov. Dewey gave a public reminder that the destruction of government records carries a heavy penalty.

Senator Ford got off this bon mot: "Diplomats are clever people who get us out of scrapes that we wouldn't get into if we didn't have diplomats."

Bartlett Has Outstanding Record As Co. Prosecutor

Ralph J. Bartlett

Ralph J. Bartlett, candidate for re-election as Franklin-Co Prosecutor, has spent almost 29 years in the active practice of law in Franklin County. He served as assistant under three former prosecuting attorneys, Ray J. O'Donnell, Donald J. Hoskins, and the late Hugo Schlesinger, during which time he became thoroughly acquainted with both the civil and criminal divisions of that office. During the last eighteen years, Bartlett has taken an active part in the prosecution of every major criminal case in the Franklin County Courts. During his time in his office Bartlett has assisted in the investigations and trials of ten public officials or employees for misappropriation of public money, which resulted in convictions or pleas of guilty. Bartlett has also represented the state in fourteen capital cases which resulted in a sentence of death in the electric chair, three of which were for the killing of Columbus police officers while in the performance of their duties.

Ralph J. Bartlett was born on a farm, spent his early life in a county children's home, and has worked his way through school. He attended Ohio Wesleyan University from 1908 to 1913 and was graduated from Ohio State University Law School in 1916. Bartlett is affiliated with various Masonic bodies, is a Past Patron of the Eastern Star, Past Watchman of Shepherds of White Shrine, and is the only man in Ohio who holds the distinction of being a Past State President of both the Moose and Eagles. He is a member of the Morgan Memorial Methodist Church, married, has four children, and resides at 843 Euclaire Avenue, Columbus (Bexley), Ohio.

Much of the work in the prosecutor's office covers civil matters. County Officers, Rural and Village School Boards, Township Trustees and the Board of Elections all look to the County Prosecutor for advice on legal matters. The Prosecutor is chairman of the County Budget Commission and the County Sinking Fund Commission.

During Mr. Bartlett's administration there has been a vast program of road and bridge building, the construction of a new $500,000.00 Juvenile Detention Home, $600,000.00 addition to the Tuberculosis Sanitarium and numerous other projects, which have reqired the careful attention of his office in the letting of contracts, bond issues, tax levies, etc., all of which have been brought to a successful conclusion.

Mr. Bartlett's office is now devoting attention to the legal problems of constructing the new $1,250,000 Childrens' Home, $1,500,000 Court Building and $4,500,000 Veteran's Memorial Building, all authorized by bond issues approved by the voters.

By promptly filing an injunction suit Prosecutor Bartlett prevented the state from withholding sales tax revenue, amounting to more than $5,400,000.00, which was divided between Columbus and Franklin County. As a result of this suit the court reduced the charge for maintenance of county patients in state institutions for several years past from $5.50 to $3.27 per patient per week, a saving of over $448,000.00 to Franklin County.

Prosecutor Bartlett has recovered through the courts over $50,000.00 in tax refunds paid from the county treasury several years ago under a statute since declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court.

Mr. Bartlett's office successfully defended suits seeking to prevent the county from collecting all future assessments on real estate sold at tax sale, which saved the taxpayers of Franklin County over $2,000,000.00.

The York Story

Worral G. Sonenstein

Mr. Artis D. York, 738 Siebert Street, lost his eye sight about four years ago. At that time he was employed as an agent for a well known insurance company. When after an unsuccessful cataract operation was performed, it became apparent to Mr. York he would no longer have his physical vision, he began to make plans for the future.

Setting up an office in his home, Mr. York began to sell insurance of all kinds. At first, most of his business was transacted with friends and other people who knew him before he lost his sight. As time went on, however, his business expanded, and today, he has Insurance in nearly every section of the State. Mr. York's business has grown in recent months to such proportion that he can no longer handle it at home. And as a consequence, he has opened an office at 1860 Parsons Avenue. He now represents 9 or 10 different Companies and is well known among Insurance men through out the mid west.

All though he is sightless, Mr. York goes out of his way to avoid doing business on the basis of sympathy. "If I can't give value received," says Mr. York, "I'll discontinue my business. Other Insurance men work for a living, and that's what I'm doing. I want no concessions because of my disability.

In addition to selling policies, Mr. York is a consultant and adviser in matters pertaining to Insurance. He is frequently called upon to program Insurance for business establishments, and has gained an excellent reputation in this field.

For the past two years, Mr. York has had a Seeing Eye dog. She is his constant companion and guide. The dog's name is "Beauty". She is a German Shepard and Mr. York obtained her from Seeing Eye Inc. at Morristown, N. J. No doubt many south side residents see Mr. York and Beauty as they go about their business eyer day.

While Mr. York's time is quite limited, he does take a day off occasionally to play Golf. He accomplishes this with the help of his wife who is associated with him and his dog. He hopes to compete in the National Golf Tournament for the Sightless next year.

Mr. York is a member of a number of business and social clubs in Columbus and his son, Floyd, is a student at Ohio State University.

Kearns Charges Prisoners Go Free

"Records at the Court House show that the political opportunist, Ralph J Bartlett, County Prosecutor, has in the 8-months from January 1, 1948 to September, 1948, reduced the Bonds on more than seventy (70) arrested persons who were bound over to the Grand Jury. In some cases these prisoners were allowed to go free on their own word. Records at the Court House, likewise, show that charges on which these prisoners have been bound over have been reduced to lesser charges at the insistence of the Prosecutor so that he could make a record and "political hay" by fooling the voters of Franklin County."

"He has shied away from the arduous duty of fighting the cases for the protection of the community. Reduction of guilty pleas to lesser charges is a lazy man's way of getting the work out."

"To prove my point as to what law and order mean, I say that the disgraceful happenings at the wide-eyed plushy Ritz Club, gambling joint would not have occured had the Prosecutor diligently pursued the duties incumbent upon him. The four desperados who perpetrated this outrage could certainly have felt no qualms of fear and could just as easily plundered a legitiment business establishment or home."

Coddling criminals seems to be the easy way out for the present Prosecutor. I propose a policy of law and order for the full 12-months of every year instead of a great show just before election," said Frank H. Kearns, Republican Candidate for County Prosecutor.

Mt. Mary's rambled on to their first victory in the race for the mythical Catholic Championship at the cost of a hard-fighting Rosary eleven. Time after time, the crowd rose to their feet to see the Ram backs go for long gains behind beautiful blocking. Ray Trucco, Fred Huffman, and Art Sneider displayed beautiful broken field running and spelled defeat for Rosary.

After the opening kickoff, five players gave the Rams a first down on the midfield stripe. Then the explosion. Trucco raced through center for twenty yards to the Rosary twenty-five. On the next play, Sneider breezed around his own left end and into the end zone for the score. The kick for extra point was low. Rosary came back on fourth down to complete a beautiful pass that traveled forty yards in the air. It was first down on the Ram's four. Herbert drove through center for four yards and the score was tied. The extra point was blocked.

Late in the second quarter, Ray Trucco broke from midfield and raced to the Rosary nineteen. On the next play he went to the four. The ball was given to him again, and he scored going through the line standing up; but a clipping penalty nullified the gain. The same play was used again, an it was good for nineteen yards and the score. The try for extra point was blocked and the half ended twelve to six in favor of Saint Mary's

The third quarter was a battle of lines. Neither team was able to score, although from time to time backs were off on long gains only to have the other team hold and force a punt. The Rams, however, did manage to put together one drive that saw the quarter end with the ball on the Rosary two-yard line.

On the first play of the fourth quarter, Dick Gianvito, made a quarterback sneak good for the six points. He also made the kick good, and the score nineteen to six.

The last score came as Fred Hoffman, substitute, intercepted a Rosary pass on his own forty and raced to the Rosary fifteen. The ball was handed off to Hoffman on the next play, and he broke through center, racing for the sideline and six more points. The conversion was no good, and the score was twenty-five to six.

Huffman kicked off to Rosary, and recovered the kick as is glanced off one of the Rosary linemen. From here on, it was a matter of running off the time remaining.

Wildlife Funds Are Increased

Official communication reaching Ohio Conservation headquarters from Secretary of the Interior J. A. Krug states that Ohio's share of the Federal Aid To Wildlife funds for the fiscal year 1949 which began July 1, 1948, will amount to $386,506, representing an increase of $88,728 over last year.

The sum of $10,780,620 will be available to the 48 states for the restoration and development of their wildlife resources, exceeding by $2,516,848 any previous allocation made under the Pittman-Robertson Act.

The funds, which come from the 11 per cent excise tax paid by the manufacturers of sporting arms and ammunition, are apportioned to the states on the basis of land and the number of paid hunting license holders in each state.

Although Ohio is 35th in land area, the number of hunting licenses sold last year placed the state in the position of receiving the 5th largest apportionment.

Both Michigan and Texas will receive $539,031 each; California, $196,628; New York, $156,755; Pennsylvania, $156,501; and Ohio $386,506.

The federal funds are allocated on the basis that each state must submit for approval of Federal authorities a wildlife conservation and restoration program already in effect or plans for such program and in addition each state must agree to add to the Federal apportionment an amount equal to one-fourth of the Federal apportionment for the program.

The Ohio Division of Conservation last year adopted a plan for "Wildlife Habitat Development wildlife restoration called the Project" which constitutes paying farmers and landowners on a lease basis for nesting areas and food strips for wildlife.

The program is now well under way and 341 such areas have been established in 87 counties. The program has two objective to maintain already-existing good habitat and to restore, wherever feasible, depleted and insufficient natural habitat.

Lake Vegetation Improves Fishing

"The lake vegetation control program started in 1930 and carried on continuously since 1940 by the Ohio Division of Conservation has definitely improved fishing and in addition has produced additional acres of fishable waters." This statement was made last week by E. L. Wickliff, chief of the Division's fish management section.

"Although the operation during the first few years remained in the experimental stage," Wickliff said, "the improved methods of cutting vegetation under water particularly at Buckeye and Indian lakes and continuous cutting each year since 1940 have been showing the kind of results that make a difference on the fisherman's stringer."

During the past five years, fishermen, trappers, hunters and boatsmen have lauded the underwater weed cutting program and have reported excellent catches of fish, better hunting and easier boating in the new openings and channels. Openings as large as one acre have been made in areas clogged with hornwart (moss) and paths and channels have been cut from main water of the lakes to the new openings.

Equipment used consists of a flat bottom boat equipped with an underwater cutter bar powered by an inboard motor. Although the original cutting machine was a factory production, several years of experimenting by Division Chief Harry Johnson and his staff, has created not only an improved cutter but a powered rake for retrieving the cut vegetation by a hydraulic lift for speed and efficiency.

Many acres of excellent fishing water have been lost to fish production and good fishing by vegetation but a continuous program of cutting and raking is expected to restore each year areas which otherwise contributes nothing toward fishing or fish production.

A certain amount of vegetation in both lakes and streams is neccessary but the amount quickly becomes overbalanced unless some method of control is maintained.

Girl Scout Calendar Sale

Visual Aid equipment will be purchased following the annual sale of beautiful Girl Scout Calendars this year in Franklin County. The sale begins on October 15 and will continue into November.

The calendar will sell for thirty cents and are available from three thousand registered Brownie Scouts, Intermediate Girl Scouts and Senior Girl Scouts in Columbus and Franklin County.

The Girl Scout Troops and the Girl Scout Council will share the profits from this calendar sale. The Troops will use their share of this money for campaigning and craft projects, and the Council will buy several items of visual aid equipment for the use of every organized Girl Scout group in Columbus and Franklin County.

The Calendars have thirteen colored pictures on different phases of Girl Scouting and space to write in dates beside each day in the year. Every Girl Scout family will want one for their home, and several others to give to friends and relatives at Christmas time. They make inexpensive but beautiful and useful presents.

St. Pauls Celebrates 40th Anniversary

On January 11, 1908, 22 families organized St. Paul's Evangelical and Reformed Church at 225 E. Gates St., where it is still located.

In 1928, the Rev. Paul C. Kaefer received a call from this church and has been there ever since. The church at that time had 133 members and was $3,600 in debt.

Last Sunday, St. Paul's celebrated its fourtieth anniversary with an all day service.

In 1942 the church started a fund drive for the purpose of building a new church on the present site.

Since then they have accumulated $23,000 in bonds. Sunday a special collection for the building was taken adding $3,500 to that fund.

Ministers who have served the church are, Rev. August Ruecker, 1908-09; Rev. Ed Brink 1909-10; Rev. H. S. Streich, 1910-15; Rev. H. E. Phniffer, Jan.-Sept., 1915; Rev. A. H. Knipping, 1919-28; and the Rev. Paul C Kaefer, since that time.

Participating in the service Sunday were Dr. W. R. Grunewald, president of the Synod and Miss Bernice Buehler, in charge of young people's work for the Synod.

St. Paul's is a warm church, we mean warm in welcome and rich in religious spirit.

Rev. Harry F Zierer, gave a short address at the afternoon services, repesenting the South Side Ministerial Ass'n.

Plans are now being drawn up for the new St. Paul's Evangelical and Reformed Church with the hope that construction may be started next year.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Here is a good chance for some of you good South Siders to make a donation to St. Paul's Evangelical Reformed Church by taking your allowance from your income tax and donating to them.

We are sure that money cannot be better placed than placing it for the uplifting of our community

One of the interesting events of the Nursery each month is the meeting of the Mothers Club; the one time the Mothers have time to sit down together with mutual interests. The October meeting will be Thursday evening, the 14th of the month. The splendid way the Mothers respond and attend certainly is inspiring to one another. Every mother can do her part to reach this ideal.

News In The World Of Religion

Thus far in 1948, Protestant church people of the United States have shipped overseas thru Church World Service more than 30,000,000 pounds of relief and reconstruction supplies, valued at $9,500,000, according to Dr. Leslie B. Moss, CWS executive. Shipments went to people in 37 European and Asiatic nations, and included 10,000,000 pounds of wheat and dairy goods donated by rural church people thru the "Lincoln Friendship Train." Besides food there was clothing, medicines, pre-fabricated church buildings, and religious literature. It is expected that fall harvests, Thanksgiving, and Christmas will increase gifts for the last months of the year.

The Harmony Circle Sunday School Class of First Methodist Church, Kankakee, Ill., recently donated an automobile ambulance to the Alden Speare Memorial Hospital, Nanping, Fukien, China. According to the hospital superintendent, Gerald L. Downie, M.D., the ambulance "is on the road three days a week and giving examinations and treatments to from 100 to 150 villagers, vaccinating all comers who are willing." The vaccinations are because of a local smallpox epidemic. The team that goes with the ambulance includes a public health nurse, a midwife, and an evangelist.

"There are rising on the horizon dark clouds of strange and angry omen," says Dr. John W. Burton, an Australian missionary leader. "It is the rising tide of color. The stronger races through the past two centuries in particular have oppressed and exploited the weaker; and most of those despoiled by our western commercialism are the colored peoples. The Eastern nations especially have raised the flag of revolt—China, Japan, Indonesia, India, Egypt, Iran, Black Africa: all have one unifying spirit—hatred and bitterness toward the nations that have oppressed them. Against this rising tide of color, all our Dame Partingtons are powerless and may as well throw away their mops at once. Only by policies of honesty, fair dealing, goodwill and sympathy can we hope to bring recession of this tide of bitterness".....

In a message prepared for reading from pulpits on World Order Day—Sunday, October 24—the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America says in part. "On this World Order Day, let the churches make known their support of measures designed to decrease social welfare throughout the world, to curb and overcome economic injustices dividing men and peoples, and to secure wider observance of and respect for human rights. Let the churches press for the uninterrupted continuance of diplomatic conversations between the Soviet Union and the United States in the hope of the negotiation of trustworthy agreements by which the tensions currently existing between Russia and the West may be eased. Let the churches, mindful of the needs for national strength in an insecure world, continue their support of efforts to secure international control of atomic energy and the multilateral reduction and effective control of armaments thru the United Nations. Let the churches demand that the formulation of American foreign policy be recognized as the primary responsibility not of the military, but of the civilian, officers of government. In conformity with the American tradition, let the churches press for those constructive measures which will change the conditions favoring the spread of despotism. Let the churches support in every possible way the resettlement of the displaced persons permitted by current legislation, and work for the improvement of this legislation. It is one of the requirements of the Gospel to which Christians are beholden that all possible aid shall be given to those made destitute and homeless by the ravages of war."

According to the Rev. Everett W. Thompson, a missionary who has been serving in Japan and Okinawa, the latter island is "one great slum 100 miles long," and about the only relief to the situation is the food and clothing sent in thru Church World Service by American churches. "Several shipments came from Okinawans in Los Angeles and in Honolulu and in Argentina," he reports. "These included pencils, notebooks, chalk and dictionaries for the destitute schools; food, cloth

High Nuptial Mass Features Wedding

Gladioli and chrysanthemums decorated the altar of Corpus Christi Church on Saturday, Sept. 11, at 9:30 a.m. when Miss Louise Von Moegen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Von Moegen, 580 E. Moler-st, became the bride of Robert Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Baker, 1716 S. Champion Ave. Rev. Fr. Joseph P. Kiefer, uncle of the groom, officiated at the nuptial high mass.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of heavy white satin with a sheer yoke edged in seed pearls and beading, and a full skirt terminating into a wide cathedral train. Her fingertip veil of illusion was held in place by a Juliet cap. She carried an arm bouquet of white chrysanthemums centered with an orchid. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls a gift from the groom.

Mrs. Rose Workman, matron of honor and sister of the bride, and Mrs. Catherine Berry, bridesmatron, wore identical gowns of orchid with matching mitts and carried arm bouquets of yellow and white chrysanthemums. The little flower girl, Carol Holmes, wore a gown of yellow fashioned like the other attendants, and carried a colonial bouquet of orchid and white chrysanthemums. George Von Moegen Jr., brother of the bride, was best man, and Charles Hayes and Frank Reynolds, cousins of the groom, were ushers. Little Kenny Kerscher was ring bearer.

Following the ceremony, a breakfast was held for the immediate families at Shade's Restaurant at Canal Winchester.

Salaries of Athletes

THEY were talking about the money a professional athlete could make, and how much most of these athletes were worth.

In the first place, among eight or ten old-time writers, in the discussion it was generally voted that the ring business was the most unpaid ed. This means that a few were far overpaid and the others were far underpaid

For example, Joe Louis has bowled over close to four million dollars for his 62 fights. Now four million dollars is quite a chunk more than any other contestant could collect from any other game.

Babe Ruth

Among the outfit Joe Louis picked up 350 thousand dollars for his last fight. That is about the pay that 10 of the highest-paid ballplayers would get for an entire season of 154 games.

But after all, the fight champion collects because he can draw. When two ball clubs meet there may be 50 ball players engaged. When fighters meet, only two in the main event get any real money, and one of these gets most of it. After all, a contestant is entitled to get his part of the swag which his drawing power can earn.

Babe Ruth was paid as high as $80,000 a year. He was actually worth more than double this amount to his team, the league and baseball in general. It would be hard to measure how much he actually earned. I've seen home teams drawing 1,500 a game jump to 33,000 when the Babe came along.

Few Get Rich

But, while Jack Dempsey, Louis and Gene Tunney have all collected huge amounts, and a few others have picked up important checks from the fight game, the vast majority get little except queer noises in their skulls. It's a tough game, if you make good. It's a thousand times tougher when you don't.

Commissioner Eddie Eagen tells me there are more boxers than one might think who are putting away from $50,000 to $60,000 a year. This is amazing when you figure the cut the manager and his helpers get.

The fight game is good only to the few. For the others it is largely a matter of scrambled brains. It is not a profession to be recommended too highly to the youth of the land.

Baseball and football are the two best average paying games, especially in the higher circuits.

Oddly enough, more than a few young stars who dabble in both sports have to make certain drastic decisions.

Alvin Dark of the Braves was offered more to play football than he gets playing baseball. Dark picked baseball and the Braves.

Charley Trippi tried out both games, and this season the ex-Georgia star decided to give all his time to the Chicago Cardinals, leaving baseball flat. He found the combination too much to handle.

Chuck Conerly of Mississippi and Bobby Layne of Texas were two baseball stars. Both had bright baseball futures. Both picked football with the high guarantees now offered.

Years ago, Walter Hagen could have been a noted big league star—one of the greatest in the game. Hagen picked golf and then proceeded to roll up a million dollars in a few years—which the carefree Haig promptly spent.

Joe Gordon was an Oregon great at football before he switched entirely to baseball. Torgerson of the Braves was another football star who picked baseball for a money-maker. There are many others I could mention.

Ballplayers Last Longer

One thing to be remembered is that one lasts longer, on a general average, at baseball than he does at football. The wear and tear isn't so expensive.

A big league ballplayer with any particular merit should be good for 12 or 14 years. Few football players last that long. The Mel Heins, Sammy Baughs and Sid Luckmans are scarce.

Bob Feller leads both leagues in the way of a pay check at something like $85,000 a year, which, so far this dizzy year, Rapid Robert hasn't come close to earning.

Ted Williams is next, and Joe DiMaggio is third. They get from $60,000 to $75,000 and are earning it every day as two of the leading stars. Stan Musial gets nothing like these amounts, although the Cardinal brilliant is worth as much as any man in the game. There will be a big reshifting of values next year—up and down.

Musial is drawing something like $32,000 this season, but at his present pace if he isn't a $60,000 entry they have no ballplayers in the National league.

Pre-Season Games At Schiller

Schiller Recreation center will open its three pre-season basketball leagues next week Wednesday, October 20th, 6:00 p.m. at which time the intermediates and seniors play, and on Saturday morning, October 23 at 9:00 o'clock the junior pre-season basketball league will hold its initial games.

Special notice to all team managers: The official entry blanks must be properly filled out; and filed with Monte Beaver; supervisor, not later than Monday evening, October 27th at the center.

The Varsity S Club is an organization especially for the athletes who have earned a varsity letter in one or more sports. Dave Levy, regular guard on the Bulldog grid team, served as president of the group for this past semester. Officers for the coming year have not been elected.

A committee was chosen to select the athlete. Composing the committee are Dave Levy, Frank Zubovich, Gomez Cordle, Dorsey Woodward and Chuck Young. Athletes chosen were Frank Zubovich for Track, Gomez Cordle, Cross Country; Earl Marshall, Basketball; Bob Kreiger, Golf; Chuck Branson, Swimming; for football two boys were chosen Danny Kranklin and Hank Maser.

Women Of Moose To Meet

Women of The Moose Chapter 206 will meet Thursday evening October 14, 8:00 p.m. at the Moose Home, 36 W Sycamore St.

"Oil Progress Day" Recalls Industry's "Pot Still" Days

One day some ninety-odd years ago a tall, stoop-shouldered canal boat man named Samuel M. Kier was stirring a sticky, evil-smelling brew in an iron kettle which squatted on a stove in the cellar of a shack just outside the city limits of Pittsburgh. The mess on the stove was a sample of Kier's Rock Oil, a patent medicine in which Sam had invested heavily but which tasted so vile that few people would buy it. Kier was trying to salvage his investment by seeing what would happen if he ran the unsavory stuff through a primitive still.

As the petroleum began to boil vigorously, Kier slapped a home-made "worm" on top of the kettle. A dribble of colorless liquid ran out of the still. He touched a match to it and the liquid burned slowly. Inspired, he put some of it in an empty whale oil lamp. The lamp glowed brighter than it ever had before!

That was how Sam Kier discovered kerosene and became America's first petroleum refiner. The petroleum industry, which is paying tribute to Sam Kier, to all of his successors and to the pioneering spirit of the American people as a whole during the observance of "Oil Progress Day" on October 14, has come a fabulously long way since those ante-bellum years.

Instead of a handful of struggling companies, the industry now consists of 34,000 competitive firms. Instead of one well—that brought in by Colonel E. L. Drake at Titusville, Pa., in the summer of 1859—oil companies have drilled around 1,200,000 wells and oil is produced in 25 states. Some 428,000 of these wells are producing oil today. Instead of a transport system consisting of a few rickety wagons and canal boats, the oil companies have a remarkable system of 150,000 miles of pipelines, plus large fleets of ocean-going tankers, inland-waterway tankers, barges, railway tank cars and tank trucks. Instead of peddling their products in five gallon tin cans, oil men now include thousands of wholesale distributors, and operate a quarter million modern, clean and efficient service stations.

Today, oil and natural gas supply almost half of this nation's heat and power requirements. From crude oil comes a grand total of more than 1,200 useful products—products which everyone uses almost every day of his life.

"Oil Progress Day" is being observed this week. Members of the industry will report such things as the above to citizens of the communities in which they operate. Oil men are making that report to call the attention of their friends, customers and neighbors to the fact that they operate in the American tradition of free, competitive enterprise. As a result they are doing an outstanding job in their efforts to contribute to America's progress and well-being. They are, in fact, echoing Sam Kier's cry: "We're making progress."

Reserve This Date

A jitney supper will be served by the ladies of Townsend Club No. 30 at Gates-Fourth Methodist Church. Gates and So. Fourth Sts. October 18, 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. Public is invited.

Plan Halloween Dance

The following women, Chairmen of Women of The Moose Chapter 206 will hold a masquerade dance at the Moose Home, 36 W. VICTOR THEATER

Ideal Presents "Buck Privates"

On Sunday and Monday all the ex-soldiers will be able to have a laugh on themselves if they view "Buck Privates". This Abbott and Costello film pokes fun in their usual crazy manner at all the buck privates that ever entered Uncle Sam's Army. Watch them get tangled up at drill and laugh at some of the boners they pull with everyone from the Colonel to Privates First Class.

"Buck Privates" will be shown together with "The Spoilers" staring two-fisted John Wayne. A cartoon completes the bill.

RUSSELL THEATRE

"Melody Time" another Walt Disney masterpiece will be shown at the Russel on Sunday and Monday. "Melody Time" is a nine part variety show combining the artistry of Walt Disney's cartoon with the talents of such stars as the Andrew Sisters, Dennis Day and every childs favorite, Roy Rogers and Trigger. For a wonderful time don't send the children — "Bring 'Em" ! !

"Heart of Virginia" with Janet Martin and Robert Lowery plus news and a Cartoon complete this bill.

Columbia Theater

The Columbia Theater presents Sunday, Monday and Tuesday,—Gregory Peck and Ann Todd with a wonderful supporting cast in "The Paradine Case." You'll be face to face with raw emotion when you see this adventure in unbearable suspense. One of the most exciting motion pictures ever made. There's tense excitement in this story of a woman pitted against the majesty of the law, of a love too big for one man. It's a picture you'll never forget. Also playing is "Michael O'Halloran" starring Scotty Beckett and Allene Roberts. A picture with an emotional wallop that will leave you limp.

Bob Hope Starring In "Monsieur Beaucaire"

Bob Hope, the ski-nosed Cleveland lad who soared to the No. 1 comedian spot in the country, stars in the hilarious "Monsieur Beaucaire", opening Sunday at the Southland Theatre. The lovely Joan Caulfield co-stars with Hope in the delightful hit, set in early France. "Monsieur Beaucaire" will play at the Southland on an outstanding double bill with "The Paradine Case", brilliant courtroom drama starring Gregory Peck, Valli and an all-star supporting cast.

South Side To Broadcast On "Listen Ladies"

Here's a show that can say "nothing's the same but the name." Our afternoon ladies' program has been remodelled and emerges as a half-hour audience participation program with music, interviews, prizes and the opportunity to win a gift—for somebody else!

To make certain that everyone in Columbus has a chance to attend a broadcast, the selection of our audience has been put in the hands of community newspapers. One day each week is assigned to four different papers with the fifth day enjoying an Open House status. The schedule:—

Monday, Northside Day (Clintonville Booster)

Tuesday, Eastside Day (East Side News)

Wednesday, Open House

Thursday, Southside Day (South Side Booster)

Friday, Westside Day (Hilltop Record)

For our day, the South Side Booster of this section will invite each week a local group to attend the Listen Ladies Broadcast. 125 tickets for each show will be at the disposal of the newspaper. The local paper will also select a worthy "shut-in" case—who will receive a gift, although unable to attend. With the exception of the first broadcast, the name of the ladies' group invited and the name of our special "shut-in" will be submitted to WCOL a week in advance. In appreciation for the fine cooperation extended by the community newspapers, we will give due credit over the air for their work and each program will be identified as a joint offering by WCOL and the newspaper of that day.

To insure a fast-paced, entertaining show, our talented duo of Bill Burt and Dorothy Moore will handle the proceedings—Bill as Master of Ceremonies and Dorothy at the console.

The format of the show will contain a Household Quiz with prizes awarded to the winner (determined by audience applause). Interviews with gay and amusing questions with beautiful prises awaiting the correct answers, and a "Sunshine Friend" Quiz—where participants will win the opportunity to present a gift to a deserving friend who is confined to her home and unable to attend. The show will feature occasional "guest stars" and community singing.

Bill Burt

One of the most engaging, dynamic personalities on the local radio scene, is WCOL's Bill Burt, host and emcee of the brand new "Listen Ladies" show aired daily at 1:30 p.m. Sparkigg a thirty-minute program of fun, music and a visit with your neighbors, Bill brings to the show the swift smoothness and fast-pacing of a seasoned performer whose genuine interest in people has made him a stellar attraction on the WCOL, WCOL-FM schedule.

A native of Columbus, Burt attended Columbus Academy and later Kiski Prep School in Saltsburg, Pa. His college work was received at Miami University and Ohio State. During his school years, Bill was prominent in campus theatrical activities where his singing and dancing made him a valuable member to the casts of school productions. Experience in the legitimate theatre was gained during his seasons in New England summer stock with the Tamworth Players.

Following more than three years overseas with the Air Corps, Bill returned to Columbus and with that return, came the realization of an ambition of long-standing....he entered radio work, joining the staff of WCOL in December of 1947. In a little less than one year, 29-year-old Bill Burt has gained for himself an enviable reputation as an entertainer and beginning Monday, October 18, at 1:30 p.m., takes over as emcee on Central Ohio's brand new audience participation show, "Listen Ladies," to be heard Monday through Friday from WCOL, WCOL-FM.

Dorothy Moore

Youth, beauty and talent are three qualities rarely found in one person, but Dorothy Drummond Moore, WCOL's staff organist, featured on the new "Listen Ladies" broadcast, is an exception to the rule, for Dorothy definitely has all three!

Born in Bridgeport, Ohio, Dorothy began her musical training when only a youngster. Private coaching in piano and pipe organ continued throughout the school years, including studies at Capital University. While in high school, Dorothy was church organist in Bridgeport and continued in this capacity for seven years.

Her radio work began in Wheeling, W. Va., and was followed by appearances as accompanist and soloist on programs originating from Pittsburgh stations. Club engagements and public appearances occupied Dorothy's time until her marriage to William A. Moore, Columbus attorney. For more than four years, while her husband was in the Army, Dorothy traveled with him much of the time, both in the states and Bermuda, and continued her musical career with public appearances and special shows.

When her husband's Army career was over, the Moores returned to Columbus, and Dorothy joined the WCOL, WCOL-FM staff in June of 1947. Since that time she has been featured in many studio shows with a schedule that has called for shows seven days a week. Dorothy has gained many, many friends thru her appearances at the Torch Room, the Jai-Lai and Grandview Inn and her vivacious charm and talent make her a valuable assisting artist on the completely new "Listen Ladies" audience participation show to be heard from WCOL, WCOL-FM, Monday thru Friday at 1:30 p.m.

Miss Mary Rau Weds Wm. Walpole

Emmanuel Lutheran Church was the setting for the wedding Sept. 11 of Miss Mary Elisabeth Rau, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Rau 1583 S. Fourth-st, to William Howard Walpole, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Mohr, 256 E. Markison-av. The Rev. C. J. Suttorius read the wedding service at 7:30 p.m. before a candlelight altar decorated with white gladioli and greenery.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white satin with an illusion yoke trimmed with a ruffle of Chantilly lace, and a cathedral train edged in matching lace. Her fingertip veil of illusion was held by a tiara of lace, and she carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid and satin streamers. Her only jewelry was an heirloom cameo.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Earl Reisdorf, wore a bustleback gown of dusty pink taffeta with matching mitts and she carried a semi-colonial bouquet of pink and white colonial flowers which matched her headdress. Mrs. Leroy Parks, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Lloyd Baker, cousin of the bride, wore identical gowns of pale green taffeta and carried bouquets of multicolored flowers. They wore matching floral headdresses.

Leroy Parks served as best man and ushers were: Bill Rau and Harold Larimer. At the ensuing reception in the Rau home, Mrs. Rau received in a powder blue crepe dress trimmed in pink sequins and wore a corsage of pink roses. Mrs. Mohr wore a gold beaded blue crepe dress and corsage of yellow roses.

The bride and her husband are graduates of South High School. Mr. Walpole attended Ohio State University and is associated with Dick's Grind Shop. They are residing at 632 S. Champion Ave.

President Truman's worst enemy couldn't accuse him of pessimism or lack of confidence when it comes to his political future. All the polls indicate that he is due for the worst beating at the polls received by any incumbent since Herbert Hoover. Some of the top Democrats are showing a remarkable disinterest in the national campaign, and are busying themselves mending fences at home. The Democratic National committee seems to be giving more effort to trying to hold its own in Congress than in electing the President. The revolt of the Southern Democrats, who are backing Governor Thurmond for the Presidency may, in the view of some, take as many as 35 Deep South Electoral votes away from Mr. Truman. Henry Wallace is obviously cutting to some extent into the Democratic ranks in the big industrial areas, where the party has had its main strength since 1932. And, finally, Mr. Dewey has found enthusiastic audiences wherever he has gone down the long campaign trail.

Yet, in spite of all this, Mr. Truman clearly feels that the battle is not lost, and that he can win. He has said time and time again that he will continue in the White House for four more years, and those who are in a position to know say he believes that literally. He is staking his cause on going personally to the voters—and so, for that matter, is his opponent. As a result, the two major candidates will do more traveling this year than any have since the use of radio became general. It is strictly a grass roots campaign.

The President's strategy is clear and simple. He was a middle-of-the-road Senator, who followed Mr. Roosevelt's leadership as a matter of party loyalty—he has always been a strong party man. In the early days of his Presidency, he seemed to be considerably more conservative and less impetuous than his predecessor. Now, however, he has moved definitely left of center. He has accepted practically all the New Deal ideas, and added a number of his own. Congress, he says, is controlled by "Eastern Republican moss-backs" who play along with the special interests. In California, he said it is necessary to elect a Democratic President and a Democratic Congress to keep the country from "going to the dogs." In another brief talk, he referred to the present leaders of Congress as "those birds." He favors, on specific issues, such projects as compulsory government health insurance, wide-spread government development of power, price control along something resembling the OPA pattern, and other policies which, no matter what can be said for and against them, would certainly expand the authority of the central government over the lives and the resources of the people. He appeals to labor by advocating the complete repeal of the Taft-Hartley law, and by calling the Republican Congress an anti-labor body.

Mr. Dewey, of course, stands pretty much on the opposite side of most of the big domestic issues. Where Mr. Truman says the last Congress was the worst in American history, Mr. Dewey says it was one of the best and endorses its record. He, like other GOP strategists, argue that the Taft-Hartley law is a protection for legitimate labor and its unions. He believes that a resumption of price control would lead to a police state, and that the Truman policies in general are a threat to the freedom of Americans. Only on the subject of foreign policy are the two candidates in general agreement. Whichever one wins, the broad principals underlying that policy—such as as multi-billion dollar aid to Europe and firmness in our dealings with the Soviet Union—will be continued.

One interesting facet of the Dewey campaign is his emphasis on better administration of the government—on getting necessary jobs done with less confusion, for less money, and with a smaller number of employes for the taxpayers to support. Here, in the view of many objective reporters of the national scene, he is on firm ground. Some of Mr. Truman's friends, even, admit that he has made bad appointments to fill critical jobs on the high-policy level, that he has made little effort to cut down the overlapping Federal bureaucracy, that he has often issued statements thaat were in conflict with those of members of his own official family, and that he has shown only a modest gift for organization and administration.

On the other hand, Governor Dewey's whole political career, from his gang-buster days on up to Governor, has been characterized by a remarkable talent for getting things done with a minimum of fuss. He believes in teamwork, and at Albany he has surrounded himself with an extremely able group of assistants who seem to have no political ambitions of their own. It is said that no policy is ever announced until he and his advisors have thrashed it out to the last comma and everyone has agreed to it. As a result, there are no conflicts of policy and position within the Dewey circle. If he is elected, these assistants, for the most part, will undoubtedly be given Cabinet, and other top Federal jobs.

Practically everyone in the country will have a chance to see and hear one or both of the major candidates before election day comes. No one, regardless of his tastes in issues, can say that there is any lack of fright on either side. Both of the men have an abundance of energy and conviction and they are playing for keeps.

Miss Norma Kimberley Wedded Recently

In a heavy ivory satin wedding gown styled with a hoopskirt and cathedral train, Miss Norma Jean Kimberley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth C. Kimberley, 600 Sheldon-av., approached the altar of Corpus Christi Church, Aug. 7, to become the bride of Lyle Beaver son of Arthur L. Beaver, Chicago, and Mrs. Betty Carlson.

The bride's tiara, made by her mother, was heart-shaped and fashioned of pleated illusion and satin. Sequins and seed pearls with pearlized orange blossoms trimmed the front of the tiara which held her three quarter length veil of silk illusion. She wore a strand of pearls, gift of the bridegroom, and carried a bouquet of white roses upon a prayerbook.

Miss Mary Kimberley, gowned in yellow; Miss Rose Marie Wuichner and Mrs. Dorothy Ruisinger, gowned in orchid and lime green respectively, were the bride's attendants. Their dresses were sheer marquisette off-shoulder necklines, double ruffled berthas and hoopskirts caught up with black velveteen bows. They wore hairbraid picture hats matching their gowns, and gold medallions on velveteen ribbons. Their cascading bouquets were in contrasting colors.

Joseph Swain served as best man and ushers were Coby Grimes, Donald Ziegler, Larry Ruisinger and John Wuichner. Mrs. Kimberley chose for the occasion a steel blue satin dress while Mrs. Carlson wore a white suit. Both mothers wore corsages of roses.

Following the double ring ceremony, a breakfast was held at the Beechwold Tavern. An evening reception for 200 guests was held at the Kimberley home.

Labor Led By God Can Lead The World

World labor is being torn apart by the war of ideologies. The ideology of Communism has already captured control of the major unions in France and Italy, as well as the countries behind the Iron Curtain and has even infiltrated many of the unions here, in spite of efforts of sound union leadership to stop it.

Recently two large unions, the United Public Workers of America and the United Electrical Workers, were black-listed by the Atomic Energy Commission because their leadership is suspected of Communist affiliation.

Today we see the spectacle of sound labor men either trying to stamp out Communism in their unions by strong arm methods or being slowly sucked under by the Communist strategy of smear and sabotage.

Fred Copeman, former British delegate to the Comintern, and now Chairman of the Central Lewisham Labor Party said recently, "Our own labor movement has lost the fire and faith of George Lansbury, Keir Hardy, and Tom Mann - men who were led by God. Communist dialectics enabled people to die willingly for the party. This is because Communism convinces people that its ideals are the ones needed for the present world. What is the answer to all this?" Copeman stressed that the answer is not negative criticism, but building "a greater, more constructive, inspiring, fighting ideology and living it. Moral Re-Armament is such an ideology. The workers have more to gain than anyone else from a moral system. Any person convinced about the rightness of this can influence national policy, trade union and industrial organizations."

Labor has a destiny. Labor led by God can lead the world. Labor can be the uniting force that brings nations together Communism says, "Workers of the world unite." MRA says, "Workers unite the world."

St. Mary's Snatches 20 To 14 Win

The largest crowd ever to follow the Rams traveled by chartered bus and car to see St. Mary's kick off to the Marion Irish. The ball was put in play on the Irish 20. A heavy dew covered the field and made the backs fumble numerous times. In the first period the Rams made three first downs to the Irish one.

Late in the second quarter, Marion put together a drive that ended with an incomplete fourth down pass in the end zone. St. Mary's took over making three first downs only to punt on fourth down, after a clipping penalty put them in the hole. Marion took over as the half ended.

As the third quarter started St. Marys received the kickoff and returned it to their own forty. In three consecutive plays Ray Trucco made three first downs to Marion's six yard line. Hughes drove to the one. Then, on his second try, Trucco made the six points on an off-tackle slant. Gianvito's kick was good and St. Marys led seven to zero. This seemed to be the atmosphere as the players came to life. After an exchange of punts, Marion recovered a St. Marys fumble on St. Marys' thirty-five yard line as the quarter ended.

Marion on third down made a screenpass good for ten yards. On the next play, interference was called on St. Marys six. On the first play, an offside penalty made it first and eleven for a touchdown for Marion. "Corky" Cusick of the Irish broke through center, and scored standing up. The plunge was good, and the score was tied. Marion kicked off to St. Mary's thirty, but on second down, with five yards to go, Gianvito fumbled the ball, and Marion recovered. A pass was good to St. Mary's six, and on the next play a pass was completed in the end zone. The try for point was good and Marion led fourteen to seven.

Marion kicked off to St. Mary's thirty-five. Dick Hughes and Ray Trucco teamed up to run the ball to Marion's fifteen. Trucco rounded end and scored. The plunge for extra point by Hughes was good and the score was tied with but one minute and thirty seconds to go.

St. Mary kicked to Marion's twenty. Marion set out to win, and break the tie. Cusick faded to pass, and threw a long one to St. Mary's forty, where Dick Brown, a freshman, of St. Mary's received it up, and behind beautiful blocking by Demorest, Pedon and Hughes ran to Marion's five. With but seconds to go, Trucco rounded to left end and fell over for the touchdown. St. Mary's led twenty to fourteen, as the kick for extra point was no good. St. Mary's kicked to Marion as the game ended.

By Carolyn Perry

"They did it; They won! South beat Aquinas!" These were the shouts and crys echoed through out the city last Friday night when South High beat Aquinas. The taste of victory was sweet to the win-hungry bulldogs. It was not until the last eight minutes of the fourth period that South began to hit pay dirt, but once they started rolling they couldn't be stopped. The first three periods saw both of the teams playing on even terms. But when a penalty gave the Bulldogs the ball on the Terrier one yard line, everything was set and Newt Thomas dashed over for the first score. The last two touchdowns were made in fast order by halfback Dorsey Woodward. The first two kicks were wide. The extra point following the third touchdown was kicked by Davy Levy.

The faculty, the student body and all the faithful followers of South's team were overwhelmed with joy. Tears streamed from the eyes of many spectators who had hoped for so long to see their team win a game. Friday night had been designated as Dad's nite and all of the fathers of the boys on the team that were present could hold their heads high while watching their sons play.

After the final gun had been fired spectators thronged the field. Congratulations were heard all around. The players picked up their pep-filled coach and carried him off the field. Yes, "Red" Troyer was really happy. Into the locker room and under the showers went the coach fully clad. We know he didn't mind; everyone was too tickled to care about anything.

Tomorrow night is North and a real tough one at North's field. Let's all South Siders who can possibly be there, turn out for this game. These boys really deserve our support, so let's go, Boosters!

South Sider For Clerk Of Courts

Roy King earned two important republics to a successful business career when he was still a boy selling newspapers. He has carried these on in life and they have made him a trusted friend and a man sought after.

They are do the job right and do it promptly.

Roy King has been doing the job at hand right and he has been doing it promptly.

In his job as Columbus City Treasurer, he has kept his department's records up to date. He can supply figures and facts about the city's cash at a moment's notice.

This efficiency caused Roy King to be in demand for such important things as common pleas court reporter, a position he held for 16 years before being named City Treasurer; official stenographer for the Ohio Supreme Court; reporter for the Grand Army of the Republic at its annual encampments.

Roy King could be counted on to be on time and to accurately record every detail, however trivial it might seem at the time.

He has reported speeches by many nationally famous men, such as, William Jennings Bryan, Woodrow Wilson, Senator Alva Barkley, Senator Theodore Burton, Senator Willis and Senator Bricker.

Now a candidate for his first elective office, Roy King can count on supprot from Democrats and Republicans alike on election day. That he would have such support was evidenced at the May primary.

Roy King was a write-in candidate for the nomination for Clerk of Courts. He not only won the nomination by polling more than 26,000 votes on the GOP ballot, but also got a sizeable number from the Democrats.

His sincere, down-to-earth friendliness inspires confidence in all he meets.

Chrysanthemum Show At City Hall

Chrysanthemums—thousands of blossoms in more than 300 named varieties—will decorate the Columbus City Hall grounds this week end in the city's fifth annual 'mum show.

Outdoor displays of the popular fall flowers will be opened officially Wednesday, Oct. 20. Indoor exhibits of cut flowers will be set up Friday.

The landscaping design was prepared by Charles M. Frank, landscape architect, of the Howard E. Warick firm, for the Columbus Landscape Association of which he is vice president. Members of the association will participate in plantings featuring two formal gardens, a naturalistic garden and other designs. Interior displays are being arranged by the Columbus Florists Association and its president, Jack Connell.

The chrysanthemum show was originated in 1944 by Mayor James A. Rhodes and Ray S. Dietz, superintendent of city parks, with 2000 'mum plants given to the city by local florists. The exhibition has grown each year and attracts visitors from all parts of Ohio and from neighboring states. It is estimated that nearly 200,000 persons visited City Hall last year to see the colorful 'mums.

Special flood lights have been installed on City Hall this year to make the show available to those who are unable to see it during working hours. The lights will be used Friday, Saturday, Sunday and Monday nights to accomodate week-end visitors.

South Side YMCA Junior Football League

After a slow start the South Side Midgets built up their steam to roll over a heavier Marshmallow Softies by a score of 31 to 12, in the first game of the heavyweight class of the South Side YMOA Community Junior Boys League played at Southwood field October 12.

Left-half Dick Baker of the Softies, tossed the pigskin to "Stew" Root for the first score of the opening period and Earl Joiner carried the ball over for the extra point. Later in the same quarter, Nate Gordon intercepted a Softie pass and carried the ball from mid-field to the one yard line for the Midgets. He bucked the line for the touchdown and Harry Peake tallied the extra point.

The Midgets' second score came in the second quarter when a fumbled punt rolled over the goal and was recovered by left guard Ray Carroll.

The Midgets pulled the old sleeper play in the third quarter to score on a pass and 35 yard run by Chas. Peake. The Marshmallow Boys tried to pull the sleeper back and got their ball intercepted by Eugene Tuff who raced 25 yards for their second score of the third period.

Quarterback Will Brumfield scored late in the fourth quarter for the Marshmallow Softies on a 30-yd. pass heaved by Dick Baker. However, just as the gun cracked for the end of the game Harry Peake intercepted another "Softie" pass and scored, giving the Marion Road boys a 31 to 12 victory.

Tarzan At Russell Theater

Sunday and Monday The Russel Theater will be showing Tarzan and the Mermaids, starring Johnny Weissmuller as Tarzan, Brenda Joyce as Jane. Filmed against a Mexican background, Tarzan changes from matching wits with villians and jungle animals to matching wits and swimming ability with some' of the most beautiful mermaids in the world. There are still the old thrill and danger with appeal for the adventure loving. Together with Gung-Ho starring Robert Mitchum and Randolph Scott, it should be an enjoyable evenings entertainment.

Columbia Theater

The Columbia Theater will present Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, Betty Hutton in "Dream Girl." Betty is her own fun loving self and the picture offers a good evening of enjoyment. Also on the program is "Shaggy" a dog picture in technicolor, Brenda Joyce is the female star of this picture.

This week the program is changed somewhat. On Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, "The Babe Ruth Story" will be presented. This fine picture has been held for four days in order to give all the opportunity to see it. This triumphant screen entertainment is the enthrilling stroy of baseball's greatest idol. The immortal King of Swat, told with the masterful touch that makes it the season's outstanding hit Laughter and tears, romance and heartache, triumph and despair They're all here and they're all true, in the gripping, thrill-packed saga of baseball's all-time greatest of great. Also playing is "The Music Man" featuring Jimmie Dorsey.

Rummage Sale

The Seidella Class of South Methodist Church will hold a rummage sale, Sat., Oct. 30, beginning at 8:00 a.m. at St. Stephens Community House, 379 E. Barthman Ave.

"River Lady" At Southland

Glamorous Yvonne DeCarlo, who portrays a notorious gambling queen, and rugged Rod Cameron, her lumberjack heart interest, are glaring daggers at each other in this scene from "River Lady," Technicolor attraction currently showing at the Southland Theatre. Dan Duryea costars with Miss DeCarlo and Cameron in the action-packed adventure. "Bury Me Dead" completes the dual bill.

Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday, "The Babe Ruth Story" will be shown as a single feature at the South High Street Academy houses. William Bendix portrays the beloved Sultan of Swat in this not-to-be-missed screen biography. Claire Trevor is seen as Ruth's wife, and Charles Bickford protrays Brother Matthias who started Ruth on the path to baseball greatness. Selected short subjects will be shown with "The Babe Ruth Story."

South Sider Runs For Commissioner

Albert B. Gregg

Albert R. Gregg, candidate for County Commissioner was born in South Onondaga, (now Syracuse) New York, the son of a country doctor. After being discharged as a Sergeant from the Air Corps after the first World War he studied Chemical Engineering at Syracuse University. He worked his way by taking care of furnaces or any other odd jobs available. He cooked and took care of a house one year. For ten years, Gregg worked in paper and pulp mills in the United States and Canada, and as engineer for two national Engineering Companies.

The depression of the Thirties convinced Gregg that it would be best to own his own business. In 1932 he started the Gregg Insurance Agency and a little later the Gregg Photo Studio. Both of these businesses are now operating.

The day after Pearl Harbor, he volunteered again to the Army. He was inducted as a private in the Infantry and served four and a half years, one and a half in the Pacific Theater. Before separation Gregg had advanced to the grade of Captain.

After V-J Day, he was placed in charge of the Hokusan Paper Mill in Korea and increased the production from 37,000 pounds per month, the largest production to that date, to over 400,000 pounds monthly. He was then ordered to serve on the staff of the Military Governor of Korea, and was placed in charge of all paper making in that country. Before leaving for home, he had organized The Technical Association of the Korean pulp and paper Industry, and instituted a system of uniform cost accounting for all mills, and had started a joint paper mill-Technical College program for Technician Training.

Recently Gregg has delivered several lectures on the History, Culture, and Future of Korea.

In 1938 he was president of the Buckeye Republican Club. He was president of both the Franklin County and the Ohio War Veterans Republican Club, when he entered the Army. In 1940 he had charge of the Veterans division at Republican State Headquarters. Active in American Legion affairs he was district chairman of the Sons of the American Legion, Amvets, Masons, and other civic groups. He was active in Red Cross Work, and was serving as assistant personnel director of the Emergency Medical Corps, when he entered the Army.

He married Hazel Stelzer, a So. High and Ohio State graduate in 1930. They now reside at 878 Kenwick Road.

Second Ward Features Singers

The Second Ward Republican Club will hold their candidates meeting Wednesday, October 27, at 7:30 p.m.

There will be plenty of music which will be furnished by the Singing Sheriffs and the Buckeye Republican Glee Club according to Henry Bell, the Committeeman.

The candidates will be introduced by Elmer Keller, City Service Director.

Judge Herbert Mills, of Dayton, will be the speaker. There will be prizes and refreshments.

Butler Charges Paul With Misfeasence

Sheriff Ralph Paul today was charged with Misfeasance in office by Heinie G. Butler, Democratic Candidate for Sheriff, who at the same time demanded an investigation of Paul's office by a special grand jury.

Butler said he bases his charge on the recently published statement of Francis Kearns, Republican Candidate for Prosecutor, in which several locations in the county were listed as wide-open gambling places.

Butler said a grand jury investigation of Paul's office should be started immediately on the information made public by Kearns and Paul Herbert, Lieut. Gov. He charged that Paul, who has between 40 and 45 Deputy Sheriffs at his disposal day and night, is guilty of criminal neglect by permitting wide-open gambling in the county.

"It is the duty of the sheriff, who has taken an oath to uphold the law, to arrest and turn over to the Prosecutor for prosecution, any person or persons found to be violating the laws of the county or state," Butler declared.

"Mr. Kearns has made a statement to the public through the newspapers that indicates Paul is guilty of misfeasance is office," Butler continued. "It is now the duty of Mr. Kearns, as a good citizen, to file a bill of information against Paul with any judge of the Court of Common Pleas. If Mr. Kearns fails to do this he is shirking his duty as a "dependable and reliable" citizen, and it can only be assumed that he is trying to protect his Republican colleague."

Butler pointed out that on previous occasions he has called attention to rumors that known racketeers from other cities are infesting the county with vicious rackets, but that Paul had ignored the warnings.

Butler said he will guarantee to the citizens of the county that when he is elected Sheriff the racketeers will be out of the county in a few days, and his Deputy Sheriffs will be law enforcement officials instead of spending their time singing and molesting minor traffic violators which has been Paul's method of running the Sheriff's office.

Old And New Russia

The Government and the people of the United States are very bitter against the Russian governmen. The Administration of Stalin is just as ruthless in pushing the aims of Communism as the Russian revolutionists were when they murdered the Czar and his family.

The World's Almanac reported in 1940 that Russians in the United States numbered 2,610,244. Can we be blind to the fact that the Communists of today are our enemies, including those who live in the United States?

Judge McClelland attended Ohio Northern University, Ohio Wesleyan University, and graduated from Ohio State University in 1904, receiving a B. A. Degree.

After graduating from Ohio State University, he studied law and was admitted to the Ohio Bar in 1909. He was engaged in the active practice of the law until Governor George White appointed him to the Probate Court, September 26, 1931. He undertook the duties of that office on Sept. 28, 1931, and served until November 19, 1932. He became a candidate for the term beginning February 9, 1933, was elected, and has served in that capacity continuously since that date.

St. Marys Falls Before Grandview

Before a capacity crowd, St. Mary kicked off to Grandview. The return was good only to the Grandview two yard line. On third down, Grandview kicked out of bounds on their own thirty. On the first play, Trucco raced to the two, and on the next play scored. The kick was wide, St. Mary led six to zero. After an exchange of punts, St Mary took over on their own thirty. Brown took the ball and raced to the Bobcat's five, but the play was nullified by a penalty.

The second quarter was a punters' duel, until Grandview's Butler caught a St. Mary punt and raced forty yards to the St. Mary's thirty. Two first downs put Grandview on the ten. Buening skirted his right end and made the six points. The kick was blocked, and the half ended with the score tied.

The third quarter was a seesaw battle with neither side being able to get started until late in the quarter when Gianvito's kick was blocked on the St. Mary's forty and rolled to the five. On third down, St. Mary recovered a Grandview fumble on the three. They punted to their thirty as the quarter ended.

At the start of the fourth quarter, a running pass from Buening to Boelker put Grandview ahead twelve to six. This kick was good. As the seconds ticked off, St. Mary filled the air with passes, but with thirty seconds to go, Eagle of the Bobcats, intercepted a Huffman pass, and raced forty yards for the nineteenth point. The try was blocked as the game ended nineteen to six.

St. Mary led the statistics column with one hundred and fifty-four yards by rushing to one hundred and forty-one for Grandview. They also led in first downs, making eight to Grandview's seven. The line play of both teams was excellent, making it a really hard fought game.

Judge Duncan Has Experience

Judge Robert P. Duncan is a candidate for Common Pleas Judge. He served two terms as Prosecuting Attorney of Franklin County and on the Common Pleas bench of Franklin County for some years. We believe this experience qualifies him as to ability and temperament for the position.

His record on the bench was good and his decisions were very generally sustained by the higher courts. He settled many cases without trial, thus saving much time for litigants, lawyers and the court.

He is a graduate of Princeton University and Ohio State University Law School.

A vote for Judge Duncan will be appreciated.

This group is composed largely of former South High School students and athletes who are really rallying to the cause of the popular former teacher and coach at South and they are inviting all good southsiders to join the organization. It is estimated that about ten thousand students passed under Judge Ross' tutelage during his sixteen years at South High and without doubt he was one of the most popular teachers Columbus has ever known. He is held in the highest esteem by all of these former students and athletes and was always admired and respected by the coaches and players of South's opponents during his long and successful coaching career

The Chairman of this committee is William "Bill" Devany and the Secretary, Harry Seitz. The executive committee: Robert I. Barton, Carl J. Wirthwein, Ben Ratner, Clair Mackan, James Hoff, Gus Holderle, Mike Mileusnich, Hap Lechner, Carl "Logue" Myers, Hoover Yuung, Walter Denny, Walter Plank.

Roy King Has Record

Roy King who received nationwide publicity as a result of his tremendously successful write-in campaign for Clerk of Courts in the May primary, has had a varied career.

In [illegible] for the county [illegible] King polled more than 26,000 votes, setting an all-time record for write-in campaign in Franklin County politics.

In between from boyhood days of selling newspapers to the trusted position of city treasurer, a post which King now holds, he met many persons and gained their lasting friendship by rendering outstanding service.

Born in Mt. Sterling, Ohio, King came to Columbus when 17 years old. His first job was as page boy in the House of Representatives. Later he held a similar position with the State Board of Equalization.

Meanwhile, King was adding to his education by attending Elliss Business College. Upon graduation he accepted a position with the Columbus and Urbana Western Railroad.

Roy King's reputation as a competent business man was growing. He received and accepted an offer to go with Armstrong and Okey, court reporters for Common Pleas Court of Franklin County.

About four years later he was appointed official stenographer for the Ohio Supreme Court, a position which he held for many years, resigning in 1926 to open his own public court reporting office in the Outlook Building.

Later Mr. King was persuaded to take a position of official court reporter for Franklin County Common Pleas Court. It was from this job that he was appointed city treasurer. His friends have pledged their support to make him County Clerk of Courts in the November 2 election.

We Endorse The School Levy

For over thirty years the citizens of Columbus have kept faith with their convictions that education is a step toward democratic living. These men and women believe in education, believe in it enough that they have never failed to approve the three-mill tax levy which provides 22% of the operating income of the Columbus schools.

This year the levy comes before the voting public for renewal. There is no additional taxation: all that is needed is an affirmative vote for the continuation of a tax which is already in effect.

As intelligent adults, you cannot afford to curtail the scholastic opportunities of these young Americans. Each one is a potential citizen of tomorrow's world, a world filled with problems of maintaining the peace, abiding by the principles of democracy, and meeting the needs of daily existence. Inherent in these young men and women is the desire to perform their part in a manner that is indicative of the faith you have in them. If they are not equipped to meet these issues, their capability as leaders is diminished. Without good leadership derived through educational channels, the basic principles of existence remain dormant.

You may protect the future of a strong community by maintaining these educational opportunities for the children of Columbus. When on November 2 you go to the polls to cast your ballot, consider it a privilege to vote "Yes" for the three-mill levy. By pledging your support you are determining the destiny of your community.

—Mrs. Ruth Louise Taylor

EDITOR'S NOTE:—

The South Side Booster unqualifiedly endorses the 3% mill levy.

First, because it does not raise your taxes.

Second, because our children and grandchildren are entitled to the best we can give them in educational advantages.

Third, because it will maintain our personnel at the same level we now have in our schools.

Fourth, because the Council of South Side Organizations, which represents all groups of the South Side such as labor, schools, churches, fraternal business mens organizations and civic clubs, have unanimously endorsed the levy.

For these reasons the Staff of the South Side Booster will vote "Yes" for the three mill school levy and asks the people of the South Side to do likewise.

Gregg Proposes To Keep Public Informed

Albert B. Gregg, candidate for County Commissioner speaking before the Fourteenth Ward Republican Club Tuesday evening, stated that he proposed to keep the people of Franklin County informed about the business of the county. "The best guaranty for the continuance of a free people's government is that the people are kept informed about the doings of the government. I propose to make it easy for every citizen of Franklin County to know what is going on in the county offices by taking the information to the people by means of a consolidated regular report which would cover every county function. People are so busy in their own businesses that it is difficult for people to keep themselves informed. I believe it is the duty of public officials to bring the information to the people, all the information."

"As an Attorney, I frequently am called upon to check the records in the Recorder's office, and the double checking system which Ray Schaefer has installed, without any extra cost to the county, which, together with many courtesies extended to myself and the profession, entitles him to re-election on Nov. 2."

MEET YOUR PROBATE JUDGE

AN ABLE JURIST

A FAMILY MAN

Dear Neighbor:

CLOYS P. McCLELLAND is candidate for reelection to the office of PROBATE JUDGE, Franklin County, Ohio. The present term marks another milestone in a career of uncriticized, hone.. and respected officiating by JUDGE McCLELLAND on the Probate bench.

A Probate Judge is responsible for protecting the interests of widows, orphans, mental and physical incompetents, and all others who, for some reason, are incapable of administering their own affairs. It is a necessity that this office be filled by a man of high integrity, capacity and experience.

Judge McClelland's INTEGRITY is proven by the high esteem in which he is held by all, Republicans and Democrats alike. His CAPACITY for the job is proven by the fact that there is not one case before him awaiting decision. His many years EXPERIENCE on the Probate bench, added to his wealth of human experience, make him the logical choice for Probate Judge.

For these reasons, we urge you to KEEP your Probate Judge, CLOYS P. McCLELLAND. Election day is November 2.

Very truly yours,

Another Hallowe'en has come and gone and Reeb Avenue School has made an effort, thru every room, to reach its pupils with good citizenship emphasis. We have taken quite a bit of school time to stress the importance of having fun without damage to property or persons. Our Hallowe'en parade, which was held last Thursday afternoon, was for one purpose of showing our girls and boys that we want them to have their fun in a harmless manner. We wish to thank Officer Wilson who assisted us in crossing at Innis and Parsons intersection.

The pupils who received Thrift Stamps as prizes for their costumes, are as follows: For the funniest costume, Charles Kennaw, 251 Hosack; Dennis Mayse, 1806 S. 6th; and Sue Chapman, 260 Innis, for the prettiest costumes, Sandra Love, 329 Reeb; Stephen Sziarto, 365 Woodrow; and Elizabeth Gleed, Lockbourne Air Base. We also thank Mrs. Donald Ryan, 459 Siebert St., for judging our costumes.

Church Services For Lincoln Park

The Church of Christ at 808 E Main Street, is sponsoring afternoon church services for the benefit of the residents of Lincoln Park and vicinity. These services will be held each Sunday afternoon at 2:30 in the Administration building in Lincoln Park, located on South Twentieth St. Carl E. Finley, minister of the Main Street Church of Christ will be the preacher at these afternoon services. Quite an interest has been manifest in these new services, as evidenced by the fact that about seventy-five adults were present at the first service a week ago. The attendance is expected to increase weekly.

Several new congregations of the Church of Christ have recently been established in various sections of the city and several new church buildings are in the process of being built. Plans are being made for the construction of a new Church of Christ building in the South end.

Tan-Wan-Uta Group Busy

The Tan-Wan-Uta Camp Fire Group sponsored by the South Methodist Church has been quite busy.

Mrs. Victoria McCleary is their guardian and Mrs. W. C. Williams is the assistant.

The group entered some displays at the Ohio State Fair, winning third prize as a group display of towels and two of their members received prizes, one first on her butterfly collection, and the other member received honorable mention on candy.

We had a roller skating party at Rollerland which every member thoroughly enjoyed. We also attended the Camp Fire skating party held on the streets between Town and Broad. On Oct. 6, we entertained our sponsors, the Official Board of South Methodist Church, and served cookies and candy which we had made ourselves.

On Oct. 16, we held a wiener roast outside the city which was a 100% in attendance and also held a nature hike at that time. Every member really had a fine time. We are also working very hard on all our honors and our memory books.

Attention Ladies

Want to have fun — want an afternoon free from your household duties, full of fun and laughter? Well come on and join your South Side Booster on "Listen Ladies" at WCOL every Thursday afternoon.

Your reporter had the privilege and pleasure of attending last weeks program. Bill Burt is the best M.C. we have encountered in years. Dorothy Moore's organ music is out of this world. The prizes are grand and the people you meet friendly.

On last Thursday the Ladies of the Mannerchor were our special guests. They favored us by singing one selection "Horch Was Kommt Von Draussen Rein." Mr. Kielblock gave the history of the Mannerchor which proved to be very interesting. On the "Time Saver Quiz" were Mrs. Kerscosteiner, Mrs. Himml, and Mrs. with her suggestion for a back yard wiener roast won a beautiful Van-O-Nite Case. "The Sunshine Quiz" was for Mrs. Elizabeth Geran of Groveport, Ohio a charter member of the Mannerchor who received a radio in the name of Miss Edna Mantz, winner of the Quiz. Mrs. Mantz was presented with a triple orchid. Others competing were Mr. Lauferswelier and Mrs. All contestants were awarded prizes and other prizes were distributed thru the audience.

"Listen Ladies" at 1:30 every day is a wonderful program. Something unique in Columbus, so ladies of the South Side listen every day but Thursday. On Thursdays don't listen, get your tickets at the Booster and attend the broadcast. We guarantee you will enjoy it.

This Institute will be held November 12 and 13 at the Archeological Museum on the Ohio State University Campus. Registration will open at 3:30 Friday afternoon, November 12, with the first session beginning at 4 p.m.

The program has been planned to give a variety of content as well as speakers who are interested in story telling as an art and in the perfection of this art. This will be followed by a discussion period. Beginning at 5:15, Dr. Mosier, professor at Ohio State University will speak on IMPROVING THE SPEAKING VOICE.

Dr. Jacobs, an assistant professor in Education at Ohio State University, specializes in Children's literature and is a consultant for two radio programs, STORY TIME for BOYS AND GIRLS IN BOOK LAND. This topic will be SOME BASIS FOR SELECTING STORIES.

The American Library Association has sponsored records of stories told by Mrs. Gudrun Thorne-Thomsen who recreates the beauty of the French folk tale and Norse muths and sagas. To hear these records is a real listening experience. Before the evening meeting on Friday these will be played for those who are interested in this new mode of story telling.

Mrs. C. L. Stickle is general chairman of the Institute. Mrs. Sam Welman, program chairman, will preside at the meetings, assisted by Mrs. Walter Barr.

The admission fee for the entire Institute is $1.00, a single session, fifty cents. The Institute is open to the public.

South Side Y Football League

A somewhat lighter South Side Midgets football team proved the old adage that "the bigger they are, the harder they fall" in downing the Marshmallow Softies 18 to 12 in a game played recently at Southwood Field.

It was the second of a two out of three series for the district heavyweight Junior Football championship. In a previous game the "flighty" lads from Marion Road School trounced the beef and brawn of the Marshmallow Softies by a score of 31 to 13.

In the opening quarter the Softies took to the air and scored on a twelve yard pass from left half Dick Baker to right end Stuart Root, but they failed to make the extra point. For the rest of the half the game was nip and tuck and Softies led at the half 6 to 0.

About midway of the third quarter, the Midgets fleet footed Peake, Harry Peake took off on a 40 yard end run to even the score 6-6.

The final quarter had plenty of fireworks as Quarterback Brumfield made a 27 yard off tackle run for the Softies second tally. However, the Midgets came back with more determination and took to the air to complete two more touchdown passes with Eugene Tuff doing the hurling and Dick Williams and Nate Gordon doing the receiving respectively.

Score by Periods

	1	2	3	4	-
So. Side Midgets	0	0	6	12	18

Lineup

Community Chest Workers Thank You

We wish to convey our sincere thanks to all who helped to put over the Community Chest campaign in the South Side. Every major, captain and solicitor deserves praise. It was a difficult job, but by plugging away to the last hour, we were able to exceed our quota of $6,176 by the [illegible] margin of $53. Equal [illegible] goes to every contributor. It was your generosity that made it possible. It shows that you appreciate the value to our community of such agencies as the South Side Settlement, the South Side Day Nursery, the St. Stephens House, the Y.M.C.A., the Scouts, the Campfire Girl's the Cancer Clinic, the District Nursing Service, and all the rest. We couldn't get along without them, but it takes money to operate them. Your work and contributions have assured us of their valuable service for another year. Thanks to all. Signed,

Mrs. William Papier, Chm.
Mrs. O. L. Coddington, V. Chm

Harvest Festival

The entire membership of Trudeau Guild is busily engaged in planning their first Harvest Carnival Dance, to be held at Smith's Dance Gardens, Northwood Ave. and N. 4th Sts, Nov. 11th, from 8 p.m. to 12 p.m.

This organization is dedicated to helping in all ways, the Franklin County Tuberculosis Sanitarium. Their aim is to make the stay of the patients as pleasant as possible, and to provide the sort of things that the Franklin County money can't buy them.

The goal in view now, is to equip a workshop for the men who are allowed up a few hours a day. The mental satisfaction in accomplishing something, is a great factor in the cure of tuberculosis.

The 19 Trudeau Guilds, 4 are located in the South Side, namely, Nos. 10, 12, 13 and 14. The orchestra, playing from 9 to 12 p.m. is also made up of many South Side residents. The leader of the band, Frank LeRue, and the lovely vocalist, Jeannie Dare, were formerly prominent in South High activities, and now are to be heard at the Seneca Hotel. Other members, South High Alumnus, are Don Kidwell, drums, and Priscilla Dicke, bass.

An hour of square dancing, 8 to 9 p.m. called by Dorwin Byran, regular caller at Smith's precedes the regular dancing.

Each guild is responsible for a booth, and the attractions are many and varied. So far, games, raffles, cake walk, handwriting analyses and a fish pond are among the things listed. The admittance ticket, priced at $1.00 a person, is also good as a chance on an electric blanket. We hope to see many of our friends there, as a bang-up evening is assured. Anyone wishing to get tickets may get them from one of these women, who are chairman of their guilds.

Cub Scout News

The Club Scouts of Pack 64. Den 1, are still doing interesting and worthwhile things. In the last six weeks, they've been to the Grigg's Dam, visited the city Waterworks and heard a talk on "Foreign Countries" by Don La Rue, an OSU graduate who has spent much time traveling since war, in addition to his traveling while in the service.

Another highly entertaining evening was spent at the Open House held by the Walnut-University Telephone exchange. Needless to say, none of the boys passed up the refreshment table! A Hallowe'en Party, planned by the mothers is the most recent event.

Our den is taking special pride in the Den Chief, Alfred Conn, for being one of the 500 picked Scouts who ushered at the OSU football games. These boys are chosen from all over the State We also enjoy hearing Eddie Day play on WCOL's Kay Kiddie Klub, as he is a regular now.

Den Mothers and Den Dads are still desperately needed, and it seems a shame that only 8 boys can have the fun that all 9 to 11 year olds are entitled to. This still remains the only South-Side Cub group. Aren't the South Side parents as interested in their boys as parents in other sections of the city? Those interested in information, call Mr. Hess at Adams 9119, or Mr. Dicke, Ga. 1051.

Stubbins - Keadey Exchange Vows

On Saturday, August 7 at 7:30 p.m., Miss Joan Stubbins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stubbins, 1010 So. 22nd St. became the bride of Mr. James Keadey, son of Mrs. Herman Planck, 190 Hinman Ave. at a double ring ceremony at the South Methodist Church with the Rev. John W. Clutter officiating.

A half-hour music program preceded the ceremony with Miss Arlene Christofferson as vocalist, accompanied on the organ by Mrs. John Pless.

The bride chose a heavy satin wedding gown styled along princess lines with a sheer yoke and a rolled satin bertha. The bertha was accented in the front with a ring affair of seed pearls. The sleeves were tight fitting, coming to points over the wrists. The tight basque bodice was gathered to a very full skirt which ended in a long circular train. Her finger tip veil of imported illusion was held in place by a tiara of seed pearls and rhinestones. She carried a white prayer book, topped with white orchids and surrounded by white rose buds and tied with white satin streamers.

Mrs. George Parker attended her sister as matron of honor in a peach taffeta gown. Her gown had a sweetheart neckline extending high in the back, cap sleeves, a tight bodice, and an extremely bouffant skirt. She carried a cascade arrangement of rainbow carnations, roses and asters and tied with matching ribbon. Her headdress was made of similar flowers.

The bridesmaids wore the same style gowns and head-dresses as the matron of honor, and carried contrasting bouquets. Mrs. Robert Binns, sister of the bridegroom, wore a Nile green gown. Miss Bette Hamilton, cousin of the bride, was gowned in lavender, and Miss June Drake, attended her cousin as junior bridesmaid in a pale pink gown. Little Miss Betty Ann Cordle was flower girl. She wore an identical gown of yellow and carried a miniature bouquet. Master Donald Drake was ring bearer.

Mr. Adam Zubovich attended Mr. Keadey as best man and ushers were Mr. George Fahrenbach, Mr. John Stubbins, brother of the bride, and Mr. George Parker, brother-in-law of the bride.

A reception was held following the ceremony for 200 guests. Miss Angeline Albanese and Mrs. John Smith served as hostesses. Following the reception the couple left for a two weeks' motor trip to New York and the eastern states. Mr. Keadey and his bride are now at home at 1431 Bryden Road.

Does It Pay To Shop Downtown?

This week we are taking up the subject of popular makes of radios with comparisons of downtown stores with our own South Side Merchants.

The reason we are setting down these prices is that we consider it unreasonable for South Siders to go downtown and fight to park when you can pull up in front of any radio dealer on the South Side and get a radio at the same price and on the same terms.

We have compiled a list from the most popular brands of radios, of one model of each brand and are comparing them below as follows:

	Model	South Side Merchant	Downtown Merchant
Wilcox Gay Recordio	(6A10)	$149.95	$149.95
Crosley	(146CS)	$389.95	$389.95
Zenith	(R887)	$169.95	$169.95
Admiral	(9B15)	$309.95	$309.95
Motorola	(50R11)	$ 16.95	$ 16.95
Philco	(200)	$ 19.95	$ 19.95
Westinghouse	(H204A)	$ 59.95	$ 59.95
Emerson	(557)	$ 49.95	$ 49.95
R. C. A.	(8X542)	$ 19.95	$ 19.95
General Electric	(119)	$119.95	$119.95
Arvin	(442)	$ 12.95	$ 12.95
Firestone	(Sheraton Grand)	$299.50	$299.50

The terms on these radios are 10% down below $50, and above $50 it is 20% down at both the South Side merchants and the downtown merchants with no merchant asking over one-third down.

Many of your downtown merchants do not service their radios, but contract their repairs outside the stores, while on the South Side practically all of our merchants maintain their own service men.

This gives you a quick service so that your radio is not laid up for a long period of time.

Remember you have no parking problems here in the South Side. The South Side merchants want you to park in front of their stores. While downtown the merchants asked City Council to take parking off the streets during certain hours.

Keep your business South Side.

Armistice Day

Thirty years ago today the "Cease Fire" command ended World War I. And on that day we honored those who had fallen in the service of our country. Today, added to that honor roll are those who gave their lives in the second great conflict. It is not enough this Armistice Day to honor the brave dead of two wars by bowing our heads in prayer. Only by each of us working assiduosuly to prevent another war—working to build an everlasting Peace—can we pay them deserving tribute.

South Side Markets First Anniversary

Ken Campbell, 611 Hanford Street, owner of the South Side Market, 1917 Parsons Avenue is this week celebrating the 1st anniversary of his market. Mr. Campbell believes he has in the past year given the South Side a market that has been needed for many years. Ken, who has a background of 26 years in the meat business, has for the past year featured quality meat, fresh from the farm poultry, which is fully dressed on his market using the very latest in equipment, all at the lowest price possible. Mr. Campbell invites everyone to stop in and inspect his market, his meats, his prices and see if he doesn't live up to his slogan of Stop Here And Save. He would also like to stress that his prices advertised prevail throughout the week. Thanksgiving is just around the corner, so stop in today and place your order for your Thanksgiving poultry.

Skid To Scoreless Tie

SKID TO SCORELESS TIE

The Bulldogs and East battled to a scoreless tie Friday night on a rainswept field, that hampered the play of both teams. South playing one of its best games of the season, showed an offense that was surprising and had it been a dry field, the score would have been different with South on top. The boys showed a fine determination, as witnessed by their defense all evening and the fact that their offense was starting to click, but rain and mud was the deciding factor for both teams as it was next to impossible to put on a sustained drive with out fumbling. We understand that the Bulldogs were in a very bad mood before game time and were out to prove that they could growl and we honestly believe that had it been a dry night that they would have chased the Tiger back to its lair on Broad Street a badly beaten team. Next Friday night the journey to Marietta for their last game and we hope that they close with a win. Their City league play is over with a record of one win, a tie and four losses, a much better record than in the past few years.

SPIRIT IS VERY HIGH AT SOUTH

By Walt Tompkins

This past week the Booster has received many letters and phone calls from students and alumni of South because of our article on the South-Linden game. Several letters have questioned our loyalty to South High School, that, we don't think can be questioned, all one has to do is review the Booster over the past two and one-half years, we believe it will speak for itself. We were also one of the founders of the South High Boosters Club, which raised $1300.00 for the new scoreboard which is now erected on South High's Football Stadium. Win, lose or draw, we have backed South High School 100%.

This write-up is directed at the football team. We understand you fellows are really up in the air, well, we expected you to be. If you fellows will go over the past season with us, we think you'll understand how we feel. In the Grandview game which you lost 8-0, we praised you for playing a good game, we feel that with the breaks in your favor, it could have gone the other way. Against West, we know you played your heads off and came close to scoring the biggest upset this year, at that you gave them their toughest game in City League play, for that game we couldn't praise you enough. Against Aquinas, H-m-m- remember the headlines fellows, putting that headline on the front page, gave us more pleasure than anything that ever went into the Booster. Against North, you made it a 7-6 1st half and there wasn't a South follower who wasn't proud of you, in the second half, weight, speed and reserve strength told the story and North finally won. You weren't criticized for that one. Now we come up to the Linden game in which we didn't praise you, but lambasted you. That's the game you were supposed to win and should have but didn't, we don't know what happened, but we do know that the will to win that you showed against Grandview, West, North, and Aquinas, teams that were far superior to Linden wasn't there. Did you expect praise for that one?

Remember fellows, we didn't spare the praise when you deserved it, so we didn't spare the whip. We watched you play East, in the mud and the whole team played good hard football, we wish weather conditions had been better, we were all anxious to see what you really could have done. This season has shown us that football is on the upgrade at South, You fellows broke the ice by beating Aquinas and have shown the rest of the teams in the city that South no longer can be considered the doormat of the city league.

To you footballers, who are seniors, and are playing your last game against Marietta, we want you to know and we're speaking for a great majority of the South High Boosters, if not all, we have never questioned your intestinal fortitude, nor have you ever given us reason to in the past season. We did question your will to win in the Linden game. You boys should feel very proud of the spirit and loyalty shown this past week by the students and followers of South. We sure have been taking a beating here in the office.

John Vorys Speaks At South

By Valentine Spohn

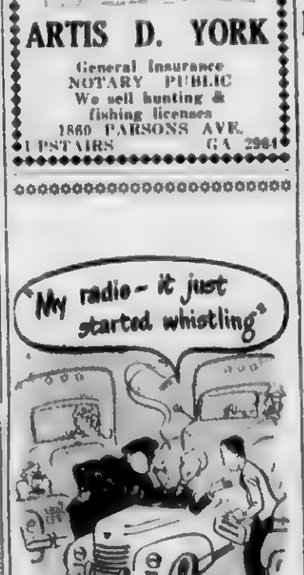
Mr. John M. Vorys was guest speaker at the South High auditorium, Monday, November 8. Mr. Vorys spoke on the value of freedom and our right to protect it.

The assembly as held in the observance of National Education Week and was opened by the playing of The American Patrol by South High Band. This was followed by the Salute to the Flag led by Don Stocklin. Preceding the announcement of the student speakers the Star Spangled Banner was played by the South Band. The above mentioned speakers were Gary Beckett, representing Freedom of Speech, Jean Schmidt, representing Freedom of Religion, Maridean Close, representing Freedom of the Press, Gus Ruzicka, representing Political Rights, Dorsey Woodward, representing Civil Rights, and Carol Powell, representing the Americans right to challenge.

Preceding Mr. Vorys' speech, there was memorial silence in honor of four war dead, followed by the playing of God Bless America.

At this point Mr. Vorys, re-elected member of Congress, graduate of East High School, Yale, and Ohio State, defended the Americans' Rights to fight for what they feel sacred. Mr. Vorys made considerable mention of the Berlin crisis and the already hard-hit Russian question. In regard to his speech Mr. Vorys felt that peace is nice but war is necessary and that not the American, but Stalin feels it's inevitable. Mr. Vorys felt that the American Schools should educate the young future citizens in regard to communism and other forms of ill government.

In closing the assembly, Mr. Vorys was shown that the school appreciated his brilliantly portrayed speech by a congenial round of applause.



The final activities of the assembly were, a Dedicatory Prayer led by Paul Katterheinrich and the playing of the song, America, by the South High Band.

Jack: Do you like the date we dug up for you?

Mack: No! Next time dig somewhere else.

Bill Burt Favorite On "Listen Ladies"

"Listen Ladies," the WCOL Radio program which is making such a hit with the ladies over the air each day from 1:30 to 2 o'clock, had as their guests on Thursday (South Side Day) the ladies Unit to Southway Post 144 American Legion Auxiliary.

They were a lovely group of ladies and seemed to thoroughly enjoy their first actual participation on a Radio Broadcast.

This week's "Sunshine Quiz" honored Mrs. Henrietta Reisdorf of 731 Seibert St. Mrs. Reisdorf is 86 years old and has been a shut-in for 7 years. She is the mother of Mrs. James Cronin with whom she resides, Mrs. Yetta Shoemaker, and Mr. Fred Reisdorf. She has been a member of the Southway Post 144 American Legion Auxiliary for 19 years. Participating in the "Sunshine Quiz" were Mrs. Edward Born (winner) who received the gorgeous Orchid from June's Flower Shop; Mrs. Frank Fisher who received a lovely string of pearls, and Mrs. Elizabeth Agin, a novelty Salt and Pepper set for her Stove. Bill Burt will call on Mrs. Reisdorf and present to her in Mrs Born's name a lovely electric clock.

In the music Quiz, Mrs. Marie Gressinger came out first and received a package of Mingtoy silk, valued at $15., enough beautiful silk to make a complete outfit. Mrs. Klein received pearls and Mrs. Hayes an egg-poacher.

Everyone had a grand time when Bill went thru the audience looking for the lady who was carrying the heaviest purse. Believe it or not, Mrs. Hauck won with a purse weighing 5¾ lbs. Other nice gifts were given thru-out the audience.

Bill Burt, the program's M.C., is a natural with his friendly unassuming manner and his quick wit the audience quickly becomes a part of the show ready and willing to join in the fun. Dorothy Moore's organ music is beautiful and adds special enjoyment to the program. This is a young program, but with Bill Burt and Dorothy Moore it is destined to become a favorite. It's your program Ladies, and it's up to you to make it grow even bigger and better. The more ladies who attend the more fun and prizes there will be for all. Everyone is welcome, you don't have to be a member of the Guest Group. So, for a free afternoon of fun and entertainment, attend "Listen Ladies." If you can't get to the South Side Booster where tickets are available each week, go directly to WCOL, 22 S. Young St and they will have tickets for the broadcast at the desk.

Jack: I was kissing Alice last night, and I got a real kick out of it.

South Side YMCA Junior Football League

A Silver Bullet team caught fire in the last quarter to score 21 points and defeat the Rangers 21-19 in a game played recently at Southwood Field.

It was the second game of a play-off series for lightweight Championship of the South Side Y Community Boys Junior Football League. The game leaves the series tied up with each having won one game. The Rangers won the first game 2 to 7.

Capt. Frank Ackers scored all 19 points for the losers; two touchdowns were made by long runs of 40 and 50 yards respectively and one on a line plunge from the one yard line. He also carried the ball over for the lonely extra point.

The Silver Bullets got started early in the last period when they caught the Rangers behind the goal on a safety. The three following touchdowns were made on passes from Eddie Holbrook to Carol Fellure and two long heaves from Harold Price to Eddie Holbrook. The winning touchdown was scored on a sleeper play in the last five seconds of play. Fellure scored the extra point.

South Side YMCA Boys Junior Football League

A "Speedy" South Side Midgets capitalized on breaks to defeat a talented Rams by a score of 19-13 to win the Heavyweight Championship of the South Side YMCA Community Boys Junior Football League played Thursday at Southwood Field.

The speed of fullback Harry Peake proved too much for the Rams as he scored all three touchdowns for the boys from Marion Road. Peake took the kickoff at the half and raced down field to score the first tally for the Midgets. They trailed 7-0 at the half.

Eugene Tuff tossed a pass to Peake to score the second touchdown to tie up the score 13 all in the final quarter after Jim Oeffler had scored for the Rams on a pass from John Bachman. In the closing seconds of play, Harry Peake intercepted a Ram pass to race across the goal for the winning tally.

Harold Schellenger To Lead Christmas Seal Drive

The appointment of Harold K. Schellenger, as chairman for the 1948 Christmas Seal Sale for Columbus and Franklin County was announced today by Mrs. Hynes Pitner, President of the Columbus Tuberculosis Society.

"In the past four years the Columbus Tuberculosis Society has given over one hundred thousand free chest x-ray examinations to the resident of Franklin County. In addition, we have carried on an extensive program of health education and a program of demonstration activities in the field of tuberculosis control where no other funds are available," Mrs. Pitner continued.

Gene Robin Returns

The South Side will be pleased to know that Gene Robin, who has long been a favorite of Columbus night spotters, will return this week to the Club El Trovato as the Comedy Emcee. Gene is known here as one of the best Emcee's that has ever been presented in Columbus. He expects to have a long stay at the El Trovato and will welcome seeing all his old friends again. Those of you who have never had the pleasure of watching Gene Robin go through his unusual line of comedy and patter have a delightful treat in store for you. There is dancing nightly at the El Trovato to Sammy Hopkins fine Orchestra. Cover Charge Friday and Saturday only. Remember when it's night clubbing you go, El Trovato's is the inexpensive, Smart place to go.

'Stallion Road' At The Ideal

Stallion Road is another picture in the popular cycle of movies about horses. Ronald Regan as a likable young veterinarian permits his love of horses to come between him and lovely Alexis Smith. With a cast including Zachary Scott, Peggy Knudsen, and Harry Davenport it is a picture well worth seeing. The co-feature is "Blondies Reward" with Penny Singleton and Arthur Lake. A Cartoon completes the bill.

Columbia Theater

The Columbia Theater presents Sunday, Monday and Tuesday "Man In The Iron Mask" a splendid picture revised from the silent film of years ago. This historical picture will hold your interest from beginning to end. Louis Hayward as the star turns in an excellent performance. Also playing is "Gentlemen After Dark" with Brian Donlevy.

The daughter of a movie director sent her boy friend out to Hollywood for a screen test. The father gave him every chance in the world, but the fellow proved no good at anything.

"For the love of Pete," snapped the director. "You can't act; you can't play the piano. What CAN you do?"

"Oh," said the fellow. "Didn't your daughter tell you?"

Junior Red Cross Membership Drive

This is a busy time of year for Junior Red Cross members with enrollment in all elementary, junior and senior high schools taking place during the next two weeks, and holiday decorations to get ready for the Chillicothe Veterans' Hospital, besides the many other activities of this group.

Each year Junior Red Cross Enrollment over the nation takes place in November. The two weeks, November 15 - 30, have been selected as enrollment time locally. Every school boy and girl in the city schools will be members, a part of the 20,000,000 school children belonging.

What do members of Junior Red Cross do? Their motto is "Service to Others." Here in Columbus they have already filled 1500 gift boxes with health and educational items which have been shipped to children overseas. Soap, wash cloths, pocket combs, tooth brushes and paste, pencils, erasers, crayons, rulers, small toys and many other articles are included in these boxes. Boys and girls in European countries even though they had the money, aren't able to buy some of these things.

Then, too, there are the albums our boys and girls make showing the American way of life to send to children all over the world and in return receive albums from those countries.

All during the war students in industrial art classes, in home economic and art classes made comfort and recreational items for the men in service. Now they make them for the veterans at the Chillicothe Hospital and for children in public hospitals and other institutions.

For instance, at Central High School they are making large wall decorations for the Thanksgiving dance at the hospital. In many of the schools, nut cups, tray favors and other holiday decorations are being fashioned.

Too, they are collecting clean gift boxes for the Christmas Shop at the Chillicothe Hospital. For the third consecutive year, many Red Cross chapters in Ohio have furnished Christmas gifts for the Hospital Christmas Shop - enough that each patient may go to the Shop and select two gifts to be sent to friends or relatives. The gifts are put in the boxes collected by Junior Red Cross, are wrapped and mailed by Red Cross volunteers. It is not hard to imagine the feeling of well-being this gives to the patients - and to the Red Cross volunteers working on this activity

In addition, through their National Children's Fund, members have sent almost $5,500,000 worth of school, health and clothing supplies abroad in the past 3½ years. This fund is also used to support project in this country, providing educational materials, recreational supplies, and medical attention for young victims of disaster.

1. A real sense of sharing the humane work of the community and the nation through activities carefully integrated with the school curriculum.

2. An increased appreciation of the value of learning through the satisfaction derived from applying what has been learned to service for others.

3. A growing sense of responsibility toward others through working in partnership with adults on community service projects.

4. A broadening horizon of understanding through participation in national and international activities.

5. A satisfying as well as an educationally sound way to contribute to the establishment and maintenance of a just peace

South To Present "Stage Door"

By Doris Roe

"Curtain time, curtain time!" Yes, it's curtain time at South High School this Thursday and Friday, November 18 and 19, at 8:15 p.m. when the Dramatics Department will give its fall production "Stage Door."

The play, written by Edna Ferber and George Kaufman, centers around Terry Randall, a pretty stage-struck girl from the middle west, talented, living in a subliminated boarding house for would-be actresses. The scenes are packed with the fortunes and misfortunes of Terry and her fellow actresses, who have come to New York in search of fame, and reside at Mrs. Orcutt's boarding house. Terry gets an opportunity to go into the movies but refuses it for the love of the theater. Her friend, Jean Mailand, is also offered a chance in Hollywood, accepts it, and becomes a success in spite of the fact that she is not a good actress. Still, Terry struggles on waiting for that part to turn up, while her playwright boyfriend, Keith Burgess, has also turned to movieland. A second man, David Kingsley, complicates matters—but that would be telling and we know you'd rather see for yourself.

Remember, curtain time is 8:15 this Thursday and Friday, November 18 and 19, for South High School's production "Stage Door" presented in the school auditorium. Tickets are 50 cents and may be purchased from any member of the Radio and Dramatics classes or at the door.

Unusual Vocal Group At Thurman Church

The Anchor - Hocking Male Chorus, an organization of about thirty-five men of Lancaster and vicinity, will appear Sunday evening at 8:00 o'clock in an extraordinary type of Thanksgiving service to be presented at Thurman Avenue Methodist Church, Thurman and South Washington avenues.

The Lancaster organization of vocalists is unusual in its composition. It is a community project under the auspicies of the Anchor Hocking Glass Corporation, and it brings together the best male talent from the various church choirs, from the schools, and from the entire community of Lancaster. It is a group of men who sing simply for the thrill of singing. It is earning a reputation both for its unusual nature and for its ability to entertain and inspire its audiences, and it has recently received numerous invitations to appear in many Ohio cities and in other states.

The program Sunday evening will embrace almost an hour of inspirational song in the mood of Thanksgiving. Included with the musical feature of the service will be other features reminiscent of the first Thanksgiving of the Pilgrim Fathers and of the Thanksgiving proclamations of Washington and Lincoln. The public is invited.

Humane Officer Wade To Teach Dog Obedience

Officer Ernest Wade and his dog, Toby, have been together ever since those days on Okinawa when Toby was assigned to Officer Wade in the Canine Corps. Of all the dogs he trained in the Canine Corps, Toby was his favorite, so after the war Toby's owner presented Toby to Officer Wade as a gift.

Two years ago Ernest Wade got a job with the Humane Society and along with his other duties as a Humane Officer, he takes Toby out to schools and other organizations to put on "Dog Obedience" demonstrations. And to give the commentary and explanation of the demonstration Officer M. A. McCallen of the Humane Society accompanies them.

"It takes time and patience to train a dog properly," says Wade. "Most dogs can be trained if the owner will follow through with a training program and not lose his temper."

Wade believes an understanding between dog and master is absolutely necessary.

"You can't afford to let a dog put anything over on you while you're training him," he explained. "Be firm with him and make him repeat the command until he does it correctly. Then praise him. Let him see that you are pleased with his performance. I can't stress kindness in the training of your dog strongly enough. And I'll condemn cruelty of any sort."

Toby makes his home at the Humane Society's Animal Shelter at 2770 Groveport Pike.

Dog obedience classes start Monday, November 22 at 7:30 p.m. at Schiller Park Shelter House, with Officer Wade in charge.

Children who have already signed up their dogs to these classes are Thomson Burleson, 1017 City Park Ave., William Federer, 1000 S. Pearl St., Ronnie Reisinger, 1172 Jaeger St., Ray Moore, 348 E. Beck St., Dick Calvert, 595 S. Grant Ave., Tommy Thompson, 2595 E. Livingston Ave., Wilbur Hane, 904 E. Whittier St., and Marguerite Graham, 22 W. Columbus St

Adults will also be permitted to bring their dogs to these classes.

The Socialist Line

There is an increasing amount of discussion of the use of textbooks in schools and colleges which give the young reader the inescapable idea that the capitalist system and all its works should be discarded for some other system, totalitarian in nature.

Those concerned with this matter are not seeking to hamstring academic freedom, or prevent open discussion of the merits and demerits of any economic system. They are, instead, casting light on abuses of academic freedom which could undermine all freedom.

A list of textbooks which follow, in whole or in part, the totalitarian line would be long. As an example, the high schools of Oregon and other states have an official text on economics and government which endorses socialized medicine, advocates government ownership of utilities, and attacks private insurance and banking. In one chapter, it makes this revealing statement: "Would the free enterprise system necessarily be destroyed if the government were accepted as a full partner in the economic processes of the country? Government activity as such is no inherent denial of the principles of the free enterprise system. The government might extend its activities as employer, as investor, even as owner, and thus become a necessary balance wheel without interfering with the freedom and the initiative of the system of free enterprise . . ."

That is as logical as saying that a cat and a mouse should be able to live together in peace and harmony. A government may conceivably set out to become a "partner" in industry. But is always ends by swallowing the rest of the partners and establishing a political monopoly. Socialism and individual freedom cannot exist together. One must destroy the other, and when all the resources of government are marshaled to that end, the result is inevitable.

Furthermore, what textbooks of this nature never point out is that personal freedom can survive only in a free enterprise, capitalist economy. England provides a tragic example of this. About two years ago, Sir Stafford Cripps said that no government has ever succeeded in carrying thru a planned economy with compulsion of labor, and that the Labor Government would try to be the exception to the rule. Now England has introduced labor compulsion in coal mining and other fields and is expected to swiftly extend it.

Many students of this country are being fed thinly disguised socialist propaganda. A thorough check should be made of the books used in our schools and colleges and those which seek to belittle and destroy American ideals of business and government should be exposed for what they are, the preachings of socialism and the totalitarian ideas of government, which unless kicked out of this country will destroy it as a free nation.

around with the Whites.

So let them keep their old-fashioned rebel notions — providing they administer their authority over the States, given to them by the Founders of our country.

The National Government belongs to all the people and when Governor Thurmond of South Carolina explains his issues any true American has a right to call him and his followers Unreconstructed Rebels. The Thurmond party is doing nothing worth while by making its attacks upon the Federal Government.

Stockpile Shortage Spurs Opening New Base Metal Mines

The United States is just realizing the tremendous price that has been paid in base metals to be "the arsenal of democracy;" fight two wars; and, in less than 900 years, become the World's richest and most powerful Nation through industrial growth.

Early in September, Mr. Thomas J. Hargrave resigned as Chairman of the National Munitions Board after reporting that his agency had only been able to procure 18% of the critical materials required for our $3,403,000,000 defense stockpile after two years of shopping throughout the World.

Last week Secretary of Commerce Charles Sawyer picked up the dropped ball and announced meetings would be held at Washington from October 12th to 20th for discussion of the serious problem with base metal producers, importers and consumers.

It is an ill wind that blows no one good. News originating at Washington has a far-reaching effect. The tempo of competition for scarce metals in Rhodesia, Belgian Congo, and South America has quickened. Far to the north, in Yukon Territory, a new "rush" has started; not for Klondike gold that made history fifty years ago—but for lead, once ignored as unimportant; now high on the critical list of industry and Government.

The center of activity in the Yukon is at Keno and Galena Hill—actually 6,000 foot mountains holding rich lodes of lead and silver ore left in place when lead was 4 cents a pound, and silver 24 cents an ounce. Now with the prices, respectively, at 14½ cents and 76 cents, in a booming market, sourdoughs are busy again staking claims, and important mining interests are out as buy buying them for consolidation into large scale mining operations.

Mr. E. Miles Flynn, mining engineer, who represented the World-wide mining interests of John Hays Hammond for many years, has just returned from the Yukon as consulting engineer for Yukon Galena Hills Mines, Ltd. Mr. Flynn, interviewed at New York while scouting for machinery to be shipped into his company, said

"Frustrated Government agency and industrial buyers who have been competing against the World for base metals in Africa and So America would find it provident to look north, instead of south for new and reliable sources of base metals," and added, "Canada is a great treasure chest of minerals into which the World has hardly peeked. It must ultimately become the metal Warehouse for United States industry and Government requirements; a source of needed metals in a friendly country; on the same continent; not requiring overseas transportation that could easily be disrupted in the event of war."

With his mind fresh on Yukon, Mr. Flynn pointed out that the Galena-Keno Hill area had shipped 10,000 tons of high grade ore last year; would increase production to 30,000 tons this year; and, could easily produce 100,000 tons or more as quickly as modern plants are installed and thus provide considerable new metals that the continent needs badly for defense, to keep industry going and men working.

HOT WEATHER THIRST QUENCHER

● When the weather's hot, tall cooling beverages hold the spotlight and the appearance of a frosty pitcher, accompanied by crisp cookies, is a refreshing sight. Most satisfying thirst-quenchers are drinks which are not too sweet and the attractive cooler pictured above is ideal for bridge parties or when friends drop in to visit. The delicate, light flavor of the sauterne wine combines invitingly with either lemon or lime juice and the drinks may be prepared individually in tall glasses or mixed in a water pitcher.

COUNTRY CLUB COOLER
(individual serving)

1 tablespoon sugar
Juice of ½ lemon or 1 lime
4 ounces Roma Sauterne
Sparkling water

In a tall glass combine sugar and lemon or lime juice. Add Roma sauterne and ice cubes. Stir well. Fill with chilled sparkling water or plain ice water and garnish with lemon or lime slice.

Strictly High Class

The American System

By J. E. Jones

Why should anyone waste their time, or breath on "State Rights" and "White Supremacy?" It is a tragedy that these live and bitter questions are being made an issue in the South.

The fundamental responsibilities of the National Government remain today as they were set forth by Washington, Adams, Jefferson and their co-founders.

All the States have their rights — but they have no right to defy the higher authority of the United States Government. The rights of all of us were ratified by the 13 Original States including Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolina and Virginia.

The powers and ambitions of the Government are definitely stated in the preamble of the Constitution, which reads: "We, the people of the United States, in order to form a more perfect Union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquility, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America."

The Constitution clearly defines the purposes of Congress and the Administration, which gives the Federal Government supreme, definite powers. The so-called ten Original Amendments were made in December 1791 in order to patch up a few loop holes in the original draft of the Constitution.

But we cannot overlook the fact that at the conclusion of the war between the States that the continued insistence, down to 1948, of the South on "State Rights" was a challenge to the authorities of our Federal Government.

We owe it to ourselves to recognize the fact that the war between the States was a great mistake. Grant and Lee lamented the supreme tragedy when they sat down at Appomattox and arranged a just peace which they believed would reunite the North and the South.

But in the present campaign, some of the Southern States are still in rebellion and have gone off the handle in insisting upon misnamed "State Rights" and "White Supremacy." These partisans who have broken away from the Democratic and Republican parties never have chummed around socially with the Negroes because they don't want to. And the Negroes don't care to chum

By Westbrook Pegler

Released by WNU Features.

AS THOUGH it were news after so many years, we were told in a congressional dispatch recently that some of the Communist controlled unions of retail clerks had been driving customers out of big stores by ignoring and abusing them. This is old union practice, inherent in that clause of the Roosevelt unionism which purports to protect the virtuous toiler from capricious and spiteful dismissal by the boss. The impudence, indeed truculence, thus evoked is present in almost all the mass-union shops of the C. I. O. IT IS WELL KNOWN IN THE RESTAURANT TRADE AND THE PUBLIC IS BECOMING AWARE OF IT IN A DEFINITE FLIPPANCY IN THE ATTITUDE OF RAILROAD WORKERS ON THE PASSENGER TRAINS.

In Italy, the pugnacity of the railroad fellows, rising sometimes to a flat refusal to move trains unless army officers who were aboard got off, was a Communist trick which, more than any other affront, prepared the people for Mussolini.

Although such sabotage is old practice it is unheard of by many millions of American citizens, including practically all of those who joined up for the war and the whole batch of those who are now 25 years old or less. It includes also, of course, that enormous element of all classifications whose resistance to information never can be conquered.

THUS AN OLD CONDITION WHICH ALL AMERICANS SHOULD UNDERSTAND IS UNKNOWN TO A LARGE ELEMENT OF THE POPULATION.

Extortion Is Motive

There are two main motives for this kind of sabotage. The old, familiar native American motive is extortion and all unioneers of the American Federation of Labor hold it to be a holy privilege derived from the robber barons and other ancient gods of their temple.

A swindler or master of tailboard pilfering of the horse-dray days, risen to exalted power in an A. F. of L. union—Willie Bioff or Umbrella Mike Boyle, for example—was not expected to debase himself with dishonest protestations of any devotion to the cause of the common man.

The most reliable mouthpiece of these criminals, a Milwaukee ambulance-chaser named Joe Padway, became chief counsel of the A. F. of L. and of the teamsters, musicians and other enormous herds of cringing, sub-human nonentities. He was appropriately honored by Franklin D. Roosevelt with a mission to London during the war.

In passing it may be said that Padway and his chief client, Dan Tobin, the king-emperor of the teamsters, who was sent along with him, both were scared to death but were on a spot and had to go. When Tobin found himself back in the United States and not flapping around from cloud to cloud whanging discords out of a pawnshop harp he decided that Roosevelt, by his dirty trick, had made him a hero of the labor movement.

HIS DEMEANOR EVER SINCE HAS MADE SERGEANT YORK LOOK LIKE A RIVETER IN WICHITA.

Principle Is Same

The principle of the untouchability of the man on the job by the man who pays the wages is the base of the privilege of sabotage whether by common American extortioners or Muscovites pledged to destroy the United States.

The theory which Roosevelt followed was that the boss was the worker's enemy and would do him dirt for fun if for no better reason. This was imparted to his department of labor, his labor relations board, loaded as it was with forthright and more or less covert Communists, and his various war labor agencies. They never forgot it.

The fact was that the union bosses of both the A. F. of L. and C. I. O. were real enemies of labor and were the most brutal, rapacious and defiant oppressors in the history of this republic. ROOSEVELT'S AFFECTION FOR THE SO-CALLED COMMON MAN WAS, AS HE WAS HONEST ENOUGH TO REVEAL, STRICTLY RHETORICAL AND POLITICAL.

The Communist motive is to demoralize organization in a department store or factory, impoverish management and thus necessitate dismissals which then become a grievance for a strike and further disorders, preferably violent.

The discipline of the unions, imposed on millions of American citizens by Roosevelt, was foreseen and calculated. The guilt of William Green, John L. Lewis, Phil Murray, Frances Perkins, and Roosevelt himself is unmitigated

Hamlet made the mistake of ordering soft-boiled eggs instead of scrambled and thereupon made his famous observation, "There's something rotten in the state of Denmark."

Economic Highlights

TURNING BACK THE CLOCK

The main argument against the capitalist, free enterprize economic system is that it is old-fashioned, has outlived whatever usefulness it may have had, and can't offer the bulk of the people enough benefits to justify its continued existence. That seems to be the point of view of all the left-wingers, ranging from pale pink to the deep shades of red, and they obviously think it carries a Sunday punch.

However, as Harold Stassen recently said, "Only a great, free productive nation, humanitarian in its impulses, could possibly provide more than eighteen billions of dollars worth of food, clothing, and materials for others since V-J day and yet continue to enjoy the highest standard of living in the entire world."

Every Soviet newspaper constantly harps on the brutal way capitalism treats its workers. Yet there is no other economic system in the world which has so improved the lot of the masses of people, or which has resulted in so wide a distribution of wealth, or which has given practically all of its possessions which would seem like the most unreachable luxuries to the average worker in most other countries. Only under capitalism can a worker quit his job if he pleases and go to work somewhere else. And only under capitalism do millions of people go to work in their own automobiles and, at the end of the week go home with a paycheck which makes possible our standard of living. In Russia, which claims to be the workers' paradise, you work where the state tells you to. You put in as many hours as the state wants. If you complain, you get shot, or go to prison, or you become a member of the forced labor gang beyond the Urals. And, unless you're one of the few with high rank in the communist hierarchy, you get paid just enough to keep body and soul together and no more.

The whole western world is looking to this country for its salvation. It is looking to capitalism to produce the goods it must have to live. It is looking to the American worker, the American employer, and the American way of doing things, to save it from civil war, starvation, and another dark stage. What country which has succumbed to the paralysis of socialism, communism or any other ism can say one-hundredth as much?

Finally, capitalism is more than a system of economics. It is a way of life which guarantees and protects the freedom of all the people. It is the force which elevates. Veterans' organizations merit. Communism, by contrast, has turned back the clock, and can exist only in an atmosphere of oppression and slavery.

FIRE PREVENTION IS A COMMUNITY MATTER

Every community in the country, the National Board of Fire Underwriters points out, should have an active fire safety committee, working on a year-round basis.

The committee, if it is to be successful, must have a chairman with energy, enthusiasm, and proved leadership ability. Its membership should be drawn from all elements in the community—churches, hospital, industrialists and labor unions, service clubs, theatres veterans' organizations and the rest. And its duties should run the gamut of fire hazards, from ineffective building codes to the existance of fire traps that need to be condemned.

A considerable number of committees of this nature have been formed and are now at work. There is no better way to bring home to the people of any town the danger that fire presents to them—along with easily understood instruction on how to make property safe. Fire prevention, after all, is basically a local matter. Every community has its own special problems. National and state fire safety organizations are doing a splendid and essential job—but they can't individually cover every village. That's where the local committees enter the picture.

Rue: What kind of a fellow were you out with last night?

Our minimum goal for this year is the same amount. Throughout the denomination this offering is expected to be in excess of a half million dollars. The entire amount will go to the cause of foreign missions.

The historic first meeting of the World Council of Churches in Amsterdam, Holland, now hailed as one of the most important Christian gatherings in twenty centuries has issued a "message of greeting" to Christian people everywhere. In part it says: "When we look to Christ, we see the world — His world, to which he came and for which he died. It is filled with unbounded hopes, but also with disillusionment and despair. Some nations are rejoicing in new freedom and power, some are bitter because freedom is denied them, some are paralyzed by division, and everywhere there is an undertone of fear. There are millions who are hungry millions who have no home, no country and no hope. Over all mankind hangs the peril of total war.

"We have to accept God's judgment upon us for our share in the world's guilt. Often we have tried to serve God and mammon, put other loyalties before loyalty to Christ, confused the gospel with our own economic or national or racial interests, and feared war more than we have hated it. As we have talked with each other here, we have begun to understand how our separation has prevented us from receiving correction from one another in Christ. . . .

"We have to make the church in every place a voice for those who have no voice, and a home where every man will be at home. We have to learn afresh together what is the duty of the Christian man or woman in industry, in agriculture, in politics, in the professions and in the home. We have to ask to teach us together to say No and to say Yes in truth. No, to all that flouts the love of Christ to every system, every program and every person that treats any man as though he were an irresponsible thing or a means of profit, to the defenders of injustice in the name of order and to the prophets of inevitable war; Yes, to all that conforms to the love of Christ, to all who seek for justice, to the peacemakers, to all who hope, fight and suffer for the cause of man, to all who — even without knowing it — look for new heavens and a new earth wherein dwelleth righteousness."

The Silver Bullets from Southwood saw plenty of football before they were able to subdue a fighting Ranger Team 12 to 7 to con the Championship of the Lightweight Class of the South Side Y Community Boys Junior Football League in a game played on Champion Field.

"TWO GUYS FROM TEXAS"
Dennis Morgan - Jack Carson

"LUXURY LINER" AT SOUTHLAND

George Brent and Jane Powell portray father and daughter in "Luxury Liner", sparkling Technicolor musical opening Sunday at the Southland Theatre. Lauritz Melchior, Marina Koshetz and Xavier Cugat and his Orchestra also lend their incomparable talents to this engaging new hit which will appeal to all members of the family. Johnny Weissmuller stars in the thrilling jungle co-feature, "Tarzan's Secret Treasure."

Columbia Theater

The Columbia theater will present Sun. Mon. and Tues. "Luxury Liner" as it's feature picture. "Luxury Liner" offers topnotch light entertainment acted with distinction by a fine cast and featuring superb vocal and instrumental music. Jane Powell, as the ship's captain's daughter who stows away, is as cute as a bug's ear and highly amusing as a teen-age minx who breaks up discipline aboard ship. Xavier Cugat's orchestra comes through generously. It's an excellent family picture photographed in technicolor. Also on the program is "Shed No Tears" starring Wallace Ford.

Big City At Ideal

"Big City" a very real lifelike picture is being shown this Sunday and Monday at the Ideal Theater. This picture stars lovely little Margaret O'Brien with all her sweetness and mischievousness plus Butch Jenkins and George Murphy. On the same bill the Ideal is showing "Timber Trail" in Technicolor with Monte Hale and Lynn Roberts. These two fine movies together with a cartoon make a week-end show for the whole family of good clean entertainment.

Russell Shows 'Street With No Name'

This Sunday and Monday, the Russell Theater will be showing a thrilling documentary-type action movie for thrill seekers. With Mark Stevens as a very real FBI man and Lloyd Nolan as his supervision it is a movie which will keep the audience's interest at fever pitch throughout the story. Richard Widmark who gave such a stirring performance in "Kiss of Death" is the sneering homicidal gangster with beautiful Barbara Lawrence as his blonde gunmoll. "The Street with No Name" plus its co-feature "Song of Idaho" starring the Hoosier Hot Shots will bring an evening of fine entertainment to all patrons of the theater this week-end.

Blood Center To Open

Columbus will become an important part of the American Red Cross National Blood Program on December 7, when the new Regional Blood Center at 30 E. Town St. is formally opened. This will be the fourteenth center established in the nation, and the only blood center in Ohio for at least the next two years.

Since the Blood Center will occupy the same building as the new Franklin County Chapter headquarters, a public open house for inspection of the new headquarters will attend the opening of the blood center.

Date of the opening coincides with the seventh anniversary of the bombing of Pearl Harbor in 1941 and the opening of the county's wartime Red Cross blood center in 1942.

The National Blood Program has been endorsed by hospital and medical authorities, as a means of meeting emergency blood needs at present and ultimately to supply whole blood or blood derivatives to any patient needing them. Mobile units staffed by technical personnel will collect blood for the new center from 33 counties within a 70-mile radius of Columbus.

There will be on charge for the blood or its products, although, officals say, there may be the customary hospital laboratory charge and the physician's fee.

Appointment books are now open to individuals and groups wanting to make blood donations. Appointments may be made by calling Regional Blood Center of the Red Cross, Ma 6841.

Director of the new center is Tony Schmieg, with Carl Braley as assistant. Members of the technical staff, elected through Dr. Charles A. Doan, chairman of the Blood Service Committee, include Dr. John W. DeVore, technical director; Mrs. Margaret Reeves, chief nurse, and Miss Mary Caroline Soisson, [illegible] laboratory technician.

Gene Robin Returns

The South Side will be pleased to know that Gene Robin, who has long been a favorite of Columbus night spotters, will return this week to the Club El Trovato as the Comedy Emcee. Gene is known here as one of the best Emcee's that has ever been presented in Columbus. He expects to have a long stay at the El Trovato and will welcome seeing all his old friends again. Those of you who have never had the pleasure of watching Gene Robin go through his unusual line of comedy and patter have a delightful treat in store for you. There is dancing nightly at the El Trovato to Sammy Hopkins fine Orchestra. Cover charge Friday and Saturday only. Remember when it's night clubbing you go, El Trovato's is the inexpensive, smart place to go.

A seed pearl tiara held her finger tip veil of white illusion. She carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid.

Her maid of honor, Miss Norma Shipman was dressed in pink taffeta fashioned along the same lines as the bridal gown. She carried a colonial bouquet of yellow mums with ribbon streamers and wore a headdress to match.

At a nuptial high mass before an altar decorated with chrysanthemums, white pompons and the traditional seven branch candelabra, Miss Mary Rose Zubovich, daughter of Mrs. Frances Zubovich, 155 E. Hinman Ave, and the late Mr. Samuel Zubovich, became the bride of Mr. William J. Santanich, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Santanich, 435 Hosack St.

The Rev. Fr. Francis Riehl officiated at the double ring ceremony Sept. 25 at 9:30 a.m. in St. Ladislaus Church.

The bride, given in marriage by her brothers, Nicholas and Joseph, wore a gown of twilight satin fashioned with a high round neckline. The bodice was fitted and a straight panel reached to the hemline. Inserts of the satin and cords gave a classic style to the gown which terminated into a long circular train. Her veil of French illusion was fulllength and bordered by chantilly lace. She also wore a halo headdress of satin to match the dress, trimmed with a motif of pearls. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and baby breath which she later placed on her father's grave.

Maid of honor, Miss Ethel Pirik, wore a gown of blue faille taffeta with an off-shoulder effect, a marquisette yoke, fitted banque bodice and full skirt. She wore white gauntlets and carried a bouquet of blue delphiniums and white carnations.

Matching lace ruffles trimmed the long sleeves of the gown. A satin tiara embroidered in rhinestones held the bride's full-length veil of English silk illusion, and her necklace of rhinestones was a gift of the bridegroom. Reparations And The Ruhr

The problem confronting democratic statesmen since the end of the war is how to create a united core of nations in Western Europe.

Fundamental to this is the finding of a realistic solution to traditional hatreds between France and Germany. It is no new problem. For over 76 years the rivalry between Germany and France and the French fear of aggression have been the powder keg of European politics. Out of the bitterness of defeat in 1870 and the ravages of World War I France has consistantly demanded the internationalisation of the Ruhr. It was this demand which led to the compromise in the Treaty of Versailles.

Again, after World War II, teamwork between France, Britain and America came close to foundering on France's demand that the Ruhr be taken away from Germany and internationalized.

Significance of the Ruhr has been pointed up lately by the fact that European self-help under the Marshall Plan is being stimulated in that area. America believes that an adequate system of factory inspection will insure against armament production for another war. To what extent German factories should be dismantled and shipped to France and other allies as reparations has caused some disunity among the Western Powers.

In this situation it is encouraging to note that M. Robert Schuman, French Foreign Minister, has taken a strong line to insure that the traditional mistrust of France for Germany be alleviated so that Frenchmen and Germans can fight together in the ideological war.

In the Ruhr city of Dusseldorf, M. Schuman spoke recently of reparations. He told the Germans, "There are also German interests to consider and that is why I have talked this afternoon to churchmen, trade unionists and political party representatives. We must make decisions on the basis of what is just and right not only for our own people but also for the Germans."

Statesmanship like this on both sides of the French-German border will do much to create the atmosphere in which these age-old rivalries will disappear.

TIME BOMBS

It's not so much who we elect to lead but how we elect to live that counts.

Christianity must move from the realm of pious platitudes into the arena of practical politics.

Where material standards rule, moral standards slide.

It's a great life when you're on fire for other people and not just burned up about yourself.

Mary was a sweet girl, but she loved the town drunkard. "I'm glad to see you've reformed," she said. "I saw you last night at church." "Oh, so that's where I was!" he said.

Jones: Thirty-six feet, eleven and half inches.

Policeman: How come you kno' it so exactly?

Thanksgiving was first observed by the Pilgrims to give thanks for the bountiful harvest and blessings they had received.

This year we have much more to be thankful for, an ample harvest, full employment and peace in our land.

Let us all, when we gather around our tables, give thanks for our many blessings this Thanksgiving Day.

Florida Oranges Direct To You

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Goodman have just arrived from Mt. Dora, Florida, to open a Temple Hill Orange Store. The new store will be located at 1501 S. High Street at W. Markison. Although "Temple Hill" stores are famous throughout the East this is the first one to be opened in Columbus.

Bob and Betty Goodman wish you to know, that even if you can't go to Florida this winter, you can still enjoy sunshine, health and good eating by using their select tree ripened citrus fruit, that they bring direct to you dew fresh from their own Temple Hill Groves, located on the shores of beautiful lake Apopka.

Their fruit is brought to you by trucks driving day and night to give you the same tree ripened flavor that you would get picking the oranges yourself from the tree. They are more than willing to be judged by taste comparison.

Their fruit will be something new to you, a trial will convince you as it has thousands of others through out the States and Canada.

This superior fruit has generous quantities of warm tropical sunshine, vitamins, minerals and other food elements that are really important to the growth of your children and the well being of your family.

In the packing plant we have the latest scientific equipment which seals in all the tree ripened freshness and flavor. This process has the unqualified approval of the Florida Citrus Commission and the Federal and State Inspection Bureau. Prices will be right, as just 48 hours hours after the fruit is picked, it is ready for you at our store without middle man's profits.

Ayro Restaurant Open Thanksgiving

Miss Elva Cooper, owner and manager of the Ayro Restaurant located at 1519 Parsons Ave. wishes it made known that she will be open all Day Thanksgiving.

Miss Cooper feels that there are many people away from home on the feast day, who would enjoy a Thanksgiving dinner that is cooked, just as you would cook it in your own home. Then too, where families are small, it is nice to have that Turkey dinner without all the expense and trouble of cooking it at home. With these thoughts in mind, she has prepared a delicious menu, to include all the good things which usually appear on the family table. Miss Cooper does the cooking herself to assure the desired tastyness of her dishes. The Ayro Restaurant is small, but clean and homelike. Miss Cooper will start serving dinners at 11:30 and continue throughout the day. A choice may be had of full course turkey, chicken, steak or chop dinners, served in generous portions. The Ayro Restaurant is now open 24 hours daily.

Frank E. Koch Returns From Celebration

Frank E. Koch of 1308 South Fourth Street has returned home after 3 months at his "Dude Ranch" on Brevort Lake, Mackinac Co. Mich. Mr. Koch went north August 13, to take part in the Homecoming Celebration at St. Ignace, Mich. which marked the 25th anniversary of the state Highway's Ferry Service across the Straits of Mackinac.

The male celebrants were to grow beards and moustaches for the event to depict the appearance of the natives, when the 1st Ferry carried motor cars and passengers across the straits 25 years ago.

Those who appeared at the celebration with shaven faces were arrested and fined. They were punished with a large yellow and black button which read "Aug. 13-14-15, 1948, I HAVE BEEN ARRESTED, TRIED AND FOUND GUILTY of exposing my beardless face St. Ignace homecoming." The City of St. Ignace, also distributed 25 cent coins showing the upper peninsula, the Straits of Mackinac, Mackinaw City and a ferry in the Straits on the face, good for 25c in trade in St. Ignace on the back. These coins were given as part of change to those who cared to accept them, either to re-spend or keep as souvenirs. A swimming race from British Landing on Mackinac Island to Ferry Dock No. 1 in St. Ignace was one of the highlights of the celebration. Boat races of all types were witnessed and P-80 shooting stars from Selfridge Field kept the celebrants busy the days of celebration. There was a homecoming Queen who closed the celebration on Sunday by cutting a ribbon on U. S. 2 opening the new cut River Span to traffic. Those of you on the South Side who have hunted Deer near the old cut, river 3 curve traffic hazard, will appreciate this new span, which by-passes the curves completely, the next time you visit the upper peninsula.

Thanksgiving will be the focus of the Barrett Junior High School assembly programs tomorrow afternoon at 2:15 p.m.

The school orchestra will play for the assembly under the direction of H. L. Germain, Instrumental Instructor. The Junior Glee will sing "Come, Ye Thankful People," "Thanksgiving Hymn," and "Now Thank We All Our God," directed by Mrs. Earl Welde, Vocal Instructor.

Reverend Ray Fenner, Pastor of the Mayflower Congregational Church, will speak to the Barrett students on "Thanksgiving."

Melys Zoganas, a 9B, new to Barrett Junior High School, will give a comparison of Thanksgiving in this land to that in other lands.

Lions Club Hears Rev. Fr. Culp

The Southeast Lions Club was given a better conception of the meaning of Thanksgiving Day at their weekly meeting at Swan Grill today. The address was given by Rev. Father James Culp, a former Southside boy who was graduated from St. Charles High School and Mt. St. Marys College. His was a most inspiring Thanksgiving Message.

SOUTH SIDE LANDMARK REVEALS LOG BUILDING

IT'S A LOG HOUSE this place being torn down at 1475 S. Fourth-st. But no one guessed until workmen started to raze it.

ANCIENT LOGS cut by her father are examined by Mrs. Magdalena Stahl, who was born in the house 86 years ago.

The old log house which has been a land mark for 90 years at Southwood Ave. and S. Fourth St. has been razed.

Few residents of the South Side, except old timers, realized it was a log house until workmen began to raze it. When the outer boards were ripped off, the logs were exposed.

Mrs. Magdalena Karlsberger Stahl, who lives next door at 1477 S. Fourth-st, was born in the old house in 1862. Her father, George K. Karlsberger, built the home himself in 1858, four years after he came to this country from Bavaria.

Cuts Logs Himself

The Karlsbergers bought an acre and a half of land extending between the present Southwood and Markison avenues.

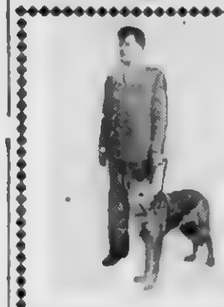
Mr. Karlsberger cut his own logs and built the house with the aid of a helper. He put a frame on it 10 years later. He also plastered the inside. Mrs. Stahl recalled that the log house was much warmer than the homes of today.

"It was really warm. Sturdy, too," she said. "That house never shook in the heaviest storm."

Mrs. Stahl moved out in 1885 after she was married. She and her husband had a home built at 1803 S. Fourth-st. That address is a familiar one to Columbusites.

Yes, the Stahls built the house that was later to become the home of Frank Hushmall, Communist organizer. That's the house which was damaged by an angry mob.

New House Planned



But the Stahls had sold the house in 1901 and moved back in the "log house."

In 1920 they built the home next door. Now Mrs. Stahl, whose husband died several years ago, resides there with her daughter, Loreen Stahl. The old property has been sold and a new house will go up there.

Thus passes a sturdy South Side home. We doubt very much if the new home will stand as long as the old one did.

OUR HERITAGE

Well, the day when American citizens expressed their freedom of thought by action at the polls is past history. Every American citizen in this great country of ours took the right of expressing his wish. Now, that has been done, let us all forget that we belong to the Democratic, Republican, Socialist, Progressive, or what-have-you party and be American citizens, pulling together to make this the best nation in the world.

All of us have likes and dislikes in a free-thinking nation; we are not ruled by a dictator, a king or a czar but are just plain Americans who want to live and work the way we want without censorship.

One thing came out of this election which should bring peace out of the chaos which has existed . . the people gave the President a Democratic controlled Congress, so that he will not have to go through the heartaches which beset Hoover during his regime as president.

It is up to President Truman, now standing on his own feet, in his own election for the Presidency and a Democratic Congress to show the American voters whether they made a mistake or not in their selection that Tuesday.

It is up to them to either make peace or continue a cold war. All are tired of war; all are tired of the unrest; all are tired of the foreign element coming into the United States telling the common people what and what not to do.

We do not need the UN on American soil. What the United States needs is a clear cut decision that European countries must now stand on their own feet; support themselves . . not by donations from the United States, but from their own efforts. America can stand by with a helping hand, but it is time to stop being the bread-basket for all who ask for it without trying to help themselves.

Let us put "Americans" on guard at our gates; protect our own people; give them housing and the means to make a livelihood and then after this is done, people from other countries can come in . . by regular quotas . . and make good . . but — first take care of our own people.

This is a country which our forefathers fought for . . not a subdivision of Britain, Asia, Russia or any, other country. Let us keep it so.

Are We Thinking?

The facts in this story are true and can be proven. We only hope that through this story, somewhere a parent can be awakened to the fact that his child can be placed in the same position this boy was, by his neglect and failure to provide for his own son.

The sunny, Sunday afternoon of early fall seemed to be invigorating, we felt that our week of toil was well spent, that we had accomplished another step down the road to success. Suddenly we were awakened by the loud, shrill, wail of a siren. Our thought wandered and we guessed as to the cause that brought the emergency vehicle.—Suddenly we hear the children yelling "Mommie, look at the black smoke."

We found ourselves being swept along with the crowd as they flowed toward the swirling, broiling smoke. The excitement ran high and seemed to sweep us into the midst of the crowd as each strove to gain an advantageous position. The general comment was herded into one thought, "What a fire!"

We stood in a trance, watching the efficient manner in which the [illegible] control. The 2nd and 3rd alarm companies took up their hose. The excitement seemed to fade as each truck roared from the scene. We departed thanking God that it was not our loss. But how close the loss was to our own homes can be separated by a fine line. The loss was set at $200,000, not counting the loss of work suffered by those thrown out of employment, but that loss can be overcome in time.

Here, dear readers, may we bring you to a rude awakening. When the fire was discovered, three small boys were seen leaving the scene of the fire. The Fire Department and Police Department sent their investigators into action. After four days and hundreds of stories, one story hit the papers—"Three Boys Held in $200,000 Fire"—Were you shocked? We were in more ways than one—so let's hear the boys' own story—

"I am the oldest boy, so I will tell the truth about the fire. The other two boys are brothers and their father is overseas. My dad is gone, in fact I spent two years in a childrens home. Mom finally took me out and I have lived here for about three years. You know, the two boys are my cousins and live the same place I do. My mommie takes care of them. Their mommie only comes home once or twice a week. Mommie has her hands full and sometimes she doesn't have time to fix us real good meals. So we get us a sandwich to eat, then we go out to play. Mommie never worries about us—so we go anywhere we wants go. Hell last Sunday we went down to the bottling company and pulled the rear door open far enough for us to slip in. I went into the boiler room and lit a cigarette. I guess I threw the match into some papers near some empty pop cases. Then I threw the cigarette down by the papers. When I walked into the place where they bottle the pop, I heard the kids yelling fire and when I turned around all those papers were burning and the boxes too—so we got out and ran home."

The tense crowd listened as the evidence was laid before the court. These boys along with others had made their weekly visits to the bottling plant in order to drink all the pop they wanted. Through their acts a fire had resulted in the loss of $200,000.

The court withheld decision and pending an investigation in the home and a series of examinations of the boys. Dear readers, the report came back—"If the court pleases the case involving these boys seems appalling because of the loss suffered—but this boy that readily admitted starting the fire, has suffered for several years—it is the worse case of malnutrition that has ever been brought to our attention. This lad needs medical care along with a supervised plan of rehabilation in order to place him into our plan of society."

May this case serve its purpose to awaken a lax society to its senses in order that in the future we shall not have to re-tell this story!

The morning service beginning at 10:30 a.m. will be in the form of a great Thanksgiving and Victory Service for the accomplishments over the past several years in paying off the indebtedness on the Church building. Dr. Harold R. Heininger, the President of the Evangelical Theological Seminary of Naperville, Illinois will furnish special music.
The afternoon service will begin at 2:30 p.m. and at this time the final note of indebtedness amounting to $2,150 will be burned. Dr. Heininger will also speak at this service and Mr. Chris Metzger, long time member of the church, will sing a vocal solo.

Other ministers and interested friends of the city are invited to attend these services as well as the general public.
Work at this location was begun and the first service was held on the last Sunday of November, 1944. The present building, which is the third on this site, was dedicated on October 4, 1926. This church had its roots in pioneer work begun in this city in 1865 by the Evangelical church.
The present pastor of the church, The Reverend Howard W. Buckley, extends a cordial invitation to all to be present on this great day of Thanksgiving and Victory for this church. Ohio Avenue Church is located just north of Whittier Street on South Ohio Avenue.

South Side Y Activities

Eighty-five boys from the South Side Branch Y.M.C.A. Community Boys Junior Football League enjoyed their eighteenth annual football party at Schiller Park on Wednesday, November 17, 1948.
The football party is an annual event sponsored by the Amerigo Sr. Club of the South Side Branch Y.M.C.A.
The league is sponsored each year for boys of junior high age, who are interested in football. This year there were a hundred and eight boys participating on seven teams. The teams are divided by weight into three classes. Lightweights, under 105; middleweights, 105 to 120; and heavyweights, 120 and over.
Dr. Wm. D. Ormond, Past President of the Amerigo Srs. and a Former Track Coach of Ohio State University, delivered the main remarks of the evening in the absence of the scheduled speaker. Scholarship, Healthy Habits, and Determination, were his definition of a good athlete.
Championship awards were presented by "Cap" Hoover to the members of the winning team of each class.
The following boys were presented "Good Sportsmanship" awards: Jim Oeffler, Phil Vest, Leroy Allen, Donald Carroll, Eugene Dixon, Chas. Canny, Joe Popples, Frank Acker, Don Wertz, Joe Miller, Jack Hall, Art Gibson, Ronald Cowmas, and Robert Delby.
Art Bogan, also a member of the Amerigo Club, showed movies of "Outstanding Plays in 1947 Football" and of the "Winter Events in The 1948 Olympics."
Bob Kochenspanger presided as master of ceremonies, and Phil Vest expressed the appreciation on behalf of the boys.

By W. W. Reid

A Taura, a section of Yokosuka, an industrial city just south of Yokohama, Japan, the Methodist Church has recently opened a Community Center. Housed in buildings with 20 rms., formerly a Japanese navy officers' club, the Center will provide the people with good reading, good recreational facilities, with educational facilities, with education at various age levels, and with Christian training and inspiration. The Rev. and Mrs. Everett W. Thompson, of Tilton, N. H., Methodist missionaries, are in charge of this new enterprise which is attracting the interest of hundreds of Japanese of all ages.

The Laymen's Movement for a Christian World (347 Madison Ave., New York City) lists more than 27,000 Americans who are pledged to pray daily for the delegates to the United Nations and for other world leaders "that they may do God's will for the world." The Movement secretary, Dr. Weyman C. Huckabee, is now in Europe enlisting peoples of other nations in like prayer. Many national and international church groups have voted approval of the prayer effort. In their call to prayer the laymen say. "We must condition the world's leaders by asking for God's spirit of workability to descend upon their hearts and minds. We must condition ourselves, each and every one, by asking God's help in undertaking the responsibilities of living so that peace may be possible. We must pray in church, at home, on the train, while driving, on the job, and keep at it. Each of us is important now. The ability of every individual to seek divine help is a necessary link in the gold chain that can bind the world about the feet of God in peace and harmony. The prayers of sincere men and women can be over-whelmingly powerful." The leaders of the Movement are prominent New York business men.

"I am concerned about the rapidly increasing American investment interests in South Africa and am wondering if our country's Christian interests in the welfare and development of the native people are going to expand commensurate with America's growing economic motives in Africa," writes American Missionary Darrell D. Randall, of Johannesburg, South Africa. "Consider the fact that the native people are beginning to find out that two-thirds of the population of the world are not white; that India, Pakistan, Burma, Ceylon, have just won their struggle for freedom from the "white yoke" and that millions of other people in the world see also struggling for their 'freedom.' Another factor not to be overlooked is that these underprivileged peoples are finding out that the Soviet Union is founded on a system of no color-bar and no race discrimination, and is beginning to show interest in the plight of the subdued masses of the non-white peoples everywhere . . . . Shouldn't all of us ask ourselves the question: What am I doing to lead the way toward a 'Christian economic brotherhood'?"

Two new medical projects for Central Africa are under way, Methodist Bishop Newell S. Booth, of Leopoldville, Belgian Congo, reports. One is the Bishop Lambuth Memorial Medical Center at Wembo Nyama. The plans have been completed and accepted. The Central New York Conference has subscribed $10,000 to provide the construction equipment. "There are good hopes that the rest of the buildings so much needed will be added", says Bishop Booth. "It will be on time, if we keep on moving to save the life of a tribe. The price is actually being reduced by decease now. But the tide can be turned." The other project is the Dell Edwin Booth Memorial Medical Center at Kanene, Belgian Congo. At present, dispensary activities at Kanene are carried on by the African trained assistant, Jasow Sandwe, in a dilapidated old residence and a score of grass huts for "wards" and "rooms". The new building will give him more sanitary and comfortable quarters for patients and service.

"The Congress of Industrial Organizations is fully committed to the extension of education that will ground our citizens anew in the principles of justice and charity," says Secretary James B. Carey, of the CIO, Washington, D. C. "Both of those certainly sum up the obligation of one man to another as expressed in the Second Great Commandment. It is unfortunate that some interests in our country would seek to divorce religion completely from the fields of economics and politics, the two realms of human activity in which high moral principle is most needed. As spokesmen for millions of American workers, we commend the action of the International Council of Religious Education in seeking to bring to the attention of the American people the vital function that religious education should play in the life of the nation."

Townsend Convention

The Ohio State Conference of the Townsend Clubs will be held in Columbus, Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 27-28 at the Deshler-Wallick Hotel. Delegates from all over Ohio will meet to make plans for an extensive drive to reform the out-dated Ohio Pension System.
The State Townsend Organization will seek $75 a month in 1949 for people 60 years of age. During the two days of meetings, State Organizer Joseph Wojtasik will present a full report on how the Townsend Retirement plan can be won for Ohio and benefit all Ohio citizens.
The first session will be Saturday afternoon with registration and speaking. Saturday evening will be a brief session and a get-together meeting. Payrollers Victory

Columbus, Nov. 23—Perhaps some attention should be given to the clever distribution of federal employes prior to future elections, if the Republicans expect to win.

As the table below shows, Truman's plurality in each of six states was less than the number of federal employes in the same states. Altogether, these states have 58 electoral votes. If they had been won by Dewey, he would have received 277 electoral votes while Truman would have received 216.

This presumes that the vast "vote right" but disregards the average of two extra votes controled by each federal employe in his own family.

The logical conclusion is that either (a) all federal employes be disenfranchised, or (b) we give the franchise to all federal employes and residents of the District of Columbia, and prescribe Washington, D. C., as the voting residence of all federal employes for future national elections so that only 10 or 12 electoral votes could be influenced. Absentee ballots could be used by all federal employes assigned to duty in the 48 states.

This would neutralize the advantage of the "ins" over the "outs" in close elections and establish the principle that the national political interest of all federal employes lies in Washington, rather than in the particular state of their employment.

In the table below, the figures on the number of federal employees in each state are those reported as of June 30, 1948. Since then about 350 have been added per day thruout the nation.

STATES	Electoral Votes	Federal Employes	Truman Plurality	Excess of Employes Over Plurality

Tom Sabrey Heads March Of Dimes

Appointment of Thomas A. Sabrey, 1049 Franklin Avenue, as chairman for the 1949 "March of Dimes" polio fund campaign was announced today by Sid R. Phillips, chairman of the Franklin County chapter of the National Foundation For Infantile Paralysis.

This will be the fourth consecutive year in the chairmanship for Sabrey, who during the summers is managing director of the Hotel Breakers at Cedar Point. For 15 years he was manager of the Neil House in Columbus.

With the need for funds greater than ever before, Mr. Sabrey will head a corps of more than two-thousand workers, both men and women, who will start their canvas of the city and Franklin County of January 10.

The drive continues through January.

To provide continuing care for polio victems of previous years as well as for new cases reported in 1948, the Franklin County chapter has exhausted all of its own funds and obtained an emergency grant of $52,000 from the National Foundation, Mr. Phillips reports.

The goal for the January drive, the chairman says, will be to obtain sufficient funds to insure continuing treatment for present victims, provide a reserve fund to take care of new cases developing next year, and purchase new equipment needed for the Polio Center at Children's Hospital.

"Polio is entirely unpredictable," Mr. Phillips asserts, "and we must always be prepared for an unexpected epidemic in Franklin County."

Trudeau Guild On "Listen Ladies"

The Listen Ladies Radio program, which is broadcast daily at 1:30 over Station WCOL, had as their guests Thursday (South Side Day) the Ladies of Trudeau Guilds Nos. 10 and 14. Trudeau Guild chose as their Sunshine lady, Mrs. Pauline Asbeck, a 27-year-old War Bride and Mother of a little 3-year-old son. Mrs. Asbeck arrived in this country in 1947. She was taken ill shortly after and is now at Franklin-co Tuberculosis Sanitarium. She has been hospitalized for over a year, but is getting along nicely and hopes to return to her home soon.

On The Sunshine quiz, Mrs. Russel Cantor was the winner. She received the lovely orchid, which June's Flower Shop gives each day. Mrs. Richard Hoynd and Mrs. Carl Williams also received nice gifts as second and third winners.

Mrs. Frank LaRue and Mrs. Terrell competed in the Musical Quiz. Mrs. LaRue, the winner, received a Princess House Satintone closet bag and Mrs. Terrell received a ball point pen.

Mrs. R. Runyon, Treasurer of the Music and Hospital committee of the Ohio Federation of Music clubs, announced A Dance to be held at Valley Dale on Nov. 23. All proceeds to be given to the Music in Hospitals Committee. The music and hospital committees go directly into the hospitals with their musical Therapy program. The talent on these programs give their time to brighten the lives and lift the morale of hospitalized patients. Tickets for the dance may be purchased at Heaton's Music Store or at the Door at Valley Dale.

Bill Burt, the Emcee on the Listen Ladies Program, came dashing madly in just in time to go on the air, but what an entrance he makes. He's like "Gone with the Wind," as when he comes in everything goes, Hats, scarves, anything that isn't tied down is his. The ladies all love him he makes them feel so much at ease. Dorothy Moore is Bill's right hand, as she always backs him up with her grand organ music which adds charm to the program.

Listen Ladies is a lot of fun and if you haven't as yet attended a broadcast, you are sure missing a treat. Remember you don't have to belong to the visiting group, just get your best bonnet on, the funnier the better, and attend some of these programs. Make them your Thursday must.

Advantages Of Voluntary Enlistments

Since the establishment of the Selective Service Program, there has been much discussion pro and con regarding the advantages of voluntary enlistment in the Regular Army as compared with compulsory service under the Selective Service Act of 1948, therefore, some of the advantages are being enumerated below.

First, the Army is offering to young men who are 18 years old the opportunity to enlist in the Army of the United States for a period of 1 year. The minimum period of service under the Selective Service Act is 21 months. A young man presently in school enlisting for 1 year will have his formal education interrupted for only 1 year, while he will lose 2 academic years if he waits to be drafted. It is true that the young man will have to serve a period of time in the reserve in either case, but this will not interfere with his school work for his reserve activities are carried on in the evenings and during vacation periods.

Men under Selective Service and men enlisting in the Regular Army are equally eligibile for Technical Training but in both cases they must comply with the service requirements.

b. Every man must have at least 1 year to serve upon completion of his training.

Any enlistment of 2 years or over will satisfy the above requirements and permit the attendance at any of the longer courses.

Another factor to consider in Military Service is promotions. The following requirements for promotion apply to both the Regular Army and Selective Service Enlisted Personnel.

b. Enlisted Men may go from Private to Private First Class upon completion of 18 months active service.

c. Enlisted Men may be promoted to Corporal after 12 months service in grade 5 (PFC) and 30 months total active service.

From this it can be seen that promotions for men serving under Selective Service are limited to Private First Class (Grade 5) due to the time of service requirements, while enlistments for 3 years or more allow time in grade and total service time requirements for promotions to higher grades.

The forth coming holidays are holding the little ones' interest now and future activities will be along those lines.

—R—

Again we thank you folks at home for your generous response to our Pop Corn sale. Please keep in mind that we urge you to call us if you have any corrections or complaints to make. We feel that this is mighty good business training for our boys and girls and we do not want any bad habits started.

We also thank you for helping our children in the collection of Sales Tax Stamps. If you have any to contribute to the school, we will be very glad to send some dependable child for them. Just call GA 1926.

Our regular monthly P. T. A. meeting, which was held last Thursday, Nov. 18th was fairly well attended. These meetings are planned for every Reeb Avenue parent. Please plan to attend every one the rest of this school year.

IT'S THE LAW —

A Pennsylvania statute provides that it is a crime to curse or swear, and the penalty is a fine of forty cents. If God, Christ Jesus or the Holy Ghost is mentioned in the swearing, the fine is sixty-cents. Act of 1794, 3 Sm.L.177.

Ohio law reads that "a person [illegible] by a mob may recover, from the county in which such a mob is made, a sum not to exceed five hundred dollars." Ohio General Code, Title II, Chapter 20, Page 1580, Section 6251.

A Landrum, S. C., law deems it unlawful for any innkeeper, victualler, punch-room keeper or other keeper of a place of entertainment, to entertain a seaman or mariner over one hour without the written consent of the master or captain of the vessel.

Weary wife: How could you have gotten so drunk last night? Everybody at the party noticed that you were intoxicated.

Heavy drinking husband: That's all right, dear. If I hadn't been drunk, everybody would have noticed that too.

We know a woman who concedes there are two sides to a question — her own and the wrong side.

The Snow Maiden To Be Presented

On the stage of The R.K.O. Palace Theatre the gates of fairyland will open for the children of Columbus promptly at 10:00 a.m. on Friday, November 26th when "The Snow Maiden", a Lyric Theatre production will be staged here. Most recent of the famed Edwin Strawbridge productions, the play will star lovely Lisa Parnova.

The Lyric Theatre is owned and operated by Mr. Strawbridge who himself has danced his way into the hearts of thousands of American children from coast to coast. It is built on an idea, one which appeals to educators and parents, that all faculties be employed in appreciation and assimulation of a worthwhile study.

His vehicle, "The Snow Maiden", is a well-known, and well loved story. The story comes first, but is not all. The dance is the vehicle and authentic costumes, music, and scenery, and exquisite lighting effects bring to the child an unforgettable memory, one that he will take with him through life.

In addition to this no child in the city will go to the theatre unprepared to appreciate the play. Prior to the production an educational kit will be sent to each school in the city. This kit gives the school teacher an opportunity to prepare the children for what they are to see, a background for the music, the incidents, and the costumes so they will know "all about what they are seeing."

And so the play, through story, scenery, costumes and music opens the children's eyes to other countries, but it also points to the basic universality of mankind, teaching a lesson in tolerance and broader vision.

Romance On The High Seas At Russell

The Russell Theater is showing "Romance on the High Seas" this Sunday and Monday. This movie is a prize package of escapist entertainment. It will warm the hearts and tickle the toes of all who see it. Filmed in beautiful technicolor it is laugh-loaded and filled with singable songs sung as only Doris Day can sing them. Jack Carson's his usual hilarious self, but teamed with such laugh getters as S. Z. Sakall and Oscar Levant the picture out-does itself for fun loving fans. The co-feature is "Adventure In Silverado" with William Bishop and Gloria Henry. News and a Cartoon complete the bill.

Wolf Girl Returns

The return engagement of Rose Mary Dallas, better known as the "Wolf Girl" to the El Trovato Club, located at 347 Barthman Ave is very exciting news. Everyone who has seen this talented star will wish to see her again. Those of you who have not seen her performance are assured a thrill. She is a true artist and her performance is really unique.

Gene Robin, your favorite comedy Mcee will be there with all his unusual patter to keep the show moving at a fast pace. Then there is another treat with La Tina and her character dancing. The floor show this week really offers an all star cast. Sammy Hopkins and his orchestra will play for your dancing pleasure. So if you want an entertaining evening, drop in at the El - Trovato and see this grand show. Remember too the "El - Trovato" is the smart, inexpensive place to go.

"Four Faces West" At Southland

Thanksgiving Program At Southland Theater

Rita Hayworth and Glenn Ford co-star in "The Loves of Carmen," Technicolor romantic drama, opening Thursday, Thanksgiving Day, at the Southland theatre. The Southland and the eight other Academy theatres will feature special holiday matinees, Thursday, with doors opening at 1:30 p.m.

Ideal Shows The Pirate

The Pirate showing at the Ideal Theater this Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday, is a fantasy that hovers between an extravaganza and operetta. Filmed in flaming Technicolor against breathtaking sets and backgrounds, it is one of the most beautiful pictures to come out of Hollywood. Judy Garland sings some of Cole Porter's best song hits, while Gene Kelly's interpretive dancing is inspired. The play-bill also includes "Train to Alcatraz" with Don Barry and Janet Martin and a Cartoon.

Columbia Theater

The Columbia Theater presents Sunday and Monday, "Life With Father," starring Irene Dunn and William Powell. This faithful reproduction of the enormously successful stage play retains all the charm, gentle humor and nostalgic appeal of the original, with William Powell as the bombastic Father Day, and Irene Dunne as his loving and resourceful wife, Vinnie, heading a strong cast. The action of the film is confined to the Day household except for brief episodes on the quiet, horse-carred streets, in fashionable Delmonico's and in McCreery's De[illegible] all of them [illegible], Splendidly photographed in Technicolor which enhances the 1880's background. Directed by Michael Curtis.

Happenings That Affect the Dinner Pails, Dividend Checks, and Tax Bills of Every Individual National and International Problems Inseparable From Local Welfare.

In the very near future, this country will start serious work on preparing the draft of a military alliance with a group of foreign nations. That would have happened before, had this not been an election year. As it was, the State Department and the other agencies involved thought it best to postpone it until after the election, in order to keep it above and beyond partisan political considerations.

It is a remarkable thing that such a proposal should be seriously made in a country which, until recently, had religiously followed Washington's admonition against entangling foreign alliances. It is a still more remarkable thing that some kind of a military alliance has every chance of being approved—that, indeed, the odds are overwhelmingly in its favor. There is no better illustration of the fact that the world has shrunk tremendously, looking at it from the military and foreign relations points of view, and that America's ocean-made geographical remoteness from Europe is no longer considered to be a guarantee of territorial security.

If and when the alliance comes into being, it will be the result of the Soviet Union's postwar attitude—and, more particularly, the obvious intent of that power to dominate all of Europe and destroy every possible vestige of Western democratic influences. Had Russia even gone through the motions of cooperating with the Western nations in implementing the peace, and had she shown even a medicum of restraint in her dealings with the little nations that border on her boundaries, it is doubtful if the American Congress and the American people would have approved anything resembling an effective foreign alliance. However, that is water under the bridge, and the world being what it is we are taking more and more of the spotlight on the international stage.

According to John M. Hightower, an AP foreign editor, "State department officials . . . plan to consult leaders of Congress and the major political parties to find what they will support in the final drafting of a proposed treaty to create a North Atlantic mutual defense system." The countries which will be initially involved, besides the U. S., are Canada, Britian, France, Belgium, Luxembourg, and The Netherlands. Preliminary talks have already been held between the ambassadors of these nations and Undersecretary of State Lovett, who has been doing a great deal of quiet but important spade-work for the future while his chief, General Marshall, has been occupied with critical current problems.

Mr. Hightower reports that diplomatic authorities feel that a number of major points will survive negotiations and be formerly enacted. Among them are: 1. The participating nations will form the nucleus of the non-communist alliance. 2. Other non-communist powers should be included. 3. If any of the nations involved is attacked, all the others will consider that they have been attacked as well 4. Thereafter, each nation would take "appropriate action" in accordance with its own particular constitutional processes.

This is indicative of the progress the West is making in cementing its strength against possible aggression. It is reasonable to assume that such an alliance would be followed by outright military aid on a large scale to the countries of Europe which join. All of them are militarily weak, to varying degrees, and they want planes, tanks, ammunition, and so on. And, in the view of many, an alliance on paper wouldn't mean much unless it were solidly backed up by material power.

There is still another point that deserves wide mention—the courage that small European countries have shown in resisting Russia. That resistance as fairly easy for us, with our enormous military potential, and our possession of a huge country which has been free of foreign invasion. It is a very different thing for poor and devastated countries which have been fought on for centuries, and which are over at almost regular intervals within easy reach of the powerful Russian Bear with his innumerable divisions, his plans, his submarines, and his guns. The anti-communist leaders in those countries certainly can hold no illusions about what will happen to them if the communists do gain control—the example of Czechoslovakia alone is sufficient. And even the rank and file of Western sympathizers know that there would probably be an unpleasant fate in store for them too—the communists obtain their forced labor gangs from those who oppose them. All in all, the peoples and governments of Western Europe have shown a fine degree of resolution in standing up for what they believe to be right.

The Price Of Statesmanship

Burma is an open battleground of ideologies. Ever since last year when Prime Minister Aung San and eight of his cabinet were assassinated, the country has been plunged into a reign of terror. There have been countless murders by extremists of both right and left.

Many observers feel Russia considers Burma the "Czechoslovakia" of the Far East. The Communist war now raging against the Government is only part of a master strategy for the Far East being directed from the Asiatic Cominform headquarters in Bangok, Siam. Chief of the divisions on which Communists ride to power are those among minority groups.

In Burma the Karens and Burmans have never trusted each other. There have been incidents on both sides that have been hard to forget, let alone forgive.

The Karens, largest minority group in Burma, have long dreamed of forming a separate state—by force of arms, if necessary.

In this situation it is of vital importance to the future of democracy when the head of the 1,200,000 Karens publicly takes responsibility for the lawlessness of his own people toward the Burmans.

"Saw Ba U Gyi (the Karen leader) offers own land to Government to make amends for looting of Treasury at Maubin," said the leading headline of The Burman, Rangoon newspaper.

The translation of the Karen leader's speech before the Premier of Burma, his Cabinet Ministers, and representatives of the other minorities, is even more revolutionary than the headline. It reflects an entire right-about-face in the attitude of the Karens toward the government.

As restitution to the nation for the looting of firearms and a large sum of money from the Government by Karen bandits, the Saw Ba said, "I have no cash to pay but I own one thousand acres of paddy lands. I have decided to hand over these acres to the Union Government." Referring to the looting of firearms, the Saw Ba continued, "I appeal to the Karens to surrender all illegal firearms to the Government within two months. You can take it from me that my appeal will be implimented by action."

These are the words of a statesman. One wonders what might happen in the Western world if its statesmen were willing to take personal responsibility, risking even their power and prestige, to heal the division among their people.

Hunting Good Throughout State

Reports reaching Division of Conservation headquarters in Columbus indicate that hunting during the first several days of the 1948 season was good throughout most of Ohio, confirming pre-season predictions by Conservation officials that game would be more plentiful.

Everett Ridge, supervisor of Conservation District No. 7 comprising 13 south central Ohio counties, reports that an unusual number of pheasants have been taken in Highland and Ross counties normally considered poor pheasant counties. Rabbits were said to be plentiful throughout the district.

According to Emanuel G. Day, hotel clerk at the Phoenix Hotel in Findlay, hunters are apparently satisfied with the amount of game found in northwestern counties although some, as usual, finished the first day's hunt with empty game bags.

Hunting around Marion, Ohio, in central Ohio was considered a little above average but fewer hunters were in the field according to game protector Ollie Neimeyer who said that only about one third the usual first-day hunters were out, probably, he explained, because cautious hunters were afraid the ideal hunting weather would bring too many hunters into the fields and preferred to wait until the more anxious nimrods returned home.

Earl Campbell, Howard, Ohio, hunting in Marion County reported that he had his limit of two birds after 35 minutes of hunting on opening day. Paul Hall, also of Howard, (Knox-co) said he got 2 birds in 45 minutes hunting in Marion County.

Game Protectors generally reported more violations on opening day than in many years. Failure to display license on back, shooting hen pheasants, shooting after 4 p.m., trapping before season opened and resisting arrest were among the more numerous violations.

Weather on opening day was ideal throughout the state and many hunters, although empty handed at the close of the first day's hunt, did not consider their time wasted.

The pheasant season will continue through November 25, Thanksgiving Day, closing at 4 p.m., while the rabbit season will remain open through December 18.

The Ohio trapping season which opened November 15 will continue through January 15 for the inland trapping district and through March 15 in the Lake Erie District including Lucas, Ottawa, Sandusky, Erie, Huron, Lorain, Cuyahoga, Geauga, Lake and Ashtabula counties.

Lions Club Speaker Albert Gregg

Mr. Gregg spoke principally on Korea and his talk together with his most unusual pictures made the luncheon an enjoyable one for all who attended.

As lovely as a pair of trees.
Indeed, unless the long skirts fall,
I'll never see a knee at all.

After the clergyman, with whom he had been playing a round of golf, had completely missed the ball several times, the judge looked intently in the reverend's fast reddening face, and said quietly, "That's the most profane silence I have ever known."

Edgar Butler Establishes An Accounting Service

Retiring from the police department after 22 years service, ex-Sergeant Edgar N. Butler, of 757 Kossuth St, announced this week he will devote his attention to an accounting and tax service business at his home. Associated with him will be his daughter, Norma A. Pyle, a South High graduate, who has ably assisted him since he began such a service 16 years ago as a part time venture.

Butler formerly was chief license enforcement officer and retirement from active duty was occasioned by ill health. He has lived on the South Side since 1903 and was a former newspaper man and legal aid for the Ohio Industrial Commission before joining the police force. He is married and has three daughters and five grand-children, all South Side residents. He has won recognition as a tax expert and has a number of South Side clients. He can be reached at GA 7708.

With penalties now being levied by many tax authorities for delinquent filing and reporting requirements becoming more detailed, many owners of small business are finding it more practical and economical to employ outside specialists, Butler pointed out. The cost is negligible compared to the beneficial aspect of the service, he adds.

Camp Fire Girls Sponsor Candy Sale

Columbus Camp Fire Girls really swing into action as they launch a city-wide campaign in form of a candy sale, to raise funds for [illegible] swimming pool at Camp Wyandot. Girls will be taking orders starting November 25th. The official dates for the sale are December 6 thru December 18.

Camp Wyandot is located ten miles south of Lancaster on Clear Creek in Hocking County. It accommodates approximately 325 girls each summer during a supervised camping period. Camp Fire groups also make use of the camp for week end trips throughout the rest of the year.

Lake Ataguhi, now used for swimming, has been formed by damming a small stream which empties into Clear Creek. The lake, due to heavy rains and other conditions, is becoming less desirable every year for swimming, but will be maintained for boating after the new pool is built.

A committee representing the Camp Fire Girls, Inc., purchased 147 acres, now known as Camp Wyandot, in 1927. It was considered a most suitable spot for the Camp Fire Girls as it has much of it consisted of hills, hollows, and a beautiful creek. It offers so many opportunities [illegible] the Camp Fire program. Some of these are [illegible] of wild flowers, trees, fruits and nuts. There are also [illegible] for cook outs and outdoor sleeping.

The picturesque setting makes the camp more outstanding. It is built on the "Old Wyandot Trail." The historic log cabin at the entrance and the large tree called "Leaning Lena," for which every girl's eye is peeled as she turns off Route 33 onto Clear Creek Road, all add to make the spot an ideal camp.

The Staff Lodge was the camp's first building. Tents were used by the campers. In 1931 Bishop Lodge and [illegible] were added. The evening program, mess hall and kitchen. Most of the work on the building was done by volunteer labor of the fathers, while mothers and girls cooked for them. Bishop Lodge means much to the Camp Fire Girls since the three large fireplaces were built from sandstone blasted from the land. Many of the huge trees were from trees on the property.

The sleeping cabins were built in later years, the labor done by the fathers and the money for construction being gifts to the organization.

The hospital building, known as Hoskins Lodge, was a memorial to a Camp Fire Girl. The newest building, the nature cabin, known as Hambleton Lodge, is a memorial to the father of a Board member, Mrs. Frank Watter.

The camp has progressed in size and program since 1927. It now consists of 215 acres. It has a farmhouse for [illegible] cattle, 11 cabins, 1 staff [illegible] 3 tents, hospital, boat craft, [illegible] cabins and lodge. The next project is the new swimming pool.

with the BIGGER SINGLE HEAD with CONTINUOUS-SHAVING-SURFACE

Got a tough beard, mister?

Until you've tried this sensational new 1947 Shavemaster, you've no idea of the fast, smooth, comfort-shaves it can give you. That's because it combines in one bigger SINGLE head greater shaving-surface and higher cutter-speed than ever before. No gaps between heads that do not work. Your whiskers can't escape the hundreds of holes that screen its big comfortable OVAL head. It's the head with the greater number of shaving edges for greater whisker PICK-UP.

In addition, it has the POWERFUL, BRUSH-TYPE SELF-STARTING MOTOR—a real "power plant." More powerful than any other electric shaver made—built to "stand the gaff."

Only the new Sunbeam SHAVEMASTER has this UNBEATABLE COMBINATION.

By special arrangement with Sunbeam we will have a factory-trained Shavemaster expert in our store all day Friday and Saturday. See him demonstrate the new Shavemaster on all types of beards. Miss Betty Nafzger Is Wed To Mr. John Koebel

White Chrysanthemums and palms formed the altar decorations in St. John the Evangelist Church Oct. 9 for the wedding of Miss Betty Jane Nafzger and Mr. John Michael Koebel. The Rev. Fr. Fred W. Burkhart performed the double ring ceremony at 9 a.m. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Nafzger, 1020 S. 22nd St., and Mr. Koebel's parents are Mr. and Mrs. John A. Koebel, 743 Thurman Av.

The bride was escorted down the candlelit aisle by her father. She wore a gown of heavy satin styled with a sheer net yoke bordered by a wide bertha of Chantilly lace with seed pearl trim. A panel of matching lace was set in narrow at the waist and widened at the hemline. Long sleeves came to points over her hands and the full skirt extended into a cathedral train. Her veil of imported illusion was trimmed with matching lace, and she carried a white prayer book topped with a white orchid.

The maid of honor, Miss Catherine A. Berendt, wore a salmon satin gown and carried yellow chrysanthemums. Attendants were Mrs. George McClure, cousin of the bride, and Miss Patricia Shroeder. They wore nile green and carried rust chrysanthemums.

Mr. Eugene Hanna was best man, and Mr. Robert Miller and Mr. Daniel Oestreicher ushered.

The bride is a graduate of South High School and is associated with the Columbus Chamber of Commerce. The bridegroom is a graduate of Aquinas High School, attended Ohio State University and is employed by the Ohio Fuel Gas Co.

Miss Helen Redd Wed October 2nd

Pink and white gladioli flanked by seven-branch candelahra entwined with southern smilax decorated the altar of Livingston Methodist Church for the wedding of Miss Helen Ida Redd, daughter of Mrs. Thelma Redd, 828 S. Front St, and Mr. James Franklin Hickman, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Hickman of Belpre, O.

The double ring service was read by the Rev. Mr. E. I. Klotz on Oct. 2 at 7:30 in the evening.

The bride wore a period gown of seafoam green taffeta fashioned with an elongated bodice pointed in the front and a yoke of illusion bordered with a wide fold of taffeta. The full skirt was worn over a petticoat of net and lace ruffles. She wore taffeta mitts which came to a point over the hands and reached above the elbows. Her shoulder-length veil of green illusion was held in place by small green ostrich tips. She carried a cascade of white mums and bride's roses with puffs of white satin ribbon.

She wore an arrangement of the same flowers in her hair.

Mr. Wallace Hickman, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

The bride is a graduate of So. High School and has been associated with General Motors Corp. The bridegroom also is associated with General Motors here.

The couple temporarily reside at 828 S. Front St.

News In The World Of Religion

The Presbyterian, the Methodist and the Holiness Churches in Korea are working together under the auspices of the Inter-Mission Cooperating Committee of Korea to produce a union hymnal which will contain all the hymns now in three separate books of these churches and a few new ones written and composed in Korea. The new books will contain both music and words; some will be translations of English and European hymns, but many will be the writings of Korean hymnologists and will use adaptations of Korean and other Asiatic tunes and folk songs.

Dr. Frank C. Laubach, devoted pioneer missionary educator whose unique phonetic method has been used successfully to teach in more than 100 languages, will fly to Bangkok, Siam, in December, at the invitation of the Siamese government, to initiate a nation-wide literacy campaign in that country. Dr. Laubach will be accompanied by his son, Robert, and by two others, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Gray, of Boulder, Colorado, who will make the drawings of familiar objects upon the depiction of which word sounds and ideas are caught. From Siam the team will later visit India to aid in the National Christian Council's drive against illiteracy in that country; still later it will visit Australia, New Guinea, and Korea for similar undertakings.

Forty carloads of wheat contributed in Ohio, and 58 carloads of wheat and four of powdered milk contributed in Kansas, made up two trains recently gathered by Lutheran World Relief, Church World Service, and the Catholic Rural Life Conference from the rural areas of these two states and now enroute to Europe and Asia to help the hungry peoples of Germany, Austria, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Finland, Poland and Japan. A number of other trains are now being made up in other middle western and western states and in the south for shipment overseas before Christmas. Among the products solicited are cotton, corn, wheat, wool, milk, livestock and soy beans. The three agencies are working together in appealing for gifts, but donors may designate which of the agencies and which of the countries they wish to receive their produce. In Europe and Asia, these CROP gifts are administered thru church agencies and it is reported that millions are kept alive by this produce of American farms.

American missionaries in North and Central China have been "advised" by American consuls to leave these areas "while communications are open," because of communist military advances and the uncertainty of future events. Cables to the Methodist Board of Missions and Church Extension from the four Methodist bishops in China indicate a varied response to the advice. The bishops have generally advised temporary evacuation, but are leaving the final decision to each missionary's view of the situation, and the particular family or health condition in which each finds himself or herself. Some are planning to go to Shanghai; some will probably return to America principally mothers with small children; but most are electing to remain at their posts at least until they can learn what conditions will be like for Christian work under a communist regime.

"Education is not a matter of merely imparting facts, of transmitting accumulated information from one generation to another," said David E. Lilienthal recently. "It is the human, the ethical, and the moral significance of these facts with which education surely should be basically concerned. To give meaning to knowledge—this is the high function of the teacher . . . With a faith in knowledge, with a faith in our fellow Americans, with a faith in our Creator, we shall make these new discoveries (atomic energy) serve the betterment of humanity and the Kingdom of God."

The Rev. Jose L. Valencia, superintendent of the Cagayan district of the Methodist church in the Philippine Islands, has been elected a bishop of the Methodist church by the Philippine Central Conference which has just closed its sessions in Manila. Election is for a term of four years. The new bishop succeeds the war-time episcopal leader, Bishop D. D. Alejandro, who let it be known that health conditions could not permit his continuation in the episcopal office. Bishop Valencia was pastor and superintendent in northern Luzon Island when the Japanese invaded the Philippines, entering near the Cagayan Valley. Despite persecution and constant danger to his life, because of earlier associations with Americans, he continued to "travel the district" and keep churches in operation. He was in the United States this year as a delegate to the Central Conference in Boston. Born in Tagudin, Ilocos Sur, Bishop Valencia was educated in Cornell College, Iowa, and Drew Theological Seminary.

South, once a power-house in basketball competition, showed the usual first game rough spots Tuesday night on the home court, but managed to come thru with a 42-31 triumph over Upper Arlington. It was the second set-back for the Bears in as many starts.

The winners had the upper hand all the way thanks to a distinct height advantage. Arlington led 5-4 midway in the first quarter, but the Blue and Gray regained the lead right away and stayed in front thru the end.

Only the set-shot efforts of Dick Barnes and Capt. Dave Axene, who both played a hustling defensive game, too, kept the Golden Bears from being completely routed by the lanky Southerners.

Bill Camp found the hoops for seven buckets for the Bulldogs, four in the second half, to lead the scoring parade for the evening.

The preliminary went to the visitors, 27-19 victors over South's futures. The Arlingtons iced the game in the third period and then coasted in.

Bible Institute Starts New Quarter

Good news is coming to residents of Columbus and vicinity as The Columbus Bible Institute, Inc. announces the beginning of another quarter on Monday, Dec. 13th. Eleven Bible and affiliated subjects are to be offered during the 13-week period on Monday and Tuesday evenings. Certificates and diplomas are awarded to those satisfactorily completing the one-year and three-year courses.

This school, which had 77 enrolled for the fall quarter, is the only one of its type in Columbus making systematic Bible training possible entirely through evening classes. These men and women represent 25 different churches and because of the interdenominational emphasis the student body is expected constantly to increase as more and more of Columbus church folk find that these facilities are available. Special training may be secured in almost any phase of Sunday school and Church work. No tuition is charged but a registration fee of $3.00 is asked for any number of subjects. Correspondence courses are available to those who are unable to come to C.B.I. classes.

C.B.I. is an active member of the Evangelical Teacher Training Association of Chicago which is a clearing house for 170 other schools throughout the U. S, and Canada, to which credits earned locally may be transferred without sacrifice.

The faculty, composed of Bible Institute & Seminary graduates, will offer the following subjects according to schedule: Monday 6:30—Detailed study of Daniel; Missions 302—Missionary principles, history, and study of various boards; 7:50—Administration 102—History, importance, organization, type of Sunday schools; Specialization 302—Teacher-training for junior intermediate classes; Greek 102 — Continuation of language study; 8:50—Music 102—Continuation of fundamentals of music interpretation.

Tuesday, 1:30—Evangeliam CC-102—Teacher-training for "Children for Christ" classes; 6:30—Child Study 102 -Study of needs, ages, psychology of dealing with children; Church History 302—History from Pentecostal to Medieval Church; 7:50—Survey 102—Outline studies of Job thru Malachi; Doctrine 302—Doctrine of the church, angels, and Satan.

The facilities of the Bible Presbyterian Church, 743 Dennison Avenue, have been made available for use during these two evenings weekly. Additional information may be obtained by calling MA 0063, LA 61181, or WA 1475. A telephone call will bring you our detailed catalog. Any inquiry of any phase of the Institute is encouraged. Christmas Seals On Sale

Increased concern on the part of Franklin County people in the battle against Tuberculosis is reflected in larger purchases of Christmas seals this year, according to Harold K. Schellenger, seal sale chairman for the county.

Early returns from the Christmas seal letters sent out a few days before Thanksgiving show total contributions to date to be three per cent greater than last year and the average per person is about 25 cents above 1947, Schellenger reports.

If this rate of Christmas seal purchases and contributions continues, the Columbus Tuberculosis Society will be able to expand its program of education and case-finding during 1949.

Persons receiving seals who have not already sent in their contributions are urged by Chairman Schellenger to do so immediately. If the return envelope enclosed with the seals has been lost, payment may be addressed in another envelope to the Columbus Tuberculosis Society, 503 Oak Street. Checks are to be made payable to Neil R. Baker, treasurer.

Noted particularly in this year's giving, according to the chairman, are the hundreds of contributions coming from persons who have received free chest X-rays given by the society at local industries and community centers.

Bennet Appointed Associate Chief

Dr. John W. Bennett, assistant professor in sociology and anthropology at Ohio State University, has been appointed associate chief of the division of civil information with the Supreme Commander of the Allied Powers in Japan, it was announced today. He has been granted a one-year leave from the University's Department of Sociology and will leave early in February for Tokyo.

In his new position, Dr. Bennett will plan and execute various types of social and socio-psychological research ranging from public opinion and attitude surveys to community studies. The research will serve as a guide to reconstruction and educational policies to be followed in Japan.

Before joining the Ohio State staff in 1944, Dr. Bennett was a research analyst for the Program Surveys, Division of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics and a regional analyst in the Office of War Information. From 1943-44 he served as public relations director of the national waste paper conservation program.

He is the author of numerous professional articles on sociology and anthropology and has recently published an introductory social science text with co-author Melvin M. Tumin of Princeton University. He received his bachelor's degree from Beloit College and the Master's and doctoral degrees from the University of Chicago.

School Papers To Compete

School papers in the South Side are competing in the annual school press project aimed at arousing interest of young people in the tuberculosis problem and how it is being met.

The project, sponsored for the third year in Franklin county and for the twelfth year in the nation, coincides with the annual Christmas Health Seal Sales campaign.

The contest, which locally is under the direction of the Columbus Tuberculosis Society, is sponsored nationally by the National Tuberculosis Association and the Columbia Scholastic Press Association.

In Franklin County, prizes amounting to $15 for first, $10 for second, and $5 for third, are offered in each of three divisions editorial, feature story, and cartoon. School papers participating will submit entries appearing in their November and December issues on either of two subjects, "What We Should Know About Tuberculosis" or "How Our Community Fights Tuberculosis."

Franklin County winners, to be announced on January 22, also will be forwarded to the Ohio Tuberculosis and Health Association and to the National Tuberculosis Association to be considered for state and national honors.

Judges in Franklin County are Dr. Edgar Dale of the Bureau of Educational Research, Ohio State University; Mary McHarey, education writer for the Columbus Dispatch and president of the Ohio Women's Newspaper Association; and Dr. C. R. Markwood, medical director of Ben Franklin Clinic and resident physician at the Franklin County Tuberculosis Hospital.

Winners of cash prizes last year included Bill Lenkey, South; Virginia Casey, West; Frank Doons, North; Catherine Mathers, Grove City; Charlotte Roudebush, North; Joyce Hau, St. Mary of the Springs; Beverly Cross, Grandview Heights.

One hundred thousand such X-rays have been given in Franklin County during the past four years, and the service already is booked through the first two months of next year. In each thousand X-rays, society physicians have found five or six cases of tuberculosis among persons who did not know of their infection up to that time. In most instances, the discovery was in time for treatments leading to complete recovery, the society reports.

A mountaineer from them thar hills wrote to a corn syrup factory: "Dere Sirs, I been drinking your corn syrup for two years, and my feet ain't no better."

Seal Sale Has Labor Support

Labor leaders today praised the tuberculosis control work of the 3,000 associations affiliated with the National Tuberculosis Association in statements urging widespread support of the 42nd annual Christmas Seal Sale. The Seal Sale, which opened Nov. 22 and will close Christmas, is the sole fund-raising drive of the associations.

In letters to Dr. Herbert L. Mantz, president of the NTA, William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, and Philip Murray, president of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, spoke in particular of the value of the chest X-ray services provided from Christmas Seal funds by many associations, in cooperation with health departments, to find unknown cases of tuberculosis.

"I share with many thousands of public-spirited Americans a deep sense of appreciation for the chest X-ray work which was conducted during the past year in an effort to stamp out tuberculosis in its early stages," said Mr. Green.

"This was a real patriotic and humane service and I sincerely believe its cumulative effect will be most beneficial. Since your plans for the coming year anticipate even greater service, I sincerely hope that the sale of Christmas Seals in your 1948 campaign will far exceed any previous year so that your constructive public health work will be financed in a satisfactory and adequate way."

Mr. Murray wrote that he took pleasure again in joining in the "worthy battle against tuberculosis."

"Although I am interested in all phases of the Association's program," he said, "I have a special interest in its expanding industrial X-ray service. This, of course, is due to the fact that we have some 6,000,000 members employed in industrial plants.

"The 1948 Seal Sale campaign, which bears my hearty endorsement, will be called to the attention of CIO affiliates throughout the country."

—R—

Mrs. Betson's Class and Miss Oelgoets' Class went to the Ohio State Museum on Monday the 29th. The lesson was on "Introduction to Natural History". The teacher was Mr. Jenny. We saw very many beautiful dolls, animals that were stuffed, two live snakes, a mummy of a woman, two skeletons, and many more things. We had a very nice time. —Irene Rajus, Room 201.

—R—

Mrs. Sabo, Mrs. Spurlock, and Mrs. Miller visited the Assembly Program given by Room 110.

—R—

Richard Beightler and Donald Massie of Room 212, served as the yard clean-up squad last week. If all the children would throw their waste paper, orange peel, apple cores, and candy wrappers in the waste paper basket it would be a big help.

Since Judith Lewis has been transferred to the 6A Class, Margaret Sziarto has taken her place as librarian in Room 212.

New Ruling On Unemployment Compensation

A person who refuses to continue at a job because working conditions imposed by the employer are substantially less favorable than those in force at the time of the original hiring may be eligible for unemployment benefits, the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation's Board of Review ruled today.

The Board's ruling with one of its members dissenting—came in the case of an Akron woman who performed her duties at home on a piecework basis. When the employer offered a new contract which made for a drastic change in the conditions of employment, the woman stated her inability to meet such conditions and gave up her job.

Under the original contract, the employer delivered the raw materials to the woman's home and picked up the finished product. Under the new contract, the woman was expected to both pick up the raw materials and deliver the finished product to the employer at a specified time each week.

In her testimony, the woman said that she had advised the employer her inability to comply with the conditions of the new contract and that she had offered to pay for both the pickup and delivery service previously rendered. Subsequently, she also offered to meet the general terms of the new contract if she were permitted to deliver her finished work at a time one hour later than that specified by the employer.

The Board found that the employer had refused to accept either alternative and had refused to pick up work completed by the woman at the time the new contract was offered.

The Board, in ruling that the woman was justified in refusing to continue her work under the new conditions imposed by the employer, based its decision on a section of the Ohio Law which provides that:

"No individual otherwise qualified to receive benefits shall lose the right to benefits by reason of a refusal to accept new work if conditions of the work offered are less favorable than those prevailing for similar work in the locality."

Three Daring Daughters At Ideal

The Ideal Theater is showing this Sunday and Monday "Three Daring Daughters." Filmed in Technicolor this movie brings Jeanette Mac Donald back to the screen as the mother of three youngsters whose talents and machinations give the film its title. Jose Iturbi has an opportunity to show not only his magic fingers but a considerable talent for acting. "Three Daring Daughters" will send you from the theater shouting its praise. The co-feature is "Blazing Across the Pecos" with Smiley Burnett and Charles Starrett. A cartoon completes the bill.

Players Club Presents "Glass Menageria"

Number two on the Players Club program is the play, "Glass Menagerie," to be presented December 9, 10, 11, and 12.

"Glass Menagerie" made famous by Helen Hayes on Broadway has a small cast of four. Playing the lead is Mrs. Howard D. Brown of 123 West New England Ave., Worthington. Other members of the cast are Vivian M. Hindman, 1763 Henry St., Columbus; Grant S. Richards, 34 N. Hampton Rd., and Roy Stingley, 2615 Glenmawr Ave., Columbus.

Roy H. Brown is directing the production. Acting as Stage Manager is Henry B. Van Fleet. Martha Sullivan heads up a committee in charge of furniture. She is assisted by Dorothy McLennan and Anna Joe Thiebert. Hand props are under the direction of Ruth Wolford, assisted by Ruth Sloane, Christine Grant and Mrs. Robert Powers.

Russell Presents "That Lady In Ermine"

This Sunday and Monday the Russell Theater is presenting "That Lady In Ermine" a super Technicolor musical starring Betty Grable and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. This movie is a radical departure from the usual pattern of film musicals. It has all the lavish settings, lilting music and bountiful literary imagination for which director, Ernst Lubitsch is famous. Together with "Shaggy" a heart-warming story of a boy and his dog. News and Cartoon, it is a play-bill well worth seeing.

Columbia Shows "Southern Yankee"

"A Southern Yankee" a historical version of the American Civil War. This film stars the acknowledged master of slapstick & satire, Red Skelton. Red is a spy-happy bellhop who captures a mysterious Confederate agent and then is forced to assume the spy's identity. This leaves Mr. Skelton right in the middle as he must avoid capture by both the Union and Confederate forces. Together with "Secret Land" its co-feature starring Robert Montgomery, it is a show well worth seeing.

BEYOND GLORY AT SOUTHLAND

Filmed at West Point, the picture co-stars Ladd with lovely Donna Reed, and features George Macready and Geo. Coulouris. "ARIZONA RANGERS," rootin' tootin' Western starring popular Tim Holt, will complete the outstanding Family Program.

Plans for the survey were announced by Dr. E. D. Martin, chief of the Division's game management and propaganda section.

Dr. Martin pointed out that a representative number of hunters, totaling about 30,000 will receive post card questionnaires by mail around the first of the year. Hunters will be asked to state the number and species of game taken during the 1948 season, hours hunted, areas hunted and other information needed by the Division of Conservation to help determine the amount of game killed during the season and also secure some indication regarding the natural distribution of game in the fields.

Thurman Methodists Give Christmas Play

The Thurman Players of Thurman Avenue Methodist Church will present as their Christmas drama, "A Lesson from Luke." The two-act play, written by Earl J. Dias, tells of Judy, a sophisticated girl of 17, who finds life in the village of Fairfield quite dull. Her mother's inn, open only to summer visitors, holds no interest for her, nor do the villagers. Even Christmas is just another passing event. And when a shabbily dressed woman and her tired child ask for a room at the inn, Judy protests to her mother that the strangers would spoil whatever was left of Christmas. Mr. Counts, the kindly owner of the general store, offers the strangers a room at the back of his store, and Judy's mother reluctantly lets them go, puzzled and worried over Judy's hardness. Judy's friend, Bob, also has observed her unkindness. She has accepted his gift indifferently and is uninterested in a gay Christmas party to be held in the town hall. And her attitude toward the strangers — well, before he leaves, Bob suggests to Judy that a certain chapter in Luke might be worthwhile. . .To say more would spoil the story; you are invited to come and see it.

The date is Sunday, December 12, at 8:00 o'clock. The place is Thurman Avenue Methodist Church, Thurman and South Washington Avenues. The play is under the direction of Mr. Carl Lowell. Miss Thelma Lewis will play the part of Judy. Others in the cast are: Mrs. Esther Mann, Mr. Paul Hanson, Mr. Robert Turner, Miss Carol Powell, Miss Jane White, and Miss Janet Lee Lewis.

In the worship service which will precede the play Miss Mary Jean Mattox will sing "At the Manger" by Finke and "Night of Nights" by Van De Water. The organist, Miss Ruth Warren, will play "Yuletide Echoes" by William Hudson and the Pastoral Symphony from "The Messiah" by Handel. Mrs. Margaret Dimar will preside at the service.

Burk - Gibson Wed

Corpus Christi Church was the scene of the marriage of Miss Patricia Jean Burk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles O. Burk, and grand-daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Baumbusch, 581 Lathrop St., and Mr. Richard C. Gibson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Gibson, 1547 S. High St. The Rev. Fr. Kessler performed the ceremony on Sept. 11th.

The bride wore a dress of imported mousseline de soie with pointed sleeves buttoned to the elbow. Falling from the high neckline was a yoke of French tucks. The basque bodice was buttoned to the waistline in back, from which fell a cascade of graduated ruffles which extended into a three-yard train. Her veil was of French illusion attached to a coronet of lace.

The bridesmaid, Miss Marilyn Dolder, was attired in a colonial style dress of soft, pink faille silk fashioned with a sweetheart neckline. Tiny bouquets of rock garden flowers caught up the hemline at intervals to reveal pink petticoat ruffles. She wore a matching halo and shoulder length veil of illusion, and carried yellow roses.

Miss Marcia Baumbusch, cousin of the bride, was flower girl. She was attired in a colonial style frock of pale aquamarine faille silk, with matching hale. From her colonial basket she strewed rose petals to mark the path of the bride.

Best man for Mr. Gibson was Mr. Joseph Hartnett, and usher was Mr. Joseph Corbett.

The bride and bridegroom are graduates of St. Mary's High School. Prior to her marriage, the bride was associated with the World War II Compensation Fund. Mr. Gibson is associated with the Coca Cola Bottling Co.

The newlyweds live at 346 Stewart Ave.

"One rule for success is always to be an early riser. Remember, the early bird gets the worm." "That's fine, but how about the early worm?"

1948 South Football Squad

Pictured above is the 1948 Edition of South High's Football Squad. These are the boys who by sheer grit and determination made this season the most successful since 1944, they broke the ice after a disasterous 33 straight losses. This year's team wasn't a lucky team, it was hit hard by ineligibility rulings, lack of weight and size, but it didn't lack the big thing which determines a good team from a poor one, namely GUTS, they really had it. They wound up the season the talk of the league.

Let's review this past season's record: They lost to Arlington in the opener, lack of experience was the factor in this game. Grandview was next, and that game should have been a scoreless tie, South lost 7-0. They completely outplayed West, the City League Champions, losing only by one touchdown. They lost to North, Central & Linden. Weight and size told the story in these games. The big game was, of course, that win over Aquinas. They played East to a scoreless tie on a very muddy field and closed the season with a win over Marietta at Marietta. This ended a fine season for the Bulldogs from the standpoint of performances in the past 3 years. The South Side is proud of them, and happy to have supported such a fine group. Every man on the 1948 Football Squad can be proud to say, I played football at South in '48.

Man Our Brother
We believe these to be the fundamental truths of our faith.
We believe in the progressive revelation of the Living God and every person in our fellowship has the right and freedom to seek the Truth as it is revealed to him in the Scriptures and in Life.
We believe God has revealed the way of abundant living through the Life and Teachings of Jesus Christ, and we therefore covenant together that it shall be our purpose to live together in peace and seek the Truth in Love.

REEB CALENDAR

Wednesday, Dec. 22nd.
9:30 a.m.—Sale of Savings bonds and stamps.
1:45 p.m.—White Christmas—First Floor Hall, Beginning of Christmas Vacation.

The above calendar of the events of the coming week is announced so that our parents and adult friends may plan to come and visit us.

—R—

We are pleased to welcome the following pupils to Reeb Avenue School: Margaret Whitlock, 434 Hosack; Robert and Thomas Arthur, 382 Woodrow; Mona Deal 1847 Bruck; William Bates, 431½ Marion Rd.; and Max Erwin, 123 Barthman.

—R—

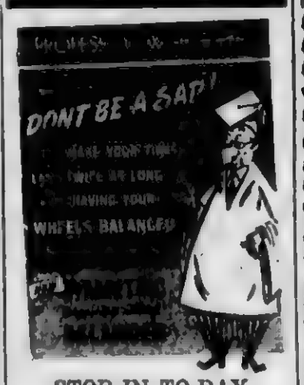
Reeb's display case for exhibition of special school work has several new articles contributed by James Bohlen, Milo Mitchell, Clyde Honaker, Robert Thompson, Marion Moore and Katherine Patterson. Be sure to see these outstanding articles.

—R—

Today, Thursday, Dec. 16th, is the last day for ordering most of the Reeb Avenue School group pictures that were just recently taken. You will want your child's group so that your home record may be complete. We aim to take these pictures every year and have them labled so that the full information accompanies each print.

—R—

Reeb's White Christmas program, which includes every child in giving, in song, and in Bible memory work, will be presented next Wednesday, Dec. 22nd at 1:45 p.m. in the first secutive year. In spite of our floor hall, for the seventh consecutive year. In spite of our crowded space for bringing all of our 544 pupils together for such an affair, our parents and friends have received this type of Christmas observance quite enthusiastically. We will be glad to have you join us if you are willing to accept our limited facilities.



The music to be heard in our program, will be "O Come All Ye Faithful", "Away In A Manger", "While Shepherds Watch Their Flocks", "Hark, The Herald Angels Sing", "Merry, Merry Christmas," "The First Noel," "Angels From The Realm of Glory," "We Three Kings," "Joy To The World", "It Came Upon A Midnight Clear", and "Silent Night". Three of our 6A pupils will have part: Sue Chapman, David White, and Jacqueline Thompson.

Both the Luke and Matthew version of Christ's birth will be presented by our pupils.

—R—

Just before our dismissal for the lower grade pupils, Santa Claus will pay us a visit. One of the interesting questions is, "Who is Santa?" What is your guess?

Nativity Story To Be Held

"THE NATIVITY STORY," an inspirational program of music and song, will be presented Sunday evening, December 19, at 8:00 o'clock in Thurman Avenue Methodist Church. The program will feature the church choir under the direction of Mrs. Carl H. Jones in a series of anthems highlighting the great moments of the Lukan narrative, and the organ with Miss Ruth Warren playing "Nativity Miniatures" by Alfred Taylor. Woven together with passages from the scriptural narrative, and presented against a background of tableaux depicting incidents of the story, the program promises to be rewarding in inspirational and aesthetic value. The public is cordially invited by the church to attend this Christmas presentation.

It will be directed by Miss Virgene Roe, head of the department of Dramatics and Mrs. Ethel Cox Ellis, director of Music.

The Parent-Teacher Association of Mound offers the following door prizes to the adult patrons and friends of the school attending the program; First prize, a turkey; second prize, a bushel of groceries; third prize, a half bushel of groceries; fourth prize, a pound of butter, and fifth prize, a pound of coffee. Janet Dailey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Dailey will draw the lucky numbers.

This program is free, and is Mound Junior High Schools Christmas gift to the community. All are welcome. The committee of arrangements includes Mrs. Clarence Lewis, P.T.A. President, and Principal L. N. Drake.

Christmas,— Its Meaning

Rev. Albert Kessler
Corpus Christi Roman Catholic Church

Most stories begin with the age-old, seemingly tireless phrase "once upon a time" and any person using these words soon has the youngsters gathering anxiously awaiting a beautiful legend or a thrilling fairytale... some sort of journey into the land of make-believe....faces abeam... all delightfully attentive. You know what I mean. Good fathers and mothers thrill at its mention.

Now the true story of Christmas has no need for "once upon a time." It is a fact of history—bold truth—marvelous but nonetheless actual. It is the story of the Birth of Jesus Christ and we must clearly distinguish between Jesus Christ and Santa Claus. One is a Saviour, the other a philanthropist: one is basically Christian, the other the "overflow" of Christian Charity. Both are good but Christmas is possible without Santa Claus. Without Christ, the day would hardly have a name.

Unfortunately, there are some in our world today who regard the Holyday of Christmas as make-believe. Some think that way, others know better but are victims of the "whirl of things." Such nearsightedness is indeed unfortunate — unfortunate for them. They celebrate without cause; they are happy and rejoice without reason. Offering a prayer for those, we direct our words to you—you who are interested and of good will.

Christmas is a story of friendship and love and should at this festive time be related among friends—friends who have a common love for Jesus Christ, its Hero. We write merely to recall the facts—to deepen our common fellowship in Jesus Christ—to help us enjoy Christmas with Santa Claus, lights and tinsel to keep our eyes focused properly upon the Babe of Bethlehem. We who love Christ may never lose sight of the holiness and sacredness of this Christmas season. It is a time of peace and joy—the result of very close union between God and man—a time intended to influence hearts and homes leaving therein lasting and glorious impressions.

As our little part in restoring Christ to Christmas, perhaps we, as a community, could follow a practice found in numerous Christian homes. On Christmas Eve before the children reluctantly tuck themselves in bed, perhaps each family could gather in the living room. The family Bible could be opened and Dad or Mother read for all to hear the story of the First Christmas. Just think! each home in our community turning its mind and attention to the Christ Child. Further still, let's not just plan for ourselves but as true Christians encourage our neighbor to follow suit. Don't say, "Are you going to try this?" but rather, tell the family next door what your family intends to do and ask them to join you. It will require but ten minutes. Let's set a time—7:00 o'clock—the whole south end of Columbus, reading the story of the Birth of our Saviour. What a community prayer!

When this is done, part of this earth—our community—will be united with Heaven—an increase of true peace and happiness will result, and love of God and neighbor will be fostered because Christmas will be restored to Christ.

Christmas Greetings

By C. L. Dumaree

As we approach the Holiday Season, our hearts are warmed by the fact that our nation can enjoy a peaceful Christmastide. The joy and spiritual values which attend this season reaffirm our faith, love, and hope in ourselves and in our fellow-man. The spirit of giving and sharing that we practice in the month of December should become a part of our lives for year-round living. The selfish person is interested in what he receives as a gift, rather than in a realisation of the spirit and the possible sacrifice of the donor. The thrill and buoyant feeling that comes with the smell of pine needles, the barber-pole candy canes, the dolls in their snow white dresses, the clackety-clack of the wheels of the electric train, the stockings hung from the mantel, and the cheerful crackle of the Yuletide log burning in the living room fireplace, complete the picture which is truly an "American" Christmas.

For centuries we have been hearing the plans and programs of other leaders, peoples, and nations but, fortunately for us who are living today, our forefathers held firm to the principles of Christianity and Democracy. The challenge to our generation is to perserve culture, traditions, and American way of life by becoming the best educated people of the world. Knowledge is the only antidote to the poisonous "isms" which, like poisonous vipers, want to kill our theory of government and our freedom of religion.

May our New Year's resolution carry with it a determination to be an educated and enlightened people. Make us conscious of our responsibility to preserve the fundamental truth of Christianity, as found in the Birth of the Prince of Peace, so that our children and the children of the world may be privileged to join in centuries to come with Tiny Tim and carol to the universe...."God Bless Us, Every One."

Dr. Forman Addresses Lions Club

Dr. Jonathan Forman of the Ohio State Medical Journal and a practicing physician in Columbus for thirty years, spoke to the Southeast Lions Club at their weekly meeting last Tuesday. The subject of the address was "How Would You Like to Live to a Healthy Old Age?" The talk was very interesting and informative as Dr. Forman is the author of many widely read papers and volumes dealing with the diseases of the gastro-intestinal tract and on allergy.

The Urgency Of The Christmas Message

Rev. Leonard W. Mann
Thurman Ave. Methodist Church

Christmas is a birthday anniversary. It commemorates the birth of Christ: it commemorates the appearance among men of the Son of God. And this most significant fact of history means that forever, in our troubles, in our sorrows, in all our life, mankind can always say, "Immanuel," God is with us.

Christ is come, and God is with us! This is the message Christmas brings. And there is an urgency in that message. There always has been. Our world being what it is, and Christ offering what He does, there must needs be an urgency in the message of Christmas. It is an urgency like that of angels shouting forth, "Behold! unto you is born this day a Saviour!" Or like that of shepherds arising from their fear crying, "Let us now go! and see this which is come to pass." Or like that of wise men at the palace of a jealous king demanding, "Where is He? He who is born King?"

Angels, Shepherds, Wise Men—they all acted as persons convinced that there was something which just could not wait. And the urgency of Christmas is still like that: It is the urgency of a humanity in desperate need of a tremendous Divine Answer. And the urgency is the greater because the Answer is so close. And yet how far, far away! Immanuel is with us, but we are not with Him. He is with us in our sufferings and our needs and as our Saviour from our sins. But we are not very much with Him in His boundless love, in His forgiveness, in His travail for a rebel world, or in His passion to rid His world of sin.

In our war-wounded and drunken world the urgency of Christmas is the urgency of hungry children crying in the night, of homeless wanderers trudging the earth, of thing-and-sense-bound men slowly dying dead at the heart of life, of a lost humanity groping for guide-posts in the dark. Christmas means that there is light for all this darkness and cure for all this ill. And this means "good tidings of great joy to all people."....For Christmas means that "unto us a Child is born" our Redeemer and our King.

And to our confused world one thousand nine hundred and forty-eight years from the date of His birth, the urgent message of Christmas is: "Take His way: take Him—take Him now."

A Christmas Prayer

The prayer of St. Francis of Assisi, though written 700 years ago, it expresses, simply and beautifully, a way of life for our times—and for all time.

Lord, make me an instrument of Thy Peace
Where there is hatred, let me
sow love
Where there is injury, pardon
Where there is doubt, faith.
Where there is despair, hope.
Where there is darkness, light
Where there is sadness, joy.
O Divine Master, grant that I may not so much seek to be consoled as to console, to be understood as to understand, to be loved as to love, for it is in giving that we receive, it is in pardoning that we are pardoned and it is in dying that we are born to Eternal Life.

'Summer Holiday' At Ideal

'Where There's Life' At Southland

Bob Hope plays a dangerous game in the riotous comedy, "Where There's Life," due on Christmas Day at the Southland Theatre, Signe Hasso and William Bendix share stellar honors with the ski-nosed comedian. His friendly, gun-toting poker companion is Dennis Hoey. Bob portrays a disc jockey who breaks all laugh records. "Colorado Serenade," Western, starring Eddie Dean and Roscoe Ates, will be co-featured. The Southland and all Academy Theatres will be closed this Friday, Christmas Eve and open with special holiday matinees on Christmas Day.

Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, Howard Hawks' spectacular story of the Chisolm Trail, "Red River," will be shown at the Southland as a single feature. John Wayne and newcomer, Montgomery Clift head the brilliant cast.

Russell Shows 'Fury At Furnace Creek'

A super western "Fury at Furnace Creek" is being shown at the Russell Theater this Sunday and Monday. This is one of 20th Century Fox's best westerns of which they make all too few. Everyone seeing it is in for thrills aplenty and with its co-feature "Argentine Nights" starring the zany Ritz Brothers and musical Andrews Sisters, it is a program to satisfy the taste of all moviegoers.

Agonis Club To Honor Monte Beaver

Monte Beaver

Monte Beaver, one of the South Side's most popular figures in athletics and recreation work, will be honored Thursday, Jan. 6, at 6:30 p.m. by the Agonis club with a dinner at the Chittenden Hotel.

Three other men will also be honored at this dinner. They are "Irish" Krieger, Carlisle Dollings, and Joe Burkhalter. The principal speakers will be Rodney Ross and Jack Cannon.

Tickets may be obtained from Bill Devany, Chairman; Lefty Carr, Co-Chairman; or Walter Tompkins, at South Side Booster Office.

Any boy or girl who has been to Schiller Park knows Monte Beaver, who is director of athletics at that city recreation spot.

Monte has directed athletics in Columbus for 43 years of which he has been at Schiller Park 13 years.

Among his duties are the supvision of seven cage leagues. The leagues comprise 56 teams and 560 players.

He supervises the St. Mary's boys' league, St. Mary's girls' league, Columbus Dispatch Station league, South Senior Church league, South Church Intermediate League, Owens-Illinois league and the City Recreation league.

Beaver had a long and notable career as athletic director at the Central YMCA from 1905 to 1924, supervising all kinds of sports. In the late year, he assumed the same position with the Newark (Ohio) YMCA and remained there until 1932.

The capable athletic leader was born in Circleville, Ohio, on June 11, 1885, attended Circleville High School and came to Columbus in 1905. An active player in the early 1900's, Beaver played third base and shortstop for the Circleville Athletics baseball team in 1902, 1903, and 1904, and played forward for the Central Y-Leaders basketball squad.

After coming to Columbus, Beaver attended Bliss College and also YMCA Colleges in Geneva, Wis., and Silver Bay, N. Y.

Monte started coaching various athletic teams in 1905 and served one season as a coach at South High School, piloting the Bulldogs' basketball team during the 1910-1911 campaign. He later served as athletic coach at Bliss College. During the 1922-1923 season, he received unusual honor of coaching two Junior High School cage squads—Mt. Vernon Ave., and the Douglas School quintets. Incidentally, that season Beaver's two teams played for the City Junior High School Championship, with the Mt. Vernon Ave. boys winning the title.

In Newark, Ohio, Beaver coached the Newark Y-Braves bantamweight football team and the Newark Y-Beavers basketball squad from 1924 until 1931.

Beaver, with the late "Two Bits" Beirhalter, were the founders of Columbus' famous Knot-Hole-Gang which was started by them in 1916 at the old Central YMCA where the Columbus Dispatch now stands. It is through this group that James A. Rhodes in later years and his boys' activities, climbed to the Mayor's office.

Monte was also a bicycle enthusiast and in June, 1931, he took twelve children on a bicycle trip to Washington D. C. While there they visited President Warren G. Harding and U. S. Attorney General Harry Daugherty. The following year Beaver took nine children on a bicycle trip to New York City.

He keeps busy during the summer-time as athletic director at the Indian Village camp, having served in that capacity since 1932.

Beaver also directs the Knot-Hole basketball tourney, the annual basketball Foul Shooting contest, and the Marble Tournament.

Beaver is married and resides at 1373 City Park Ave. He has a daughter, Mrs. Jennie McCoy, who was formerly active in intramural girls' athletics at South High School, and a three and one-half-year-old granddaughter, Jacqueline.

In addition to baseball, football and basketball, Monte is also interested in tumbling, wrestling, boxing, handball, swimming, skiing, ice skating, volleyball and ping-pong.

We know of no man in the South Side or city who is entitled to be honored more than Monte Beaver.

Let's all turn out and buy a ticket and attend this dinner honoring a man who has done so much for our community.

P. F. WILLIAMS IMPROVING

South High Thanks Lions

We at South High School are very grateful to the South East Lions Club for their thoughtfulness and financial support. The director, Mr. Randal Near, and the entire membership of the band, are deeply grateful for the gift of one thousand dollars, which will be used to purchase new uniforms.

Our band and our school are made possible by the tireless efforts of our community and such organizations as the Lions Club.

South East Lions Give $1000 To South Band

The South East Lions Club always in the forefront of doing things for our community, donated to the South High School band $1,000.00 at their Christmas meeting and dinner held Tuesday, Dec 21 at the Columbus Maennerchor.

The donation was for the purpose of furnishing 20 new uniforms for the band.

Few people realize that South High School's band, last Spring, won second prize of all the High School bands in the State

George Loudermilk, chairman of the Lions' project committee, from which the funds came, made the presentation. Cleo Dumaree, South High principal, received the donation. The $1,000 check was then turned over to Randal Near, Director of the Band.

The South East Lions Club, is made up of seventy-five men representing South Side industries.

President of the club is Wm. P. Hoermle, who gave a talk at the presentation and said that there would be other donations during the year to worthy South Side projects.

The South East Lions Club, a little over a year ago, gave the Lions Club playground at the corner of S. Sixth St. and Barthman Ave., completely equipped.

At the Lions Club Christmas party, the 85-piece South High School band gave a concert for the Lions Club.

Officers of the South East Lions club are Wm. P. Hoermle, President; Geo. Loudermilk, and Al Chrismer, vice presidents; Frank Zimpfer, Secretary; Glenn Schwemley, Treasurer, and Carl Snedeker, tail twister.

James A Rhodes, Mayor

Russell Shows Key Largo

This Sunday and Monday, the Russell Theater is showing "Key Largo" starring Humphrey Bogart and Edward G. Robinson. This is a tense and dramatic story of the return of a gangdom biggie who commandeers a Florida Hotel and holds its staff and guests prisoner during a hurricane-bound reign of terror. With a supporting cast of such big name stars as Lauren Bacall, Lionel Barrymore and Claire Trevor, this picture will hold its audience from start to finish in the grip of thrills and terror. The accompanying movie is "Lightning in the Forest" with Lyna Roberts and Warren Douglas. News and a cartoon complete the bill.

Wild Life Authority To Speak

Albert M. Day, Director of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Washington D. C. will be the principal speaker at the annual banquet of the League of Ohio Sportsmen during the League's convention scheduled for February 18, 19 and 20 in Columbus.

Others included in the speaking program, according to J. F. Atwood, League president, are Conservation Commissioner H. A. Rider, staff members of the Ohio Division of Conservation and Ray T. Kelsey, General Manager of Capper - Harman - Slocum, Inc., publishers of the Ohio Farmer.

The convention program will feature a series of forums covering every phase of conservation and restoration of natural resources

Hunting and Fishing Needs Winterizing Too

The sportsman who puts up and his fishing and hunting equipment in tip-top shape next spring and summer should spend some winter evenings in the basement work-shop with the cleaning rags and oil can.

Proper care of outdoor sports equipment requires very little effort and time, and it pays off in dollars by reducing winter time depreciation. Guns and fishing tackle that are allowed to stand in a closet thru the winter uncleaned cannot retain their value and cannot be expected to perform properly along a stream or in the fields.

To many sportsmen the fun of caring for equipment is almost as enjoyable as using it but to others it is a chore that is put off month after month thru the winter and sometimes never gets done until just before the equipment is to be used; by that time depreciation has set in and reduced the value of equipment that would otherwise give many years of service if properly treated.

Registration for children starting to Roeb's Kindergarten and First Grade will begin Monday, January 3rd. If you have children who will be 5 years of age on or before next May 1st, be sure to come in and take care of their registration early.

Kenny Brooks Is Grand Pappy

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Kramer, 589 East 2nd Ave., are the proud parents of a 7 lb. 6 oz. boy. They have named the baby "Kenny" after a very proud Grandpappy who is "Kenny" "Shorter than me" Brooks, well known South Sider. It's a toss-up as to who does the most bragging about that baby boy, Grandpappy, or Grandma Brooks. It's about all you can hear around the corner of Parsons & Thurman these days.

Brand Wins Lion's Auto

George Brand, popular South Side Business man, held the winning ticket for the Chevrolet given away by the South East Lions Club on Christmas Eve at 9:00 p.m.

George, when contacted, couldn't believe his good luck and tho't the Lions Club Committee was kidding him.

During about four years of the war he had to close his dry cleaning business, and give three years of his time to the Navy.

Many South Side people know Brand. Besides operating Best Cleaners, E. Whittier and So. Third St., he also manages the Columbia Theater.

Proceeds from the South East Lions Club drawing go to South Side prbjects, such as the recent donation to the South High School band.

George Brand and his wife live at 911 Ebner Street.

Camp Fire Girls Sing Carols

The Tau Wau Lita group of Campfire Girls sang carols for the patients at Mercy Hospital, Thursday, Dec. 23rd, and several shut-ins. Afterward they had their Christmas party at the home of their assistant leader, Mrs. W. C. Williams, 257 Southwood Ave. Mrs. V. McCleary is leader of the group.

Donate Christmas Baskets To Needy

According to Herb Webb chairman of the Christmas basket committee of the South Side Aerie, Fraternal Order of Eagles, his group gave 70 baskets to the South Side needy.

You will always find the Eagles in the front of any movement that will help our community.

Southeast Lions Boost Band Fund

South High School is assured of 20 new band uniforms for next year with the passing of this $1000 check from George Loudermilk, 1540 W. 3rd Av. fund chairman of Southeast Lions Club, to C. L. Dumarer, principal of South High School. Others are, center left, E. F. High, 884 Gilbert St, and Randal Near, director of the high school band.

South Side Needs To Grow

According to a census estimate the South Side now has 53,728. This is a gain of 3,728 people since 1940.

This is a city unto itself of about the size of Marion, Ohio.

While we have not developed as fast as other sections of the city, the South Side is noted for home owners.

There are more home owners here, more homes owned clear of debt than any other section of Columbus.

The South Side's people are known to be the best credit risks by the various credit associations—that means our people are honest.

The South Side should be 100,000 people instead of its present population if we were not blocked to the South and Southeast.

Those sections need to come into Columbus, or form separate villages, like Bexley, Grandview, and Upper Arlington.

The reason for this is that until they do so they can not get transportation until they make such a move.

Under the present set-up, the Columbus and Southern Electric Co. would have to pay $350 per year for each bus that would go south of their present terminals on South High St. or Parsons Ave.

This bus service on both streets should run to Williams Rd.

If such was the case, you would soon be built at least to Williams Rd.

We are mentioning it to the people of these communities because we think they should do something about it.

Of course, they would get an increase of taxes, but besides bus service, they would have lights, sewers, water, fire and police protection.

We believe it's time for the people to the south and southeast to wake up and do something about this situation.

What A Notion!

The Commission for Organization of the Executive Branch of the Government will recommend reforms to Congress calculated to save taxpayers billions of dollars. Despite the fact that the Hoover Commission is a bi-partisan group it evidently has performed the impossible by evolving a report that recommends the removal of postmasterships from politics. Instead of calling on the senate to confirm thousands of postmasters in first, second and third class post offices, these officials will be appointed locally thru the merit system. That's a grand idea and you can bet your last summer's straw hat that the plan will not get the okay of political Senators who have fed out those jobs thru all the years.

The Hoover Report shows that during the last three years, there has been a turnover of 6,000,000 persons on the Federal payroll. Mr. Hoover says that a reform of the post office system would bring about a savings in operational costs of $200-million to $300-millions a year.

It's awfully nice of Mr. Hoover to tell the Government how to save so much money. But: if you want to know how the Government is not going to save money you had better check up on Mr. Truman's plan of "Billions for the new New-Deal" as it is explained in this correspondence.

Nepheline Syenite New Discovery

Research by two Ohio State University scientists has played a major part in the development of an important new product of the mining industry, according to a publication of the Engineering College Research Council.

The new substance is nepheline syenite, a granite-like rock, which has become important for its use as a flux to promote fusion in the manufacture of glass and ceramic products. One-fifth of all the flux now used by the American ceramic industry is nepheline syenite, supplied by the American Nepheline Corporation and its Canadian partner, American Nepheline, Ltd. It is mined at Blue Rock, Ontario.

One of the first men in this country to investigate properties of this substance was Arthur S. Watts of the Ohio State faculty, now emeritus professor of ceramic engineering. Professor Watts' research in 1933 discovered properties which he reported deserved further study.

Two years later, a general investigation of new potential sources of fluxes was begun at the Ohio State Engineering Experiment Station by Dr. Charles J. Koenig, senior research engineer. He reported in 1939, after exhaustive study, that nepheline syenite was likely to be valuable as a flux throughout the ceramic industry.

Since 1937, when the American Nepheline Corporation was formed at Rochester, N. Y., this firm and the Experiment Station have been cooperating in another research project on this material. A large part of the company's operation has been based on the Ohio State University Research Foundation.

Nepheline syenite now is in common use as a flux for sanitary and electrical porcelain, hotel china, fine translucent china, dental porcelain, art pottery and kitchenware. It is a common ingredient also in porcelain enamels and in various types of glass.

If They Behave

An authoritative news statement from Washington says that the new Congress is better. Its members, on average, are older, better educated, more liberal, more broadly experienced than the Congress Pres dent Truman said was "the worst." There are more farmers, business men and more veterans in the new Congress than in the other. But after all, you may expect all these wise statesmen to do just about what Mr. Harry Truman orders. Everybody knows that Truman whipped the Republicans, but there is a lingering suspicion in Washington that he reformed the Democrats. They all will be looking for their slice of political patronage from the White House. And if they behave they will get it.
